CHAP. XV.

IN the next place, let us ſpeak of the Revenue ariſing by Aids, Scutages, and Tallages. In Former times the preſtations or payments which were wont to be made either to the King as Soveraign Lord of the Great Seigneurie of England, or to Inferiour Lords of Seigneuries by their Men, were called by ſeveral names. There was paid to the King, Danegeld, Aid, Done, Aſſiſe, Scutage, Tallage; and in ſucceeding times, Subſidy, Quinzime, Vintiſme, &c; ſeveral of the Former names Then continuing in uſe. Theſe particulars will be exemplified in the ſequel of this Hiſtory. In this Chapter, we will treat of Aids; and principally of Thoſe payable out of Fees. The Aid payable out of Baronies and Military Fees was an honourable kind of Service or Duty, rendred by a Free Vaſſal to his Lord. It hath been obſerved by Writers, that in England there were in Ancient time Three ſorts of Aid due to the Crown from the Immediate Tenants of the Crown (and likewiſe to Inferiour Lords from their Immediate Tenants), of Common Right or by reaſon of Seigneury: to wit, Aid to make his Eldeſt Son a Knight, To Marry his Eldeſt Daughter, And to Ranſome his Perſon [when taken in War]. In Normandy, by the Cuſtom There, Theſe Three ſorts of Aid were due to the Lord from his Men or Tenants (a): They were commonly called There the Aides Chevels, the Capital or Principal Aides (b). And in Naples, another countrey

(a) Tria autem ſunt Capitalia Auxilia Normaniæ. Primum videlicet ad Primogenitum Domini ſui in ordinem Militiæ promovendum. Secundum videlicet ad Primogenitam filiam Domini maritandam. Tertium videlicet ad Corpus Domini ſui de priſonia redimendum, cum captus fuerit pro gerra Ducis Normaniæ. Grant. Cuſtum. de Norm. viz. in Lib. de Jur. & conſ. Norm. cap. 35. fol. 8. a. col. 2.

(b) Apres covient veoir des chevelx aides de Normendie, qui ſont appellez chevelx, pour ce quelle doivent eſtre payees aux chiefs Seigneurs. En Normendie a trois countrey in which the Normans ſettled, there were the Like Aids; as appears by the Law of William King of Naples or Sicily, wherein thoſe Aids are expreſsly mentioned (c). To thoſe Aids Frederick the Emperour added another; permitting the Earls, Barons, and Knights of That Kingdom to take of their Men a moderate Aid pro Militia Fratris (d). In Burgundy it ſeems a Lord who had haulte juſtice within his Seigneurie, had right to impoſe on his Men Four ſorts of Aid, to wit, For a Voiage beyond ſea, For a Knighthood, For Mariage of a Daughter, And for the Lords Ranſom (e). And it was in uſe in ſome parts of Italy to impoſe a Duty, under the name of Aid, as well upon the Feudal Vaſſals as alſo upon the Men or Subjects of other ranks. This was counted a Major data, a greater or Capital Donum or Seſs. For inſtance. John de Ceccano gave to the Abbey of Santa Maria del Fiume, one John ſurnamed Buono, with his whole teniment, and with all his goods both moveable and immoveable; reſerving to himſelf this power, that whenever he ſhould collect a Major data upon his Signorie, Then the ſaid John Buono ſhould render to him and his heirs a competent Aid, ſo as not to be aggrieved thereby (f). But as to England. Ranulf de Glanvill, ſpeaking of the Aids due to Lords from their Men [or Tenants], mentions the Aid to make the Lords Son and Heir a Knight, and That for marrying his Eldeſt Daughter, but makes a doubt about the Lords right to have an Aid for War-ſervice. But then he takes notice of another ſort of Aid, to wit, To enable the Lord to pay his Relief; which he ſays ought to be a Reaſonable Aid, ſuited to the Quantity of the Tenants Fee or Land, and to his ability (g). K. Willam I, took vj s of each Hide through England (h). K. Henry I, took iij s for each Hide, as Aid pur fille marier

(h) Eo tempore [i. e. Anno regni 15] Willelmus [I.] Rex cepit ab unaquaq; hida Angliæ rier (i). But for want of requiſite Notices concerning the Aids of theſe Ancient times, I cannot ſpeak diſtinctly of them.

II. It is to be underſtood, that the Aids which I have mentioned above, were in the Ancient times wont to be rendred to the King by all perſons who held of him in Capite. To hold of the King in Capite was, to hold of him Immediately, ſine medio (k). The Kings Immediate Tenants were to pay Aid, whether they held in Servitio or in Dominico. That is to ſay. In the elder times, Aid was to be rendred by perſons who held of the King immediately, either by Barony, or by Knights ſervice, or by Sergeantie with Knights ſervice annexed to it: and by perſons who held of the King immediately, either by Rent-ſervice, Socage, or ſome other Service which was not Military or belonging to the Shield; whether they lived upon the Lands that were the Kings Ancient Demeane, or upon the Honours and Lands eſcheated to the King, or upon the Lands of his Wardſhips or Purchaces. I will here produce ſome precedents touching the ſeveral Aids which were uſual in England; whereof I have taken notice above. And firſt, of the Aid pur Fille marier. Of This there is a Noted caſe in the reign of K. Henry II. An Aid was levied by That King for the Mariage of his Daughter Maud to the Duke of Saxony: concerning which there are many Memorials extant. This Aid was one mark per Fee. It was paid by the ſeveral Barons and Knights holding in Capite, according to the number of their reſpective Fees. For inſtance. In Norfolk and Suffolk, the Earl of Clare paid fourſcore and fourteen pounds and odd for his own Knights Fees and the Knights Fees of his Lady the Counteſs [of the Old Feoffment]; And Ciij s iiij d for his Fees of the New feoffment. Reginald de Warenne paid ix l x s for the Knights Fees of the Honour of Wormegay. The Biſhop of Norwich paid xl marks for the Knights Fees which he acknowledged he held of the King in Capite, and was charged with Cxvj s viij d for the Fees which he did not acknowledg. The Abbot of St. Edmund paid xl marks for xl Fees which he acknowledged, and was charged with xij marks and a half for the Fees which he did not acknowledg. Earl Hugh paid fourſcore pounds and odd for ſix ſcore and five Fees and a fourth part of a Fee [of the Old Feoffment], and was charged with xxxvij marks and a half-mark for his Fees of the New Feoffment. Odo de Dammartin paid one mark for one Fee. Oger the Dapifer (Sheriff of Norfolk and Suffolk) paid Lx l vj s viij d, for Fourſcore and ten Fees and a half of the Honor of Ey. Again; the Biſhop of Norwich paid Lx marks de promiſſione ſua for the ſaid Aid, and the Abbot of St. Edmond Lx marks de promiſſione ſua (l). In the Counties of Eſſex and Hertford, William de Muntfichet was charged with xxxj l x s for his Knights fees of the Old Feſſament, and with ix s iiij d for the New: William de Raimis with eight marks for his Fees of the Old Feſſament, and iij s iiij d for the New: Walter Fitz-Robert with xlij l vj s viij d for his Fees of the Old Feoffment, and xliij s iiij d for the New. Earl Alberic paid xx l xx d for his Fees. Henry Fitz-Gerold the Chamberlain was charged with xxxv l v s viij d for the Fees of Eudo the Dapifer, and iiij l xviij s viij d for his Fees of the New Feoffment. Richard de Reimis paid

William de Perci xxx marks (p). In Herefordſhire, Richard de Corneilles ix marks for his Fees, Baderun de Monmouth xv marks for his Fees (q), and Hugh de Laci Lj marks and xl d for his Fees (r). In Cornwall and Devonſhire, Earl Reginald (amongſt others) was charged with CCxv marks iiij s v d for his Knights Fees in thoſe two Counties (s). In the Counties of Dorſet and Somerſet, William de Curci paid xvj l and x s for the Fees of his Fathers Honour of the Old Feoffment, and Lvj s for four Fees and a Fifth part of a Fee of the New Feoffment, And xj l for the Fees of the Barony of William Meſchin (t). In the Counties of Notingham and Derby, the Earl of Fereres paid Lxviij marks and half a mark for his Fees (u). In Glouceſterſhire, the Earl of Glouceſter paid CCLxj marks and half a mark for his Fees (w). And in like manner mutatis mutandis, other Barons and Tenants in Capite by Knights ſervice throughout the Realm, paid towards the ſame Aid ad Filiam maritandam, for their reſpective Fees.

In order to the due levying of this Aid out of the ſeveral Fees within the Realm, the Barons and Tenants in Capite were commanded to Certify to the King, What Fees they had, How many of the Old Feoffment, and How many of the New, and of whom the ſame were holden. Accordingly, the Barons, and the Tenants in Capite (who had Large Seigneuries) made Certificates of their Fees. Theſe Certificates were called Cartæ Baronum; and were ordered to be Laid-up and preſerved in the Exchequer. A Hutch was made There to keep them in (x). But the Originals of them are not now to be found. Save that there is one of them ſtill remaining in the Treaſury of the Exchequer. Tis That of Hilary Biſhop of Chicheſter. The tenour of it may be ſeen hereunder in the margin. In It, the Biſhop diſtinctly enumerates the Feffaments of the Knights of his Church, in this manner: viz. Walter de Clifton hath one Knights fee and a half. Robert de Recham and others hold one Knights fee. Ralf Fichet and others hold one Knights fee. Ernold le Boteler and others one Knights fee. Jordan de Iſleſham and others one Knights fee, and there is half a virgate beſides. Oliver de Wiſtring. and others hold one Knights fee. Anfrid de Feringes and others one Knights fee. Herbert Fitz-herbert and others one Knights fee. Hugh de Almodinton and others one Knights fee. Theſe are the Nine Knights fees and a half; and there is beſides theſe, a Ninth part of a Fee, which Ninth part John Brade holdeth: And theſe Fees are of the Old Feoffment. Of the New Feoffment, Robert de Denton holdeth half a Knights fee wanting one hide. In Bixla there are Ten hides, which the Biſhop of Chicheſter anciently held in his demeane. But the Earl of Ou took away That Land from the Biſhop and his Church, and and thereof enfeoffed Four Knights. The Biſhop and the Church [of Chicheſter] recovered Five hides of it in demeane; And Two Knights hold the other Five hides of the Biſhop for Two Fees (y). It appears by this Certificate of Biſhop Hilary, That the Knights fees of the Biſhoprick of Chicheſter were Nine fees and a half and a Ninth part of a fee: namely, over and above the five hides of Land which had been recovered by the Biſhop of That See from the Earl of Ou. It appears alſo by the Certificate made at this time by John Earl of Ou, that the ſaid Earl in enumerating his Fees deducted Four Knights fees out of the whole number which his Anceſtours held, for the Four Fees which he ſaid the Biſhop of Chicheſter now held (z). And yet we find, the Biſhops of Chicheſter uſually acknowledged the Service of but Four Knights fees to be due to the King in the whole; and diſowned the reſt. For in the 14th year of K. Henry II, the Biſhop of Chicheſter actually paid for his Aid ad Filiam maritandam for Four Knights only; and is put in Debet for the other Knights quos non recognoſcit (a). In the 18th year of the ſame King, the Biſhoprick of Chicheſter was charged to the Scutage of Ireland with but Four Knights quos Epiſcopus recognoſcit. It is true, the Cuſtos of the Biſhoprick was to anſwer to the King for the Scutage of the Knights quos non recognoſcit; but the reaſon

(y) H. Dei gratia Regi Angliæ & Duci Normanniæ & Aquitaniæ & Comiti Andegaviæ, Kariſſimo Domino ſuo, Hilarius Ciceſtrenſis Epiſcopus ſalutem & fidele ſervitium. Domine ſicut mihi præcepiſtis, diſtincte hoc ſcripto feffamenta Militum Eccleſiæ meæ vobis enumeravi.

Walterus de Cliſtona habet unum feodum militis & dimidium.

Robertus de Recham, Anketil, Willelmus filius Alardi & Wiard tenent unum feodum militis.

Radulfus Fichet, Malgerus, Ricardus de Erham, & Willelmus de [Hare]ing. tenent unum feodum militis.

Ernoldus Pincerna, Ricardus filius Odonis, Willelmus filius Radulfi, tenent unum feodum militis.

Oliverus de Wiſtring., Robertus de Dent., Ernoldus de Hanſelda, tenent unum feodum militis.

Anfridus de Fering. Robertus de Orham Simon de Petraponte Gervaſius de Colewerda tenent unum feodum militis.

Herebertus filius Hereberti Robertus Peuerellus Willelmus filius Johannis Johannes de Boſco tenent unum feodum Militis.

Hugo de Almodintona Robertus de Trubewica, Franceis, Willelmus filius Nigelli Willelmus de Hareflet tenent unum feodum militis.

Hæc ſunt novem feoda militum & dimidium; & ſupereſt nona pars militis quam tenet Johannes de Brada; & hæc ſunt de Veteri feffamento. De Novo autem feffamento tenet Robertus de Dent. dimidium feodum militis dimidia hida minus.

In Bixla ſunt decem hidæ quas antiquitus tenebat Epiſcopus Ciceſtrenſis in dominio ſuo. Comes autem Augenſis auferens terram illam Epiſcopo & Eccleſiæ feffavit inde quatuor milites. Epiſcopus & Eccleſia recuperaverunt de terra illa quinq, hidas in dominium, & duo milites tenent alias quinq; hidas de Epiſcopo pro duobus feodis. Valete. *Ex autogr. penes Theſ. & Camer. Scacc. reaſon of That was, becauſe the Biſhoprick was Then Void and in the Kings hands (b). In the 33th year of the ſame King, the Biſhop of Chicheſter paid, to the Eſcuage of Galwey, for Four Fees only (c). To the Firſt Scutage of K. John, the Biſhop of Chicheſter was charged but for Four Knights fees (d). In the Second year of K. Henry III, tis ſaid in the Great Roll that the Biſhop of Chicheſter acknowledged the Service of Four Knights only, and denied he owed Service for any more. It is true, the Cuſtos of the Biſhoprick was charged with the Scutage of Nine fees and a half and a ninth part; but that was becauſe the Biſhoprick was Void and in the Kings hands (e).

But waiving the caſe of the Biſhop of Chicheſter, let us go-on to ſpeak briefly of the Certificates or Chartæ Baronum. The tenour and contents of many other Certificates of Barons and Tenants in Capite may be ſeen in the Red Book of the Exchequer (f); wherein they are entred in an orderly manner. By Fees of the Old Feoffment in theſe Certificates were (I think) meant the Fees whereof Feoffments had been made before the time of K. Henry the Firſts Death; by Fees of the New, thoſe whereof Feoffments had been made after the time of K. Henry the Firſts death. I will here ſet down two or three Certificates for examples ſake. Walter de Meduana Certifies, That on the Day wherein K. Henry I, was Quick and Dead, Geoffrey Tallebot held of him (K. Henry I) in Capite xx Knights fees; Which Knights fees he the ſaid Walter now held of K. Henry II: And that, Of the New Feffament made in the time of K. Stephen, William de Gernat and others held of him ſuch and ſuch Fees, which he there ſpecifies (g). Richard de Greinſtede certifies, That he had no Knight enfeoffed by the Old Feffament of the tine of K. Henry I, nor of the New Feffament ſince his Death: But that he (the ſaid Richard) Did to the King for his Demeane the ſervice of one Knight (h). William de Abrincis certifies Firſt, his Fees of the Old feffament; And Then his Fees of the New feffament, made after the Death of K. Henry I; Which Fees of the New feffament [were Small, and] uſed to pay but xij s per Fee, when the King took xx s per Fee of others, and but viij s per Fee, when the King took a mark per Fee of others (i). Geoffrey de Ver certifies, That he had nine Knights fees of the Old feoffment, to wit, of the time of K. Henry the Kings Grandfather; and then enumerates them (k). Accordingly, in the reign of K. John, the feoffment that was of the time of K. Henry II, is called the New feoffment. In the third year of K. John there is this entry in the Great Roll. The perſons following have acquittance of the eſcuage of Wales, by vertue of the Kings writs: viz. Warin Fitz-Gerold for Liiij fees lacking the fourteenth part of a fee [of the Old feoffment], and for ſeven fees and two fifth parts of a fee of the New feoffment of K. Henry II, lately belonging to the Seigneurie of Eudo the Dapifer (l). Again. The Priour of Coventry certified, That he had of the Old feſſament ſeven Knights fees, and a Third, and two Fifths, and a Tenth; And that his Demeane would make-up in the whole Ten Knights fees (m). And the other Barons certified their reſpective Fees of the Old Feoffment and the New, in like manner mutatis mutandis. However, ſome of the Barons and Great Tenants did not ſend Certificates. The names of ſuch as did not, you will find ſaith the Red Book (n) in the Great Roll of the 18th year of K. Henry II, under the title, De his qui cartas non miſerunt. And it is true, that under That title in moſt of the Counties we find ſeveral Fees put in Charge which had been omitted or not Certified. Of This there are inſtances in Berkſhire (o), Northamptonſhire (p), Eſſex and Hertfordſhire (q), and other Counties. But the Cartæ here mentioned in the Roll of the 18th year, were, as I take it, the Cartæ or Certificates for the eſcuage of Ireland, and not for the Aid ad Matildam maritandam.

The Temporal Barons and Tenants in Capite who ſent their Certificates, were generally charged to the Aid for the Number of Fees contained in their Certificates. But if they ſent no Certificates, they were charged according to what appeared by the Kings Records, or the Teſtimony of his Officers. Thus in Yorkſhire, the Sheriff collected the Aid due from ſeveral Barons and Tenants by Knights ſervice in Capite, who had not yet ſent-in Certificates of their Fees; namely, xx marks due from the Fee or Lordſhip of the Earl of Albemarle in That County, L marks due from the Lordſhip of Earl Conan &c (r); Eccleſiaſtical perſons, beſides the Aid for their Fees, render a further ſumm of money under the terms de promiſſione ſua. This hath made me heſitate. Sometimes I have been upon the point of concluding, that by It was meant what they called the Dona prælatorum. But then I conſidered, that when Aid or Eſcuage was collected, a ſumm of money de promiſſione ſua was ſometimes paid by Laicks. Thus Ralf de Sudley paid both for his Fees and de promiſſione ſua (f); and when the Citizens of London paid DCLxvj l and a mark for their Donum, Reiner ſon of Berenger, Ralf Bucel, and William ſon of Yſabel, who had frequently been Sheriffs of London, and probably were ſub nexibus Curiæ Regis, I ſay, They paid each of them C marks de promiſſione ſua (g). Perhaps it may not be much amiſs to ſay, that This payment de promiſſione, de promiſſo, or quas promiſit, when it was made by the Layity was a Donum, and when it was made by Eccleſiaſtical perſons was a Donum Prælatorum. This ſhall be left to the Readers judgment.

It hath been obſerved above, that the Aid due to the Crown aroſe out of ſuch Fees as were holden of the Crown in Capite or immediately. However it ſometimes fell out that a man paid Aid to the King who was not the Kings immediate Tenant. For when Aid was collected, if it could not, by reaſon of ſome caſual impediment, be rendred by the Tenant to his immediate Lord, it might be rendred to the King. Thus Godfrey de Scudemor paid to the Crown v marks for v Fees; becauſe his Lord Robert Dewias would not receive his Homage [for till he had Done Homage he was not compleatly Vaſſal or Tenant to his Lord] (h). Or if it was doubtful whether a Knights Fee was holden of the King, or of ſome other Lord, the Aid for Such Fee might be paid by the Tenant to the King. For inſtance. The Earl of Arundel alleged that Geldewin Son of Savari held a Knights Fee of him; Geldewin denyed it; The Aid for That Fee was anſwered by Geldewin to the King (i). The like was done in the caſe of Rolland de Dinam and Walter de Dunſtanville (k).

Not only the Kings Demeanes, but alſo his Eſcheats and Wardſhips rendred Aid. This appeareth in ſome meaſure by the inſtances already produced in this Section. To Them I will add a few more. Amongſt the Eſcheats we may place Vacant Biſhopricks and Abbeys of Royal Foundation. Reginald de Curtenai, who had the Cuſtody of Walter de Bolebec, rendred vj l and a mark Aid for the Fees of Walter which he held of the King in Capite (l). The Sheriff of Northamptonſhire paid-in xxiij s iiij d for a Knights Fee in Olney which was an Eſcheat; and two marks and half a mark for a Knights Fee in Hecham, which was alſo an Eſcheat (m): The Sheriff of Lincolnſhire xx s, for Hacuneby

(then in the Kings hands) were aſſiſed C l to the ſame Aid (g), And the Demeanes of the Biſhoprick of Sareſbury L l to the ſame Aid (h). In fine; in the Reign of K. Henry II, the Moneyours, who were alſo particularly dependant on the King, were wont, as it ſeems, to have Aids and Tallages aſſeſſed on them, as they were aſſeſſed on the Kings Demeane Men and Burgeſſes. The Moneyours of London paid to this Aid ad Filiam maritandam: Achard the Moneyour paid C s, Leſwine Beſant five marks, Ailwine Finch two marks, with others (i). And the Moneyours in Norfolk paid to the ſame Aid together with the Burgeſſes: that is to ſay, Turſtan and William ſon of Derewold, and William de Wiclewood, Moneyours of Thetford paid five marks and a half; and the Moneyours of Norwich ten marks. But in proceſs of time, as I remember, the Moneyours obtained of the King Exemption from Tallage and other privileges (k).

IV. King Richard I, levied an Aid for the Ranſome of his Perſon, when he was taken and impriſoned in his return from the Holy Land. The Revenue-Rolls of That time ſhew How it was Charged and Anſwered. The Tenants in Capite both Barons and Knights paid it under the name of Scutage or Eſcuage. It was called by That name, becauſe it was aſſeſſed upon Them at So much per Scutum, or for each Knights Fee. The Barons and Knights paid at the rate of xx s per Fee. At the ſame time there was alſo a Payment made towards the Kings Ranſome, by the name of Hidage. I will ſhew-forth ſome inſtances of Both theſe Payments. Firſt of the Scutage. In Norfolk and Suffolk, the Barons and Knights paid Eſcuage for their ſeveral Fees, towards the Kings Ranſome, viz., William de Warenne paid xiiij l v s, Geoffrey Fitz-Pier vij l for the Fee of William Blund, William de Dammartin xx s, with others. Some perſons not having their Capital Baronies in theſe Counties, the Sheriff anſwered their reſpective eſcuages for them, viz., for Warin Fitz-Gerold x s, for John de Rocheford x s, for Simon de Abrincis iiij l xv s, for Walter le Veer and William ſon of Oliver xx s, for William Eſcorcevielle xx s. Some others obtained from the King acquittance of their eſcuage, becauſe they were with him in his Army in Normandy, viz., The Earl of Clare, Robert Fitz-Roger, the Earl of Arundel, Robert de Treſgoz, and the Biſhop of Ely (l). This Eſcuage was paid in like manner mutatis mutandis by the Barons and Knights in the other Counties: viz. In Northamptonſhire (m), Cambridg and Huntendon ſhires

Another part of the Aid for K. Richard the Firſts Ranſome was anſwered-for at the Exchequer by the name of Hidage. It ſeemeth that by Hidage was meant the Aid charged on Lands holden by ſome other Service than That of the Shield. In the reign of K. Edward II, Hidage imported either Tenure in Socage or ſome ſuch Inferiour ſort of Tenure, and was oppoſed to Tenure in Chivalry. Thus the King commanded the Barons of the Exchequer to certify him, How much Land in Boſeyate in Northamptonſhire was holden by Knights ſervice, and How much in Hidage (w). Towards the Hidage for the Ranſome of K. Richard I, the Sheriff of Somerſet levied within his County two hundred fourſcore and thirteen pounds eighteen ſhillings and two pence; and the ſame perſon being alſo Sheriff of Dorſet levied within That County two hundred forty one pounds three ſhillings and nine pence. This Hidage was aſſeſſed upon the Hidelands of thoſe two Counties by the Kings Juſticiers, to wit, by Thomas Archdeacon of Wells, Alexander Dean of Wells, Adam de Greienvill, and Nicolas de Meriet

(i) Baronibus, pro Waltero de Cokefeld. Tis a Writ for freeing his Lands which were held in Socage, from the Aid ad Primogenitam filiam Domini E. quondam Regis Angliæ Patris Regis maritandam. T. xviij die Septembris anno nono. Mich. Brevia 9. E. 2. Rot. 7. b.

The like Writs were iſſued for ſeveral others, to free their Lands which were held by Rent-Service, from Scutage. Mich. Brevia. ib.

tingham and Derby collected an Aid from the Burghs of thoſe two Counties (k), The Sheriff of Dorſetſhire an Aid from the Burghs of That County (l), The Sheriff of Wiltſhire an Aid from the Burghs of That County (m), Turgis the Aid from the City of York (n), The Sheriff of Cambridgſhire the Aid of the Burgh of Cambridg (o), The Sheriff of Huntendonſhire the Aid of the Burgh of Huntendon (p), The Sheriff of Hertfordſhire the Aid of the Burgh of Hertford (q), The Sheriff of Norfolk the Aid of the Towns of Norwich and Thetford (r), The Sheriff of Suffolk the Aid of the Burgh of Gepeſwic (s), The Sheriff of Devonſhire the Aid of the City of Exeter (t); and other Sheriffs in like manner from the Burgh or Burghs within their ſeveral Counties. This Aid ſeems to have been a Yearly Payment. In fact, it is accompted-for in the like formal words wherein Annual Ferms were wont to be accompted-for. For example. In accounting for the Aid of the Preſent year, they ſaid reddit compotum de Auxilio: In accounting for the year next Before, they ſaid reddit compotum de præterito auxilio (u): And in accounting for the year next before That (or the Third year), they ſaid reddit compotum de Veteri auxilio, or de Auxilio tercij anni (w). At this time alſo, an Aid was rendred (as it ſeems) by the Counties in like ſort. The County of Middleſex rendred an Aid (called præteritum Auxilium Comitatus) for the Second year next preceding (x).

In the ſecond year of K. Henry II, the City of London paid to the King an Aid

Aid of Cxx l (y), The City of Lincoln an Aid of Lx l, and likewiſe a Donum of Lxvj l xiij s iiij d (z), The Burgh of Shrewsbury a Donum of x marks, and alſo an Aid of C s (a), The Burghs of Geldeford and Suthwerk Each C s for Aid (b), And ſeveral Burghs or Towns in the other Counties paid in like manner their reſpective ſumms for Aid; as may be ſeen in another place (c). In the 7th year of K. Henry II, the Citizens of London and Gervaſe de Cornhell anſwered for M marks the Donum of the City (d). This Donum is called (in the Great Rolls of the 9th and 12th years hereunder cited) by the name of Auxilium. For example. Of the Donum there was anſwered in Money and by Diſcompt ſeveral ſumms (though by chance they are not ſummd-up in the Roll) amounting to DC xiiij l vj s viij d. So there remained due to the Crown Lij l vj s viij d. Which ſumm of Lij l vj s viij d being in arere is put in charge in the Great Roll of the 9th year as a Remanent of an Aid, in the terms de Veteri Auxilio (e). And in the 12th year of That King Gervaſe de Cornhell paid part of the ſame Remanent Accompt for Surrey under the terms de Veteri Auxilio (f). Moreover. In the 11th year of K. Henry II, the Sheriffs of London anſwered to the Crown CCC and xxxiij l and odd under the terms de Auxilio exercitus Waliæ, for the City of London: And the Moneyours of the ſame City paid-in xl marks under the terms, de aſſiſa ejuſdem exercitus (g). In the 17th year of K. Henry II, the Sheriffs of London paid DCLxvj l and a mark [for the Citizens] by way of Donum towards the Kings Expedition againſt Ireland (h). In the 23th year of K Henry II, the Sheriff of Devonſhire paid-in the Aid raiſed out of the Burghs aud Towns in his County, to wit, for Exeter C marks, for Coliton xx s, for Nicolas Rudge two marks, for Richard de Geddeley half a mark, for Liſton xx s, for Lidford iiij l, for Scheaftbere xx s, and other ſumms for other towns. Theſe ſumms were aſſiſed upon the Burghs and towns by Ralf Fitz-Stephen, Turſtin Fitz-Simon, and William Ruffus, Juſticiers Itinerant (i). In the ſame year, the Sheriff of Glouceſterſhire accompted for the Aid aſſeſſed by the ſaid Juſticiers Itinerant on the Burghs and Towns of That County, to wit, for the Aid of the Burgh of Glouceſter C marks; of Cirenceſter

(p) De Scutagio Hyberniæ. Idem Vicecomes

King, the Citizens of London ſtood charged with the areres of ſeveral Eſcuages, Dones, and Aids of That City (q).

K. Richard I, took v s de Auxilio, out of every carue or hyde of Land through all England (r). This Aid is called There a Tallagium (s). In or about the 5th year of K. John, an Aid was paid by the Prelates, under the name of Donum Prælatorum. In Lincolnſhire, it was paid by the Abbot of Torenton, the Abbot of Grimesby, and other Prelates (t). In the 9th year of K. John, the Citizens of London ſtood charged with M l, for a Fine towards the Kings Voiage (u). In the 11th year of K. John, Nicolas de Verdun ſtood charged with DLj l, for the Aid impoſed on the Knights fees of the Earl of Leiceſters Honour in the Counties of Warwick and Leiceſter, for nine years and a half, to wit, from the 21th year of K. Henry II, to the ſecond Half-year of the 30th year of That King. This Aid was aſſeſſed by the command of K. Henry II, ſoon after that Robert Earl of Leiceſter was taken at St. Edmund. And it was not to be allowed to the Sheriff [as part of the yearly iſſues of his County], but to be yielden to the King as an additional acqueſt; for when the Knights of That Honour paid no Aid, the Sheriffs anſwered at the Exchequer for their Full ferme. This matter was ſettled by an Inquiſition taken in the Fourth year of K. John, and was afterwards certified to the Barons of the Exchequer from the Kings Court by Simon de Pateſhull, according to a memorial made thereof by Geoffrey Fitz-Pierre who in the Fourth year of K. John was Chief Juſticier (w). This Aid ſeemeth to have been a yearly payment. It accrued in ſuch manner, that it was hardly diſtinguiſhable from the yearly iſſues of the Counties. In or about the 12th year of K. John, the Towns paid an Aid for the Kings Voyage into Ireland. The Burgeſſes of Glouceſter paid D marks to That Aid, the Burgeſſes of Briſtoll M marks; and others their reſpective Quotas (x). In the ſame year, the Citizens of Lincoln were tallaged at D marks, for the Aid of Ireland (y).

In proceſs of time, the word Aid came to be uſed in a large indefinite ſenſe; as will partly appear by the inſtances which I ſhall here produce. And there came into uſe a new word Subſidium, which, if I obſerve right, was not at all or not frequently uſed in the more ancient times. To proceed. In or about the 13th year of K. Henry III, a Scutage was aſſeſſed (viz. three marks for each Knights Fee) by advice of the Earls and Barons ſummoned to Northampton for That purpoſe. The Archbiſhops and Biſhops were not, for certain reaſons, ſummoned thither. Afterwards, in the octaves of St. Michael in the ſame year, the Lord of Canterbury and his Suffragans met at London. And the ſaid Suffragans were induced to conſent, that a Scutage ſhould be aſſeſſed upon their Knights, viz. Three marks upon each Knights Fee. Wherefore, the ſaid Biſhops agreed to give to the King for an Aid, as much as they uſed to anſwer to him for Scutage. Provided, That this be not conſtrued to be done by reaſon of the Summonce ad habendum ſervitium for the Voyage into Gaſcoigne, And that by this Grant of theirs no Right be Gained or Loſt by the King or his heirs, or by the Biſhops or their Succeſſours (z). In or about the 14th year of K. Henry III, the Abbey of St. Auſtin at Canterbury paid to the King C marks, for Aid towards the Kings Firſt Voyage into Britaigne, over and above the eſcuage due upon account of That Voyage for the Knights Fees of the Abbey (a). In or about the 20th year of K. Henry III, the Archbiſhops, Biſhops, Abbots, Priours, and other Eccleſiaſtical perſons, at the Kings requeſt, granted to him an Aid for his urgent neceſſities, out of all their Knights Fees, as well thoſe for which they anſwered when they paid Scutage, as thoſe which they reteined to their own uſe, to wit, Two marks per Fee. Leſt therefore this grant and preſtation of Aid ſhould at any time be drawn into conſequence, the King by his Letters Patent declares, That this grant made by the Clergy, the ſame being Voluntary, ſhould not in future time be prejudicial to them or their ſucceſſours (b). If I gueſs right, one reaſon of the great precaution uſed in theſe caſes by the Clergy might be This. When they paid Eſcuage, either for Aid pur faire Fitz chevalier, or pur File marier, or upon Summonce ad habendum ſervicium, it was moſt commonly doubtfull what the true number of their Knights Fees was. Inſomuch that they uſed to anſwer for ſome Fees quæ recognoſcunt, and to ſtand charged with others quæ non recognoſcunt ; For the latter, the King uſed to take eſcuage when the Biſhopricks or other Prelacies were void and in His own hand ; but when the ſame were Full, the Fees quæ non recognoſcunt were commonly kept in charge in the Revenue-Rolls, but were ſeldom or never, for ought that I can find, actually paid for. Theſe, probably, are the Fees which are here meant by the words de aliis quæ retinent ad opus ſuum. So that when the King demanded a Seigneurial Aid, or an Eſcuage upon Summonce ad habendum ſervitium, the Clergy inſiſted that they had not ſo many Fees as the Kings officers uſed

On the other part, when they voluntarily granted to the King an Aid or Eſcuage, they ſometimes granted it to be iſſuable out of all their Fees whether acknowledged or not acknowledged. And this ſort of Voluntary grant was, I ſuppoſe, moſt for the Kings profit. Add, that there was alſo another convenience in the Voluntary grants of eſcuage, even in the Three Seigneurial caſes as well as others; and That was, that all doubts or diſputes about the quota or rate of the Aid or eſcuage (namely, whether it ſhould be one, two, or three marks per Fee) was thereby prevented or taken away. Furthermore. In or about the 26th year of K. Henry III, the Biſhops of England, at the Kings inſtance, liberally granted to him an Aid, for his urgent neceſſity, towards his Voyage into Gaſcoigne, to wit, xl s per Fee, for ſo many Fees as they were bounden to anſwer for when they rendred Eſcuage: And the King granted to the Biſhops, that towards That Aid they ſhould receive xl s out of every Knights Fee holden of Them. Hereupon, the King grants to the Biſhops the Letters Patents hereunder recited, whereby he Declares, That their Grant of this Aid ſhould not prejudice Them or their Succeſſours, or their Eccleſiaſtical Liberty; provided alſo, that this His Conceſſion ſhould not prejudice Himſelf or his heirs (c). pedition againſt Wales (k). In the Reign of K. Edward II, an Aid was granted to the King in his Parliament holden at York, in ſubſidium of his War with Scotland (l). And a Subſidy was granted to K. Edward II, towards his War with Scotland. It is called a Donum. Walter de Norwich a Baron of the Exchequer and Roger de Swynnerton Conſtable of the Tower of London were appointed by the King to take the recognition of the Mayor Aldermen and Citizens of London, for their quota of the Subſidy to be paid to the King this year for carrying on the war with Scotland. In Eaſter-term That year, Walter de Norwich recorded or declared upon the Exchequer, That the Mayor Aldermen and Citizens of London, in the preſence of the ſaid Walter and Roger, who both went into the City upon That occaſion, did willingly grant to the King for the ſaid Subſidy, MM marks (m).

Beſides the General Aids or thoſe which were per Communem aſſiſam Angliæ extending through the whole Realm (n), there were, as it ſeemeth, certain Aids impoſed upon the Demeanes, Eſcheats, &c, of particular Counties or Places, for certain purpoſes relating to thoſe Counties or Places. An Aid by way of Hidage was laid on the Counties of Devon and Cornwall for the Siege of the Iſle of William de Mariſco (o). The Sheriff of Somerſet accompted for xl marks, which he had received of the County [by way of Aid], for the defence of the maritime parts againſt William de Mariſco (p). And an Aid was raiſed upon [the Demeanes of] the Counties of Dorſet and Somerſet, for the Kings Buildings at Gillingham (q).

XI. Albeit men uſually paid their Aid according to the method or form in which it was aſſeſſed; yet ſometimes they were admitted to make Fine with the Crown for the ſame, or (if You pleaſe) to pay it in a groſs ſumm. The

In theſe caſes, it is, I think, to be underſtood, that a Private Lord could not demand more money for Aid (ſuppoſe, par file marier, &c) of his Tenants, than the King demanded of His upon the like occaſion; as ſeems to be admitted above in the caſe of John le Frauncels Tenant in chivalry to Ralf Fitz-Ralf.

CHAP. XVI.

ESCUAGE or Scutage was a Duty or Service ariſing out of Baronies and Knights Fees. It denoted Servicium ſcuti, the Service of the Shield: And was wont to be rendred thus, to wit, For every Knights Fee the Service of one Knight, for every Half a Fee the Service of Half a Knight, and ſo in proportion. Baronies were charged with eſcuage after the like manner; to wit, according to the number of the Knights Fees (whether they were More or Fewer) whereof the Barony by its original enfeoffment did conſiſt. This Service of Scutage was performed two ways, Either Perſonally in the Kings Army (of which, it is not my buſineſs here to treat), or elſe by Pecuniary commutation. All theſe particulars will be exemplified in this Chapter. It is true, that the word Scutagium, when uſed in an extenſive ſenſe, did anciently ſignify any Payment aſſeſſed upon Knights Fees, whether ſuch Payment was for the Kings Army or not. Thus the Aid ariſing out of Knights Fees for Ranſoming K. Richard I, is called Scutagium ad redemptionem Regis; and other Aids ſet upon Knights Fees were alſo ſometimes called Scutages. But in regard Scutage or Eſcuage, in the moſt uſual acceptation of it, ſignified the Payment or Service rendred for or in reſpect of the Army, in this Chapter I conſtantly uſe it in That ſenſe. Scutage therefore or Eſcuage was a Duty ariſing out of Baronies and Knights Fees, for Service in the Kings Army. It was wont to be rendred to the King out of all Fees holden of Him immediately, either ut de Corona, or of his Honours and Eſcheats, or of his Wardſhips and Purchaces. The ancient way of Charging or Anſwering it, was, So much De Scutagio Walliæ, &c; or pro Militibus, for his Knights fees; or de Exercitu Walliæ &c (a).

These

(a) A Learned Chief Juſtice, of great reputation in the Common Law of England, ſpeaks of Eſcuage as if it was a Tenure. But I ſuppoſe it will appear by the Records cited in this Chapter, that Eſcuage was not properly a Tenure, but rather a Duty or Service incident to Tenure by Chivalry. His words are theſe. "Every "tenure by Eſcuage (ſaith he) is a tenure by "Knights ſervice: but every tenant that "holdeth by Knights ſervice, holdeth not "by Eſcuage, as ſhall be ſaid hereafter. Cok. Comment. on Litt. fol. 69. a. "It is to "be obſerved, that he that holdeth by "Caſtlegard or Cornage, holdeth by "Knights ſervice, and yet he ſhall pay no "Eſcuage, becauſe he holdeth not to go "with the King to war. Cok. Comm. ib. fol. 69. b.

But

Theſe Eſcuages pro exercitu were wont to be paid to the King by his Tenants in Capite by Knight-ſervice. Tenant in Capite ſignifies Immediate Tenant (b). The Phraſe in Capite was commonly uſed in That ſenſe. For example. Alexander de Budicumbe ſold certain Land to Thomas Fitz-William. And ſeiſin thereof was given to Thomas by Hawiſe de Gurney Lady of the Fee per ramum arboris, To hold of her in Capite by the ſame ſervice that Alexander Did to her, namely

But, I preſume, this matter will be eaſily ſettled; if we recollect, that when a Military tenant Did actual Service, whether in an Army or in a Caſtle, Then he paid no Eſcuage.

Sire Thomas Littleton the famous Authour of the Treatiſe concerning Tenures and Eſtates (upon which Treatiſe Sir Edward Coke wrote his Commentary) ſaith, "Tiel tenant que "tient ſa terre per Eſcuage, tient per ſer-"vice de Chivaler. Litt. Ten. L. 2. c. 3. ſect. 95. Here, by, tient ſa terre per Eſcuage, we are to underſtand, per le Service de Eſcuage; as if he had ſaid, He that yieldeth Eſcuage, holdeth by Knight-ſervice; for Eſcuage is an incident to Knight-ſervice.

(b) It is wonderful to ſee how much the notion of Tenancy in Capite, which is in it ſelf Plain and Simple, hath been obſcured and perplexed by writers. Within the memory of man there have been eager diſputes about the Tenants in Capite. By what I have read of the controverſy, I cannot perceive, that it was ever agreed amongſt the Diſputants, What Tenancy in Capite was; or that they had a diſtinct notion of it. There is another thing to be here remembred, which may juſtly ſeem ſtrange. I muſt ſpeak of it with great ſubmiſſion. In the Twelfth year of K. Charles II (cap. 24.) a Statute was made, entituled, An Act for the taking-away of Tenures in Capite and by Knights ſervice and Purveyance &c. It was intended, by That Statute, to take-away and aboliſh Tenure by Knight-ſervice whether of the King or of a Subject, with the fruits and appendages thereof, viz. Wardſhip, Mariage, Relief, Eſcuage &c; and to take away Wardſhip, Mariage, Relief, Eſcuage, and other Feodal profits or Services incident either to Tenure by Barony or by Serjeanty. But there are ſome Clauſes in That Statute relating to Tenures, which, if I do not miſtake, are worded in terms ſo complex and indiſtinct, that like a Two-edged Sword they cut Both ways. Upon which matters it is not behoveful to enlarge in this place. In general, as to the nature of Tenancy in Capite, one may preſume to ſay, It has not been ſufficiently cleared by the Common-Lawyers, or even the Antiquaries of our Nation. Sir Edward Coke has no luck in the explication he gives of it, in his Firſt Inſtitutes, p. 108. a. Nor is his opinion in the Caſe needful to be recited here. Mr. Selden ſpeaks as if he thought a Baron and a Tenant in Capite was all-one; Nor. & Spicil. in Eadm. p. 168. Et Tit. Hon. p. 575. And Sir H. Spelman ſaith, that in the time of K. Henry II, every tenure in Capite was accounted a tenure by Barony; Gloſſar. ad vocem, Baro, p. 72. col. 2. In this Caſe both Mr. Selden and Sir H. Spelman, although in part they are not far from the truth, have fallen ſhort of giving a clear and juſt explication: I think it may be rightly ſaid, that in the ancient times (ſuppoſe about the time of K. Henry II) moſt of the Tenants holding of the King in Capite were Real or Reputed Barons; not barely becauſe they held of the King in Capite, but partly for That reaſon, and chiefly becauſe they held of Him Large Seigneuries. And there was, as I take it, ſo great a likeneſs between a Baron and one of the Kings Tenants in Capite who held a Large Seigneurie, that in the reign of K. Henry II, they made little or no difference between them. There was alſo another thing which made Tenancy by Barony and Tenancy of the King in Capite by Knight-Service ſo like the one to the other; And That was, the indetermined quantity or number of Knights Fees neceſſary to compoſe a Barony. For whereas ſome Baronies or Honours were exceſſive Large, conſiſting of a very great number of Fees: Others again were ſo ſmall, that by the Quantity of them or the number of the Fees whereof they conſiſted, they could not be known to be Baronies. In ſumm. Every Baron, properly ſo called, was a Tenant in Capite: but every Tenant in Capite was not, by reaſon of his Tenure in Capite, a Baron or a Reputed Baron. From the Reign of K. Henry III, downwards to the ſucceedeng times, the Tenants in Capite became very numerous. So that it ſometimes happned, that a man was the Kings Tenant in Capite of a Half, or a Quarter, or a Tenth part of a Knights Fee. Which Small Tenancies in Capite were far different from Baronies. Again; if a man held of the King in Capite by ſome other Tenure than Barony or Chivalry; ſuch perſon although he was a Tenant in Capite, was by no means a Baron.

Men ſeem to have been led into their confuſed way of ſpeaking upon this ſubject by ſuppoſing Tenure in in Capite to have been a diſtinct kind of Tenure, in like manner as Tenure by Knights Service, Socage, and others were. Which ſuppoſition is fallacious and untrue. For Tenure in Capite was ſo far from being a diſtinct ſort of Tenure by it ſelf, that it might be predicated, of the ſeveral other Tenures; that is to ſay, a man might hold of the King in Capite, either by Barony, or by Knights Service, or by Serjanty, or by Socage, or by Fee-ferm. And if it namely by the ſervice of the Fifth part of a Knights fee (c). Whereas certain Bailiffs of Free Hundreds in Eſſex and Hertfordſhire did not make due Returns to the Sheriff of thoſe Counties, the King commanded the Sheriff to Enter into thoſe Hundreds and Diſtrain in Capite (that is immediately, without making any Precept to the Bailiffs) (d). It is ſaid of one John Craft, that he was not Ballivus noſter in Capite; that is, he was not put into his Bailywick by the King ſine medio [but by another perſon who had the ſame Bailywick from the King] (e). Robert Bracy alleged by his Petition exhibited to the King, that he did not hold of the Biſhop of Worceſter in Capite, but that he held of William de Bracy, and William de Bracy of William de Beauchamp, and William de Beauchamp of the Biſhop in Capite (f). Roger de Caleſton held [the land of] Caleſton of the King in Capite by Socage, rendring yearly Lviij s iiij d (g). John de London accompted to the King for the iſſues of certain Land which was John de Lambrokes, who held in Capite of Euſtace de Durvile who held in Capite of the King; the Lands of which ſaid John were eſcheated to the King by reaſon of Felony committed by Euſtace for which he was afterwards hanged. John de London accompted alſo to the Crown, for the iſſues of certain Manours which were Robert de Beauchamps who held of the King in Capite by Barony; And for the Cuſtomary Aid of certain Manours, which were lately Mabel Rivels, who held in Capite of the King by Barony; And for the Aid of the Villains in Timeresberwe, which was lately the Land of Henry de Waddone, who held of the King in Capite; And for the iſſues of the Abbey of Muchelney, which was alſo holden of the King in Capite (h). Robert de Tudenham, and Eve his wife Tenant of the Manour of Ereſwell it be ſaid that a man held of the King in Capite, without mentioning expreſly by What ſervice, it is to be underſtood, that he held of the King immediately, in oppoſition to his holding immediately of another: And That phraſe was uſed in ſuch caſe, when the Service was not in queſtion, but the Tenure only, to wit, whether it was mediate or immediate. But the fallacious ſuppoſition above mentioned had entred into the minds of men long before the reign of K. Charles II. For example. Q. Eliſabeth by her Letters Patent dated at Weſtminſter the 19th day of November in the 42 year of her reign, granted to Richard Ryves and John Burges Gentlemen, the Manour or Lordſhip of Borſcombe in Wiltſhire, and divers other lands, in Fee ſimple. The Tenure was reſerved in theſe words: Tenendum de nobis hæredibus & ſucceſſoribus noſtris, ut de Manerio noſtro de Eſtgreenewich in Comitatu noſtro Kanciæ per fidelitatem tantum, in libero & communi ſocagio, & non in Capite, nec per ſervitium militare, pro omnibus alijs redditibus, ſervicijs, &c; Ex. 8. parte Orig. 42. Eliz. Whereas the latter words, & non in Capite, are (with great ſubmiſſion) repugnant to the former, Tenendum de nobis. And therefore the Tenure (if any) reſerved to the Crown by theſe Patents, was in truth, Tenure in Capite by Socage.

Alexander de Swereford, whilſt he reſided at the Exchequer, collected out of the Rotuli Annales or Great Rolls of the Pipe, many Memorials concerning the Scutages which were aſſeſſed in the Reigns of KKK. Henry II, Richard I, and John, and untill the 15th year of the Reign of K. Henry III. Theſe he hath put-together in the Red Book. He could not, it ſeems, give an account of any Scutages more Ancient than the Reign of K. Henry II. “ For he had not ſeen “ or heard, that any Scutages were aſſeſſed in the time of K. Henry I (l). I ſuppoſe he means, that none were mentioned in thoſe Few Annual Rolls of That Kings time which Then remained. In truth, tis more than probable that there were Scutages aſſeſſed in the Reign of K. Henry I; although the Annual Rolls of His Reign are Loſt. For That King in his Writ (hereunder cited) directed to William Conſtable of Cheſter, commanded, that the Abbot and Monks of Weſtminſter ſhould hold their Land of Periton Free from Scutage and all other ſecular preſtations (m). But Alexander goes on. “ The Firſt “ Scutage (ſaith he), as far as I can collect out of the Annual Rolls, was “ aſſeſſed in the Second year of the Reign of K. Henry Fitz-Empreſs. It was “ for the Army of Wales: And was aſſeſſed only upon thoſe Prelates who “ were bound to Military Services. The Quota of it was xx s for each “ Knights Fee (n). Several of theſe Scutages are mentioned in the Citations out of This Great Roll, which may be ſeen under the title, Danegeld (o). “ The “ Second Scutage, ſaith he, of That King was aſſeſſed for the ſame Army of “ Wales, as you may find in the Great Roll of the Fifth year of his Reign. “ It was Two marks for each Knights fee; And was aſſeſſed not only upon “ Prelates, but alſo upon other perſons and their Knights, who held of the “ King in Capite, according to the number of their Fees It was aſſeſſed “ likewiſe upon the reſt of the Knights of each County in Common. And “ This Scutage is entituled, De Dono: For this reaſon as I conceive (ſaith he), “ Becauſe not only the Prelates who were bound to Military Services, but “ others alſo, as ſuppoſe the Abbots of Batell and Shrewsbury &c did at That “ time give an Aid. And note, that in this caſe the Donum of the Prelates “ makes a ſumm of money anſwerable to the number of the Fees which they “ held of the King in Capite; counting Two marks for every Knights fee. “ And the Donum of the Knights of each Prelate was according to the ſame “ proportion, to wit, Two marks per Knights fee. For example. The Abbot “ of St. Auſtin at Canterbury who held of the King xv Fees, yielded Cxlvj l “ and a mark de Dono: The Abbots Knights xx l de Dono. Which ſumm [xx l] “ plainly agrees with the number of the Fees, at two marks per Fee. Again; “ the

“ the Knights of the County [of Kent] yield their Scutage in a Groſs or “ Common ſumm. You will find an account of theſe matters in the Great “ Roll of the 5th year. I am apt to think, All the Prelates at That time “ gave the King a Donum in Common, and diſtributed it into certain propor“ tions amongſt themſelves. This may be collected from the Unequal ſumm “ impoſed on ſeveral of them. And though This was entitled a Donum, I “ ſuppoſe it was in truth a Scutage, [for the reaſon before mentioned, and “ likewiſe] becauſe the Sheriffs of Worceſter and Warwick accompt for the “ Knights fees of the Biſhop of Worceſter and the Earl of Warwick. And there“ fore I have ſet-down this Donum as a Scutage, amongſt the other Scutages “ here mentioned (p). In this Fifth year of K. Henry II, the Payment made by the Prelates, Barons, and Knights, is called a Donum. For example. In Eſſex, The Biſhop of London gave CC marks de Dono; His Knights xl marks; The Knights of the County of Eſſex fourſcore marks; Robert de Helium xxx marks for his Knights; And Roger and Richard de Ramis, each xij l and a mark (q). In Hertfordſhire, the Abbot of St. Alban paid C marks de Dono, and the Knights of That Abbey xij marks, and the Knights of the County xxij marks de Dono (r). In Norfolk and Suffolk, the Biſhop of Norwich rendred CC marks de Dono, And his Knights Liij l and half a mark; The Abbot of St. Edmund Cxxxiij l vj s and viij d, And his Knights Liij l and a mark; The Abbot of Hulm xx l, And his Knights iiij l; The Knights of the County xlviij l and a mark; The Knights of Peter de Val. xxiij marks (s). In Kent, the Abbot of St.

Ea quidem, ut credo, ratione, quod non ſolum Prælati qui tenentur ad ſervicia Militaria, ſed etiam alij, Abbates utpote de Bello & de Salopesbirie, & alij, tunc temporis dederunt Auxilium. Et nota quod Dona Prælatorum in ſumma pecuniæ convenienti feodis quæ tenent de Rege in Capite. Ita quod ij marcæ computentur pro feodo uno. Quæ ſumma manifeſte convenit de numero feodorum; Computatis ad feodum ij marcis; Cæteris vero Militibus Comitatus reddentibus compotum in ſumma Communi. Quod totum reperies inferius in Annali Quinto. St. Auſtin paid de Dono C xlvj l and a mark, And his Knights xx l; The Knights of the County of Kent L l; And the Sheriff of the County C marks, de Dono (t). The like payments de Dono were made in the other Counties. And whereas the Payment made by the Prelates is in this Great Roll of the 5th year ſtyled a Donum; Alexander de Swereford ſuppoſeth the ſame was in reality a Scutage, Becauſe their Donum made a ſumm (as he computed it) anſwerable reſpectively to the number of their Fees, at So much (viz. Two marks) per Fee. And in truth, if the Payment made by the Prelates was made out of or in reſpect of their Fees, at So much per Fee; it was, I ſuppoſe, in it ſelf a Scutage: So much per Scutum and ſo much per Fee being the Same thing. However, the Payment made by the Abbot of Eveſhams Knights in this 5th year, is expreſly called a Scutage (u); And ſo is That made for the Fees of the Earl of Warwick (w); whoſe heir was, I think, at this time the Kings Ward. When Alexander has ſpoken of the Eſcuage of this Fifth year, he goes on to recount the ſeveral eſcuages aſſeſſed in the Reigns of the Kings whom he there names. It is not my deſign to give a Hiſtory of all theſe Eſcuages. I ſhall only mention ſome of them, and therewith ſet down a few things that ſeem neceſſary to illuſtrate the ſubject.

In the Seventh year of K. Henry II, the Abbot of Chertſey was to yield iiij l for his Knights Fees. Hugh de Muntburg and Bartholomew de Caiſne yielded each a mark for Scutage for their Fees (x). In the ſame year, in Herefordſhire, Osbert Fitz-hugh rendred xx l Eſcuage for his Knights fees, Adam de Port xv marks for his Knights fees, Robert de Candos xv marks for his Knights fees, and Ralf de Salcey xl s for his Knights fees, the Biſhop of Hereford x l for his Knights fees, and Hugh Foreſter one mark for his Eſcuage. Robert de Baskervill was charged to this Eſcuage with one mark: But the ſame was reſpited, in regard he alleged (and gave ſecurity to prove) that he did not hold the Land (for which he was ſo charged) by Knights ſervice. In the 18th year of K. Henry II, the Eſcuage of Ireland came to be put in charge. To this Eſcuage ſeveral perſons are charged under this title, De Scutagio Militum qui nec abierunt &c, The Eſcuage of Knights who did not go into Ireland, nor ſent thither any Knights or Money. For example. In Yorkſhire, William Foſſard rendred xxxj l and x s for his Eſcuage. The Archbiſhop of York rendred xx l for his Eſcuage, for Knights fees which he owned; and ſtood charged with xxiij l and x s, for Knights fees which he diſowned. William Painel rendred xv l for his eſcuage of the Old Feoffment, and ſtood charged with xx s for his eſcuage of the New Feoffment. Henry de Laci rendred xliij l and xv s for eſcuage of the Old Feoffment; and owed xxxj l and xvj d of the New Feoffment. The Biſhop of Durham rendred x l for the eſcuage of the Fees which he owned; and owed Lx l xviij s iiij d for the Fees which he diſowned. Then follow the names of ſome Barons who had not yet ſent-in their Charters or Certificates of their Fees. For inſtance. Robert de Brus rendred C s for his eſcuage. The Earl of Albemarle xx l, Goſcelin the Queens Brother vj l, Adam de Brus xv l, William Painel de Alta ripa Lxx s, and Guy de Valle xx l (z). In the ſame year, under this Title, “ The Scutage of Knights who did not “ march into Ireland, nor ſent Money or Knights thither, the Abbot of Abendon and others anſwered Scutage in Berkſhire (a). Under the like Title areres of Scutage were anſwered in the Counties of Notingham and Derby, by the Barons and Knights of thoſe Counties (b), and by the Knights in Norfolk and Suffolk (c). In the ſaid eighteenth year, in Kent, under the like title, De Scutagijs Militum qui nec abierunt &c, theſe perſons are charged to the Eſcuage of Ireland, to wit, John de Dovor xiiij l, Walter de Maene xxix l for the Old feoffment, and xxx s for the New, William de Ros vij l, William ſon of Helte Lxx s of the Old feoffment, and iiij s of the New, Walkelin Maminot xxvij l, and xx s of the New feoffment. The Eſcuages for the Army of Ireland are charged in like manner in the other Counties in the Great Roll of this 18th year of K. Henry II. So alſo the eſcuages for Eſcheats, Voidances, and Honours or Lands then being in the Kings hands, are charged in the manner following. In the Counties of Dorſet and Somerſet, under the title, De Scutagio Militum qui nec abierunt &c, the Archdeacon of Poictiers, Cuſtos of the Abbey of Glaſtingbery, rendred xl l for the Fees owned by the Abbey; and ſtood charged with iiij l x s for the Fees diſowned; which iiij l x s was to be rendred to the King by the Cuſtos, becauſe the Abbey was then in the Kings hand (f). The Archdeacon of Poictiers accompted for the iſſues of the Biſhoprick of Wincheſter, to wit, for the ferms of Manours, the rents of Archdeaconries, and the Fair of Wincheſter. At the ſame time he rendred Lx l eſcuage for the Fees of the Biſhoprick which were owned by the Biſhops; and ſtood charged with xiiij l x s for the Fees which were diſowned; which xiiij l x s was to be paid to the King, becauſe the Biſhoprick was then in the Kings hand (g). In the ſame year, John Malduit and Turſtin Fitz-Simon Committees of the Archbiſhoprick of Canterbury rendred Lx l for the Knights of the Archbiſhoprick which were owned, aud ſtood charged with xix l for the Knights that were diſowned; which xix l was to be paid, becauſe the Archbiſhoprick was then in the Kings hand (h). In the ſame year, the Sheriff of Yorkſhire rendred iiij l viij s iiij d, for the Knights fees holden of Wartre an Eſcheat (i): And the Sherif of Lincolnſhire rendred xxx s, for the eſcuage of certain Free tenants who held of Hacuneby an Eſcheat (k). In the ſame year, Randulf de Glanvill Fermour of the Honour of Earl Conan, accounted to the King as well for the ferms of the Manours belonging longing to That Honour, and the ſervice of the Drenges, and the Third penny of Gipeſwic, as alſo for the eſcuage of the Knights fees; but his account for the ſaid eſcuage was reſpited for the preſent, becauſe he could not as yet diſcover the true number of the Knights fees (l).

It hath been obſerved before, in Chap. XV, of Aid, that Charters or Certificates of Knights Fees were ſent-in, when the Aid for marrying K. Henry the Seconds Daughter Maud was levied; which Aid was charged in the Revenue-Rolls of the Fourteenth year of That King. But in truth, it ſeems to me, that in the Ancient times, whenever Scutages were to be levied, the Barons and Tenants in Capite did, by the Kings command, ſend-in Certificates of their reſpective Fees, either toties quoties, or at leaſt moſt uſually. This appears in ſome meaſure by the Red Book of the Exchequer and Teſta de Nevill; eſpecially by the former, wherein the Certificates of Baronies and Knights Fees, which were ſent-in upon ſeveral occaſions, are fairly ſet-down. Which uſage of ſending Certificates continued, as it ſeems, even to the time of K. Henry III. In the Twentieth year of whoſe Reign, when the Aid ad Sororem maritandam was levied, the Barons ſent-in Certificates of their Fees. The Certificate of Robert de Beauchamp of Hacche for his Barony, made upon That occaſion, may be ſeen in the Formulare Anglicanum (m). The Originals of theſe Charters or Certificates made upon the reſpective occaſions of levying of Eſcuages, are not now (for ought that I know) to be found. But there are ſome hints given of them in ſeveral clauſes which I have cited, in this Volume, out of the Great Rolls of the Pipe. At preſent I ſhall inſtance only in the Scutage of Ireland, which was put in charge in the 18th year of K. Henry II. It is likely that the Barons and Great Tenants in Capite ſent-in Certificates upon the occaſion of That Scutage. For in That year, ſome perſons are charged with the Scutage of Ireland, under the title, De his qui Cartas non miſerunt: particularly, Robert de Praeres, Rolland de Dinan, and Ralf de Toeni (n). And it appears, that theſe perſons were charged in the Roll of this 18th year to the Scutage of Ireland and not to the Aid for Marrying the Kings Daughter. For they had actually paid their contingent of That Aid Before, and were acquitted thereof in the Great Roll of the 14th year of That King (o). And in the 20th year of K. Henry II, the Knights fees of Baldwin de Redvers in Devonſhire are charged de bene eſſe at C l to the eſcuage of Ireland: But the Accompt is reſpited, becauſe as yet no Charter or Certificate of the number of his Fees was ſent-in (p).

In the 33th year of K. Henry II, the eſcuage for the Army of Galway came to be put in charge. It was xx s per Fee: And is uſually anſwered-for under the title, De Scutagio Baronum [or Militum] qui non abierunt cum Rege in exercitu Galweiæ. This Eſcuage was paid in Wiltſhire, by the perſons following, amongſt others. The Committees of the Biſhoprick of Saresbery are charged with xxxij l for ſo many Knights fees admitted by the Biſhops; and with viij l x s for Knights fees not admitted; which viij l x s was to be paid to the King (notwithſtanding the Knights fees were in diſpute), becauſe the Honour [or Temporalities of the Biſhoprick] of Saresbery was in the Kings hand. Margaret de Bohun paid xxx l x s for the Fees of the Honour of Humfrey de Bohun whom the King had committed to her in Wardſhip, to wit, for the Fees of the Old feoffment: She was charged with ix l x s for Fees of the New feoffment. The Abbey of Wilton paid C s eſcuage; The Abbey of Malmesbery Lx s; The Abbey of St. Edward iiij l. Certain Fees holden of Cumb and Culerne late belonging to Earl Reginald paid vj l xv s; Walter de Clifford paid xx s for one Fee. At this time alſo a Tallage was aſſiſed upon the Kings Demeanes and Eſcheats in Wiltſhire, by Hugh Bardulf the Kings Dapifer, Maſter Thomas de Huſſeburne, and William Briewerre. It was paid, under the name of a Donum, by the ſeveral Towns and Manors, to wit, by Weſtcumbe, Bedewinde, Chepeham, Diviſes, Caune, Burgh and Foreign Manour of Merleberg, Lutegareſhal, Malmesbery, Bedeneſton, Saresbery, Wilton, Melcheſham, and other Towns. But I do not treat of Tallage in this place. So that this muſt be remitted to the XVIIth Chapter, Of Tallage. Again; the Committees of the Biſhoprick of Saresbery [viz. Herbert Archdeacon of Canterbury, and two others] who ſtood charged, as above is ſaid, with the eſcuage of that Biſhoprick, do now actually pay in the ſame eſcuage both for the Fees of the Old feoffment and the New, together with the Tallage for the Demeanes of the Biſhoprick (q). In Yorkſhire, theſe perſons paid to the eſcuage of Galwey, namely: Laurence Archdeacon of Bedford and

The Tallage was paid under the name of a Donum. For example. The Sherif of Yorkſhire paid-in xvij l vj s viij d for the Donum of Eſingwald with the appurtenances; xix l x s for the Donum of Pikering; Cxiij s iiij d for the Donum of Scallebi; xiiij l xiij s iiij d for the Donum of Pokelinton with the Soke; xxxiiij l for the Donum of Scardeburc; xlix l xiiij s iiij d for the Donum of the Burgh of Mealton &c; and CCxxvj l vj s viij d for the Donum of the City of York aſſiſed by the Kings Juſtices upon the men of That City, not including the Moneyours (r). In the Counties of Dorſet and Sumerſet, theſe perſons paid to the eſcuage of Galwey, viz. The Abbey of Glaſtingbery was charged xl l for the Fees which the Abbots owned, and Ralf Fitz-Stephen Cuſtos of the Abbey, iiij l x s for the Fees that were Diſowned; Robert Pubier, Cuſtos of the Land and heir of William de Curci the Dapifer, xlv l x s, for the Fees of the Honour of Curci and Meſchin, as well of the Old Feoffment, as likewiſe of the New, becauſe the Heir of That Honour was now the Kings Ward: Robert had an abatement made to him for the eſcuage of one Fee belonging to Henry de Crammaville, who was not as yet enfeoffed of it, as it was certified by the Charter which his Lord ſent-in upon the occaſion of levying this Eſcuage (s). In like manner, in the Reign of K. Richard I, the areres of the Eſcuage of Galwey, due from the Barons and Knights who went not into the Army of Galwey, were put in charge in the Counties

Fees (n). The Scutage of Scotland was aſſeſſed at xx s per Fee. Guy de Chancels accounted for the Scutage of the Honour of Glouceſter as well of the Old Feoffment as the New; to wit, for Three hundred twenty ſeven Knights Fees, and a Tenth and a Twentieth part of a Fee. Several of theſe Fees could not at preſent be found or aſcertained (o). To this Scutage of Scotland the Priour of Coventry was charged with xv marks for Ten Fees (p).

In the reign of K. Henry III, there were ſeveral Scutages. The Scutage of Biham was aſſeſſed at x s per Fee. To It the Priour of Coventry was rated at C s for Ten Fees (q). The Scutage of Poictou was aſſeſſed at xl s per Fee. In the Counties of Cambridg and Huntendon, the Barony of Luvetot was charged to It in this manner. Hubert de Bromford who had one of the heireſſes of Nigell de Luvetot was to pay one Third part of the eſcuage; Elias de Amundevill another heir of Nigell (I ſuppoſe he means, one that had married another of his heireſſes) a Third part; and William Patric the Third heir of Nigell, the reſidue (r). To the Eſcuage of Poictou aſſeſſed at xl s per Fee, the Priour of Coventry was charged at xx l (s). Afterwards in the ninth year of K. Henry III, the Priour ſtood charged with xx l to an Eſcuage of Poictou as for Ten Fees. He paid part of it in That year (t); part of it in the Tenth year (u); and other part of it in the Eleventh year of That King (w). An Eſcuage was aſſeſſed at three marks per Fee, for the Kings Firſt Voyage to Britagne. Towards (y) Several of the precedents above cited relate to the Priours of Coventry. Which puts me in mind of a Caſe that may properly be mentioned upon this occaſion. The Caſe was this. In the 17th year of K. Edward III, the Priour of Coventry was attached to anſwer in the Exchequer, for withdrawing and concealing from the King the Service of Eight Knights Fees. [That is to ſay, Whereas the Priour was juſtly chargeable (as it was alleged for the King) with Ten Fees, he had of late Acknowledged Two Fees only, and had concealed from the King the other Eight]. The Priour appeared in the Exchequer. The Barons ordered precedents to be ſearched. Upon That Search it was found, that in the 29th year of K. Henry III, the Priour was charged, to the Aid for Marrying the Kings Eldeſt Daughter, with Ten Fees; and paid accordingly; And to the Aid for marrying the Kings Siſter, with Ten Fees; and paid accordingly. It was alſo found, That afterwards, in the Reign of K. Edward I, to the Scutage for the Kings Expedition againſt Wales, the Priour (then being) acknowledged the Service of Two Fees only, and Fined for the ſame; And that for Two other Scutages in That Kings Reign, the Priour acknowledged the Service of Two Fees only, and made Fine to the King accordingly. And that in the Reign of K. Edward II, the Priour Acknowledged but Two Fees, and Fined to the King for the ſame. To this, the Priour (in this 17th year of K. E. III.) Pleaded, That he and his Predeceſſours held all their Lands and Tenements, as well thoſe which they had in Dominico as thoſe which they had in Servicio, by the Service of Two Fees only: And that the King or his Progenitours were never ſeized, either by Fine or Perſonal Service, of any other Services Done by the Priour [for the time being] or his Men; as would, he ſaid, appear by the Memoranda of the Exchequer. And whereas it was found [as above] in the Exchequer-Rolls, that certain Summs had been paid or accounted for to the Crown, for the ſaid Aids to make the Kings Eldeſt Son a Knight, and to marry his Siſter; the Priour now Pleading alleged, that That ought not to prejudice him at all. For, he ſaid, Theſe Aids were not nor ought to be accounted Services; but that they were in truth only certain Subſidies granted to the King by the Great Men and the Community of the Realm purely out of their Free Will, and were to be levied as well of other Tenants as of thoſe who held of the King in Capite. For which reaſon, he ſaid, it was to be underſtood, that thoſe Aids were rendred as well for the Fees of the Priours Tenants as for the Priours own Fees; And this, he ſaid, might appear by the Certificate which the Priour of Coventry made to the Barons of the Exchequer by K. Henrys Command, of the Fees which he held both of the Old Feoffment and the New: By which Certificate, the Priour of Coventry (at That time being) Certified, That the Fees which the Priour then held in Demeane, and thoſe which his Tenants held of him, were in all Ten Fees &c. Whereupon the Priour now pleading, prayed Judgment, Whether in regard he held all his Land and tenements by the Service of two Fees only, and in regard it was not Found, as he ſaid, by any Records in the Exchequer, That the King or his Progenitors were ever ſeized of any other or more Services by the hand of the Priour of Coventry or his predeceſſours; whether in this caſe the preſent Priour ought to be charged with any Concealment of Service. Upon this Plea, the Kings Serjeants deſired to take adviſement. There were ſeveral adjournments. And no Judgment is entred upon the Roll, either for or againſt the King.

This is the Caſe, as it ſtands upon the Roll in Hil. Commun. 17. E. 3. ex parte Remem. Reginæ, and as it is cited by Dr. Brady in the Appendix to his Introduction &c, p. 25, 26, 27. I ſuppoſe, any Man who recollects the precedents occaſionally cited in this Volume, may perceive that the matter here pleaded by the Priour was falſe. For example. The Priour pleads, that he and his predeceſſours held all their Lands, whether holden in Dominico or in Servicio, by the Service of Two Fees only; And that the Kings of England were never ſeized, by the hand of the Priour, either by Fine or Perſonal ſervice, of any other Service than for Two Fees. Whereas, in fact the Priours of Coventry in ancient times were conſtantly charged for Ten Fees, and paid Eſcuage for ſo many. For inſtance. The Priour of Coventry

II. As Eſcuage was rendred for Fees holden of the King in Capite by Knights ſervice ut de Corona, So it was alſo rendred for Fees holden of Honours and Eſcheats which were in the Kings hands, And for Fees holden of Lands Purchaſed by the King, And for Fees holden of the Kings Wards during the Wardſhip. For the Tenants holding of the Kings Wardſhips and Eſcheats, were Immediate Tenants to the King, whilſt the Wardſhips and the Eſcheats reſted in Him. The Sheriff of Surrey anſwered to the King for the Eſcuage of the Knights of the Abbey of Chertſey, and for the Eſcuage of the Knights of the Abbey of Weſtminſter (z). Which Abbeys were, I ſuppoſe, then Void, and in the Kings hands. The Biſhop of Bathe owed iiij l v s, for the Army of Wales for a paſt year. But the Demand was reſpited, Becauſe the Biſhoprick of Bathe was in the Kings hands (a). When the Biſhoprick of Hereford was in the Kings hands, John Cumin the Cuſtos anſwered the Scutage for the Knights Fees which the Biſhop did not own he was chargeable for to the King (b). The Honour of John de Port who was the Kings Ward, was charged with Lv marks Eſcuage for the Knights Fees of the Old Feoffment, and ij marks for the New Feoffment (c). Earl Reginald was charged with CC and xv l and odd, for the Scutage of his Knights of Cornwall and Devonſhire: But was acquitted of it; becauſe his Honour or Barony was Then in the Kings hands (d). The Sheriff of Northamtonſhire levied for the King the eſcuage of a certain Knights fee in Hecham that was an Eſcheat (e). Simon de Merc was charged with three marks Scutage for a Fee of Two Knights, which he held of the King in Capite of the Honour of Boloigne (f). The Eſcuage of Richard Fitz-Reynald was anſwered to the ventry certified to K. Henry II, That the Fees of his enfeoffed Knights and his Demeane amounted to Ten Fees. And accordingly, in the 14th year of That King, the Priour paid for Ten fees, to the Aid ad Filiam maritandam; As may be ſeen in the Chapter of Aid, ſect. 2. In the 18th year of K. Henry II, the Priour paid Scutage for Ten fees, to the Scutage of Ireland. In the 33th year of the ſame King, the Priour was charged for Ten Knights fees to the Scutage of Galwey. In the 2d year of K. Richard I, the Biſhop of Coventry, who then had the Priory (which was vacant) in his hands, anſwered for the Priory for Ten fees to the Scutage of Wales. In the 8th year of K. Richard I, the Cuſtodes of the Priory (being then void) were charged with Scutage for Ten Fees, which was afterward paid. In the ſame year, the Priory (being then void) paid for Ten Fees to the Second Scutage of Normandy. In the 1ſt and 3d years of K. John the Priour was charged with Scutage for Ten fees. In the 13th year of the ſame King, he paid for Ten fees to the Scutage of Wales. In the 15th year of the ſame King, he paid for Ten fees to the Scutage of Scotland. In the 5th year of K. Henry III, he was charged for Ten fees to the Scutage of Biham, and likewiſe to the Scutage of Poictou. In the 10th year of K. Henry III, he paid for Ten fees to the Scutage of Poictou. And in the 14th year of the ſame King, he paid for Ten fees to the Scutage for the Kings Voyage into Britanny. The Records whereby it appears that the Priory of Coventry in the ſeveral Reigns and years juſt above mentioned were charged with and paid theſe ſeveral Eſcuages, may be ſeen in the Firſt and Second Sections of this Chapter. Which precedents do, I ſuppoſe, ſufficiently prove, that the Plea pleaded by the Priour of Coventry in the ſaid 17th year of K. Edward III, was untrue.

holden in Capite, or holden of Eſcheats, Purchaces, or Wardſhips (t). Dioniſia Wyne was attached to anſwer, For that ſhe did not Do her Service for the Manour of Penkeſton, in the Army of K. Edward I, in Scotland anno regni 34, nor Fined with the King for That Service. But it being Found by Inquiſition, that ſhe and her Anceſtours held That Manour a tempore quo non extat memoria of Thomas de Cadurcis and his Anceſtours, and not of the King in Capite, as was ſuggeſted, She was diſmiſſed ſine die (u). Eſcuage was demanded of John de Warenne Earl of Surrey for the Manour of Pritewell. But he was acquitted of it. Becauſe when the Eſcuage ran, he was an Enfant and in the Kings Wardſhip; by means whereof the ſaid Eſcuage had been anſwered to the King (w). Beatrice de Kirketon was diſtreined for Eſcuage for the Armies of Scotland. But becauſe ſhe did not hold her Land by Knights-ſervice immediately of the King, but of Simon de Driby, the King by his Writ directed to the Barons, ordered her to be diſcharged of it, Unleſs Simon de Driby her Lord was, at the time of thoſe Armies, under-age and in the Kings Cuſtody. [For Then the King would have been entituled to her Eſcuage; For by having Simon (her Lord) in Wardſhip, he became Immediate Lord to Her]. And the like Writs iſſued in the caſe of Henry Huſe, William de Liſle, and Walter de Davintre (x). But if a Tenant by Knights Service was not the Kings Immediate Tenant, he was not charged with Scutage to the King, but to his Immediate Lord. However, ſometimes the King granted, to one that was not his immediate Tenant, leave to pay his Eſcuage at the Exchequer per manum ſuam. Thus K. Henry III, commanded the Sheriff of Cambridgſhire by Writ, to forbear demanding Scutage of Robert Fitz-Walter and his Knights; becauſe the King had ordered Robert to anſwer for it per manum ſuam (y). And Nicolas de Guronde, who held Two Knights fees of the Honour of Peverell of Dovor, had the Kings Writ appointing him to pay his Scutage per manum ſuam (z).

It is to be underſtood, that in general, Eſcuage was paid according to the proportion or ſumm that was aſſeſſed; ſuppoſe, at the rate of One, Two, or Three marks for each Knights fee. Nevertheleſs, many doubts were wont to ariſe about the payment of it. Sometimes the Quantity of the Service due from a Tenant by Knights-Service was uncertain: that is to ſay, It was ſometimes doubtfull, Of how many Knights Fees a man (or his anceſtour) was enfeoffed; and by conſequence, What ſumm he was to pay for Eſcuage. This uncertainty about the number of the Fees frequently hapned in the caſe of Eccleſiaſtical

Eccleſiaſtical perſons, Biſhops and Abbots. Of which, there might be Two cauſes: One, For that the endowment of many of the Biſhopricks and Abbeys was very Ancient, ſo that the Form of their enfeoffment could not eaſily be known in the ſucceeding times: Another, for that it was many times doubtful, whether they were enfeoffed of ſome of their Lands, to hold by Baronial and Military Service or in Frankalmoigne. In fact, we often find Eccleſiaſtical perſons charged to Aids and Eſcuages in This manner, viz. Such a Biſhop reddit compotum of So much pro Militibus quos recognoſcit, and debet So much pro Militibus quos non recognoſcit ſe debere Regi. Again; in the caſe of other perſons holding in Capite by Barony or by Knights Service, it was oftentimes uncertain, By How many Knights Fees they held. Some Honours or Baronies conſiſted of more Knights Fees than others did; and ſome Fees were much larger than others: Inſomuch that it was in ſome caſes doubtful, Whether a man held by Barony or by Knights-ſervice; in other Caſes, Whether a man held by the ſervice of one Knights fee, or of more than one, or of How many Knights fees. In the 18th year of K. Henry II, William Achard was charged with eſcuage for Three Knights fees. But he alleged, that K. Henry I, granted the Lands (in reſpect whereof he was ſo charged) to Williams Grandfather by the ſervice of one Knight. And it ſeems, upon paying Scutage for One Knights Fee, he was acquitted of the reſt of the Scutage (a). In the 22th year of the ſame King, Walter Abbat of Taviſtok was charged with Scutage for Sixteen Fees. But he alleged that K. Henry I, by his Charter quitclaimed the Church of Taviſtok by the Service of Fifteen Fees (b). In the Reign of K. Henry III, William de Feſnes held certain Lands in Eſſex, which were Then eſtimated at Six Knights fees. William alleged that he held the ſame by the Service of One Knights fee. And therefore an Enqueſt was ordered to be taken concerning the ſame: that is to ſay, The Sheriff of Eſſex was commanded to ſummon certain Inquiſitours to appear before the Barons of the Exchequer, to Find, Whether William de Feſnes or any of his Anceſtours Did or ought to Do to the King or his Predeceſſours More or Other Service than the Service of One Knight, for the Six Knights fees which he held of the King in Capite of the Honour of Boloigne, And whether the Full Service of Six Knights was not formerly anſwered to the King in Scutage at the Exchequer, And if it was, Whether thoſe Fees were Then in the hands of the King, or of William or his Anceſtours, And whether the ſaid Scutage was (in That caſe) freely paid by William or his anceſtours as Due, or was extorted from them by the Sheriff (c).

On the other hand, ſome Knights Fees were remarkably Small. Such, for inſtance, were the Fees of the Honour of Moreton, which were commonly called the parva feoda Moritoniæ, and paid Leſs for Eſcuage than the generality of other Fees. I think, ſome Fees of the Honour of Aquila were of the ſame ſort. The Knights of Earl Reginald in Cornwall and Devon were charged according to the proportion of Eſcuage which was demandable from the Fees of of Moreton (d). And the Fees of Gilbert de Aquila in Suſſex were likewiſe charged as Small Fees of Moreton (e). The Difference between the Eſcuage of the Fees of Moreton and That of other Fees, was about one Third part. For example. Three Fees of Moreton made Two other Fees, or thereabouts. Thus, Richard Fitz-William certified to K. Henry II, that he had Ten Knights fees of the fees of Moreton, whereof Three amount to Two other fees (f). And William Fitz-John certified, that he held of the King in Capite of the New feſſament of the Honour of Moreton Seven Knights, Three Knights of Which ſort Did the Service of Two other Knights (g), or thereabouts. William de Cabaignes held nine Knights fees in the Counties of Dorſet and Somerſet. Theſe were of the Small Fees of Moretoigne. And therefore, to the Scutage of Galwey, which was ſet at xx s per Fee, he was charged for them no more than xij s vj d per Fee (h). Gilbert de Aquila paid to the ſame Scutage of Galwey xij s vj d per Fee, for certain Fees of Moreton which he held in the County of Suſſex (i). In the reign of K. Edward II, when xl s was taken for every Great Fee, for Scutage, and for Aid ad Primogenitam filiam maritandam, the Small Fees of Moreton uſed to pay but xxv s per Fee; as the Tenants of thoſe Fees alleged. And therefore when they have been charged above That rate, they have obtained Writs of Diſcharge pro tanto (k).

III. It is ſaid above, that Eſcuage was paid out of Knights Fees. There were alſo ſome Serjeanties that paid Eſcuage. Simon Puncard paid half a mark Eſcuage for his Serjeanty (l). Robert de Orton paid xx s Eſcuage for his Serjeanty (m). Walter de Badvent paid xx s Eſcuage for his Serjeanty, And Ralf Fleming two marks for his Serjeanty (n). But peradventure theſe Serjeanties were alſo holden by Military tenure. For ſometimes Knights ſervice was annexed to a Serjeanty; that is, Lands were holden both by Serjeanty and by the Service of a Knights fee or Part of a Knights fee. For certain Lands parcell of the Serjanty of William de Paris in Eſcuage for the Manour of Comberton in the County of Cambridg, ſhewed to the King by his Petition, that the ſaid Manour was holden of the King by the Service of Keeping the Kings Falcons and not by Knights Service. Hereupon, the King by Writ ordered the Barons, if they found it to be So, to Diſcharge him of the Eſcuage (t).

IV. Eſcuage-money was in lieu of Perſonal Service. And therefore the Barons and Knights were commonly charged with Eſcuage or Fines for Eſcuage, under the Terms, Pro exercitu, De his qui non abierunt &c, Fines pro paſſagio, or the like; as appeareth in the ſeveral ſections of this Chapter. But I think it is to be underſtood, that Perſonal Service was required moſt ſtrictly, if not ſolely, of the Tenants holding by Knights Service in Capite ut de Corona. For if a man held his Land of the King by Knight-Service as of an Honour then being in the Kings hands, and not as of the Crown, ſuch Tenant was not indiſpenſably obliged to Do Perſonal Service in the Kings Army, but was to pay the King Eſcuage when it was aſſeſſed. At leaſt, this was alleged to be the uſage in the Reign of K. Edward II; in the caſe of Gerard de Wacheſham (u), and Thomas de Ingleſthorp (w).

V. When the King went forth with his Army, he was wont to Summon his Barons and Tenants in Capite by Knights ſervice to be Ready to Do their Service in his Army according to the number of their Fees and quantity of their Tenure. This was called Summonce ad habendum Servitium. For inſtance. K. Henry III, in the 7th year of his reign, by a cloſe writ of the Great Seal, commanded the Sheriff of Kent, to ſummon without delay all Archbiſhops, Biſhops, Abbots, Priours, Earls, Barons, Knights, and Free Tenants, and all others in his bailywick who owed the King Knight-ſervice or Serjeanty, to be at Worceſter, on the morrow of the H. Trinity, with their Whole Service, ready to go with horſes and arms in the Kings ſervice, whitherſoever he ſhould command them. And hereof he was alſo to make Proclamation throughout his bailywick. The like writs iſſued to all the other Sheriffs of England (x). K. Henry III, in the 48th year of his Reign, ſent Writs into the ſeveral Counties, commanding the Sheriff to take with him the Cuſtos pacis of the County, and to ſummon the Archbiſhops Biſhops Earls Barons and all others who owed Service to the King, to meet the King at London Such a day cum ſervitio in quo nobis tenentur (y). K. Henry III, in the 49th year of his Reign, ſent his Writs to the Biſhops, Abbots, Priours, Earls, Barons, Knights, and all others who held of the King in Capite (and had not taken part with the Earl of Glouceſter againſt the King), commanding them to come to Worceſter with all ſpeed with Horſes and arms & toto ſervitio veſtro nobis debito in order to march againſt the Kings enemies (z). On Saturday the 4th day of October, Anno 26 E. 1, the Kings Writs or Letters directed to the Barons of the Realm, touching their Service in the Kings Army in Scotland, were delivered at the Exchequer to the Sheriffs of England, who were to deliver them to the Barons reſiding in their ſeveral Counties; And the Treaſurer ſent his Letters, by a Meſſenger of the Exchequer, to the Keepers of the Kings Wardrobe, with Like Writs or Letters from the King to be delivered to the Barons of the Realm who were reſident at the Kings Court (a). When a man was to prove that he had Done his Service in the Kings Army, he commonly made his proof by Certificate or Teſtimony of the Commander in chief, or of the Conſtable or Mareſchall or their Lieutenant, or by the Rolls of the Marſhalſey of the Army. Elene la Zouche Held by a Knights Fee, and the Sixth part of a Knights fee. She was charged with Scutage for the ſame at the Exchequer. But in regard ſhe Did her Service with the King (habuit ſervicium ſuum cum Rege) in the Army of Wales, according to the Kings Precept or Summonce, as appeared to the King by the Rolls of the Marſhalſy of his Army, the King by Writ commanded the Barons to diſcharge her of the ſaid Scutage (e). John Fitz-Reynald was charged with Scutage for the Army of Scotland. But it being teſtified before the Kings Council, that John Did his Service (habuit ſervicium ſuum) in That Army in the Company of Hugh le Deſpenſer, according to the Kings precept, he was diſcharged of the Scutage (f). And Roger de la Ware was in like manner acquitted of Scutage, demanded for the Army of Scotland, upon the Earl of Warwicks teſtifying before the King, that Roger Had his Service with the King in That Army (g). Roger de Sumervill was attached to anſwer to the King at the Exchequer, for not Doing his Service in the Kings Army in Scotland in the 34th year of K. Edward I. Roger pleaded, that he Did his Full Service in the Kings Army aforeſaid; and produced a Certificate thereof made by K. Edward II, whilſt he was Prince of Wales, and another Certificate from the ſeveral aſſignees of the Conſtable and Mareſchall of England. Allowance or Diſcompt ad tantum in a Summ charged on him in the Great Roll for the ſame Scutage (e). In the 28th year of K. Edward I, John de Daventry held of the King the Ninth part of a Knights Fee in Thirneby of the Fee of Moretein; Andrew Abbot of Pipwell held the ſame Ninth part of John, and Adam de Bervile of the Abbot. John de Daventry received of the Abbot two ſhillings and eleven pence for the Eſcuage of Scotland in the ſaid year due for the ſaid ninth part, and was to acquitt the Abbot, and all undertenants, of the ſaid Eſcuage (f).

VII. Eſcuage was not chargeable upon Lands holden either in Frankalmoigne of Royal Foundation or in Socage. The Abbot of Waverley claimed (under a Charter of K. John) to hold his Lands in Frankalmoigne, and to be Quit of rendring Eſcuage for the ſame: So the King commanded the Barons, that if they found by the Abbots Charters that he held in Frankalmoigne and ought to be Quit of Eſcuage, then they ſhould acquit him of the late Eſcuages for the Armies of Scotland. The like writs iſſued in other the like caſes (g). If a Subject gave Land to a Religious Houſe in Frankalmoigne; Such Land was not to be diſtreined for Eſcuage, as long as the Donour or his heirs had other Lands in the ſame County on which the Eſcuage might be levied. The Eſcuage of Gaſcoigne was demanded of the Maſter of the Hoſpital of Burton-Lazar, for five virgates of Land which he held in Frankalmoigne. But foraſmuch as Frankalmoigne ought not to yield Eſcuage whilſt the Feoffer or his heirs have aſſets to anſwer for the ſame; a Writ iſſued to the Sheriff, commanding him (if the caſe was So), to diſtrein the heirs of the Feoffer for the eſcuage, and not the Maſter of the Hoſpital (h). The Canons of Wroxton were charged with with Eſcuage for the Manour of Torp, which they held in Frankalmoigne, of the donation of John de Montague. And becauſe (ſaith the Record) That Frankalmoigne ought not to be diſtreined for Eſcuage, ſo long as John or his heirs have other Lands in the County, upon which the Eſcuage might be levyed: Therefore a Writ iſſued to the Sheriff of Northamtonſhire, commanding him not to Diſtrein the Canons, but the ſaid John or his heirs, by their other Lands, for the ſaid Eſcuage (i). The Priour of Semplingham held certain Land in Boleby in Frankalmoigne, of the donation of Nigell Fitz-Alexander. The Priour was diſtreined for Eſcuage to the Aids for Marrying the Kings Siſter and for Marrying his Eldeſt Daughter. The Priour alleged, that his Feoffors heirs were able to Diſcharge the ſaid Land holden in Frankalmoigne of the ſaid Eſcuages. So a Writ iſſued to the Sheriff of Lincolnſhire, commanding him (if it was So as the Priour alleged) to forbear demanding the ſaid Eſcuages of the Priour, and to diſtrein the Feoffors heirs for the ſame. Becauſe (ſaith the Writ) we are not wont to diſtrein Lands holden in Frankalmoigne, as long as the Feoffors are Able to anſwer for the ſame (k).

Again; Lands holden purely in Socage were not to pay Eſcuage. John de Reinni held two carues of Land in Cumberland, by Suit to the County and Hundred Court, And was not to pay Eſcuage for it (l). Thomas de St. Valery declared by his Deed under Seal, That having found, upon Search and Enquiry carefully made in the caſe, that Robert de Chadeleſworth did not ow him Eſcuage or other Military Service for the Land which he held in Chadeleſworth belonging to Thomas's Seigneury, Nor was obliged to give him any Aid pur faire Fitz chivaler or pur Fille marrier, He the ſaid Thomas did, in his Court, acquit Robert and his heirs of rendring any ſuch Military Service, Eſcuage, or Aid: And therefore Willed, that Robert and his heirs ſhould hold their Land in Chadeleſworth of him the ſaid Thomas and his heirs in Socage, at vij l yearly Rent, as his anceſtours had held the ſame of the anceſtours of Thomas: Provided, that if the King took Eſcuage for Thomas's Land and would not grant to Thomas his Eſcuage thereof, Then Robert and his heirs might, if they could, obtain Quitance thereof from the King; but that Thomas would not undertake to acquit them thereof againſt the King (m). had Writs to Diſcharge their reſpective Lands of Eſcuage, becauſe the ſame were holden in Socage or at Fee-ferm: namely, William de Welleby, Thomas de Cherlinton, William de Carburra, Peter Talbot, John Deyvill, John de Nuttele, and the Abbot of Stratford (n). And eſcuage was not to be paid by perſons, to whom the King by Charter granted Freedom from eſcuage. Adam de Simplinges was charged with certain Scutages for half a Knights Fee holden of the Abbey of Rading: The Ancient Kings of England had granted to That Abbey, that they ſhould be Quit of Scutage for the Lands they had already acquired or ſhould afterwards acquire. K. Henry III, confirmed to them That Freedom, of his eſpecial Grace, and ſo that the ſame might not be drawn into Conſequence or Precedent: And by vertue of a Writ directed to the Barons of the Exchequer, teſtifying the ſaid Grants, Adam was diſcharged of the ſaid ſeveral Scutages, And the Abbey were to be Scutage-free for the time to come (o). The Sheriff of Surrey retorned to the Treaſurer and Barons, that the Abbot of Nutley held of the King in Capite the Fourth part of a Knights Fee in Gomeſhelve. The ſaid Abbot was attached to anſwer to the King in the Exchequer, For that he, when he was Summoned to be with the King at Carlile on the Quinzime of St. John Baptiſt laſt paſt, with his whole Service which he owed to the King in his Army, neither repaired to Carlile with his Service, nor to the Exchequer in order to make Fine for the ſame. To this he Pleaded, that K. Henry III, gave to his Abbey all the Land which they had in Gomeſhulve Quit of Service in Armies, and of Scutage and Tallage. And thereupon he was diſmiſſed ſine die (p). Add the caſe here following. It deſerves to be recounted, for the ſingularity of it. Peter Biſhop of Wincheſter was charged with CLix marks towards the Firſt Eſcuage in the Reign of K. Henry III; But it was teſtified at the Exchequer by Hubert de Burgh Chief Juſticier, William Briewerre, and other Barons, that the Biſhop of Wincheſter never conſented to the granting of the ſaid Eſcuage, but conſtantly oppoſed it; And that This was admitted to be true by William Mareſchall Rector of the King and

VIII. As the Lord who held of the King in Capite by Knights Service, paid Eſcuage to the King for his Knights Fees: So the Tenants of ſuch Lord, who held of him the ſame Fees by Knights ſervice, paid Eſcuage for the ſame to their Lord, according to the Quantity of their Tenure: And then the Lord was ſaid habere ſcutagia ſua, to have his Eſcuage; to wit, of his Tenants. The Tenants paid Eſcuage to their Lord, to enable him to pay his Eſcuage to the King, or to reimburſe him when he had paid it. When the Lord holding in Capite Did Perſonal Service in the Kings Army, or paid or became duly Charged with his Eſcuage to the King, he was entituled to have Eſcuage of his Tenants, for the Fees which they held of him, and which he held of the King in Capite. In this caſe the Lord might juſticiare Tenentes ſuos, compell them, by Diſtreſs, to pay him Eſcuage. Or if he could not himſelf juſticiare tenentes ſuos, he often had a Writ of Aid directed to the Sheriff, to aſſiſt him. But ſometimes the Lord was forced to make Fine with the King pro habendo ſcutagio ſuo, to have his Eſcuage. Roger de Verli Fined in xxvj s and viij d, That he might have the Service or Eſcuage of his Men [or Tenants] (r). Richard de Reimes Fined with the King, as well for his Aid to Marry the Kings Daughter, as for the areres of his Eſcuage for ſeveral Armies. And had Reſpite for the ſame, becauſe he had not as yet levyed the Eſcuage of his Tenants (s). Maud Counteſs of Warwick Fined in xl marks, That ſhe might have her Eſcuage of xv Knights fees, and might not be obliged to ſend Knights into Service beyond-ſea (t). Henry de Witefeld gave iiij marks, That he might not go into the Army, though he held in Demeane the Fourth part of a Knights Fee (u). John de Haſtings Fined in xx marks, For Leave to Stay-away from the Army. And the Sheriff of Glouceſter was commanded to levy for him the Eſcuages due for the Knights fees which he held of the King in Chief, viz. Two marks for each Fee (w). William de Munchenſy Fined to the King, That he might be excuſed Perſonal Service, And that he might have the Eſcuage of his Tenants (x). Cecilie Counteſs of Hereford Fined to the King, That ſhe might have Eſcuage [of her Tenants] (y). Henry de Braybrok had a Writ of Aid directed to the Sheriff, to Diſtrain the Knights who held of him the Fees which he held of the King in Capite, for the Eſcuage which he ſtood charged with at the Exchequer (z). That Day (h). In fine; it ſeems that Eſcuage was due to the Lord from Lands which were holden by Knight-ſervice ab antiquo, but not from Lands holden by Knight-ſervice newly created. For where a Manour paſſed by Grant from the King with the Tenure of Knight-ſervice annexed to it, the Lord could not have Eſcuage of the Tenants of That Manour, if the Tenants were not wont to do any Military ſervice to the King, whilſt the Manour was veſted in the King. Thus it was in the caſe of Roger de Sumervill. The King granted to him and his heirs the Manour of Alrewas in Fee-ferm, at the Ancient Ferm with C s Increment, and under the Service of Half a Knights Fee. Hereupon, the Sheriff demanded of Roger Eſcuage to the Kings uſe for half a Knights Fee, and Roger diſtrained the Tenants to render Eſcuage to him for half a Knights Fee. But in regard the Tenants Did no Military ſervice to the King whilſt the Manour was holden by the King in Demeane, they were acquitted of paying Eſcuage to Roger (i).

IX. In the Elder times, in caſe the Lord was entituled to receive Eſcuage of his Tenants, ſuch Eſcuage was (as I take it) uſually collected by the Lord per manum ſuam; who uſed to Juſticiate or Diſtrein his Tenants to pay it. Whether it was all along neceſſary for the Lord to have the Kings Leave or Authority to collect his Eſcuage per manum ſuam or no; Such Leave or Authority was ſometimes granted by the King to particular Lords. The King granted to Nigell de Mubray leave to collect per manum ſuam his Eſcuage for the Army of Montgomery; to enable him to anſwer the ſaid Eſcuage at the Kings Exchequer (k). The King granted to William de Sifrewaſt leave to collect per manum ſuam the Eſcuage due from the Knights who held of him certain Fees which he held of the King in Capite (l). Miliſent de Stafford owed the King certain Areres of Six Scutages of the time of K. John. She transferred the ſame to the King, becauſe ſhe was not able to diſtrein the Tenants and levy the Scutage Her ſelf. Hereupon ſhe had Allowance de tanto for the ſaid Areres made to her at the Exchequer. And Then the Sheriff of the County levied the ſame to the Kings uſe: viz. Of Walter de Witefeld v marks for Half a Fee of the Honour of Stafford; of William de Graenvill v marks, for another Half-fee; and of Jordan de Witacre and Iſouda his wife x marks, for a Whole Fee belonging to the ſaid Honour (m). Notinghamſhire, commanding him to juſticiate the Knights whom the Archbiſhop of York held by the Kings grant, to render unto the Archbiſhops bailiffs his eſcuage, to wit, two marks per Fee (n).

But in regard in proceſs of time it was very often Doubtful, Whether Lands were holden by Knights Service or by ſome other Tenure, Or (if they were holden by Knights ſervice) whether they were holden immediately of the King or of ſome other Lord, Or by How many Knights fees they were holden, and the like: I ſay, for theſe and other cauſes, it became almoſt neceſſary that Eſcuage ſhould be collected by the Sheriffs of Counties, who might take Inquiſitions by the Oath of Jurours, concerning theſe and ſuch like articles proper to be enquired into. In the 19th year of K. Henry III, the Earls Barons and all others of the Realm of England granted to the King an efficax auxilium for the diſpatching of his great affairs; to wit, Two marks of every Knights Fee holden of the King in Capite and of his Wards, as well of the New Feoffment as the Old: Hereupon, the Sheriff of Somerſetſhire was ordered by Writ, That at the inſtance of the Earls Barons and all others who Held of the King in Capite in That County, he ſhould Diſtrein all the Knights and Freeholders who Held of Them by Knights ſervice in the ſame County to pay Two marks per Fee in order to make good the ſaid Aid. In the body of the Writ, this Aid is called a Scutage (quod prædictum Scutagium colligatur &c). The Writ is printed in Bradys Introduction (o). When Eſcuage was granted to the King (in or about the 27th year of K. Henry III) by the Common Council of the Realm, Writs were awarded to the Sheriffs of the Counties, commanding them to take Inquiſitions by oath of Knights and Lawful men, to Find What Lands were holden of the King or of others who held of the King in Capite, whether of the New Feoffment or the Old; and to Diſtrain the Tenants of ſuch Fees to pay their Eſcuage for the ſame (p). The Form or articles of the Inquiſitions were, What Fees there are in each County, Who holds them and of Whom, In What Lands the Fees are, Of whoſe Honour they are holden, Whether they be Capital Honours or not; And touching thoſe who hold Capital Honours, What Fees they have in the Counties, and in What Lands. Theſe things were to be enquired touching the Fees. Touching the Towns, a Roll was to be made containing the names of all the Towns digeſted under their proper hundreds, and the names of the Tenants of the Towns, and by what Services they pretend to hold the ſame, and of Whom. And this Roll was to be brought to the Exchequer, together with the ſaid Roll of Fees (q).

And it was then alſo Provided by the Common Council of the Realm, that the Eſcuage ſhould be collected by the Sheriffs of Counties. And therefore whereas Pain de Clermund diſtrained William Hayrun, and, contrary to That Proviſion or Statute, levyed Eſcuage of the Fee which William held of him by Knights ſervice, which Eſcuage the Sheriff of the County ought to have levyed; Pain was ſummoned before the Barons of the Exchequer to anſwer for ſo doing (r). In fine; ſeveral particulars relating to the manner of Collecting the Kings Eſcuage in the Latter part of our Second Period, may be obſerved from a Commiſſion made to William de Hebbeden and Richard de Goldeſburgh, in the Tenth year of K. Edward II. Thoſe Commiſſioners were appointed to levy and collect to the Kings uſe the Eſcuages of the Armies of Scotland of the 28th, 31th, and 34th years of K. Edward I. within the County of York, at the rate of xl s for each Fee. In order thereto, they were to Enquire by Oath of Lawful men of the County, What Fees were held in Capite of the King at the time of thoſe Armies, and What of Eſcheats, Honours, and Purchaces, What Heirs were under Age and in Cuſtody of K. Edward I; And What Archbiſhopricks, Biſhopricks, Abbeys, Priouries, and other Eccleſiaſtical Dignities, or Offices were Then Void, the Temporalities whereof did belong to the ſaid King, And Who held the Knights Fees belonging to ſuch Heirs, Archbiſhopricks, and other Dignities and Offices, And for what portion of a Knights Fee each one held, And Where. And the Sheriff of the County was commanded to ſummon Lawful men to appear before the Commiſſioners, to make Inquiſition touching the matters aforeſaid. And in regard ſeveral perſons as well Jurours, as Bailiffs of the King and of Lords of divers Liberties neglected to Attend the Commiſſioners, and to Aſſiſt or obey them: The King commands the Commiſſioners to Amerce ſeverely ſuch Jurours and Bailiffs, as they ſhould find rebellious or diſobedient, And to cauſe Eſtreats of ſuch Amercements to be ſent into the Exchequer, that the ſame might be levyed to the Kings uſe (x).

CHAP. XVII.

I. ANOTHER part of the Crown-Revenue was Tallage. Before I come to treat of It, I will ſpeak briefly of Danegeld. For though Danegeld was Different from either Aid, Eſcuage, or Tallage, I am not willing to paſs it in ſilence, and therefore have placed it Here. Tis well known that Danegeld was firſt ſet on foot in the Angloſaxon times. However, it continued for many years after the Norman Conqueſt. For example. In the Reign of K. Henry I (viz. A.D. 1114) it was paid throughout the Realm (a). In the Reign of K. Stephen, it was anſwered to the Crown in a punctual and orderly manner. For inſtance. In the Great Roll of the 5th year of That King, it is accompted-for in every County, as if it was a Settled yearly Revenue; that is to ſay, in the like words of Form which were Then wont to be uſed in accompting for the Settled yearly Revenue. Thus the Danegeld for the Firſt year (viz. the immediate year accounted-for) was called barely Danegeldum or Novum Danegeldum; The Danegeld for the next preceding year, præteritum Danegeldum; The Danegeld for the Third year preceding, Vetus Danegeldum, &c. After this manner the Sheriff of London and Middleſex accounted for Danegeld (b): Thus alſo Pain Trenchard was charged with the areres of Danegeld for the Iſle of Wight, for Six years paſt, to wit, for the Firſt Five years de præteritis Danegeldis, and for the Sixth or Laſt year de Novo Danegeldo (c). This was the manner of accompting for Ferms or other parts of the Yearly Revenue; as may be ſeen in many inſtances. For example. A Ferm for the Firſt year or the year immediately accompted-for, was called Nova firma, or barely firma; the Ferm for the Second or Next year paſt, Firma anni præteriti or Vetus firma; the Ferm for the Third year paſt, Firma anni tertij, or Vetus firma, &c. In this manner (for inſtance) the Sheriffs of London accompted (d): As did all the other Sheriffs of England at That time. However, I am not poſitive, that Danegeld was a ſettled ſettled Yearly Revenue. The famous Author of the Dialogue concerning the Exchequer ſeems to have thought it was a Yearly Revenue in the times before the Conqueſt, but not afterwards (e). In the beginning of K. Henry the Seconds Reign, the Sheriffs continue to account for Danegeld. Gervaſe and John Sheriffs of London and Middleſex accounted for it. They paid into the Treaſury xxxix l and odd, Part of the Danegeld of Middleſex. Other Part of it (viz. xxxv l xiiij s) was in Perdonis, that is, was remitted by vertue of the Kings Writs, and Sett-off from ſeveral perſons, namely, From Reginald de St. Valery xj l, From the Monks of Bec Lviij s, From the Archbiſhop of Canterbury xiij l as Superhidage, From the Barons of Walingford iiij l viij s, From the Biſhop of Ely ij s &c. And the Sheriffs were Diſcharged of the Reſidue (viz. x l) becauſe it was in waſto. The Danegeld of Middleſex was, in the whole, Lxxxv l j s vj d (f). Pain Sheriff of Surrey accounted for the Danegeld of That County. He paid part of it (to wit, C l and odd) at the Kings Treaſury. Other part of it (viz. xxxvij l vj s vj d) was ſett-off from certain perſons by vertue of the Kings Writs: viz. C and iiij s charged on Ralf de Fay, xxxviij s on the Queens Brother William, xv l xiiij s Superhidage (or Surcharge) on the Archbiſhop of Canterbury, And other ſumms charged on other perſons. And other part was Allowed or Diſcounted as being in waſto. The Total of Danegeld in This County was C and Lxxxv l vj s (g). Turſtin Sheriff of Hantſhire accounted for the Danegeld of That County. He paid C Liij l and odd into the Kings Treaſury. And the Reſt of it was Diſcharged by vertue of the Kings Writs (h). The Sheriff of Wiltſhire anſwered for the Danegeld of That County. Part of it, viz. one hundred fourſcore and nineteen pounds and odd, he paid-in at the Receipt. And other part of it was Allowed or Diſcompted by vertue of the Kings Writs (i). At this time Danegeld was rendred to the Crown: And beſides It, another payment called Donum or Aſſiſa. For example. Richard de Luci Sheriff of Eſſex accounted for CCLiij l vj s for the Danegeld of That County. Then he accounted for CC marks of Silver as the Donum of That County; And for xx l for the Scutage of the Biſhop of Londons Knights Fees. At the ſame time, John de Colecheſter paid-in the Aid of the Burgh of Colecheſter (k). The like Account mutatis mutandis was yielded for the County of Hertford by the ſame Richard

The Great Roll out of which I have cited the foregoing Entries about Danegild, paſſes for the Great Roll of the Second year of K. Henry II. And I believe it is of That year. For though the year is no where mentioned in the Body of the Roll (for ought that I find upon perſuing it): Yet I ſuppoſe we may ſafely rely, in This caſe, upon the opinion of Alexander de Swereford, a very Worthy man, who was a Baron of the Exchequer in the Forepart of K. Henry the Thirds Reign. It was reputed, in Alexanders time, the Roll of the Second year of That King. And he cites it as Such. Now that This was the Same Roll with That which he referrs to as the Roll of the Second year, appears by the things which he cites out of it. In proof of That, it may ſuffice to recollect an inſtance or two. The accompt of the Danegild of the County of Kent as it ſtands in this Great Roll and as it is cited by Alexander, may be ſeen here a little lower. And the accompt of the Donum rendred by the Abbot of St. Auſtin, as it ſtands in the ſame Great Roll and as it is cited by Alexander, is ſet forth in the XVIth Chapter [tit. (as cited in the margin) ſays concerning the uſual manner of accompting for Danegeld, it ſeemeth that Danegeld was a Settled Revenue, and accompted-for in like form with the yearly Ferms of the Counties. After the Second year of K. Henry II, I do not find it accompted-for in That manner. Tis true, in the Third and other following years of That King, ſeveral ſumms are anſwered to the Crown for Danegild. But perhaps Thoſe ſumms were for the arerages of Former years. Of That the Reader may judg from what I ſhall here ſubjoin. In the Third year of K. Henry II, the Sheriff of Lincolnſhire accompted for C and viij s de Danegildo (q); And Walter de Leutorp for xviij l and odd de Danegildo (r). And in the ſame year the Sheriffs of other Counties anſwered for Danegeld in like manner. This Great Roll of the Third Year was once thought to be a Roll of an uncertain year of K. Henry II; But it appears to be a Roll of the Third year, by comparing it with the Roll next preceding. For example. In the Second year of That King, the Sheriff of Surrey accompted for vij l and ix s, the Aſſiſe of the Biſhop of Chicheſter, and of Gregory, and Ralf Picot; Part of it was ſet-off by In perdonis And there remained Lij s (s). For which ſumm of Lij s the Sheriff of Surrey accompts in this Great Roll of the Third year (t). So alſo, in the Roll of the Second year, the Sheriff of Surrey accompted for C s the Aid of the Burgh of Geldeford; he paid Lxv s of it, And there remained due xxxv s: And for C s the Aid of the Burgh of Suthwerk; he paid Lxiiij s of it, and there remained due xxxvj s (u). For which areres of xxxv s and xxxvj s the Sheriff of Surrey accompts in this Great Roll of the Third year (w). Other like inſtances might be produced. To proceed. In the 5th year of K. Henry II, Pain Sheriff of Surrey accompted for C and xiiij s de Danegeldo (x). In the 9th year, William de Beauchamp Sheriff of Herefordſhire, accompted for vj l and odd, the Danegeld of Henry de Hereford (y); And Hugh de Raley Sheriff of Devonſhire for iiij l iiij s, the Danegeld of Earl Reginald (z). But, manifeſtly, ſome of theſe Summs were only areres of Danegeld. For example. The Sheriff of Lincolnſhire anſwered in the Third year of K. Henry II, C and viij s Danegeld, as appears here above. Which ſumm was the Remainder of what he had anſwered in the Second year. For in the Second year, his Accompt was, Paid at the Receipt of Exchequer, C and xlj l; In Perdonis xlviij l xvj s x d; In Waſto Lxx l xiiij s x d; Et debet C and viij s (a).

So in Yorkſhire, Walter de Leutorp (as appears here above) anſwered xviij l xvij s vij d. Which ſumm was the Remainder upon the Accompt rendred in the Second year. For in That year, the ſtate of the Accompt was, Paid at the Receipt Cxxiiij l x s x d; In Perdonis x l xix s iiij d; In Waſto xj l xx d; Et debet xviij l xvij s vij d (b). In Surrey, in the Second year Pain the Sheriff (after payment and diſcompt made in the uſual manner) ſtood charged with xj l xiij s iiij d Danegild (c): And in the Third year, he accompted for xj l xiij s iiij d (d). Of this xj l xiij s iiij d part was ſett-off by In perdonis. And then there remained C and xiiij s. And in the Fourth year he accompts for the ſaid C and xiiij s (e). In Wiltſhire, in the Second year Earl Patrick Sheriff of That County anſwered for the Danegeld. His Accompt was: Paid in the Receipt So much, In Perdonis So much, In Waſto So much, Et debet ix l vij s ix d (f). In the Third year, Earl Patrick the Sheriff of That County anſwered for the ſaid ix l vij s ix d; And it is expreſly called a Remanent or arere (g). Again, in the Twelfth year of K. Henry II, Walter de Luitorp accompted for the Danegeld of Weſtmerland. And There it is likewiſe called Vetus Danegeldum, an arerage of a Former year (h). But there is another thing that is puzzling. Namely, that although (as I ſaid before) Danegeld is not, for ought that I have obſerved, accompted-for in the Great Rolls as a yearly Revenue, after the Second year of K. Henry II: yet I find ſome things which would lead one to believe that it was paid ſeveral years after That Second year. For example. In the 20th year of K. Henry II, Osbert de Brai was amerced xl l, becauſe he hindred or forbad Danegeld to be paid out of the [Kings] Demeanes (i). This amerciament charged upon Osbert was not, as it ſeemeth, an Old debt ſtanding in arere, but was ſet upon him in this 20th year; becauſe, upon ſearch, I do not find it charged on him in the Great Rolls of the 18th or 19th year of this King. Further. In the 21th year of the ſame King, Writs of Summonce iſſued out of the Exchequer into the ſeveral Counties of England, for levying of Danegeld (k). And beſides That, we find in many Charters made in the Latter part of K. Henry the Seconds Reign, and in the Reigns of KK. Richard I, and John, grants of Freedom from Gelds and Danegelds and other exactions; though it does not (for ought that I know) appear, that any Danegeld was paid or anſwered to the Crown in the Reigns of the Two laſt-named Kings. To which, I cannot tell whether it be a ſatisfactory anſwer, to ſay, that theſe words were inſerted in Charters pro forma, amongſt ſeveral other words referring to Angloſaxon cuſtomes which were gone or going into diſuſe.

It may be obſerved, that in all or moſt of the Accompts of Danegeld rendred anno 2. H. II, there is a Large Deduction made, under the terms In Waſto. The reaſon of which might, I ſuppoſe, be This. In the Reign of K. Stephen, the Realm had been ſo waſted by the Long Inteſtine warrs moved between Him and the Empreſs, that at the beginning of K. Henry the Seconds reign, the Lands charged with Danegeld could not pay the ſame. Deductions were alſo made in ſeveral Towns under the terms In waſto. The Sheriff of Cambridgſhire had an Allowance or Diſcompt made to him out of the Ferm of his County, for the Waſtum of Lands in Saham, and for the waſtum in the Burgh of Cambridg and the Mill There (l). By the precedents cited above above in this Section, it ſhould ſeem that Danegeld was a ſort of a Hidage, or a Revenue ariſing from Lands as divided or meaſured by Hides. In the accompts rendred of Danegeld, we find ſome Allowances or Diſcompts were made of certain ſumms de Superhidagio. For example. In the Accompt for the Danegeld of Middleſex, xiij l was ſet-off as Superhidage of the Archbiſhop of Canterbury (m): In Surrey, xv l xiiij s was ſet-off as Superhidage of the ſame Archbiſhop (n): And in the ſame County of Surrey, there was a Remanent of Danegeld put in reſpite, as Superhidage of the Earl of Clare (o). The like Deductions for Superhidage were made in other Counties. Again; it ſeems that the Danegeld was charged upon Land, becauſe it is paid by the Men of the Counties only; The Cities and Towns anſwering at the ſame time under the name of an Auxilium or Donum. Thus when the County of Lincoln yielded Danegeld, the Citizens of Lincoln yielded an Auxilium and a Donum (p). When the County of York paid Danegeld, the City of York paid an Auxilium or Donum (q). When the County of Kent paid Danegeld, the Burgeſſes of Canterbury paid an Aid and a Donum, and the Burgeſſes of Rocheſter an Aid (r). And other Counties and Towns paid in like manner.

II. Next of Tallage. There were Two ſorts of Tallage: One paid to the King; The other to a Subordinate Lord. We will firſt ſpeak of That rendred to the King, And afterwards lightly of the other. The Tallage rendred to the King (excluding the Tallage of the Jews; of which we do not treat in this Chapter), was raiſed upon his Demeanes, Eſcheats, and Wardſhips, and upon the Burghs and Towns of the Realm. In the Elder times it was uſually called Donum and Aſſiſa. Donum was a General word, and was uſed with great latitude. To avoid confuſion, I have in my own mind reduced its meaning to two or three particular heads: That is to ſay, When it was paid for or out of Lands which were not of Military tenure, it ſignified Hidage; When it was paid out of Knights Fees, it was Scutage; And when it was paid by Towns and Burghs, it was Tallage: Or, (if You pleaſe) being taken under this threefold reſpect, it may be compared to the ſaid Three Payments, Hidage, Scutage, and Tallage: Or, it ſignified in general, according as it was applied, either Aid, Scutage, or Tallage. In theſe ſenſes the word Donum ſeems to have been uſed in the Reign of K. Stephen; and likewiſe in the beginning of the Reign of K. Henry II; particularly in the Second, Fourth, and Fifth years of That King: as will (I ſuppoſe) appear by the Records of Thoſe times which are cited in this Volume under the ſeveral Chapters of Aid, Scutage, and Tallage. In the ſucceeding times (if I obſerve right), Donum came to be uſed chiefly for Tallage. I will here produce ſome precedents relating to the Payments which were ſtyled Donum, Aſſiſa, and Tallagium. Firſt of the Donum. In the Fifth year of K. Stephen, Geoffrey Eſcolland Then Cuſtos of the Biſhoprick of Durham accompted to the King (amongſt other iſſues of That Biſhoprick) for Lviij l vj s viij d for the Donum of the Knights of That Biſhoprick (s). In the ſame year, the Burgeſſes of Graham and the Tenants of the Soke There were charged with xviij l and a mark of ſilver for the Kings

When the Burghs and Demeanes in Wiltſhire were tallaged to K. John, the Men of Merleberg, Calne, Diviſes, and other Towns, anſwered in like manner de Dono (t). Tallage was alſo called Aſſiſa. William de Nevill Sheriff of Norfolk rendred at the Exchequer CC marks of ſilver, for the Aſſiſa of That County (u). William de Fraxineto Sheriff of Suffolk rendred xv l and xvij d, for the Aſſiſe of That County [and for the Aid] of Ipſwich (w). The word Aſſiſa ſignified (amongſt other things) an Aſſeſſment. It is uſed for the Common Charge or Aſſeſſment made upon a County for Defaults and other Amercements. The County of Berk were charged with xxxj s and iij d, de Communi Aſſiſa of That County for Defaults (x). And the County of Warwick were charged with Lxxviij s and j d, for Defaults and Miſericordia's, under the name of Communis Aſſiſa (y).

III. Thoſe Manours or Lands were properly Talliable to the King, which the King had in his Own hands. Hence it came to paſs, that the Tallages are commonly ſtyled, Tallagia Maneriorum Regis, Tallagia Maneriorum & Terrarum Regis quæ tunc erant in manu ejus, Tallagia Dominicorum, Tallagia per Dominia Regis, and the like. Under the terms, Maneria or Terræ quæ erant in manu Regis were comprehended the Kings Eſcheats and Wardſhips. For the King held Them (with the Lands thereto belonging) tanquam in Dominico. And in fact the Kings Eſcheats and Wardſhips were wont to be Tallaged, when Tallage was aſſeſſed upon his Demeanes. In the 19th year of K. Henry II, an Aſſiſe or Tallage was Sett upon the Kings Demeanes and Burghs in Eſſex and Hertfordſhire, by Sefred Archdeacon of Chicheſter and other Juſticiers, viz., upon the Towns of Waltham, Hertford, and ſeveral others here named (z). In the 31th year of the ſame King, the Citizens of London ſtood charged with MM marks for Tallage. And they paid it (z). In or about the 39th year of K. Henry III, it was Provided by the Kings Council at Merton, that the King ſhould Tallage his Demeanes in England towards the great expenſes he had been at in Foreign parts. The Citizens of London being called before the King and his Council at Merton about tallageing the City, Ralf Hardell the Mayor with ſeveral others came, And the King demanded of them a Tallage of Three thouſand marks. When they had conſulted with their Fellow-Citizens, they came and offered Two thouſand marks by way of Aid, ſaying, They could not nor would give More. Upon this, the King ſent his Treaſurer Philipp Lovell with others to St. Martins, to Receive of the City a Fine of Three thouſand marks for Tallage, in caſe they would Enter into Such Fine, and if they would not, then they were ordered to aſſeſs the Tallage per Capita. The City refuſing to Enter into That Fine, the Treaſurer and the other Commiſſioners were about to aſſeſs the Tallage per Capita, ordering the Citizens to Swear concerning the value of each others chatells. The Citizens refuſed to make ſuch Oath, or to Declare upon the Faith they owed to the King the value of each others chatells. So the Treaſurer and other Commiſſioners came back re infecta. Afterwards the Citizens came before the King and his Council at Weſtminſter on the Sunday after Candlemaſs. It was There diſputed whether This ſhould be called a Tallage or an Aid. The King ordered Search to be made, Whether the Citizens had formerly paid Tallage to the King or his Anceſtours. Upon Search, it was found both in the Rolls of the Exchequer and of the Chancery, That in the 16th year of K. John, the Citizens were Tallaged at Two thouſand marks, To have the Interdict taken-off; That in the 7th year of K. Henry III, they were Tallaged at one Thouſand marks; That in the 26th year of the ſame King, they paid one Thouſand marks by way of Tallage; And that in the 37th year, they gave one Thouſand marks and xx marks of gold by way of Tallage. Afterwards, on the morrow, the Mayor and Citizens came and acknowledged, that they were Talliable, and gave the King Three thouſand marks for Tallage (a).

venue of That See (t). The names of the Manours and Towns tallaged in the Vacancy of the Biſhoprick are contained in the Great Roll hereunder referred-to. Some of them were Theſe. The Town of Eſington, with the tallage of the Free men There and the tallage of the adjacent Towns, The Burgh of Durham, The Burgh of Stoketon with the tallage of the Bondmen There, The Town of Norton, viz. the tallage of the Fermours, Bondmen, and Cotagers There; and ſeveral other Towns (u). In the 22th year of K. Edward I. John de Crokeſle accompted for the iſſues of the Manour of Skipton. He paid-in xxiiij l iiij s Rent of aſſiſe of the Free and Cuſtomary Tenants; xij s in Fines made by the Cuſtomary Tenants for Licence to Full cloth; xvij l x s for the Tallage of the Cuſtomary Tenants; xiij l iij s, the fines and perquiſites of the Courts of the Military tenants; xlj s viij d, the pleas and perquiſites of the Burgh; and iiij l xvij d, for the pleas and perquiſites of the Courts of Halemot (w). At the ſame time John de Crokeſle accompted for the Manours of Longbeniton and Foſtone; particularly, for xxxiiij l xij s x d q., the aſſiſed rent of Freemen and Bondmen; and xx l, the tallage of the Cuſtumary tenants ariſing That year (x). This was the manner of tallaging the Kings Demeans Eſcheats and Wardſhips.

Moreover; ſome Serjanties were wont to be tallaged together with the Kings Demeanes: that is (I ſuppoſe), certain Petit Serjanties of an ignoble and inferiour kind, and ſuch as had no Military ſervice annexed to them. For inſtance. About the 3d year of K. John, a Tallage was ſet upon the Serjanteries and the Demeanes in Oxfordſhire. Gilbert Maleſmains paid it for his Serjantery, with others (y). But it is to be underſtood, that the Kings Serjeanties were not to be tallaged without ſpecial precept. So it was holden in the 29th year of K. Henry III, in the caſe of Lambert de Bedeford. The caſe was This. K. Henry II, granted to Lambert de Bedeford and his heirs certain land in Turvey and Braham, to be holden by the Serjanty hereunder mentioned. In the reign of K. Henry III, Lambert, heir of Lambert the grantee, complained to the King, that the Men of Turvey and Braham diſtrained him and and his tenants of the ſaid Serjanty, to partake with them in common tallages and amercements; whereas (ſaith the writ) Our Serjanties ought not to be tallaged without our ſpecial command (z).

If men were not the Kings immediate Tenants, they were not Tallageable to the King but to their immediate Lord. When the Abbot of Tewkesbury and the Archdeacon of Stafford made the Kings Tallages [in Berkſhire], the Priour of Hurley would not yield to be tallaged by them, Becauſe his Church (he ſaid) was a Cell, and Geoffrey Fitz-Peter was his Lord and Founder (a). A Tallage was aſſeſſed in Yorkſhire by Richard de Malebiſſe and his companions. The City of York, beſides out-lyers, was charged at C marks, to That tallage. Roger de Schipton was charged C s to the ſame tallage: but was afterwards diſcharged of it; becauſe it was found, by an Inquiſition taken by the Juſticiers command, that Roger held nothing of the King (b). The Abbot of Peterburgh exhibited a Petition to the King, and thereupon obtained a remedial writ hereunder ſet forth, directed to the Sheriff of Lincolnſhire. His caſe was this. The Town of Stanford was in the Kings hands by reaſon of Wardſhip. And was tallaged by the Kings command. The Abbots Men who held of him in the ſaid Town, were diſtrained by the Sheriff to partake with the Kings Men in That Tallage; whereas the Abbots Men were never wont to be tallaged with the other Townſmen, or to bear part with them in any tallage, nor did they hold of the King in Capite by reaſon whereof they might be tallaged to the King: So this Writ iſſued for their relief (c). The like courſe was taken in relation to the Manour of Tydeſwell in Derbyſhire (d); and in other inſtances.

The Tallages aſſeſſed upon the Kings Ancient Demeanes were more heavy than the Tallages upon other perſons living in the Counties at large. For which reaſon, men ſometimes petitioned that they might be tallaged with the Community of their County, and not with the Tenants in Ancient Demeane. The Men and Tenants of the Soke of Oſwardkirk in the County of Notingham petitioned the King, ſetting forth, That the ſaid Soke was formerly Ancient Demeane of the Crown of England: That K. Henry III, granted the ſaid Soke to Henry de Haſtings, To be holden at the Common Law, in exchange for certain Lands and tenements in Cheſhire which were So holden: And that, although the ſaid Men and Tenants and their anceſtours uſed, from and after the time of the ſaid Exchange, to be taxed with the Community of the ſaid County of Notingham, and not with the Tenants of the Kings Ancient Demeanes; yet the Aſſeſſours of the Kings Tallage for That County cauſed them to be tallaged with the Men of the Kings Demeanes; and the Tallage ſo aſſeſſed on them ran in Summonce of the Exchequer: Hereupon the King ordered the Barons, That if it appeared to them, that the ſaid Soke was ſo given in Exchange, and that after the time of the ſaid Exchange the Men of That Soke uſed to be tallaged with the Community of the County, and not with the Tenants of Ancient Demeane, Then they ſhould diſcharge the Petitioners of the ſaid Tallage; provided they were taxed to the ſaid Tallage with the Community of the County (e). The Men of the Towns of Okham Egilton and Langeham complained to the King, That their lands and tenements in thoſe Towns were not of the Tenure of Ancient Demeane of the Crown of England, and that when the Kings Progenitours cauſed their Demeanes to be tallaged, the ſaid Men and their anceſtours were not wont to be tallaged, for or in reſpect of their ſaid lands and tenements, amongſt the ſaid Ancient Demeanes, but in all Aids granted to the King and his Progenitours by the Community of the Realm, were wont to contribute with the Community of the County of Rutland: And that lately, when the King aſſeſſed a Tallage upon his Demeanes in the Sixth year of his Reign, they were tallaged as Tenants in Ancient Demeane; and ſuch Tallage was demanded of them by Summonce of the Exchequer. Upon this, the King commands the Barons to acquitt the ſaid Men of the ſaid Demand, in caſe they found, upon Search of Domeſday Book [and other Records], that the ſaid Towns were not Ancient Demeane, and that the ſaid Men were were not wont to be tallaged with the Tenants of Ancient Demeane, but uſed to contribute to all Aids with the Community of the County (f).

When a Town was tallaged, the Tallage was raiſed upon the Men of the Town: And They were properly the Men of the Town, who belonged to the Gild, and made Merchandiſe in the Town. In the 14th year of K. Henry III, a Tallage was aſſeſſed in Norfolk by Godfrey de Craucumbe and William de Haverhull. It was charged upon the Kings Demean-men in Norwich, and upon the Town of Yarmouth, upon Ludingland and the Towns of Dunwich and Orford, upon the Sokemanns of Weſton, the Sokage of Huſſaye, the Sokage of Chelmodeſton and the Suitors There, the Sokage of Thorney, and upon the Men of the Priour of Norwich, who enjoyed all the Liberties that the other Citizens did Within the Town and Without (g). In the 29th year of K. Henry III, the ſaid Men of the Priour of Norwich, who hold of the King in Norwich, and have all the liberties that the other Citizens have, within the Town and without, were charged with Tallage (h). And in the 32th year of K. Edward I, they were charged with Tallage in like manner (i). According to this uſage, in the 5th year of K. Edward I, it was adjudged in the Court of Exchequer, That all perſons merchandizing in the City of Norwich with the Citizens, ſhould contribute with Them in Tallages and other Aids. Whereupon a Writ iſſued to the Sheriff of Norfolk, commanding him to permitt the Tenants holding of the Kings Caſtle of Norwich, or other perſons that merchandized in the City, to Contribute with the Citizens in Tallages and other Aids, according to the ſaid Judgment (k). On the other part, they who were not Townſmen, and did not exerciſe merchandiſe in the Town, were not to contribute in the Tallages aſſeſſed upon the Town. The Mayor and Bailiffs of the town of Northampton were ſummoned to appear at the Exchequer, to ſhew by what warrant they diſtrein Hugh Gubyon to partake with the the Townſmen in Tallage, whereas he exerciſeth no Trade in the ſaid Town (l). It was found by Inquiſition, that the Abbot of St Auſtin at Canterbury, and the Priours of the Trinity and of St. Gregory There, were not wont to be tallaged with the Citizens of Canterbury for or by reaſon of the tenements which they had in That City: and that the anceſtours of Hamon Doge and Thomas Chiche were wont to be tallaged by reaſon of the merchandiſe which they exerciſed in That City; but not the ſaid Hamon and Thomas, becauſe they did not exerciſe merchandiſe There. And therefore the King by his Writ commanded the Sheriff of Kent, to forbear demanding tallage of them the ſaid Hamon and Thomas (m). The like order was taken in the caſe of John de Bloxham. He by a Petition exhibited to the King, ſuggeſted, That he was not a Citizen of London, nor uſed Merchandize There, nor had any certain dwelling in the City, except a Houſe which he had hired for a Term of years: So that he ought not to contribute to the Common Tallages aſſeſſed upon the City, nor ought his goods and chatells to be taxed with Thoſe of the Citizens: That nevertheleſs the Citizens of London had taxed his chatells which were found in the City, towards the Quinzime granted to the King by the City out of their Goods, and intended to levy xx marks upon his chatells to the ſaid Tax, arbitrarily and unjuſtly: Hereupon, the King by Writ commands the Barons, to call before them ſuch of the Citizens as they ſhould think fit, and having heard what could be offered on the part of the ſaid Citizens and of the ſaid John, to Do Right to John upon his caſe (n). A Like Writ iſſued for John le Knyght ſervant to Gilbert de Clare Earl of Glouceſter and Hertford (p).

It hath been ſhewn above, that Tallage was payable to the King by the Demeane-men of his Manours and Towns. But if the King granted away a Demeane-Manour or Town (that was wont to be tallaged), una cum Tallagijs hominum; then ſuch Manour or Town became tallageable to the Grantee. However, when the King demiſed any ſuch Manour, or granted a temporary eſtate in it, he uſed to reſerve the tallages to himſelf and his heirs. K. Henry III granted the Town of Burewell to the Townſmen at Ferm; Saving to the King the Tallages and Aids of the Town (q). King Edward I, granted to the Burgeſſes of Retford, that they might hold their town of the King and his heirs at Fee-ferm, Rendring x l yearly per manus ſuas proprias at the Exchequer of St. Michael; Saving to the King and his heirs their Tallage, when He or his heirs ſhould cauſe their Demeanes in England to be tallaged; And that they might chuſe their Bailiffs out of the Community of their town, yearly or when they ſhould think meet (r). The ſame King granted to Queen Alienor ſeveral Manours for the more decent ſupport of Her and her Family; Saving to Himſelf the Tallages thereof, when he tallaged his other Demeanes in England (s). And Robert Biſhop of Bathe and Wells made a Leaſe to William de Calehull, of the Manour of Sokele, excepto tallagio tenencium quando Rex talliat Maneria ſua (t).

There was alſo in ancient time a Duty paid to the King under the name of Carucage; to wit, ſo much for each carue of Land holden by baſe or inferiour tenure. Though I find very little about it in the Revenue-rolls, under the name of Carucage; Yet I muſt not wholly paſs it over in ſilence. In the 10th year of K. Henry III, William de Mara ſtood charged in the Great Roll with xxv l vj s ij d for the carucage of Surrey; the particulars whereof appeared in the carucage-roll (u). He alſo ſtood charged with vj s for the carucage of the Earl of Warenns Men in Surrey (w). In the ſame 10th year, the Abbot of Chertſey owed iiij l, for the Carucage of his Men, Men, as appeared by the Roll of Carucage; And the Men of Kingeſton, Lxxij s for the Carrucage of the Men of the Hundred of Kingeſton, as appeared by the ſame Roll (x). In the Great Roll of the 19th year of this King, this Carucage of the Abbots is expreſly differenced from his Eſcuage; The Abbot being There charged ſeverally with the one and the other (y). In the 14th year of K. Henry III, the Biſhop of Exeter owed xviij s, the remanent of the Carucage of the Religious houſes in Devonſhire; And William Talebot and his companions xiij s, the remanent of the carucage of That County (z).

To the Head of Tallage (or elſe to That of Aid) we may referr the None, Diſme, Quinzime, Vintiſme, Trentiſme: Which were ſo called from the quantity or proportion of the payment; as their ſeveral names do import. The moſt ancient inſtance of a Tallage called by the name of Decima, that I have met-with to my remembrance, is in the Sixth year of K. Richard I. In That year, ſeveral towns of Devonſhire ſtood charged with the areres of a Tallage impoſed by K. Henry II. But K. Richard I, remitted to them thoſe areres, by reaſon of the tallagium decimarum then lately aſſeſſed on them (a). The Nones, and the reſt of the quotas abovementioned, and ſome others, were, (I think) partly Seigneurial and partly Mixt. Many things might be ſaid concerning them. But the Records which contain the Form wherein they were to be aſſeſſed and levyed, are generally too Long to be recited here verbatim. I will content my ſelf to referr to ſome of them. Which may be viewed upon the Rolls by ſuch perſons as are deſirous to ſee the matter at large. For example. The Form of Taxing and levying the None in the 25th year of K. Edward I, the Oath of the Taxours, and other matters relating to the ſame, may be ſeen in the Record hereunder cited (b). The Record hereunder cited ſheweth, The Form deviſed by the Kings Council, for taxing and levying the Trentiſme and Vintiſme granted to K. Edward I, in the 34th year of his reign, The Oath to be taken by the Taxours of the ſaid Trentiſme and Vintiſme, The names of the Knights and others choſen by the Kings Council, to tax and levy the ſame in the Counties of England, And the Form of the Commiſſion made to the Taxours and Collectours (c). with other things relating thereto, may be ſeen in the Record hereunder cited (d). The form of taxing the Vintiſme granted to K. Edward II, anno regni 8° circiter is contained in the Roll here quoted (e). The Form of Taxing the Fifteenth and Sixteenth in the 9th year of K. Edward II, in the Counties and in the Towns, Burghs, and Demeanes of the King, appears in the Rolls cited underneath (f). In theſe caſes; the Goods of the Chief Taxours were to be Taxed by the Treaſurer and Barons (g): And the Robes and Jocalia of the Citizens and Burgeſſes were not uſually taxed with their other goods and moveables. In the 18th year of K. Edward I, the Citizens and Burgeſſes of England granted to the King a Fifteenth of all their goods and moveables: And the King granted to the ſaid Citizens and Burgeſſes, that the Robes of them and their wives and certain of their Jocalia ſhould not be taxed to the ſaid Fifteenth. And the Barons of the Exchequer having cauſed the Robes and Jocalia of the Burgeſſes of Derby to be taxed to the ſaid Fifteenth (whereas the Robes and Jocalia of other Citizens and Burgeſſes in England were not taxed to it), as the Burgeſſes of Derby ſhewed by their Petition to the King: Hereupon the King commanded the ſaid Barons to forbear diſtreining them upon That occaſion (h). And if the Taxours made any omiſſion, or committed any other miſdemeaner, in the execution of their office, they were reſponſible for it before the Barons of the Exchequer (i).

IV. In the moſt Ancient times, the Tallages were uſually Impoſed and Sett by the Kings Juſticiers in their reſpective Iters: Afterwards, by Commiſſioners appointed by the King for That purpoſe. It appears by many Records cited Before in the 10th Section of the 3d Chapter, Of the Judicature &c, and in the 3d Section of This Chapter, That Anciently the Tallages were Aſſiſed or Sett by the Juſticiers of the Kings Court or the Juſticiers Itinerant. Let ſome other precedents be added Here. In or about the 2d year of K. Henry II, an Aſſiſe was made upon the County of Eſſex, by the Kings Chancellour and Henry de Eſſex (k). In or about the 19th year of K. Henry II, a Tallage was aſſeſſed upon the Kings Demeanes in Surrey, by Reginald de Warenne and [Gervaſe de Cornhill] the Sheriff (l). In the 24th year of K. Henry II, a Tallage was Sett by Ralf Fitz-Stephen and Turſtin Fitz-Simon [Juſticiers Itinerant] in Devonſhire (m). In the 9th and 10th year of K. Richard I, a Tallage was made upon the Town of Colecheſter by Geoffrey Fitz-Peter, Theobald Walters, and their Companions (n): And upon the Kings Burghs and Manours in Glouceſterſhire by W. Biſhop of Hereford and his Companions (o): Upon the Men and Towns in the Counties of Notingham and Derby, by William Briewerre, Simon Baſſet, William de Rideware and their Fellows (p): Upon the Burghs and Towns in

In Herefordſhire a Tallage was ſett by Nicolas le Seculier, Richard Pancevot, and the Sheriff of the County (h): In the Counties of Dorſet and Somerſet by William de Wudiete and his Companions (i). The King cauſed the Cities towns and all his Demeanes throughout England to be tallaged: and appointed John de Grey Juſtice of Cheſter and Henry de Wingham to aſſeſs the ſaid tallage in the town of Cheſter (k). A Tallage was made or impoſed upon the Town of Briſtoll before the King [in an Iter] (l). In the 9th year of K. Henry III, The Manours of the Biſhoprick of Exeter being in the Kings hands were charged with Tallage, and the Knights Fees with Scutage (m). If the Men of a Town took upon them to Aſſeſs a Tallage without the Direction or Conſent of the Juſticiers, They were to be Fined or Amerced for it: The Citizens of Lincoln Fined [or were Amerced] in xv marks, For making a Tallage [in their City] without Leave [of the Kings Juſticiers] (n).

In the moſt ancient times, after the Tallages had been aſſeſſed, they were uſually collected by the Sheriffs of the ſeveral Counties; as may appear by many inſtances cited in this Chapter, and elſewhere. But if a Town hapned to be let at Ferm to a particular perſon not being Sherif of the County, then the tallage of ſuch Town was, I think, commonly collected and anſwered-for by the Farmer or Provoſt thereof; as may alſo appear by ſome inſtances quoted in this Chapter.

V. Tallage was wont to be aſſeſſed upon the Men of the Demeanes and Towns, ſometimes in Groſs, in Communi; ſometimes by the Poll, per Capita or per ſingulos; at other times, partly one of thoſe ways, and partly the other: As may appear by ſeveral of the inſtances cited in this Chapter and elſewhere. In the 33th year of K. Henry II, a Tallage was ſet upon the Kings Demeanes and Lands in Kent, by the Archdeacon of Colcheſter, Roger Fitz-Renfrey, Michael Belet, and Robert de Witefeld. To It, the town of Rocheſter paid vij l x s de dono, the ſame being aſſiſed by the ſaid Juſticiers upon the Townſmen ſeverally; [the City of Rocheſter] xx l de Dono in Common;

ſeſſed upon the Men of Rocheſter per capita, according to a Tallage-Roll delivered into the Exchequer (b). In the 31th year of K. Henry III, the City of London was tallaged, partly by the Poll and partly by the Wards of the City. Some perſons (perhaps the Wealthier ſort) paid by the Poll: Bartholomew le Brun paid xliij s iiij d, Laurence Alanſon half a mark, John Chamberlain xvj s, and others their ſeveral ſumms. And the Aldermen paid-in certain ſumms in groſs raiſed within their reſpective Wards: William ſon of Benet paid-in xiij l ij s for his Ward, John Vyell xvj l and xl d for his Ward, and others for the reſt of the Wards (c). In or about the 40th year of K. Henry III, the Men of the Town of Bedford were tallaged per Capita. The Sheriff of the County diſtrained the Community of the Town for the areres of That Tallage, whereas it was aſſeſſed [not in Common, but] upon particular perſons: Hereupon, the Sheriff was commanded by Writ, to diſtrain thoſe particular perſons for the ſame, and not the Community (d). In or about the 32th year of K. Edward I, a Tallage was impoſed upon the Moveables and Rents within the ſeveral Wards of the City of Canterbury. The Abbot of St. Auſtin There paid viij l for Tallage of his Moveables in the Ward of Burgate, and xix s xj d for Tallage of his Rents in the ſame Ward. And the Priour of Chriſtchurch paid to That Tallage in like form (e). This Tallage was alſo aſſeſſed in Kent by Roger de Heigham, Walter de Glouceſter, and John de Sandale, who were aſſigned by Writ Patent to aſſeſs the ſame either by a Poll or in Groſs, and to chuſe certain perſons to levy it. This is called Primum Tallagium de tempore Regis Edwardi I. It was aſſeſſed per Capita in the City of Canterbury: And was paid by divers perſons, as well for their Moveables as their Rents in the Ward of Burgate (f). It was aſſeſſed in the City and ſuburbs of Canterbury [and in the whole County of Kent], by Roger de Hegham, Walter de Glouceſter and John de Sandale, in the 32th year of K. Edward I, by the oath of Six Aldermen of Canterbury hereunder named (g). In the ſame 32th year, the City of London was tallaged in Common and by Poll. The Alderman of each Ward anſwered for the tallage that was aſſeſſed in Common, ſingle perſons for what was charged ſingly on them-

In the 33th year of K. Edward I, Commiſſioners were appointed to aſſeſs a Tallage upon the Towns of Staunton and Grantham in Lincolnſhire, either per Capita or in Communi, as ſhould be thought moſt for the Kings profit. Theſe Towns were Ancient Demeane of the Crown, and were now in the Kings hands by the Nonage of the heir of John de Warenne. The Commiſſion to aſſeſs the Tallage was in the form hereunder ſet forth (i).

If the aſſeſſors of Tallage over-rated any man, he uſed to obtain a Writ formed upon his caſe, directed to the Barons of the Exchequer; who by vertue thereof, and upon conſideration of the matter, would relieve him according to Equity. This was done in many inſtances; particularly in the caſe of John Fiſh and Robert Burre. The aſſeſſours of the Tallage ſet upon the town of Shafton, had taxed John Fiſh at fifteen marks, whereas his goods were hardly ſufficient to pay the ſame. Hereupon, the Barons of the Exchequer were commanded by Writ, to conſider the caſe, and to moderate the tallage according to the ſaid Johns ability (k). And Robert Burre having complained to the King, that in the laſt Tallage for the City of Canterbury, he was unequally Taxed: The King commands the Barons, ſo to moderate and adjuſt the Tallage ſet upon Robert, that neither he might be aſſeſſed higher than his Equals, nor the Kings Tallage be diminiſhed (l).

VI. Sometimes men were admitted to Compound for the Tallage impoſed on them; by paying a Fine to the King for the ſame. Stephen de Turneham tallaged the Men of Wincheſter at DCCC marks. But they were afterwards admitted to make Fine for the ſaid tallage in CCCC marks, to be paid at C marks per annum (m). The town of Colcheſter owed xj l upon the laſt tallage. Day was given them, that they might conſult with their neighbours about making a Fine for That and their other debts (n). Earl Patric had reſpite till the quinzime of St. Marc, to purchace-off the Tallage demanded of him for the Three Middeltons which he held of the King in Theinage (o). The Burgeſſes of Oxford profered C marks for the Tallage of their Town: And if they would give C l for it, the King ordered the Aſſeſſours of the Tallage for Oxfordſhire to accept That ſumm (p). The Men of Worceſter made Fine with the King at L marks, for the Tallage of their Town of Worceſter (q). The Towns of Diviſes, Old Saresbery, and Lutegareſhall, made ſeveral Fines for their ſeveral tallages (r). The Citizens of Wincheſter Fined for their Tallage (s). And the Citizens of York for Theirs (t). The Maſter and Brothers of the Order of the Temple in England Fined in DC marks, for the Unzime of the Temporal Goods of themſelves and their Villains. And the Priour and Brothers of the Hoſpital of Jeruſalem in England made Fine in the ſame ſumm of money and in the ſame words (u). In the ſixth year of K. Edward II, a Tallage was aſſeſſed in Surrey by John Abel and John de Ifeld. The Men of Kingſton Fined in xx l to That tallage; the Men of Banſtede in x marks; the Men of Guldeford in xx l; and the Men of Witle in x marks Londonia, Midd Prior Hoſpitalis S. Johannis Jeruſalem in Anglia & Fratres ejuſdem Ordinis, fecerunt Finem cum Rege per ſexcentas marks (w). In the ſame year, a Tallage was aſſeſſed in Suſſex by the ſame perſons. The Men of Colcheſter fined to It in fifty marks, and the Tenants of the Manour of Boſeham in x l (x). In the ſame year, in Hampſhire, the Community of Weſtoure, the Community of the town of Burton, the four Villains of Douketon, the Community of the town of Ryngwood, and the Community of the Villains of Lyndhurſt, made Fine reſpectively in ſeveral ſumms, for the tallage of their chatells (y).

VII. In the next place we may conſider, In What caſes Tallage was not demandable. Firſt, it was not demandable from Lands holden in Frankalmoigne. K. Henry III, held the Manour of Kyllum in Demeane. Certain lands holden in Frankalmoigne (which were called the eleemoſyna) belonged to That Manour. When the Manour was tallaged to the King, the Frankalmoigne was tallaged with it, at an entire ſumm of money. The King, upon complaint made to him, commanded the Barons of the Exchequer by writ, to ſtop the diſtreſs made upon the Frankalmoigne for the ſaid tallage (z). Upon the Petition of Adam de Oſgodeby Warden of the Houſe for Convert Jews, which was founded in Frankalmoigne, a Writ iſſued to the Barons of the Exchequer, ordering them to acquit him of Tallage aſſeſſed upon certain of his tenements in London. And the like writs iſſued for the relief of ſeveral other Religious hereunder mentioned (a). Again; Tallage was not chargeable (as I take it) upon Lands holden by Knights Service. The Town of Wicumbe was charged with xxx l and viij d for Tallage; But was acquitted thereof, becauſe

The Abbot of Cirenceſtre was ſummoned into the Exchequer, to anſwer Why or by What right he diſtrained the Tenants of Richard de la Pyrie who held certain land of the King in Capite by Knights ſervice, to render tallage for the ſaid land (c). Robert de Holt was not to pay Tallage, becauſe he was libere feoffatus of his land, or enfeoffed in Chivalry (d). And Richard de Wygeden was not to be tallaged amongſt the Kings Demeane-men of the Manour of Havering, becauſe he was not one of the Demeane-men of That Manour, but held his land of the King in Capite by a particular charter [of enfeoffment] from the King (e).

Moreover, the King, if he pleaſed, granted to particular perſons a Freedom from Tallage. For example. The Templars and the Hoſpitalers of Jeruſalem [by very ancient Grant from the Crown] had the privilege of having each of them one Man (he was called their Liber Hoſpes) in every Burgh in the Realm, who was to be quitt of Common aſſiſes or tallages aſſeſſed within his Burgh. This privilege was ſundry times allowed to them. In the Tallage impoſed on the City of London for the Army of Wales, xx*s* were ſett-off from Henry de Caſſel by vertue of the ſaid privilege of the Templars, and a mark from Herbert the Tanner by vertue of the like privilege of the Hoſpitalers (f). The ſame privilege was allowed to the Templars and Hoſpitalers for the ſaid Henry de Caſſel and Herbert the Tanner, in the Aid levied for the Mariage of Maud K. Henry the Seconds daughter (g). In a Tallage ſet upon the Kings Demeanes in Glouceſterſhire, Wulfward the Fuller was charged with iiij marks, but had quittance thereof as being the Man of the Templars (h). Godard who be-

VIII. As the King had Tallage of his Demeane-men, So ſome Subordinate or Private Lords had Tallage of Theirs. If I am not miſtaken, moſt of theſe latter tallages were alſo Seigneurial. I cannot here give a hiſtory of this matter. But I find by ancient Records, that many of the lands which were Talliable to Private Lords, were ſuch as at one time or other moved from the King, and were wont to be tallaged to Him, whilſt they were veſted in the Crown. As, when the King granted to a Subject a Demeane-Manour or Town, together with the Homages, Aids, Tallages, and other profits thereof, To hold to the Grantee and his heirs: In ſuch caſe, the Grantee and his heirs had power to Tallage the Men of ſuch Manour or Town to their Own uſe, When the King Tallaged his Demeanes and Manours throughout England, But not otherwiſe or at other Times. But ſuch Inferiour Lord could not rightfully raiſe Tallage Oftner or in Other manner than the King raiſed Tallage upon his Own Demeanes. For the Tenants were not by the Kings Grant Tallageable to the Private Lord in any other manner, than they would have been to the King if the Seigneury had ſtill reſted in the Crown. And when ſuch Private Lord went to raiſe Tallage, he uſed to have a Writ (de habendo rationabili tallagio) to the Sheriff of the County to Raiſe the ſame. This I think was the Uſual Method in the Reigns of KK. Henry III and Edward I. Some inſtances muſt be produced in relation to theſe matters. K. Henry III, granted to the Biſhop of Salisbury and his Succeſſours, that for the preſſing occaſions of Them and their Church, they might take a Tallage or reaſonable Aid of their Citizens of Salisbury, at ſuch times as the King or his heirs tallaged their Demaines (e). King Henry III, when he tallaged his Domaines throughout England, ſent a Writ to the Sheriff of Buckinghamſcire, commanding him to levy a Tallage, for the uſe of John Fitz-Geoffrey, upon vy Seal commanded the Barons, to let Iſabel late wife of John de Haſtynges have the Tallages of her Tenants of the Manour of Brampton (being Ancient Demeane of the Crown), As the ſaid John and his Anceſtours had from the time of K. John till Now, viz. at ſuch times as the Kings Anceſtours cauſed their Ancient Demeanes and the Burghs to be Tallaged (q). It being Found by Inquiſition taken by the Sheriff of Glouceſter, that the Manour of Cherleton, which was granted by K. Henry II, to Walter de Eſſelega, was never, from the time of That grant, wont to be tallaged to the Crown, when the Crown tallaged their Demeanes: K. Henry III, by his Writ commanded the Barons of the Exchequer, to acquitt Mabel Revel Heireſs of the ſaid Walter, and her Men of the ſaid Manour, of the Tallage lately aſſeſſed upon them for the Kings uſe (r). The Rolls of the Exchequer were ſearched, and an Inquiſition was taken by vertue of the Kings writ, on behalf of the Abbot of St. James without Northampton, to diſcover, whether the ſaid Abbot was wont in times paſt, to be tallaged for the Rents which he received of his Men in the Town of Northampton. Hereupon the King commands the Barons of the Exchequer, that if they found, that the ſaid Abbot and his predeceſſours were not wont to be tallaged for the ſaid Rents, then they ſhould diſcharge him [the Abbot] of twelve marks and a half, tallage aſſeſſed upon him by Richard de Shyreburn (s).

As the King had divers ways of raiſing money upon his Demeane-men; So Inferiour Lords (if I have obſerved right) dealt with their Demeane-men after the like manner. It is true, the Tallages and duties paid to the King by his Demeane-men in ſeveral ages, do readily fall under the notice of inquiſitive perſons; the ſame being entred in publick Records, and eſpecially in the Revenue-rolls; by which means alſo, they appear to have been frequent and numerous. Whereas the Tallages and duties formerly rendred to Inferiour Lords by their Demeane-men are not modi Dominicis quæ tenent, & quæ hactenus talliari conſueverint, rationabile talliagium haberent; & Rex Vicecomiti Notinghamiæ pluries præceperit, quod ſi Maneria de Waltringham Miſterton & Papewyk aliquando fuerint antiqua Dominica Regis vel Progenitorum ſuorum quondam Regum Angliæ, & hactenus conſueverint talliarie, Tunc Priori de Novo Loco in Shirwode, de tenentibus ſuis in Manerijs prædictis rationabile talliagium habere faceret —— &c. *Ex Paſ. (t) Memonot eaſily diſcovered by us at this day; the ſame having in great meaſure paſſed under privacy and ſilence; ſave that they are ſometimes diſcloſed in Pleas moved between ſuch Lords and their Men, and likewiſe in the Kings Revenue-rolls when the Seigneuries of thoſe Lords hapned to come into the Kings hands by Eſcheat, Vacancy, or Wardſhip. But one would be apt to think, the Private Lords were wont to treat their Talliable Men with greater ſeverity than the King treated His. For ſometimes the Men claimed by Inferiour Lords, have choſen to be Talliable to the King rather than to ſuch Lords; and accordingly, have come to the Kings Court, and alleged there, that they were Talliable to the King and not otherwiſe. For example. In the 27th year of K. Henry III, the Men of Staunford came and acknowledged before the Barons of the Exchequer, that the King ought to have the tallage of Staunford as he had from his Demeanes, and that He and no other Lord ought to tallage them (t). In the reign of K. Edward I, the Men of Kings Ripton came and alleged before the Treaſurer and Barons of the Exchequer, That their Town is Ancient Demeane of the Crown of England; That they and their anceſtours were never wont to be tallaged except only to the Kings uſe, when the King cauſed the Cities, Burghs, and Demeanes to be tallaged; That neverthleſs the Abbot of Ramſey had lately cauſed a Tallage to be aſſeſſed on them, and greatly diſquieted them by means thereof. The Abbot was commanded to appear at the Exchequer in the octaves of St. Hilary, to ſhew How he claimeth to hold the ſaid Town, and to have Tallage of them. The Abbat came and pleaded, that he held the ſaid Town at Fee-ferm by vertue of a Charter made by K. Henry I, to Abbot Walter, one of his predeceſſours. And ſhewed-forth the Charter. The Men of Kings Ripton reply, that they were never tallaged to the uſe of any Abbot of Ramſey, and that therefore the preſent Abbot ought not to have of them any tallage, but that if any be aſſeſſed upon them and levied, the ſame ought to be to the Kings uſe. The parties were adjourned to the next Eaſter-term, and then to Michaelmaſs-term. Search was made in the Kings Rolls. And it was found in the Great Roll of the 7th year of K. Henry III, that amongſt the Manours tallaged in the Counties of Cambridg and Huntendon, an account was rendred of xx s for the tallage of the town of Ripton, which xx s was paid into the Receipt. At the quinzime of St. Michael the Abbot appeared by his attorney. And the Men of Ripton made default. The Barons would not at preſent give judgment in the caſe, becauſe the Treaſurer was then abſent But adjourned the Abbot to the octaves of St. Hilary (u). The Burgeſſes of St. Alban, as it ſeems, choſe rather to be anſwerable to the King, than to their Lord the Abbot of That name. To accompliſh their purpoſe, they made uſe of this ſtratageme. In the 8th year of K. Edward II, they exhibited a Petition to the King, wherein they alleged, That they held their Town of Him in Capite; That they were wont (as the other Burgeſſes of the Realm were), to attend at his Parliaments by two of their Comburgeſſes; which attendance tendance was in lieu of all ſervices due from them to the King; That they and their anceſtours had conſtantly, untill this preſent Parliament, done the ſaid ſervices [of attendance], as well in the time of K. Edward I, and of his Royal Anceſtours, as in the time of K. Edward II, now reigning; and that the names of their ſaid Burgeſſes ſo coming to the Kings Parliaments, were always enrolled in the Rolls of the Chancery: That nevertheleſs, the Sheriff of Hertfordſhire, by the procurement of the Abbot of St Alban and in his favour, did utterly refuſe to ſummon the ſaid Burgeſſes, or to return their names, in order to their doing their ſaid ſervice [at the preſent Parliament], in contempt of the King, and in manifeſt prejudice and diſheriſon of the ſaid Burgeſſes: Whereupon they Pray relief. To this Petition the Kings Council anſwered thus: Let the Rolls of the Chancery be ſearched, to find whether the ſaid Burgeſſes were wont to come [to Parliaments] or no; And Then let juſtice be done them in the caſe. This is the ſubſtance of their Petition. In which, there are ſeveral matters to be remarked. The principal thing, in appearance, againſt which they deſire in this Petition to be relieved, was the interruption given them by the Sheriff of Hertfordſhire, in their ſending Burgeſſes to the Parliament. And therefore the Kings Council, in their Anſwer, had regard only to That Point. But in truth, the Petition imports much More. For example. The Burgeſſes ſuggeſt, Firſt, that they held their town of the King in Capite; and ſecondly, that their ſending of Burgeſſes to Parliament, was in lieu of all ſervices due from them to the King. The matter of theſe two ſuggeſtions, if it had been true, would have proved of great advantage to the Burgeſſes, and of great detriment to the Abbot. For if the Burgeſſes held their town in Capite of the King, then they were not the Demeane-men of the Abbot, nor were reſponſible to him for tallage, aid, toll, or other duties; which, as I take it, the Abbot was entituled to receive of them. At the ſame time, if they held in Capite of the King, they pretended to be acquitted againſt Him of all ſervices, by ſending Burgeſſes to his Parliament. By which compendious method, they projected, as it ſeems, to ſhake-off their obedience to the Abbot, and to obtain an exemption from all other ſervices except That of ſending Burgeſſes (w). Hereunder in the margin I ſhall enquire briefly, whether the matter of the two ſuggeſtions juſt above mentioned, was true or not. But the uſe which I at preſent make of this inſtance of the Burgeſſes of St. Alban,

(x) In truth, I have not as yet found, that any Town, City, or Burgh in England, did in ancient time hold of the King or of any other Lord upon theſe terms, viz. To be quit of all preſtations and ſervices by ſending Burgeſſes to Parliament: or, that they could acquit themſelves towards their Lord any otherwiſe, than by paying their Ferms, aids, tallages, and ſuch like duties chargeable on them.

As to the other point, Whether the Burgeſſes of St. Alban held immediately of the King; let it be conſidered a little; becauſe it is the Hinge upon which the whole Petition turns. Pat. 38. H. 3. m. 1. The Letters Patent were of this tenour, to wit: Quia conſtat Regi per inſpectionem Cartarum prædeceſſorum Regis Regum Angliæ, quas Abbas Sancti Albani habet, quod homines ipſius Abbatis venire non debent extra Libertatem ejuſdem Abbatis, pro aliqua Summonitione vel occaſione, coram aliquibus Juſticiarijs vel Inquiſitoribus: Rex remiſit eidem Abbati Centum Libras, ad quas Villata & Libertas Sancti Albani amerciatæ fuerunt, eo quod non venerunt coram H. de Mara & Willelmo de Wilton apud Ceſtreſhunt, quæ eſt extra Libertatem prædictam, ad faciendum Inquiſitiones de tranſgreſſione Cambij, & ad amerciandum tranſgreſſores ejuſdem Cambij, & etiam duas marcas & dimidiam ad quas Nicholaus le Eſpecer, Alexander Stoyle, Willelmus de Sandrig, & Reginaldus Aurifaber, homines ipſius Abbatis de Libertate prædicta, amerciati fuerunt coram prædictis Henrico & Willelmo pro tranſgreſſione prædicta. Claus. 38. H. 3. m. 7. This laſt Patent dated the 13th day of October is alſo enrolled by* Inſpeximus, in Trin. Memor. 21. Edw. 3. Rot. 13. The Reader will, no doubt, readily diſcern the true ſtate of this matter. The Confirmation, and the Grant of franchiſes in theſe caſes, are made to the Abbot as Lord of the Town. There are many parallel inſtances to be ſeen of grants made in ancient times to the Lords of other Towns: wherein the King granted to the Lord of ſuch a Town, that his Men of That town ſhould have and enjoy ſuch or ſuch a franchiſe: Which franchiſe was for the improvement of the town like as of a Manour or other eſtate. On the other part, if a Town was the Kings town, the grant of a franchiſe would have been to the Townſmen themſelves, or (as the phraſe formerly was) to the Kings Men of ſuch a Town.

At the time of the Diſſolution of Monaſteries, the Town of St. Alban together with the profits of Fairs, markets, tolls &c There, came to K. Henry VIII as parcel of the Poſſeſſions of the Abbot of St. Alban. From K. Henry VIII the ſame deſcended to K. Edward VI; who, being ſeized in Fee of the ſaid Town and profits, did by his Letters Patent dated the 12th day of May in the ſeventh year of his reign, grant his intereſt in the Town of St. Alban to the Burgeſſes There and to their ſucceſſours, in Fee-ferm; that is to ſay, He made the Town of St. Alban a Body Corporate and Politick in perpetual ſucceſſion, by the name of Mayor and Burgeſſes, under ſeveral regulations; and granted to the ſaid Mayor and Burgeſſes and their ſucceſſours, the ſaid profits and other franchiſes; They to hold the premiſſes in free burgage; and to render yearly to the Crown x l as a Fee-ferme, at the feaſt of St. Michael. Concedimus (ſaith the Patent) quod dicta villa Sancti Albani in dicto Comitatu noſtro Hertfordiæ decætero ſit & erit Liber Burgus corporatus; ac quod dicti Major & Burgenſes ſint una Communitas & unum corpus corporatum & politicum —: Habendum to the Mayor and Burgeſſes and their ſucceſſours imperpetuum: Tenendum de nobis hæredibus & ſucceſſoribus noſtris, per fidelitatem tantum, in libero Burgagio dicti Burgi Sancti Albani, pro omnibus ſervicijs & demandis, & non in Capite: Ac reddendo annuatim nobis hæredibus & ſucceſſoribus noſtris decem libras nomine feodi-firmæ legalis monetæ Angliæ, ad Curiam noſtram augmentationum & reventionum Coronæ noſtræ ad feſtum S. Michaelis tantum. Ex 1. parte Orig. 7 Edw. 6. Rot. 32.

In relation to the Tenure of the Town of St. Alban, I think the true ſtate of the caſe was This. When a town was committed, by the Lord of it, to the Men or Burgeſſes at ferm; Then they might be ſaid to Hold their Town. Otherwiſe (to ſpeak properly) they were Holden. The Town of St. Alban was granted to the Abbey of St. Alban, by one of the Ancient Kings of England: The Abbot and Convent Held the Town in Capite or immediately of the King [in Burgage], as parcell of the endowment of the Abbey; and they held the town or Burgeſſes in demeane, or (if you pleaſe) the Burgeſſes were the Demeane-men of the Abbey. So it was alſo in the caſe of the City of New Sarum. That City was granted to the Biſhop of Sarisbury, by one of the Ancient Kings of England, as parcell of the Temporalities of the Biſhoprick of Sarisbury. What then? The Biſhop held the City of the King in Capite; and the Citizens were the Biſhops Demeane-men; — & quod dicta tenementa ſunt parcella Civitatis Novæ Sarum, quæ quidem Civitas de nobis tenetur in Capite ut parcella temporalium epiſcopatus prædicti, ex dono & conceſſione progenitorum noſtrorum quondam Regum Angliæ facta —. *In charta R. Theſe are ſome of the notices relating to Tallage, which the ancient Records furniſh us withall. In the ſucceeding times, a Different Law and Uſage were, as I take it, by degrees introduced. There is a Piece publiſhed by Tothill and Redman (z) amongſt the old Statutes under the title, Statutum de tallagio non concedendo. It conſiſts of four ſhort clauſes. It beginns Nullum tallagium, and ends ſint imperpetuum. But in regard I cannot as yet find this Statute (if it be one) in any Roll or Record, I ſhall forbear to take further notice of it here.

IX. Tallage was paid in Normandy (as it ſeems) in like manner as it was in England. K. John, anno Regni 2°, granted to Robert de Liſieux and his heirs, Quittance or Freedom from Tallage, with other immunities mentioned in the Charter hereunder cited; And granted and confirmed to him the Land which was Adam Tanckins at Caen and elſewhere, as entirely as Adam held the ſame at the time when he forfeited it by Felony, whereof he was convicted in K. Henry the Seconds Court; To hold to Robert and his heirs and aſſignes, free from all Cuſtome, at the Rent of xx Capons to be rendred yearly to the King and his heirs, in lieu of all other ſervice cuſtom and tallage (a). The ſame King by his Letters Patent, granted to Philipp de Adnebec quittance of two ſeveral Tallages impoſed on him; and commanded the Steward of Anjou to acquit him accordingly (b). And in a Charter of certain Liberties which were granted and confirmed to the Citizens of Roan by Philipp King of France, one article was, That they ſhould not be compelled to render Tallage as a Cuſtomary Duty, without their own free Grant thereof (c). Thus far of the Revenue ariſing by Tallage.

I. THE Cuſtome paid to the King was anciently wont to be called in Latin, Conſuetudo and Cuſtuma. Conſuetudo was uſed in an extenſive ſenſe, for Payments or Duties of many kinds. For inſtance. K. William I, granted to the Abbey of Weſtminſter, eight hides of his Demeane-land belonging to the Manour of Piriford, free and quit ab omni mea conſuetudine & conſu pecuniæ quæ Geld vocatur anglice [quit of all manner of Cuſtome or tribute] (a). K. Stephen remitted to Richard Fitz-William x s a Duty payable out of Richards land [de conſuetudine terræ ſuæ] (b). In the 9th year of K. Henry III, an accompt was rendred to the Crown, of certain yearly duties, Conſuetudines annuæ, which accrued in the Manour of Linlee and were turned into money (c). In an Accompt of the iſſues of the Biſhoprick of Winchester during an avoidance, there was anſwered to the Crown the ſumm of xvij l vij s viij d ob., ariſing out of a certain Payment or Duty [de quadam conſuetudine] called Kirkethet, by ſale of three thouſand fourſcore and ſeven hens (d). In fine, Conſuetudines ſignified Regal Dues (e), and Epiſcopal (f), or other Eccleſiaſtical Dues (g), and Dues or Payments and exactions of many kinds (h). But I leave this matter to the Gloſſariſts.

II. There was a Cuſtom or Duty, paid to the King for Wines, which was called Priſa and Recta priſa. The proportion of it was one dolium before the Maſt, and another behind the Maſt. Tis true, Priſe was a word of equivocal meaning. Properly, it ſignified Capture: And was ſometimes uſed for Captures taken in war, ſometimes for Purveyance, Impoſt, or capture of other kinds. For example. An Accord was made between John Mareſchall Keeper of the Caſtle of Diviſes, and the Men of That Town, de priſis, concerning the Captures made upon the Townſmen by the Warders of the Caſtle (i). And it was ordained, that no perſon ſhould take priſes within the Realm, ſave only the Purveyours for the Kings Houſhold (k). In the reign of K. Edward I, a Statute was made to prevent the committing of treſpaſſes upon upon the Clergy, by capture of their corn, victuals, catell, or other goods, againſt their will. In the tenth year of K. Edward II, a Letter patent of the Great Seal was iſſued, to enforce the ſaid ſtatute and put it in execution; Which Letter patent is entituled, Litera patens ſuper priſis bonorum Cleri (l). K. Henry III, by writ Patent granted to Simon de Campis Merchant of Douay, that he might Trade throughout England; he paying to the King his rightful Duties; And that no impoſt or Priſe ſhould be taken to the Kings uſe for Simons Cloth during the ſpace of three years (ll). But I am here to conſider the word Priſe, as it ſignified the Duty paid to the King for Wine.

In ancient times, the Duty for Wines called Priſa was received, for the Kings uſe, by divers officers. In the reign of K. Richard I, K. John, and part of K. Henry the Thirds reign, it was commonly accounted-for at the Exchequer, by the Chamberlains of the Kings wines, under the title of Camberlengaria or Cameraria Londoniæ. In part of K. Henry the Thirds reign, and in the reigns of K. Edward I, and K. Edward II, it was uſually accounted-for by officers ſtyled Captores and emptores vinorum Regis: In the reign of K. Edward III, and afterwards, by the Kings Pincerna or Butler, under the title of Pincernaria Regis. For example. In the 10th year of K. Richard I, Gervaſe de Aldermannesbiria rendred an accompt of the Miniſtry or office of the Camberlengaria or Chamberlainſhip of London. In it, he accompts for ſeveral duties payable to the King, and (amongſt others) for Priſage of wines (m). In the twelfth year of K. John, Engelard de Cygoini accounted to the King for the ferm of Briſtoll. He was Allowed out of his ferm, Lx s, which he had paid, by vertue of the Kings writ, for four tonella of Red Wine de priſa, to wit, xv s per tonell, and xxx l and a mark for xxij tonells of Red wine which were bought for the Kings uſe (n). K. John by his Charter, granted to the Monks of Chriſtchurch Canterbury that the Hundred modij of wine which the King of France gave them, ſhould be for ever free of Modiation and all other Cuſtome belonging to the King, at what part ſoever of England they ſhould arrive (o). K. John (anno Regni 5°) by Letters Patent took into his Protection Two Ships of Alan de Sorbams, having on board the Wines of Osbert de Kileboe: And thereby commanded, that no Priſe ſhould be taken for Thoſe Wines beſides the Kings recta priſa (p). The ſame King granted the like Protection for two other Ships; and commanded, that no Priſe ſhould be taken for the Freight of them, beſides the Ancient and Uſual Priſe (q). ward II, anno regni 2°, committed to Alexander le Peyntur, the office of Tronage in London, during his pleaſure; and to Gilbert Haukyn, the office of Tronage and Clerk of the Market at Newcaſtle upon Tine, during pleaſure (i). In the 19th year of K. Edward II, the Sheriffs of London were commanded to diſtrain John le Lung (whom the King had appointed to exerciſe the office of Tronage in the City of London during the Kings pleaſure) by his lands and chatells, to come and render an Accompt of the ſaid Tronage. John came and pleaded, That he ought not to render any accompt thereof, for that no man who ever held the ſaid office before him by Commiſſion from the King ever accompted for it, and that there was no profit belonging to That office for which he could accompt to the King. Upon ſearching the Rolls of the Exchequer, it was not found that any Keeper of the ſaid Tronage ever accompted for it, or anſwered to the King for any profit ariſing from it. Whereupon, Judgment was given, that John ſhould be quit of accompting for the ſaid Tronage (k). But by What Grant or other means the Keepers of the Tronage at That time came to be free from accompting I have not obſerved.

In the 23th year of K. Henry II; William le Brun and William le Blund accompted for xxxvj l for the ferm of the Queens Hithe (l), In the 28th year William le Brun accompted for xlij l, the ferm of the Queens Hithe (m); In the 29th, 31th, and 33th years of the ſame King, the Citizens of London accompted for the ferm of the ſaid Hithe (n). In the 9th year of K. Henry III, Andrew Bukerell and John Travers had the Ripa Reginæ [the Queens Hithe] in ferm (o); In the 11th year of That King, it was granted to Richard Renger at the ferm of xl l per annum during the Kings pleaſure (p); Afterwards, it was holden by Andrew Bukerel and John Travers, and by the Citizens of London and Thomas de Cirenceſtre as Cuſtodes (q).

V. In proceſs of time, the Kings Cuſtoms came to be moſt generally called Cuſtuma. In the 26th year of K. Edward I, there was payable to the King for Cuſtomes, For every ſack of Wool carried out of the Port of Len half a mark, for every Memorandum quod Nono die Maij anno præſenti Henricus le Galeys Major Civitatis Londoniæ & Willelmus de Betoyne Camerarius ejuſdem, & alij Cives Civitatis illius, venerunt hic & protulerunt coram Venerabili Patre W. Coventrenſi & Licheſeldenſi Epiſcopo Theſaurario, & Baronibus, quandam Tronam pro lanis ponderandis, quam per mandatum Regis fieri fecerant, aſſerentes eam bene & fideliter fore examinatam & probatam poſt Tronam ſuam qua utitur in Londonia, de lanis a portu illo exeuntibus ponderandis &c. Et in continenti Theſaurarius & Barones Tronam prædictam a Majori Camerario & Civibus admittentes, the King, in Aid of his Warr againſt France, the Cuſtom or Duty of xl s for every Sack of Wool and v marks for every Laſt of Leathers exported out of the Realm, for the ſpace of Two years or Three, if the ſaid War laſted ſo long. And at the ſame time the King granted, that he would take no Cuſtome of the ſaid Community without their Common aſſent; Saving to the King and his heirs the Cuſtomes of Wools Woolfels and Leathers granted to him by the ſaid Community Before That time. The King releaſed to the ſaid Community of the Realm the ſaid Cuſtome or Subſidy of xl s and v marks. And thereupon commanded the Cuſtodes of his Cuſtomes in the ſeveral Ports of England to forbear receiving the ſame: And likewiſe commanded the Sheriffs of the ſeveral Counties to make Proclamation in their Bailywicks, That all merchants and others who deſigned to export Wools, Woolfells, and Leathers, might ſafely carry them to the ſeveral Ports where the King had a Cocket, paying the Old Duties onely, viz. Half a mark for every ſack of Wools and Woolfels, and a mark for every Laſt of Leathers (t). In the 9th year of K. Edward II, the ſaid Cuſtoms were payable to the King, viz. For every Sack of Wool carried out of the Port of Briſtoll half a mark, for every Three hundred pelles lanutæ half a mark, and for every Laſt of Leather one mark (u).

If merchants defrauded the King of his Cuſtoms, they forfeited their goods uncuſtomed. The Treaſurer and Barons ordered Inquiſitions to be taken in all Maritime places about the Concealment of the Kings Cuſtoms for Wool &c, and to be returned into the Exchequer (w). A Writ iſſued out of the Exchequer, for arreſting the Wools of certain Foreign and Engliſh Merchants, exported Uncuſtomed.

CHAP. XIX.

Of the DIVISION of the Kings COURTS.

I. Of the erection of the Bank or Common Bench.
II. Of the time and manner of its erection.

CHAP. XIX.

I. FROM what hath been ſaid in the Former part of this Volume (a) it appears, that the Kings Palace or Court was anciently the Great and Principal Seat of Judicature in this Realm. But in proceſs of time (towards the end of this Firſt Period, as I ſuppoſe), the Judicature of the Kings Court came to be Divided. And by That Diviſion, Common Pleas were reſerved to a Court then newly erected; Which Court was called the Bank, becauſe it was fixed at Weſtminſter; at which Place the Juſticiers thereof were to Sit, and not to follow the Kings Court. The Bank was, probably, ſet-up in Aid of the Kings Court, as the Iters formerly were. It hath been indeed for ſome time paſt a Received opinion, That the Four Superiour Courts holden at this day in Weſtminſter-hall, are of Coeval original and antiquity. This may be a Uſeful and wholeſome propoſition amongſt Lawyers; as it ſerves to prevent or ſilence needleſs diſputes concerning the preeminence of one or other of the Queens Courts: Nor is it my part or deſign, to oppoſe what may ſeem to be admitted amongſt the Learned Gentlemen of the Faculty of Common Law. However, one may be permitted to balance this matter as it were in pulvere ſcholaſtico; or even to diſcourſe of it in a Hiſtorical way, for the diverſion or ſpeculation of inquiſitive Readers. It is to be remembred, that in the ancient times next after the Norman Conqueſt, the Superiour Judicature was uſually called Curia Regis; as hath been ſhewn before in the Third and other chapters of this Volume. This Curia Regis did Then ordinarily exerciſe juriſdiction both in Criminal and Common Pleas. And the name or ſtyle of the Bank or Juſticiers of the Bank doth not (I think) occurr till a great while afterwards. From hence it may ſeem likely, that the Bank or Common Bench was a Court different from the Curia Regis, and erected at ſome ſubſequent time. And as the Bank hath all along, ſince the time in which we have the Firſt notice of it, dealt Only or Chiefly in Common Pleas: So it falls out, that the Curia Regis ceaſed to deal ordinarily in Common Pleas, about the ſame time that we ſuppoſe the Bank was erected. This leadeth us to conclude, that the Bank was erected by the Diviſion that was at ſome time or other made of the Kings Court, or (if you pleaſe) by the Separation of Common Pleas from It. Concerning which matter we are now to enquire further.

II. It is not eaſy to fix preciſely the Time, When the Diviſion of the Kings Court was made. Peradventure, it might be Begunn in the Reign of K. Richard I, or K. John, and Compleated in the Reign of K. Henry III. The Great Charters of the Two laſt-named Kings were, no doubt, of great force to bring about this Diviſion. But it is likely the thing was effected, partly by an Uſage which prevailed in ſome meaſure before the making of thoſe Great Charters, and partly by vertue of the Great Charters themſelves. However, one may reaſonably believe, it was not effected uno ictu, but by Degrees. Let us conſider ſome particulars referrible to This ſubject. In K. Johns Great Charter of Liberties dated in the 17th year of his Reign, it is ſaid, Communia placita non ſequantur Curiam noſtram, ſed teneantur in aliquo certo loco (b). Here by Curiam noſtram, may, probably, be underſtood the Kings Court holden in his Palace; And by aliquo certo loco, the Bank. So that by vertue of this Clauſe, and of the like Clauſe (which I ſhall mention by and by) contained in K. Henry the Thirds Great Charter of Liberties, the Bank might be erected, or rather confirmed and eſtabliſhed. It is likely however, that the Bank was not Firſt and de novo erected in the ſaid 17th year of K. John. For in the ſame Charter of K. John dated in That year, there is mention made of the Juſticiarij noſtri de Banco (c): Which

Which ſhews, that there was a Court called the Bank, in Being either Before or at leaſt At That time. In truth, there was a Court called the Bank and Juſticiers ſtyled Juſticiarij de Banco, ſeveral years before the 17th year of K. John; as will appear from the Records which I ſhall cite by and by in this Section. About the time when Common Pleas were, as we ſuppoſe, moving-off from the Kings Court, certain phraſes were introduced which, for ought that I have obſerved, were not Before in general uſe; ſuch as Curia Regis apud Weſtmonaſterium, Juſticiarij Regis de Weſtmonaſterio or apud Weſtmonaſterium, Bancus, and Juſticiarij de Banco. For example. In the 7th year of K. Richard I, William des Blez gave x s, To have a Recognition of Novelle Diſſeiſine at Weſtminſter (d). Robert le Salvage gave xx s, To have his Plaint in the Kings Court at Weſtminſter againſt John de Cumbe, for the Mariage of Agnes daughter of John, whoſe Mariage (he ſaid) was in his Guiſt (e). John de Cumbes gave ij marks, That a Recognition might be re-ſummoned in the Kings Court at Weſtminſter, which had been ſummoned There once before, between Him and Robert Falconer and others, for one Knights Fee (f). William Aguillon Fined in C s, To have Right in the Kings Court at Weſtminſter, for one Knights Fee in Nordborne (g). In the 9th year of K. Richard I, Robert Blund prayed that a Concord made between him and Roger de Ginges in the Kings Court might be written in the Great Roll. The import of which Concord was, That Roger enfeoffed Robert in fee of certain Land in Ginges in the tenure of Richard Dolfin: And that Richard quitclaimed the ſame Land to Roger before the Kings Juſticiers [or Juſticier] at Weſtminſter (h). Tis true, in this caſe of Robert Blund, the Concord was made in the Kings Court. And it does not appear, whether the word Juſtic. in the Record, be Singular or Plural. If it be Singular, then the Concord and Quitclaimer therein mentioned might be made before the High Juſticier at Weſtminſter in the Curia Regis. For which reaſon tis doubtful, whether this inſtance be appoſite or not. In the ſame 9th year of K. Richard I, Henry de la Pomeraie enfeoffed Henry de Furnell of certain Land. And thereupon the Feoffer received the Feoffees Homage in the Kings Court at Weſtminſter (i). In the Second year of K. John, there were Juſticiarij de Weſtmonaſterio. Ralf de Rocheſter gave a hawk and a palfrey, That a Recognition might come before the Juſticiers of Weſtminſter three weeks after Eaſter, which was ſummoned to be there at the ſame Term, and which the King had commanded ſhould come before Him at That Term ubicunq; eſſet; And that the Recognition might proceed before the Juſticiers, notwithſtanding the Kings ſaid Command for removing it (k). In the third year of K. John, one John de Birikin gave x marks, That the King would warrant to him a certain Day wherein he ought to have appeared before the Juſticiers of Weſtminſter (l). In the Ninth year of K. John, Robert de Haſtings gave xx marks, That Twelve lawful Knights of the Rap of Haſtings might be ſummoned to appear before the Kings Juſticier [or Juſticiers] at Weſtminſter, To Find whether the ſaid Robert or Simon de Ecchingham had the Beſt Right to the Stewardſhip of the Honour of the Earl of Ou in the Rap of Haſtings (m). Again; in the Sixth year of K. John there were Juſticiarij de Banco. David Ruffus and Amable his wife Fined in half a mark, That a Recognition of Mortdanceſtour which pended before the Juſticiarij de Banco might be brought before the King (n). In the 7th year of That King, William de Mendham Fined in xl l, To have a Writ whereby the Plea which pended between him and Richard ſon of Drue before the Juſticiers of the Bank, might be removed before the King (o). In the 8th year of the ſame King, there were Amerciamenta de Banco impoſed by S. de Pateſhull (p); The like in the 16th year (q), and other years of That King. Theſe Amerciaments, ſtyled Amerciamenta de Banco were impoſed before Simon de Pateſhull, and eſtreated by him into the Exchequer. Which may give us occaſion to enquire, In What Poſt or Office Simon de Pateſhull was at That time. Matthew Paris ſpeaking of him after he was Dead, ſays he was formerly Chief Juſticier of England (r). In the ninth year of K. John he ſat (perhaps as Chief Juſticier) in the Kings Court at Weſtminſter: For in that year a Final Concord was made in Curia Regis apud Weſtmon., before the King Himſelf, Simon de Pateſhull, and Two other Juſticiers, Between Thomas de Preſton, And Ralf Abbot of Weſtminſter, touching the Advouſon of the Church of Perham, whereof a Recognition of Darrein preſentment was ſummoned between them in the ſaid Court (s): And in the ſame year, a Plea of Mortdanceſtour pended before Simon de Pateſhull and his Companions, between Henry Fitz-Gerold, and William de Alneto (t): Tis not indeed expreſly ſaid, that this Plea was in the Bank: But tis likely it pended There, partly becauſe Mortdanceſtour was one of that ſort of Pleas, which Now begann to be withdrawn from the Curia Regis, and were a few years afterwards, by K. Johns Great Charter, expreſly reſerved to the Bank, in caſe they could not be determined in the Counties where they aroſe (u); And partly becauſe tis certain that about this time, Simon de Pateſhull, who was either Chief Juſticier, or at leaſt one of the Kings Juſticiers (w), ſat in the Bank (x). But whether Simon de Pateſhull was, properly, Chief Juſticier of the Bank, or whether there was at That time any Officer ſo ſtyled, I have not yet diſcovered. Again; in the 14th year of K. John, there were Pleas in the Kings Court before Simon de Pateſhull and his Companions; in the caſe of John Chern (y), and others (z).

So that all theſe matters being put together, it ſeems likely enough, that the Bank not being as yet compleatly ſettled (nor perhaps furniſhed with a Fixt Preſident or Chief-Juſticier), the perſon who was the Chief Juſticier of England uſed to ſit and Act at this time as well in the Bank, as in the Kings Court and the Exchequer. But this I propoſe only as a Conjecture. Moreover, although there was a Bank in being in the Fore-part of K. Johns Reign: yet it ſeems that even at the end of his Reign, Common Pleas were not compleatly ſeparated from the Kings Court. For in the Clauſe, Communia placita non ſequantur Curiam noſtram, it is implyed that Common pleas did Then, at leaſt in ſome meaſure, follow the Kings Court: Upon which ground tis ordered, that for the future they ſhould not follow the Kings Court, but be held in aliquo certo loco. And in fact, it appears, that Common pleas did ſtill in ſome meaſure follow the Kings Court, even during all That part of K. Johns reign, wherein (as is ſhewn above in this Section) there was in being a Court called the Bank, untill the 17th year of his Reign: This I ſay, appears in ſeveral inſtances, ſome of which are cited in this Volume (a), and need not be here repeated at large. And it ſeems that even the above cited Clauſe in K. Johns Charter made in his 17th year, did not preſently quite take away from the Kings Court the Former uſage of dealing in Common pleas, or compleatly annex them to the Bank. For in the Great Charter of Liberties made in the 9th year of K. Henry III, ſon of K. John, it was thought neceſſary to Grant and Order in totidem verbis, That Communia placita non ſequantur Curiam noſtram, ſet teneantur in aliquo certo loco (b). And in fact, ſome Common Pleas were ſtill brought into the Curia Regis during thoſe years which paſſed between the 17th year of K. John and the 9th of K. Henry III. For example. Philipp de Credibo and Miles de Kimbridg Fined in a mark, That their Plaint might be removed from the County into the [Kings] Court (c). Anora Maban Fined in xx marks, For a Præcipe, and to have Right done her thereupon in the Kings Court (d). And one would be apt to think, ſome Pleas of the Crown were at this time holden in the Bank. For in the 5th year of K. Henry III, Geoffrey de Norton and others Fined in one Palfrey, That an Appeal of Robery and Breach of the Peace, for which John de Harpetre and others were attached, might be brought before the Juſtices of the Bank (e). In the Tenth year of K. Henry III, Ernald ſervant to the Biſhop of Carlile brought an Appeal againſt Philipp Marc for a Robery and Breach of the peace. The Appeal was prefixed by the Kings precept to be before the Juſtices of the Common Bench in the octaves of St. Hilary. The King, by a Writ of his Great Seal, commanded the Juſtices of the Common Bench to reſpite That appeal till the octaves of the Cloſe of Eaſter (f). In the ſame year, Sampſon Ernald and ſeveral others were accuſed, for having been concerned, with other Townſmen of Ry, in demoliſhing the houſe of William ſon of Gerbert, and in carrying away, by Robbery and force, ſome of the Kings money which was Then in the ſaid houſe, and ſome of Williams goods and chatells. William brought an Appeal againſt them for That cauſe. The Appeal was attached by the Kings precept to be before the Juſtices of the Common Bench in the octaves of St. Hilary. But in regard the perſons appealed were were gone into the Kings ſervice in foreign parts, the King commanded the Juſtices of the Common Bench, to reſpite the Appeal till the octaves of the H. Trinity (g).

In the Reign of K. John (if my obſervation dos not fail me), after the erection of the Bank, the ſtyle of the Superiour Court began to alter. By degrees, the phraſe Curia Regis (for the Superiour Court) went into diſuſe. And the Pleas and Proceedings in That Court were frequently ſaid to be coram Rege or Domino Rege; and in proceſs of time, coram Domino Rege ubicunq; &c. I will give a few inſtances of the variation in the ſtyle of the Curia Regis in the time of K. John. One John de Mutton Fined in half a mark, That Hervey Bagot and Miliſent his wife might be ſummoned to appear coram Rege, to anſwer for an Intruſion into certain Land (h). Thomas de Wuttorp gave xv marks, That the Land which Beatrix de Faierford held in Dower in Faierford, of the gift of Alan de Wuttorp whoſe heir Thomas is, with the chatells found upon the ſame Land, may be taken into the Kings hand: and that Simon de Kime and others may be attached to anſwer before the King, for intruding into the ſaid Land (i). Helt de Brandeſton and others were to be ſummoned to appear coram Rege at the Suit of Roger de Doai (k): William the Dane was to have an Aſſiſe of Novell Diſſeiſine coram Rege (l): William Fitz-John and others ought to have had John the Champion of Roger de Haſelden, coram Rege (m). The Abbot of St. Edmund was to have Simon de Livremere Clerk coram Rege on Aſhwedneſday (n). Robert de Sulebi Fined in viij marks, That his Recognition might be coram Rege (o). In theſe inſtances we may obſerve, that the Terms coram Rege begann now to be uſed for the Superiour Court. However tis not to be underſtood, that the phraſe Curia Regis, which had been uſed for ſo long a time Before, was now wholly laid aſide on the ſudden. Contrarywiſe, it is uſed (for the Superiour Court) in this 12th year of K. John, and even in the reign of K. Henry III. Thus Gilbert de Gant gave C marks, To have the Judgment of the Kings Court upon a Plea moved between him and Agnes de Rupe (p). William de Vernone Fined in iiij l x s, To have ſeiſin of the Land which was

Hugh de Sauceys, who was Hanged by Judgment of the Kings Court (q). And in the 35th year of K. Henry III, Thomas de Muleton and his Companions, who had been amerced before the Juſtices Itinerant in Lincolnſhire, for a certain Aſſiſe of Novell Diſſeiſin, were diſcharged of That amercement by the Judgment of the Kings Court (per judicium Curiæ noſtræ), foraſmuch as it was Found in the ſaid Court (in Curia noſtra coram nobis), that the Jurours in the ſaid Aſſiſe had given a Falſe verdict (r). Here we ſee, the Old phraſe Curia noſtra or Regis is ſtill reteined, at the ſame time that the New one Curia noſtra coram nobis was coming into uſe. However, it is to be underſtood, that in the ſucceeding times the Superiour Court came to be moſt generally called Curia Regis coram ipſo Rege, or coram Domino Rege ubicunq; fuerit; and has been ſo ſtyled ever ſince. And as the ſtyle of Curia Regis for the Superiour ordinary Court was retained for ſeveral years After the Diviſion of the Courts: So the ſtyle of Curia Regis coram Rege or coram Rege ubicunq; fuerit for the ſame Superiour Court, was by degrees coming into uſe Before the Complete Diviſion of the Courts. Thus in the 2d year of K. John, a precept iſſued for removing a Recognition or Aſſiſe pending before the Juſtices of Weſtminſter, before the King ubicunq; eſſet, in the caſe of Ralf de Rouceſter (s). And in the ſame year, James Baggod Fined in a mark, To have Walter Baggot ſummoned before the King ubicunq; fuerit in Anglia, to hear his Record and Judgment in an Aſſiſe of Mortdanceſtour (t). But after the Diviſion of the Courts was compleatly effected, the ſtyle of Curia coram Rege and coram Rege ubicunq; fuerit came into General uſe, and continues in uſe at this Day; as hath been intimated here above. For example. In the 18th year of K. Henry III, a Cauſe or Plaint depending before the Juſtices of the Bank, between Richard de Percy and William de Percy was ordered to be brought before the King ubicunq; fuerit; it being the Kings Pleaſure to have it determined in His own preſence (u). To which, other inſtances might be added, if it were needful.

The Exchequer having been, during the greateſt part of the Firſt Period, a Member of the Curia Regis, and a Place for determining ſome of the Common Pleas brought into the Curia Regis, the ſeparation of Common Pleas from the Curia Regis did conſiderably affect the Exchequer. In truth, Common Pleas were taken away from the Exchequer, by the ſame means by which they were taken away from the Curia Regis; as hath been before ſuggeſted in Chap. VI. However, it is to be underſtood, that after the Diviſion of the Courts, there ſtill remained ſuch a Communication between the Court coram ipſo Rege, and the Exchequer, and the Bank, as might be naturally expected between Three Courts ſpringing out of one Common Stock. Concerning That Communication ſome memoires have been produced in the VIth Chapter juſt above cited. And I will add here a few words concerning the office of the Kings Mareſchall, in order to confirm what hath been above obſerved concerning the Diviſion of the Courts. Before the Diviſion of the Courts, the Kings Mareſchall executed ſome part of his Office, either by Himſelf or his Subſtitute, in the Kings Court and in the Exchequer. And he continued So to do, After that Diviſion; without any New Inſtructions or Powers from the Crown for ought that appears, granted to him in that behalf: that is to ſay, he acted by his ſubſtitutes in the Court holden before the King Himſelf, in the Exchequer, in the Common Bench, and in the Court of the Mareſchalſey of the Kings Houſhold. From the inſtances produced in Chap. XXIVth, Sect. 6, it appears, that the Mareſchall of England for the time being had a Clerk who reſided and acted for him at the Exchequer, after the Diviſion of the Courts. And it appears from the precedent hereunder cited, that after the ſaid Diviſion of the Courts, ſome functions of his Office were executed in the ſeveral Teſte me ipſo apud Weſtmonaſterium octavo die Julij, anno regni noſtri Angliæ decimo octavo regni vero noſtri Franciæ quinto. Per ipſum Regem.

At preſent I can recollect but one thing that oppoſeth what I have advanced in this Chapter. It may be objected, that the Bank was more Antient than I pretend: For Glanvill who lived and wrote in the reign of K. Henry II, maketh expreſs mention of it in his Book de Legibus. He ſpeaketh There concerning certain acts which were to be done before Juſtices Sitting or Reſiding in the Bank (coram Juſticijs in Banco ſedentibus and reſidentibus:) to wit, in his 2d (x), 8th (y), and 11th (z) Chapters. So that it ſhould ſeem, the Bank or Common Bench was not erected in the reign of KKK. Richard I, John, or Henry III: but was in being Before. Let this matter be conſidered. The phraſe coram Juſticijs in Banco ſedentibus or reſidentibus, as it is uſed by Glanvill, is capable of a twofold ſenſe. Firſt, it may be underſtood (according to the objection) of Juſtices ſitting in the Bank or Common Bench: Or ſecondly, of Juſtices ſitting in the Curia Regis, in Banco, upon the Bench, that is, in open and ſolemn Court There. If we take the phraſe according to the latter ſenſe; then Glanvills meaning was, that the acts which he ſpeaketh of, were to be Done before the Kings Juſtices whilſt they were Sitting, or in open Court. And, I conceive, this latter ſenſe is moſt natural and preferable, for the reaſons following. Firſt, becauſe (as I have obſerved at the beginning of this Chapter) we do not find (for ought that I know) that the Bank is mentioned as a Court diſtinct from the Curia Regis, in any other Record or authentick memorial written Before or In the reign of K. Henry II; or indeed that there was ſuch a Court as the Bank exiſting in That Kings reign or Before: And ſecondly, becauſe Glanvills Book, if we conſider its whole tenour and the context of the places juſt now cited, ſeemeth rather to favour the latter ſenſe abovementioned. It is to be noted, that Glanvill no where elſe in his Book (for ought that I remember) uſeth words neceſſarily importing that there was a Bank in the reign of K. Henry II, or expreſſeth himſelf in any other terms beſides thoſe which I have mentioned, that may ſeem to bear ſuch an import. And if we conſider the tenour of Glanvills treatiſe or text, we ſhall find, that his general

(y) Solet autem Concordia talis in communem ſcripturam redigi & per communem aſſenſum partium, & per illam ſcripturam coram Juſtic[ijs] Domini Regis in Banco reſidentibus recitari, & coram eis utriq; parti ſua ſcriptura per omnia alij concordans liberari: & erit ſub hac forma facta: Cap. 2. Hæc eſt Finalis concordia facta in Curia Domini Regis apud Weſtmonaſterium, in vigilia B. Petri Apoſtoli, anno regni Regis Henrici Secundi triceſimo tertio, coram Ranulfo de Glanvilla Juſtic[iario] Domini Regis —. Ib. L. 8. c. 1. 2.

(z) Verum oportet eum eſſe præſentem in Curia general diſcourſe turneth upon proceedings that were Had in the Principal Court the Curia Regis. In particular, the inſtances which I have cited, are I think to be ſo underſtood. For example. Glanvill in his 2d Book is ſpeaking of men who had cauſes depending in the Curia Regis. “ In theſe cauſes (ſaith he) the Tenant may “ put himſelf either upon Duell, or upon the Kings Grand Aſſize. If he put him- “ ſelf upon Duell: then the point is to be finally determined by Duell. If he chu- “ ſeth to put himſelf upon the Grand Aſſize; the Demandant may likewiſe put “ himſelf upon the Aſſize. If the Demandant do once put himſelf upon the Aſ- “ ſize, and do expreſly declare before the Juſtices ſitting in Banco, that he would “ do So, he cannot afterwards go-back, but muſt ſtand or fall by the Aſſize. Here (I ſay) Glanvill is ſpeaking of Cauſes pending in the Curia Regis: and therefore it ſeemeth moſt natural to underſtand, that the Juſtices in Banco ſedentes were the Juſtices ſitting in the Curia Regis; That being the Court to which his diſcourſe relateth. In like manner, in the 8th Book, he ſpeaketh of Final Concords made in the Curia Regis. Contingit autem (ſaith he) multotiens loquelas motas in Curia Regis, per amicabilem compoſitionem & finalem concordiam terminari (a). Then it followeth: Solet autem &c; as I have cited him here above. So that from Glanvills context it ſeemeth his meaning was This: When the Final Concord was made in the Curia Regis, the uſage was, to have it drawn-up by aſſent of the parties in a communis Scriptura or chirograph, each part whereof perfectly agreed with the other part: Which communis ſcriptura or chirograph was wont to be read or recited before the Juſtices There in Banco reſidentibus, or in open and ſolemn Court; and one part of it to be delivered, before the Juſtices There, to one of the parties, and the other part to the other party. The like expoſition mutatis mutandis may aptly be given of what Glanvill ſaith in the firſt chapter of his 11th Book, as it is above cited: namely, that where any man is admitted to be Attorney for another, the Maſter or Principal ought regularly to be perſonally preſent in Court when he preſenteth his ſaid Attorney: Which Preſentation of the Attorney ought to be made before the Kings Juſtices whilſt they are Sitting in open Court. Moreover, it may be noted by the By, that when Glanvill in the 6th chapter of his 2d Book ſpeaketh of the Grand Aſſize, he cannot well be underſtood of the times antecedent to the reign of K. Henry II: Becauſe (as the Antiquaries ſay) That King was the Firſt that brought into uſe or eſtabliſhed the Tryal by Grand Aſſize in England. It is alſo to be noted, That the Form of a Final Concord which Glanvill ſetteth-down in the 2d chapter of his 8th Book, beareth date in the 33th year of K. Henry II: which is but a few years before the time to which I have above aſſigned the erection of the Bank. So that, whether we take this matter the one way or the other, that is, upon the foot of what I have alleged in the forepart of this Chapter, or upon the foot of what I have quoted out of Glanvill, there will be but little difference in the caſe in point of time. But if the general expoſition which I have before given of Glanvills words be admitted; then the objection grounded upon Them will be of no force.

Curia qui alium ita loco ſuo ponit. Solet autem id fieri coram Juſtic[ijs] Domini Regis in Banco reſidentibus. Aliter autem quam per dominum præſentem in Curia nullus omnino recipi debet reſponſalis. Ib. L. 11. c. 1.

CHAP. XX.

I. WE may obſerve, that at the Beginning of this Second Period, and for ſome time afterwards, the Exchequer continued in much the ſame ſtate that it was in during the Firſt Period: Bateing the change made by the Separation of Common Pleas from the Kings Court and It (of which I have ſpoken in Chap. XIX): I ſay, For ſome time after the Beginning of this Second Period, it was, as Before, a Great and Solemn Court, frequented by the Kings Great Officers, and guided for the moſt part by the Ancient Rules, Aſſizes, and Cuſtoms. Before the End of K. Henry the Thirds Reign, it fell in great meaſure from its Ancient Grandeur; and from thence forward continued in a State of Declenſion; Inſomuch that about the End of this Second Period, it was in many reſpects Different from what it had been in Former ages. This, I ſuppoſe, will appear from the Hiſtorical Deduction contained in this Volume; and particularly, by comparing the State of the Exchequer during the Firſt Period, with the State of it during the Latter part of the Second (to ſay nothing now of the next ſucceeding times). I who propoſe to deliver matters of Fact, do not think my ſelf concerned to engage in ſo abſtruſe a Theme, as to Enquire What were the eſpecial Cauſes of this Declenſion: Nor am I willing to amuſe the Reader with my Conjectures.

II. In the Kings Exchequer, there ſtill continued the Diſtinction of the Two Notable Terms of the year, called the Duo Scaccaria. The reaſon why theſe Two Terms were at firſt inſtituted and afterwards obſerved in the Exchequer, is (with great probability of truth) aſſigned by the Worthy Author of the Dialogue (a); to whom the Reader is referred. But let us now, if you pleaſe, ſhew in ſome inſtances the Continuance of the Duo Scaccaria during this Second Period. IV. The Principal times of Seſſion at the Exchequer were the two Terms of Eaſter and St. Michael. At which times the Proceſs that iſſued pro Rege was returnable, and many acts became neceſſary to be done There in conſquence thereof. The Exchequer was alſo holden during the other two Law-Terms, to wit of St. Hilary and of the Trinity. But it ſeemeth, that the Treaſurer and Barons ſometimes ſat if there was occaſion, at other times not comprized within the limits of the Four Terms above mentioned; and ſometimes on Sundays. In the 11th year of K. Henry III, William Pippard was ſummoned to be at the Exchequer on the Sunday next before Aſcenſion-day (z). In the 52th year of That King, the Exchequer was ſhut up on the Morrow of St. Peter ad Vincula (a). In the 26th year of K. Edward I, in regard the Treaſurer was obliged to attend on certain affairs which the King had entruſted him with, ſo that he could not be at the Exchequer to diſpatch the Buſineſſes There, The King, by Writ of Privy Seal, orders the Chancellour and Barons to Continue Sitting at the Exchequer this preſent Auguſt, to levy moneys to His uſe, to receive the Accompts, and to diſpatch the other buſineſs There, in the Beſt manner they could (b). So alſo K. Edward II, (anno Regni 2°), by Writ of the Privy Seal commanded the Treaſurer and Barons to Sit longer than the uſual time, for diſpatch of ſuch buſineſs as was Urgent (c). In the 5th year of K. Edward II, upon the Friday next before Whitſontide, the Exchequer was ſhut-up for That Terme, And the Exchequer-Seal laid up in the Treaſury (d). In the ſame 5th year, the Barons of the Exchequer and ſeveral perſons of the Kings Council Sat at the Exchequer on Sunday the 23th day of July (e). The day of the Liberate was counted the time of their Riſing. ceipt of Exchequer, after their Liberate, now at their [next] Riſing (f). In the archive of Corpus Chriſti-College in Cambridg, there is a manuſcript that contains a Calendar made for the uſe of the Auditores compotorum and others reſiding at the Exchequer. It is entituled there, Kalendarium de Scaccario. The beginning of it gives rules for finding the Dominical Letter and Holidaies (g).

V. Albeit the Exchequer was generally held at Weſtminſter during this Second Period, yet it was ſometimes by the Kings ſpecial commandment held elſewhere. In Michaelmaſs term in the 6th year incipient of K. Edward I, the Exchequer was held at Shrewsbury (h). In the 11th year of the ſame King the Common-Bench was alſo removed to Shrewsbury upon occaſion of the Kings being at That time engaged in his Expedition againſt Wales (i). In the 13th year of K. Edward I, the Exchequer was held (as it ſeems) at Weſtminſter, in the Kings Parliament (k). And in the 26th and 27th year of the ſame King, Robert de Coleſhull came before Walter Biſhop of Coventry the Treaſurer and William de Carleton a Baron of the Exchequer, in the Kings Parliament, and there made Fine to the King for the cauſe hereunder mentioned (l). The Exchequer was likewiſe holden in the Kings Parliament at Weſtminſter (as it ſeems), in the 2d year of K. Edward II. For it is ſaid, that an Ordinance or Indenture concerning the Kings Mines in Devonſhire, was made by the Treaſurer, Chancellour, and Barons of the Exchequer, and others of the Kings Council, at His Parliament, in the Term of St. Michael, in the Second year of the Kings reign. Tis Dated at Weſtminſter. And One Part of the Indenture was under the Exchequer Seal (m). Let it be conſidered, How theſe inſtances are to be underſtood.

(f) R. au Lieu tenant le Treſorer, as Barons & as Chaumberleyns de noſtre Eſchequer ſalutz. &c——. Tis a Privy Seal importing, that the King ſends Roger de Wyngefeld to the Exchequer, to ſee that the Juſtices of the one Bench and the other delivered their Eſtretes at the Exchequer, and commanding the Barons to iſſue Them and other Eſtretes in the preſence of the ſaid Roger, pur faire lever noz dettes a tote la Haſte com hom purra &c. ſtood. Shall we ſay, that the Exchequer was not holden in the ſame Place where the Parliament was held, but only at the ſame Time? But the words of theſe Records ſeem to import more than That, and to mean the ſame Place. However, let the Antiquaries (who have a notion of the Communication there anciently was between the Kings Courts after the Diviſion of them) determine, if they pleaſe, this matter. Further. K. Edward I, in the 18th year of his reign, commanded the Barons to transferr the Exchequer to the Huſting of London, and to Hold it There (n). The ſame King, in the 26th year of his reign, cauſed his Exchequer, with the Receipt and Bench, to be removed to the City of York: And commanded the Sheriff of York, forthwith to provide a Large convenient Hall within the Kings Caſtle of York, for holding the Pleas of the ſaid Bench, with other conveniencies for Seats for the Juſtices, Barons, and others, And to fit-up the Caſtle-Hall for the Exchequer, with a Square Chequer-board, and Seats about it for the Treaſurer, Barons, Clerks, and Miniſters There, and with a Barr for thoſe who Plead and Attend there, And alſo to fit-up the Tower of the Caſtle for the Receipt of the Exchequer, and furniſh it with Doors, Barrs, Locks, and other things neceſſary for Security of the Kings Treaſure to be lodged There: And to Do all theſe things according to the Directions which ſhould be given him, by John Dymmok Uſher of the Exchequer: And the expences thereof were to be Allowed the ſaid Sheriff apon his Accompt (o). And ſoon afterwards, the King commanded the ſeveral Sheriffs of the Counties lying in the Road from London to the City of York, to take care, within their reſpective Bailywicks, about the ſafe conveying of the Kings Rolls, Writs, and Treaſure, to the ſaid City of York (p). K. Edward II, in the 12th year of his reign, commanded the Exchequer and the Bank to be transferred to York, and to be held There on the morrow of St. Michael then next; and ordered the Treaſurer and Barons to transferr the Exchequer accordingly, with the Rolls, Tallies, Memoranda, and other things neceſſary, at the Kings charges: This was done by Letters Patent; which are printed in Ryleys appendix (q), and are alſo entred in the Records of the Exchequer (r). The Letters Patent for removing the Bank are likewiſe printed by Ryley (s). K. Edward II, in the 15th year of his reign, commanded the Exchequer to be removed to and to be held at York on the morrow of the Cloſe of Eaſter, by his writs of the Great and Privy Seal hereunder recited. Accordingly, the Vice-treaſurer, the Archbiſhop of Canterbury, the Chancellour of the Exchequer, two Juſtices of the Kings Bench, two Juſtices of the Common Bench, and others of the Kings Council, being aſſembled at the Exchequer at Weſtminſter, concerted and ordered the manner of Removing it; particularly as to the number of the Cariages to be uſed upon That occaſion, and the Stages or Days-journeys upon the Road &c (t). And about the ſame time, the King by Writs of the Great Seal, notified to the Sheriffs of the ſeveral Counties the ſaid transferrment of the Exchequer to York; And commanded them to be perſonally at York at the time appointed, to pay their Profers and return their Writs There; And to give notice to Bailiffs, Fermours, and other perſons concerned, to appear There likewiſe at the ſaid Time (u).

VI. As in the Firſt Period, ſo alſo in the Second, the King, if he pleaſed, Sat and acted in Perſon at the Exchequer. K. Henry III Sat and acted in the Exchequer,

VII. From the moſt Ancient times, the perſons employed in the Kings ſervice at his Exchequer were wont to enjoy ſeveral Privileges; ſome of which, will be ſpecified by and by. The Records of the Firſt Period, that relate to this ſubject, are not ſo clear and full as thoſe of the Second Period. However, in the former, we find, the Barons and Officers of the Exchequer had Then divers immunities allowed to them per libertatem ſedendi ad Scaccarium, in reſpect of their attendance There. Some of theſe caſes are mentioned by the Dialogue (e). The Records of the ſubſequent times times ſpeak more diſtinctly. They mention the privilege of impleading and being impleaded in the Exchequer only; Freedom from Toll, for things bought for their own uſe; Freedom from ſuit to Counry-Courts, Hundred Courts, &c; and other privileges. It is alſo to be underſtood, that ſeveral of the Reſidents at the Exchequer had Privilege not only for themſelves, but alſo for their Clerks and their Men. I will produce ſome inſtances of theſe things; not pretending to enumerate All the Officers and Reſidents who were in thoſe times privileged, nor all the privileges to which they were entituled. In the 38th year of K. Henry III, a Writ was ſent to the Sheriff of Norfolk, Reciting that whereas by the Ancient Cuſtom and Aſſiſe of the Exchequer, no Baron of the Exchequer, or other Officer in Fee attending There, ought to Plead or be Impleaded in any other Place beſides the Exchequer; And commanding the Sheriff to remove a Plea which depended in the County-Court between Maſter Roger de Goſebec who reſided at the Exchequer for the Marſhall of England, and William de Eys and others, into the Exchequer, And to ſummon the parties Defendants to be There to Anſwer in the premiſſes (f). The ſame K. Henry III, in the 39th year of his reign, granted and confirmed to the Barons that ſat at the Exchequer, all the Ancient Liberties and Freedoms which the Barons of the Exchequer had in the time of his Predeceſſours Kings of England, and which the Barons then living had in his Own time, as well in Pleas moved, and Exactions made for their Lands, Rents, Tenements, Fees, and Poſſeſſions, as alſo in reſpect of Treſpaſſes and injuries done to them and their Men: And granted, that they ſhould enjoy the ſaid Liberties as fully as any Barons of the Exchequer in times paſt had enjoyed the ſame (g). The Kings Treaſurer had the Privilege of Suing and being Sued only in the Exchequer. As in the caſe of Hugh de Pateſhull (h); and Philipp Lovell (i). Alexander Treaſurer of St. Pauls London, Baron

To Ralf Sumer a Miniſter of the Exchequer (t); To Richard Alſwick one of the Keepers of the Kings Palace at Weſtminſter, who was attending on the Barons (u); And to Adam de Stratton a Clerk of the Exchequer (w). There was alſo, as I take it, a ſort of Privilege allowed to perſons who were Suitors or Accomptants at the Exchequer: namely, If they were to appear in any Inferiour Court or Place upon a certain Day, in caſe they were That day attending at the Exchequer, they were not to be put in default Below. This privilege was allowed to John ſon of Osbert Citizen of Lincoln (x).

VIII. The Exchequer was a Court greatly concerned in the Conſervation of the Prerogatives as well as the Revenue of the Crown. It was the care of the Treaſurer and Barons and the Kings Council at the Exchequer, to ſee that the Rights of the Crown were not invaded by ſuch as claimed Liberties or Exemptions; And to Allow or Diſallow of Liberties or Exemptions claimed, as Reaſon and Juſtice ſhould require. Tis true, the Allowance or Diſallowance of Liberties had ſome relation to the Regal Revenue: inaſmuch as men were wont to be puniſhed by Amercements, ſeiſures, and Fines, for undue uſurpations of Liberties; And were obliged or induced to Fine for Confirmation or Improvement of their Liberties, if they deſired the ſame. However, many affairs of this nature were wont to be examined and regulated at the Exchequer: And therein great care was taken, to preſerve the Rights of the Crown inviolate. Upon This ground, probably, it became the uſual method, for Charters of Liberties to be Read and Enrolled at the Exchequer. So that commonly, when the King granted or confirmed Liberties by his Letters Patent, a Cloſe Writ directed to the Treaſurer and Barons, was wont to iſſue, Reciting the Subſtance of ſuch Grant or Confirmation, and commanding the Barons to Allow thereof. The Records both of the Chancery and the Exchequer are full of inſtances of theſe matters. Let me add, that the authority and dignity of the Court of Exchequer was eſteemed ſo Great, that the Acts thereof were not to be examined or controlled (if I take the matter right) in any other of the Kings ordinary Courts of Juſtice. For example. In the 26th year of K. Edward I, upon the occaſion ſet-forth hereunder in the margin, a writ iſſued under the Great Seal, Teſte Rogero le Brabanzon Chief Juſtice of the Court holden before the King himſelf, directed to the Treaſurer and Barons; Commanding them to certifie to the King ubicunq; &c, under the Seal of the Exchequer, the Record and proceſs of a certain Recogniſance made in the Exchequer. This writ, by aſſent of the Treaſurer and Barons, was retorned or indorſed thus, viz. “Upon This writ “nothing ought to be done; becauſe a Record of ſuch things as are done in the “Exchequer ought not, nor was ever from the firſt foundation of the Exchequer “wont, to be ſent any whither out of the ſame Exchequer before any Juſtices “whatever; but if any Juſtices whatever, for the explanation of any pleas de-“pending before them, have a neceſſary occaſion to be certified concerning any “matters tranſacted or done in the Exchequer, they ought to come to the Exche-“quer, and There, at the requeſt of the ſaid Juſtices, to be certified by the Trea-“ſurer and Barons touching the premiſſes, in ſuch manner as the Treaſurer and “Barons ſhall judg meet on the Kings behalf (y). (y) Breve directum Baronibus pro Galfrido filio Warini. Rex mandavit breve ſuum de Magno

The Exchequer was a great Repoſitory of the Kings Records. Thither the Records of the Court holden before the King, of the Court of Common Bench, and of the Juſtices in Eire were brought, to be laid up in the Treaſury there (z). But I need not go about to prove by Ancient Records, that the Treaſury of the Exchequer was a Repoſitory for the Rolls and Records of the ſeveral Courts abovementioned. That matter is evident of it ſelf. For at this Day we find the Ancient Rolls and Records of the Court held before the King, of the Common Bench, and of the Juſtices Itinerant for Common Pleas and for the Foreſt, repoſited and ſtill remaining in That Treaſury, under the cuſtody of the Treaſurer and Chamberlains of the Exchequer.

Magno Sigillo Theſaurario & Baronibus de Scaccario in hæc verba. CHAP. XXI.

Of the Perſons that Sat and acted at the EXCHEQUER during the Second Period.

I. Of the Kings Chief Juſticier, his Chancellour, and his Council, acting at the Exchequer.
II. Of the Treaſurer and his Lieutenant.
III. Of the Chancellour and Barons of the Exchequer.

I. IN the beginning of this Second Period, and for a ſhort time after, the Kings Chief Juſticier continued to preſide and act at the Exchequer, as he had Before uſed to do. Afterwards, when he ceaſed to preſide There, the power of the Treaſurer encreaſed. Then, the affairs of the Exchequer were guided and ordered by the Treaſurer and Barons of the Exchequer. To them may be added the Kings Council. For in the beginning of K. Henry the Thirds reign, and in the ſucceeding times, we often find the Kings Council acting both in the Superiour Court and in the Exchequer. Of Them, during the Nonage of K. Henry III, William Mareſchall Rector of the King and Kingdom, was Chief. Inſomuch that Letters patent and other Acts running in the Kings name were ſealed with Williams ſeal; as appears by many inſtances in the Patent and Cloſe Rolls. Some examples may be here produced of the Treaſurer, Barons, and Council acting at the Exchequer. In the ſecond year of K. Henry III, William Mareſchall Earl of Pembroke Guardian of the King and of the Realm, Peter Biſhop of Wincheſter, Hubert de Burgh Chief Juſticier, and the Kings Council, were preſent at the Exchequer, and adjudged Nicolas de Verdun to be diſcharged of DLj l, which had been arbitrarily and without Judgment charged on him by the ſuggeſtion of Reginald Baſſet (a). In the 2d and 3d year of K. Henry III, the Kings Council at the Exchequer made an Order touching the Corrody of David the Lardiner (b). In the 6th year of K. Henry III, there were Preſent at the Exchequer, the Juſticier, the Treaſurer, and Barons (c); In the 8th year of the ſame King, the Juſticier, and Barons of the Exchequer (d); In the 9th year, Hubert de Burgh Juſticier, R. Biſhop of Chicheſter the Kings Chancellour, R. Biſhop of Saresbury, J. Biſhop of Bathe, B. Biſhop of Rocheſter, and other Barons of the Exchequer (e); In the 11th and 12th years, Hubert de Burgh Juſticier, and ſame King, Maſter John Waleweyn lately the Kings Treaſurer, having been removed from That Office, the King by his Writ commands the Barons, that in reſpect of the ſaid Maſter Johns former Good Services done to the King, they ſhould give him an honourable place amongſt them at the Exchequer whenever he ſhould come Thither, and ſhould communicate with him in the Kings buſineſs There (s).

From theſe inſtances it appears that the Kings Council frequently ſat and acted at the Exchequer. And it is likely they did not Sit There only occaſionally; becauſe it is found, that men were ſometimes ſummoned to appear before the Kings Council There on Set days. As in the caſe of Walter de Kelk (t), John de Lymbury (u), and others.

In or about the Reign of K. Edward II, the perſons who were of the Kings Council, were ſworn according to the articles hereunder written (w).

II. I will now ſhew in ſome inſtances within this Second Period, In What manner the Treaſurer and his Lieutenant, the Chancellour of the Exchequer, and the Barons, were appointed to their Offices. Firſt, of the Treaſurer; then of the others in order. K. Henry III, (anno regni 16) by his Charter granted his Treaſury of his Exchequer of England to Walter de Mauclerc Biſhop of Carlile, To hold during his life; with all the Liberties and appurtenances to the ſaid Treaſury belonging: So that he ſhould have and keep the ſaid Treaſury at the Kings Exchequer, in his Own perſon or by ſome Diſcreet and Fit perſon his Aſſignee or Vicegerent; Which Aſſignee ſhould be Sworn to Serve Faithfully in his office; And if ſuch Aſſignee ſhould Dy, or become Profeſſed in Religion, or for reaſonable cauſe ſhould be removed by the King or the Treaſurer, or ſhould Himſelf be unwilling to Serve any longer, Then the ſaid Treaſurer ſhould ſubſtitute ſome other Diſcreet and Fit perſon in the room of Such Aſſignee; And the perſon ſo ſubſtituted was to be likewiſe the 13th year (t). The ſaid King in the ſaid 15th year of his Reign, at the inſtant Requeſt of Walter Biſhop of Exeter, diſcharged him the ſaid Walter from the Office of Treaſurer of his Exchequer, which he had for ſome time held by the Kings Commiſſion; And committed the Cuſtody of the ſaid Office to Walter de Norwich one of the Barons of the ſaid Exchequer, till ſuch time as the King ſhould diſpoſe of the ſaid Treaſury. And the ſaid Biſhop was commanded to deliver to the ſaid Walter the Keys and all other things that were in his cuſtody, relating to the ſaid Office (u). In this year, there was a Cuſtos officij Theſaurariæ Regis (w): probably Walter de Norwich; who at This time was ſtyled Gardian of the Treaſury (x). The ſame K. Edward II, in the 18th year of his Reign committed to W. Archbiſhop of York Primate of England, the Office of Treaſurer of his Exchequer, during his Pleaſure. And Walter Biſhop of Exeter was commanded to deliver to him the Keys and other things that belonged to the ſaid Office (y).

Some perſons have been enclined to think, that the office of The Kings Treaſurer (or as we Now call it, Treaſurer of England) and the office of Treaſurer of the Exchequer were Two diſtinct offices. As to That matter, I ſhall here referr precedents to the Readers conſideration. Walter Biſhop of Carlile is ſtyled, Treaſurer of the Kings Exchequer of England, and, The Kings Treaſurer: Peter de Rivall is ſtyled, Treaſurer of the Kings Exchequer [of London], and, The Kings Treaſurer: Hugh de Pateſhull, Treaſurer of the Exchequer, and The Kings Treaſurer. William de Marche was, by his Patent, to hold the Office of Treaſury of the Kings Exchequer, in the ſame manner as J. Biſhop of Ely late the Kings Treaſurer and other Treaſurers There held the ſame. And Walter de Langetons Patent was in like form. All which caſes are ſet forth above in this ſection. Walter de Norwich is ſtyled the Kings Treaſurer (z); and he is alſo ſtyled Treaſurer of the Exchequer (a). I ſuppoſe, the inſtances of this kind need not be multiplied.

(a) Hereford. Idem [Gilbertus de Aylesford Miles] venit coram Waltero de Norwico Theſaurario multiplied. For whoever will compare things together, may find moſt of the Treaſurers during the Reigns of KKK. Henry III, Edward I, and Edward II, ſtyled, ſometimes The Kings Treaſurer, and ſometimes Treaſurer of his Excheqeur.

It doth not appear to me, What Fee or Appointment the Treaſurer in the moſt ancient times was wont to receive of the King for the execution of his office. In the 4th year of K. Richard I, Richard Fitz-Neal the Treaſurer had xx l by Tale in Rent aſſigned to him in Eſſenden and Beiford (b): Which xx l was alſo paid to William de Ely a ſucceeding Treaſurer (c). But I am not ſure, that this yearly ſumm of xx l was the Treaſurers ſalary, or part of it. In the Reign of K. Henry III, the yearly Fee or Salary allowed by the King to his Treaſurer for the execution of his office, was C marks (d). The ſaid Salary of C marks a-year was paid to J. Biſhop of Ely, Treaſurer, in the 15th year of K. Edward I (e), to W. Biſhop of Coventry and Lichfeld Treaſurer, in the 27th year (f), to the ſame Treaſurer in the 31th year (g). But at That time the King uſed to make other proviſion for the Treaſurers, by ſome beneficial Grant or Eccleſiaſtical preferrment. K. Henry III, granted to Thomas de Wimondham his Treaſurer the firſt Wardſhip in England that fell next and was worth Fifty pounds a-year, together with the Mariage of the heir; unleſs the King ſhould in the mean time provide for the ſaid Thomas in ſome Dignity, Prebend, or Eccleſiaſtical benefice worth Two hundred marks a-year (h). In like manner, the Kings in thoſe times uſed to provide for their Chancellours and other Officers who were Eccleſiaſtical perſons, by ſome Dignity or Benefice in the Church. K. John, in the ninth year of his Reign, whilſt the Biſhoprick of Exeter was Void and in the Kings hands, gave to W. de Grey his Chancellour, the Prebend which Gilbert Baſſet Archdeacon of Totteneſs lately held (i); And in the ſame year (whilſt the Honour of Eye was in the Kings hands) preſented him to the Church of Stradbroc, upon the reſignation of Eudo Martell (k): Upon which occaſion, Eudo had the Perpetual Vicarage of That Church allotted to him, and was to pay Walter de Grey one be-

Some other miſcellaneous things relating to the Treaſurer may be here ſet down. The Treaſurer ſometimes ſat and acted in the Kings Court. A Final Concord was made in the Kings Court at Weſtminſter on the morrow of St. John Baptiſt in the Third year of K. Henry III, before Euſtace de Faucumberg the Kings Treaſurer, Martin de Pateſhull, Robert de Nevill, Geoffrey Gibewin Juſtices and other the Kings Liegemen, Between Alice de Holewell Demandant and William Abbot of Weſtminſter Deforciant, concerning the Advouſon of the Church of Holewell (n). In the 18th year of K. Edward I, the Treaſurer was aſſociated to the Juſtices of the Bank to determine cauſes. As in the caſe of William de Waſthull (o). Sometimes the Treaſurer acted as the Kings Almoner; as in the caſes cited hereunder (p). Further. A Manucaption having been enterd into before the Kings Treaſurer at St. Edmunds, for ſecuring certain debts due to the King: The Treaſurer, by his Letter to the Barons, directs them to cauſe the ſaid Manucaption to be duly enrolled at the Exchequer (q). William Truſſel late Sheriff of Kent appointed Elyas de Morton his Clerk to render for him an Accompt of the goods and chatells taken by the ſaid Sheriff in the Manours of the Archbiſhop of Canterbury in That County. Elias came and offered to Paſs the ſaid Accompt. But in regard the Treaſurer would have it Paſſed in his Preſence, and He was Then going in all haſt to the King in Scotland, Elias had Day given him till the Treaſurers Return to Paſs the ſaid Accompt (r). K. Edward I, ſent a Writ of the Privy Seal to the Barons of the Exchequer, for raiſing of Foot-ſoldiers in the Counties of Cheſter and Lancaſter to ſerve againſt the Scots; and a Letter which had been ſent to the King by Reginald de Grey upon the ſame affair. The Treaſurer ſent a Letter to the Chancellour of England under his (the Treaſurers) Privy Seal, by the hand of Maſter Richard de Havering, with Both thoſe Letters encloſed in it; And deſired the Chancellour to cauſe Letters Patent to be made to the ſaid Reginald de Grey for levying of Foot-ſoldiers according to the Tenour of the ſaid encloſed Letters, and to deliver them to the ſaid Richard de Havering who was entruſted to get the ſaid buſineſs diſpatched and to pay the wages of the ſaid Soldiers (s). In the 26th year of K. Edward I, the Treaſurer by his Letter ſignified to the Barons of the Exchequer, That he had given Day to John de Lytegreynes late Cuſtos of the Archbiſhoprick of York ſede vacante, till the morrow of the Trinity, to Accompt for the iſſues of That Archbiſhoprick and of other eſcheats hereunder mentioned. And thereupon the Barons ordered it to be entred in the Memoranda of the Exchequer, that the ſaid John ſhould Accompt for the ſaid iſſues at That Day (t). The ſame King by Writ commanded the Treaſurer and Barons, to make Allowances or Aſſignments to ſeveral perſons to whom the King was indebted for Prizes or captures of Wools, Leathers and other ſmall things taken of them to His uſe, and likewiſe for moneys and moneys-worth taken in Abbeys and Religious Houſes to His uſe, in ſatisfaction of ſuch their reſpective debts. the Kings Command (a). In fine. By ancient right and uſage the Kings Treaſurers for the time being, uſed to receive of the Sheriff of Oxfordſhire and Berkſhire yearly, one Ship-load of Wood for fewel, or elſe Lx s in lieu of it. In the 51th year of K. Henry III, Maſter Thomas de Wymondham Treaſurer received it (b); in the 9th year of K. Edward II, Walter de Norwich Treaſurer had it (c); and others in other years. This Wood was what they called Buſca or mortuus boſcus, Dry wood for fewel (d).

Sometimes there was at the Exchequer an Officer called the Treaſurers Lieutenant. Which might be the ſame with the Treaſurers Aſſignee or Attorney; as he is called above in Sect. 2. in the caſe of Walter de Malclerc and Peter de Rivall. This Lieutenant acted for the Treaſurer in his Abſence, Or if there was no Treaſurer, executed the Treaſurers Office par interim. He was in effect the Treaſurers Deputy, or Vicetreaſurer. For Locum tenens ſignified a Deputy, or a perſon that acted in anothers ſtead; and was uſed in many other caſes beſides This: that is to ſay, there were Lieutenants to Officers of divers kinds. For example. There was a Locumtenens of the Kings Chancellour (e); of the Archbiſhop of York (f); of a Sheriff and Hundredour (g); of the Earl Marſhall of England (h); of the Conſtable of the Tower of London (i); and of the Dean of London (k); There hath alſo been mention made of the vices gerentes of the Treaſurer and Barons of the Exchequer (l). In the 35th year of K. Edward I, Walter de Langeton Biſhop of Coventry and Lichfield Treaſurer of England made William de Carleton his Lieutenant by his Letter. Whereupon, on the morrow of St. Hilary, Walter de Norwic, in the preſence of

of John de Benſtede Chancellour of the Exchequer, Roger de Hegham, Maſter Richard de Abyndon, and H. de Waleden Barons of the Exchequer &c, declared to the ſaid William de Carleton on the Treaſurers behalf, That it was the Treaſurers Pleaſure, that in his Abſence he ſhould Hold his Place for him here in the Exchequer, and ſhould Do all things belonging to the Office of Treaſurer, which the Treaſurer himſelf might Do if he were preſent in Court; except only as to the admitting of Groſs Fines in the Exchequer; And that the ſaid William ſhould not intermeddle in any thing relating to the Receipt of the Exchequer (m). King Edward II, in the 5th year of his Reign, by Writ of the Great Seal conſtituted Walter de Norwich (one of the Barons of the Exchequer) Lieutenant of the Treaſurer of the ſaid Exchequer, untill the King ſhould appoint a Treaſurer There, or order otherwiſe: Whereupon he was Sworn and Admitted to That Office, before the Chancellour of England, the Biſhop of Coventry, and others of the Kings Council, at the Exchequer (n). Afterwards, the King made the Biſhop of Coventry and Lichfield Treaſurer; And the Biſhop being by ſome other affairs hindred from executing the Office of Treaſurer for the preſent, the King continued Walter de Norwich in the place of the Treaſurers Lieutenant, with inſtructions for him to act therein till the King ſhould order otherwiſe (o). The ſame King, in the 6th year of his Reign, conſtituted John de Sandale Lieutenant of his Treaſurer in the Exchequer, during his Pleaſure. And Walter de Norwich was commanded to deliver to the ſaid John the Keys and all other things belonging to the ſaid Office that were in his cuſtody, by chirograph to be made between them: And the Barons of the Exchequer were commanded to be intendant dant to the ſaid John as the Kings Lieutenant in his Exchequer (p). In the 19th year of the ſame King, the Archbiſhop of York the Kings Treaſurer went into the North by the Kings command to diſpatch ſome buſineſs of the Kings and of his Own There, and was to ſtay in thoſe parts for ſome time. Hereupon, the King appointed Roger Beler to Hold the Place of the ſaid Treaſurer in the Exchequer during his abſence. Provided, that the Archbiſhop when he returned to the Exchequer, ſhould hold the Office of Treaſurer as he held the ſame before his late receſs (q).

III. As to the Chancellour of the Exchequer: He ſeems to have been an Officer appointed to be a Controll or Check upon the Treaſurer. In the 18th year of K. Henry III, John Manſell was appointed to execute a certain office at the Exchequer. I cannot tell What office it was, unleſs it was That of Chancellour. The appointment was by Cloſe writ, in this manner. The King by the Writ directed to Hugh de Pateſhull Treaſurer, ſent John Manſell, to reſide at the Exchequer of Receipt, and to have a Counter-roll of all things pertaining to the ſaid Receipt; and commanded the Treaſurer to admitt him accordingly (r). K. Edward I, gave a Licence to Philipp de Wylugby, that he might attend at the Exchequer with the other Barons, as often as he had leiſure and convenience (g). The Chancellour of the Exchequer, upon entring into his office, took an Oath to this effect, viz: That he ſhould well and truly ſerve the King in the Office of Chancellour of the Exchequer: That he ſhould well and truly do what pertained to That office: That he ſhould diſpatch the Kings buſineſs before all other: And that he ſhould ſeal with the Exchequer-ſeal no judicial writ of any other Court beſides the Exchequer, whilſt the Chancery [or, Chancellour] was within twenty miles of the place where the Exchequer was holden (h).

Concerning the conſtituting of the Barons, in brief. K. Henry III, (anno regni 18) aſſigned William de Beauchamp, Alexander de Swereford Treaſurer of St. Pauls in London, and Richard de Muntfichet, to Reſide at the Exchequer as Barons, for diſpatching the buſineſs of the Exchequer (i): and the King granted to the ſaid Alexander de Swereford the ſalary of forty marks a year, untill the King did otherwiſe provide for him (k). The ſame King (anno 37) made Peter de Ryvall a Baron of the Exchequer (l). The ſame King on the firſt day of November in the 48th year of his reign, by Writ of the Great ſeal commanded Maſter John de Chiſhull Archdeacon of London Chancellour of the Exchequer, and the reſt who were reſident There, that they ſhould keep the Exchequer open, as it was formerly wont to be: And becauſe there was at preſent no Baron reſident There, as the King was informed; he aſſigned Roger de la Leye a Remembrancer of the Exchequer to execute the office of a Baron There; and ordered, that for the future, they ſhould write to all the Sheriffs of England concerning all buſineſs pertaining to the Exchequer, as they formerly uſed to do: And the King commanded as well the ſaid Chancellour and Reſidents to admitt (l) De Petro de Rivall ſedendo ad Scaccarium. Rex Theſaurario & Baronibus ſuis de Scaccario mitt Roger, as alſo the ſaid Roger to execute the office of a Baron till further order (m): And on the 30th day of November aforeſaid, the King ſent-out a Cloſe writ, importing, That he had not yet appointed a Treaſurer and a Chancellour to reſide at the Exchequer, and therefore he commanded Roger de la Lye, to execute the offices of Treaſurer and Chancellour in the uſual manner, till he ſhould receive further orders from the King (n). This deſolate ſtate of the Exchequer was occaſioned by the Troubles which were then in the Realm; by means whereof there were no Barons reſident at the Exchequer at Eaſter in the 48th year of the King, and his Rents and Ferms due at That term were not paid-in (o). The ſame King (anno regni 49) by Writ appointed Roger de la Leye to be a Baron of the Exchequer, And likewiſe to execute the office of Treaſurer There, till further Order (p); And William le Mareſcal (q), And Maſter Alexander le Seculer (r), to be Two other Barons There.

K. Edward I, conſtituted John de Cobeham a Baron of his Exchequer, during his pleaſure: and commanded the Barons to admitt him to That Office (s). In the 23th year of K. Edward I, Walter de Langeton the Treaſurer declared to the Barons at the Exchequer, that the King ordered them to admitt John de Liſle a Baron There, to hold That office during the Kings Will: And thereupon, John was admitted and ſworn a Baron (t). K. Edward I, in the 34th year of his Reign, by Writ Patent of the Great Seal, appointed Humphrey de Waleden to be a Baron of the

WHEN we conſidered (a) the Buſineſs tranſacted at the Exchequer during the Firſt Period, we ranked it under Three General Heads; viz. I. Affairs of Revenue; II. Cauſes; III. Buſineſs of Various kinds: And we will Here aſſume the ſame Heads.

I. As to affairs of Revenue and things incident to Revenue. There was in the Exchequer a great variety of Buſineſs ſpringing from That Root. The Reader will not expect, I ſhould treat at large of each ſort of That Buſineſs. However ſome inſtances muſt be given.

Fines of divers kinds were impoſed or ſett at the Exchequer. K. Edward I in the 27th year of his Reign ordered, That all perſons, who deſired to amortiſe lands or tenements, or to purchaſe lands holden of the King in Chief, Letters of Protection or General Attorney, Parks, Fairs, Markets, and other Franchiſes, ſhould go to the Exchequer, that reaſonable Fines might be There ſet for the ſame (b). Richard de Pontfrait lay impriſoned above three years in cheqier,

Worceſter Gaol, for fiſhing without leave in the Kings Pond of Fekingham. He offered to make Fine for That Treſpaſs. And thereupon a Writ of Duci facias was awarded to the Sheriff of Worceſterſhire, to bring him before the Treaſurer and Barons of the Exchequer. By vertue of which Writ, he was brought-up, and before Them made Fine to the King for the ſaid Treſpaſs in xx s. But in regard he had been ſo long impriſoned, the Fine was remitted, and he was ſet at large (c). Sir Thomas de Bavent, Walter de Bernham, and Edmond de Miklefeud were convicted, before Juſtices aſſigned to Hear and Determine in Norfolk and Suffolk, of maliciouſly procuring John le King to be indicted for the Death of Iſabell le Shapeſtere; And Hugh Tyrel of divers Conſpiracies. The ſaid Juſtices were commanded by Writ, to tranſmitt into the Exchequer the Records and Proceſſes touching the Convictions of the ſaid Four perſons, together with their advice concerning the Summs proper to be taken of them by way of Fine for their ſeveral Treſpaſſes. The Records and Proceſſes were accordingly tranſmitted together with the advice of the Juſtices touching the Fines. The ſaid Four perſons, who were priſoners in the Tower of London for their ſaid Treſpaſſes, being brought-up to the Exchequer, and the Treaſurer and Barons having inſpected the ſaid Records and Proceſſes, Sir Thomas de Bavent fined in xxx l, Walter de Bernham in xx marks, Edmond de Miklefeud in xl l, and Hugh Tyrel in C marks (d). John de Winton a Clerk of the Wardrobe came to the Exchequer and produced the King's Credential Letter. Which being delivered to the Treaſurer, John notified on the King's behalf, that the King willed the Treaſurer to cauſe Simon de Segrave who was convicted of certain treſpaſſes before Peter de Maulay and other Juſtices in Lincolnſhire, and remained priſoner in the Tower of London for the ſame, to be brought before him the ſaid Treaſurer and the Barons of the Exchequer, and to ſet him at large out of the ſaid Priſon, when they had taken of him a Fine for the ſaid Treſpaſſes. Simon was brought up to the Exchequer; and the cauſes of his Committment to the Tower of London (which were certified by one of the ſaid Juſtices) being ſeen and examined by the Treaſurer and Barons, he Fined before Them, for his ſaid Treſpaſſes, in D marks (e). John le Goldſmyth, impriſoned at Canterbury for a Rediſſeiſine, was brought up, by Writ of Duci facias before the Treaſurer and Barons, to make Fine; And he made Fine before them in half a mark (f).

The Treaſurer and Barons were wont to Set and Affeer Amercements. An Amercement ſett upon a Sheriff was affeered by the Treaſurers Lieutenant and the Barons. But afterwards, in conſideration of the Sheriffs good Service, the Treaſurer Pardoned him the Amercement (g). Richard de Keſtan Clerk was appointed to CHAP. XXII. to Aſſeer Eſtreats of Amercements in ſeveral Counties, by Oath of Jurors. And John de Cobham and other Barons of the Exchequer were appointed to Aſſeer divers other Amercements (b). Fifty Rolls of Amercements ſet in the Common Bench were brought to John de Foxle a Baron of the Exchequer to be Aſſeered. John was commanded to Aſſeer the ſame; and to have them (being ſo Aſſeered) at the Exchequer with all ſpeed. He did Aſſeer them. And thereupon the ſame were ſent out in Summonce (i).

But ſometimes others of the Kings Juſtices Aſſeered Amercements. And ſometimes Commiſſioners were appointed to do it. Thomas de Weyland (Chief Juſtice of the Common Bench) was Allowed by the King xl l, for the Expences he had been at in going ſeveral times through ſeveral Counties of the Realm, to take Aſſiſes and Enqueſts, and to Tax Amercements (k). Four Juſtices of the Common Bench had C marks allowed them by the King, to be diſtributed amongſt Them and their Clerks at the Diſcretion of the Treaſurer and Barons, for their Charges in Taxing the Amercements in divers Counties which had been ſett in the Common Bench (l). Richard de Keſtane was aſſigned to aſſeere the Eſtreats in the Counties of Lincoln, Northampton, Bedford, and Buckingham (m). Commiſſioners were appointed (whereof ſome were Barons of the Exchequer), to Aſſeer amerciaments, to Inquire of Forfeitures, and of the behaviour of Taxours and Collectours, to haſten the levying of the Kings Debts, to Survey the Kings Caſtles and Manours, and to do other things for the Kings Service (n). William de Cheſterfeild was ſent into divers Counties of the Realm at divers times, to Aſſeer Amercements for the Kings behoof; And was Allowed his expenſes for That Service (o).

The Barons of the Exchequer ſometimes ſurveyed the Kings Manours, and committed or demiſed the ſame. They alſo ſometimes (by the Kings command or aſſent) committed the Counties of the Realm to Sheriffs, and upon occaſion removed Sheriffs from their bailywicks. William de Carleton a Baron of the Exchequer was appointed to ſurvey the Works in the Kings Caſtle of Norwich (p). John de Foxlee, W. de Carleton, W. de Norwich, and other Barons of the Exchequer were aſſigned to Survey the Kings Caſtles and Manours in the ſeveral Counties of England (q). John de Foxlee a Baron of the Exchequer is appointed to Survey the Kings Manour of William de Henlee into That Sherivalty, if he was Fit for it, Or, if he was not Fit for it, to put in ſome other Fit perſon (a). The ſame King, anno regni 2, ſent a Writ to the Barons of the Exchequer, for removing the ſeveral Sheriffs of England and placing other fit perſons in their room (b). At another time, by Privy ſeal he commanded the Treaſurers Lieutenant and the Barons, to put Nicolas de Teukesbury into the Baylywick of Sheriff of Devonſhire, to hold during the Kings Pleaſure (c). And in the 5th year of his reign, John de Wylughby Sheriff of Northampton being ſo engaged in certain affairs, that he could not attend to execute his Sherivalty: The King by Privy Seal commands the Treaſurer and Barons, to Diſcharge him from That Office, and put another Fit perſon into it (d). In the 12th year of That King, the Commons of Hantſhire Petitioned the King, ſhewing that the King and his Council had lately Ordered, That all Sheriffs in the Realm and their Miniſters, who had been in office ſince the King begann to Reign, ſhould be put out of Office, that ſo the people who had been wronged or oppreſſed by ſuch Sheriffs or their Miniſters might the more eaſily obtain Relief againſt them; And that James de Norton who was Sheriff of Hantſhire before the ſaid Ordinance, ſtill continued in That Office, whereby men could not eaſily get Redreſs againſt him for Wrongs done them: And Praying, that he might be Removed. Hereupon the King commanded the Barons, that if the Fact was ſo, they ſhould remove James from the Office of Sheriff of That County, and committ it, on the Kings behalf, to ſome other whom they ſhould judg to be a Fit perſon (e).

In fine; it was the Buſineſs of the Treaſurer and Barons, to ſpeed the levying and getting-in of the Kings Debts, and to manage the Crown Revenue to the beſt advantage. This was their inceſſant Care, and the principal Scope to which their Acts and proceedings tended; as all the Records of the Exchequer do evince. Nevertheleſs, if the King thought them remiſs, or if he wanted money very urgently, he would ſend Writs or Meſſages to them, to haſten the getting-in of money in ſuch manner as he directed. There are ſeveral things of this kind remarkable enough to be here inſerted. K. Henry III, with the advice of his Council ordered the amercements of the Exchange of London, and the mulcts of Caworſini and Tramontani reſiding in London to be levied, viz. CC marks of each Society: And now by his writ commands the Barons to cauſe the ſame to be levied with all ſpeed (f). The King by his Writ commanded the Barons to cauſe his Eſcuage for the Army of Wales, viz. xl s per Scutum, to be levyed of all Fees holden of the King in Capite, or of his Wardſhips; except the Fees of ſuch perſons as had Writs de Scutagio ſuo habendo (g).

by the Pope on the Clergy (n). The ſame King by Writ of the Privy Seal, commanded the Treaſurer and Barons to ſend to him without delay all the money they had at the Exchequer, for the expenſes of his Houſhold; And to Borrow money for him in the Beſt manner they could, to the value of Two thouſand pounds or thereabouts for the expenſes of his ſaid Houſhold (o). And a few days after, he ſent them another Writ of the Privy Seal, charging them to raiſe all the money they could as well by Cheviſance as otherwiſe, to ſupply the expenſes aforeſaid (p). The ſame King by Writ of Privy Seal, commanded the Treaſurer and Barons, to cauſe all the Debts due at the Exchequer, as well in the time of his Anceſtours as in his Own time, to be levyed with all poſſible Speed, without Sparing or Reſpiting any body (notwithſtanding any Commandment for Reſpites ſent to them before This time) till further Order from the King (q). Another Writ of Privy Seal of the like import and urgency, was ſent to the Treaſurer and Barons, for levying of Debts due by Impreſts made at the Exchequer and Wardrobe (r).

II. Secondly, As to Pleas or Cauſes. In the xviiith Chapter of this Volume we have ſpoken concerning the Diviſion of the Kings Courts of Law, and the ſeparation (that followed thereupon) of Common Pleas from the Kings Court and Palace: Whereby great alteration was made in the Court of Exchequer, as far as related to the Holding of Common pleas There. Nevertheleſs, let us conſider now, How the caſe ſtood, under this Second Period, in That reſpect. For although it was forbidden, Firſt by the Great Charters of K. K. John and Henry III, and afterwards by a Statute or Ordinance (which will be mentioned by and by) made by the King and the Prelates and Barons of the Realm, to hold Common pleas in the Exchequer: Yet in fact ſome Common pleas were ſtill holden There. This gave occaſion to the iſſuing of ſeveral Writs, directed to the Treaſurer and Barons of the Exchequer, ſome of which are hereunder ſet-forth. In the 56th year of K. Henry III, divers Pleas were moved in the Exchequer by Original Writs, for Debts of divers perſons; the Diſcuſſing of which Pleas was a great hindrance to the Sheriffs and others accompting at the Exchequer: Whereupon, the King by his Writ commanded the Treaſurer and Barons, to atterminate all Pleas then depending before Them (except ſuch Pleas as concerned the Miniſters of the Exchequer), before the Juſtices of the Bank; and to tranſmitt, under the Exchequer Seal, the ſaid Original Writs and the records of the ſaid Pleas, to the ſaid Juſtices; Whom the King had commanded to Receive and Determine the ſame, according to Law (s). CHAP. XXII.

Nicolas de Warwick the Kings Sergeant ſhould proſecute the ſame in the Common Bank (z).

But although it was forbidden by the Great Charters of K. K. John and Henry III; to hold Common Pleas in the Exchequer: yet the King ſometimes gave leave to particular perſons to bring their Suits and recover their Debts There. For example. King Henry III by his Writ commanded the Barons, That as ſoon as the executors of Ralf late Biſhop of Chicheſter had certified to them the names of all perſons who were indebted to the Biſhop and the Summ of each debt, they ſhould diſtrain all the ſaid Debtors in each County of England, to pay their reſpective debts to the Biſhops executors at the Exchequer (a). King Edward I gave Leave to the Executors of John Earl of Warenne, to implead his Debtours at the Exchequer (b). K. Edward II by Writ of Privy Seal commanded the Barons, to let the Merchants Friskobalds ſue before Them in the Exchequer for their debts (as there ſhould be occaſion), and to levy the ſame for them like as the Kings own debts, according to the law and uſages of the Exchequer (c). The ſame King by Writ of Privy Seal Granted to Maſter James Deſpaigne, that he might plead at the Exchequer, to recover all the Debts due to him, And commanded the Barons to receive him thereto as often as he would ſue before them for his ſaid Debts (d). The like writ iſſued for Gerard de Ozum (e), William de Oteſwyche (f), Nicolas de Haluford (g), the Executours Sometimes, after a Plea had been commenced in the Exchequer, the King (if he thought fit) would command the Barons not to proceed therein. K. Edward I, having Granted to Tecla Amadour and other Merchants of Florence, leave to recover their Debts in the Exchequer, according to the Courſe of the Exchequer; and the Barons having ſummoned before them the Priour of Mountague, to anſwer the ſaid Merchants for C marks: The King by his Writ (iſſued in favour of the Merchants, but for what reaſons it does not here appear) commands the Barons, to proceed no further in the Exchequer upon the ſaid Plea (k). The King commanded the Barons, that no Writ ſhould be granted to Roger la Zuche or Helene la Zuche, againſt the Earl of Warwick, before the feaſt of St. Hilary next (l).

Again; ſometimes Common Pleas have been commenced and proſecuted in the Exchequer, between perſons who were not (as it ſeemeth) Reſidents or Accomptants at the Exchequer; and where there was no particular Leave (for ought that appears) given to either of the parties to Sue There. For example. The Abbot of Lavendene appeared at the Exchequer, in a Plea between him, and James the Jew of Northampton and others (m). Sibyll Daughter and heir of Ralf de Icleſham came into the Exchequer and complained, that Sibyll de Dene Mother of Ralf de Icleſham permitted Robert de Dene Brother of the ſaid Ralf to Receive the Homages of the Tenants of certain Land in her tenure, in Diſheriſon of her [Sibyll] the Complainant, And prayed, Juſtice might be done her in the caſe (n). In the 14th year of K. Henry III, Roger le Champenois was Attorney for one of the parties Litigant in a Plea of Debt depending in the Exchequer (o). A Plea was moved in the Exchequer between the Biſhop of Exeter and the Knights of Devonſhire concerning the Fine paid to the King for deafforeſting of Cornwall (p). The Abbot of Cerne, by Hugh le Brun and William de Cerne, made an Eſſoign de Malo lecti before the Barons of the Exchequer, againſt the Priour of St. Swithin, in a Plea of Land (q). taken revenge for the injury done him by the ſaid Garſias, and thereby had committed a treſpaſs againſt the Kings peace: It was adjudged by the Court of Exchequer, that he ſhould be impriſoned. Afterwards he found ſureties, to appear before the Treaſurer and Barons in Eaſter term, to ſatisfy the King for the ſaid contempt and the ſaid Garſias for the ſaid treſpaſs (e). Upon Complaint made before the Barons of the Exchequer at York, by Aſculph de Whytewell, that one Walter Campion privily cut his purſe in the preſence of the Barons and took away his money, the ſaid Walter was attached in Court. And though he was not caught in the Fact, yet being accuſed as well by the By-ſtanders as by the ſaid Aſculph, he was committed to priſon. Afterwards, he found Sureties for his Good Behaviour, and was ſet at large (f). Walter de Maideſton was arreſted for making uſe of certain Counterfeit Bulls; And Robert le Harpur, for being of aſſent with him therein. Ten perſons came into the Exchequer, and undertook, body for body at the Will of the King and of the Treaſurer and Barons, to Have the ſaid Walter before the ſaid Barons from day to day and from Term to Term. In like manner, Seven perſons came and undertook to Have the ſaid Robert before the Barons or wherever elſe the King pleaſed. And Robert was thereupon releaſed from his impriſonment in Ludgate (g). Adam Frere was attached to anſwer to the King, for that whereas John Sparrow Bailiff of Norwich had taken into the Kings hands at Norwich Ten quarters of Malt in part of the Purveyances for the Kings Liege-men who were in his Service in Scotland, the ſaid Adam broke the attachment ſo made for the King, and carried away the ſaid Malt. Adam Pleaded, That he did not break the ſaid attachment nor carry away the Malt. An Iſſue was joined upon That, between Him and John Sparrow who followed pro Rege. A Venire facias was awarded for trying the Iſſue. But the King Dying before Tryal and Judgment, the Plaint was diſcontinued (h). Jordan ſon of Gilbert le Peſtour and Two others were attached to appear in the Exchequer, to anſwer the King in a Plea of Treſpaſs. Henry de Say Pincerna Regis qui ſequitur pro Rege, Declares againſt them. It was for meeting the Foreign Merchants before they came to their Ports, and buying-up ſuch of their wines as they liked beſt; whereby they foreſtalled the ſaid Wines, To the dammage of the King and his people. An Iſſue is joined; but no Judgment given therein (i). William de Whitewey late Parker of Stanſted park in Suſſex, was accuſed before the Treaſurer and Barons of the Exchequer, of certain treſpaſſes by him committed in the ſaid Park, whilſt the ſame was in the hands of K. Edward I, by reaſon of the infancy of Edmund de Arundel ſon and heir of Richard Fitz-Alan late Earl of Arundel, and being convicted thereof by Verdict of the Countrey, he was by Judgment of the ſaid Court [of Exchequer] committed to the Tower of London, and had lain There in priſon for above four years, and was ſtill There: Now in regard the Judgment given againſt the ſaid William was not fully executed, the King by his writ commands the Barons, That upon view and examination of the Record and proceſs of the ſaid Plea which was had before the Treaſurer and Barons of the Exchequer, they ſhould without delay, notwithſtanding the Death of K. Edward I, cauſe the ſaid Judgment to be finally executed (k). About the end of the reign of K. Edward I, Roger Ughtred had impleaded Walter de Kelk before the Kings Council in the Exchequer, for a Contempt done to the King and a Treſpaſs done to the ſaid Roger, And before Judgment given the Plea was diſcontinued by the Kings Death: So K. Edward II, by his Writ commands the Barons, that having called to them in the Exchequer ſome of the Kings Council, they ſhould Proceed therein according to Right and Law (l). In the Firſt year of K. Edward II, an Iſſue was joined between William de Billingleye Clerk and Thomas de Gardinis late Sheriff of Glouceſterſhire, about providing of Corn for the uſe of K. Edward the Firſts Army in Scotland. It was Tryed at the Exchequer by Jurours ſummoned from the Town of Briſtoll and parts next adjacent. The Verdict was in favour of Thomas de Gardinis (m). In the 2d year of K. Edward II, Philipp Balun came into the Exchequer and prayed Relief upon his caſe. The Barons of the Exchequer, before they would proceed in the matter, ordered an Inquiſition to be taken, Whether Roger le Bygod died ſeized of a tenement mentioned in a Charter which Philipp now vouched &c. The Sheriffs of London were commanded by Writ to ſummon before Thomas de Cantebrigge and Roger

In the ſame year, in the caſe of James de Lamburne, who prayed to have execution of certain Writs ſent to the Treaſurer and Barons, recited here in the Record, The Court ordered the Sheriff of Eſſex to ſummon Twelve of the Viſnue of Eſtmereſey Twelve of the Viſnue of Colne Quency, Twelve of the Viſnue of Aumfreton, and Twelve of another Viſnue, as well Knights as other lawful men, per quos &c, & qui nulla &c, to appear at the Exchequer in the octaves of St. Michael, or before W. de Norwich Remembrancer Si prius &c, to enquire into the Truth of the matter, and certify the Barons thereof. The proceſs was continued pro defectu juratorum to the quinzime of Eaſter. At That day it was delayed pro defectu Militum gladio cinctorum. And a pluries Diſtringas was awarded, to have the Jurours who were named in the panell, before William de Carleton Baron of the Exchequer at Colcheſter, on Monday next after the feaſt of St. John Baptiſt, and likewiſe other Knights (tot & tales tam Milites gladio cinctos &c). And the Record and proceſs ſealed with the Exchequer-ſeal (conſignata pede Sigilli Scaccarij) were delivered to James de Lamburne, to be carried to the ſaid William de Carleton at the ſaid Day, for the taking of the ſaid Inquiſition. And in the octaves of St. John Baptiſt, William de Carleton tranſmitted into the Exchequer under his Seal an Inquiſition taken before him ſuper præmiſſis (o). In the 9th year of K. Edward II, an Information was brought before the Kings Council in the Exchequer by Philipp le Viroler, againſt Robert le Meſſager, for ſpeaking irreverent and indecent words of the King. Robert pleaded, Not guilty. The Jury Found him guilty of ſpeaking certain words which are ſet forth here in the Record. Afterwards, at the inſtance of Iſabell Queen Conſort, the Archbiſhop of Canterbury became manucaptor for Robert, that he ſhould appear before the King ad recipiendum &c, whenever his Majeſty pleaſed. And upon That manucaption Robert was delivered out of priſon (p). In the ſame year, Johanne late wife of John Shench deceaſed who held of the King in Chief the Serjeanties of the Cuſtody of the Kings Palace of Weſtminſter and of his Priſon of Flete, married Edmund de Cheny without Licence obtained from the King in That behalf. Whereupon, the ſaid Serjeanties were taken into the Kings hands. And ſtraitway the Treaſurer and Barons committed the Cuſtody of the Palace to Richard Abbot; who was Sworn de fideliter &c; And the Cuſtody of the Flete Priſon to John Dymmok Uſher of the Exchequer; who was Sworn in like manner. Afterwards the ſaid Edmund made Fine for the ſaid Treſpaſs: And the ſaid Serjeanties were reſtored (q). In the ſame year, Thomas de Tynwell was accuſed in the Exchequer, of having ſpoken at Oxford Irreverent words of the King. Thomas Pleaded, Not Guilty. (p) Philippus le Viroler de Newenton exhibuit Conſilio Domini Regis hic, quandam Cedulam per quam ipſe ſuggeſſit, quod Robertus le Meſſager de Newenton nuper protulit inreverenter plura verba indecentia de Domino Rege, in contemptum Domini Regis, offerens ſe hoc velle verificare pro Domino Rege contra eundem Robertum.

Robert, being preſent in Court, & allocutus inde defendit quicquid &c; & dicit quod ipſe nulla verba protulit quæ redundare poſſent ad dedecus Domini Regis vel derogationem Honoris Domini Regis &c; & hoc offert verificare qualitercumq; &c. The iſſue was directed to be tryed hic coram Conſilio, die Veneris proximo poſt feſtum omnium Sanctorum. The Jury found certain words, which are here mentioned, to have been ſpoken by Robert. Poſtea die Sabbati in vigilia S. Andreæ Apoſtoli, ad inſtantiam Iſabellæ Reginæ Angliæ Conſortis Regis, W. Archiepiſcopus Cantuar. manucepit prædictum Robertum, de habendo illum coram Domino Rege ad voluntatem ipſius Regis &c, ad recipiendum quod &c. Et prætextu hujus manucaptionis idem Robertus deliberatur &c. Mich. Communia 9. E. 2. Rot. 89. b.

(r) Oxon. De Thoma de Tynwell occaſionato de Tranſgreſſione. Præſens in Curia quidam Robertus de Malton ſuggeſſit Curiæ, quod quidam Thomas de Tynwell Clericus, nuper apud Oxoniam die Veneris proximo ante feſtum Sancti Thomæ Apoſtoli hoc anno, infra Portam Borealem Oxoniæ, in præſentia Johannis de Necton, Edmundi le Barber, and four others by name, & aliorum, locutus eſt irreverenter de Domino Rege, parvipendendo ipſum per verba indecentia, & dicendo ipſum non eſſe Filium Domini E. nuper Regis Angliæ, in Contemptum Domini Regis &c; Et pecijt quod idem Thomas qui præſens eſt &c, reſpondeat inde Domino Regi, proteſtans ſe velle ſequi therein contained) commanded the Barons to proceed judicially againſt John de Wengrave Mayor of London, upon the Preſentments exhibited againſt him at the Eire at the Tower of London (s).

In ſuits moved between parties in the Exchequer, ſometimes the King granted Preference to one perſon; namely that he ſhould be paid before other Creditours. This was done in the caſe of Pontius de Mora. The Merchants of Luka ſued the executours of John le Gros in the Exchequer for money borrowed of them by John: Who at the time of his death was alſo indebted to Pontius de Mora in ſeveral debts; The King by his Writ commanded the Barons to call before them the ſaid executours, and to aſſiſt Pontius in recovering his debts of them, and as ſoon as the ſaid Merchants had recovered their ſaid debts, to let Pontius be preferred before the other Creditours of the deceaſed (t). The like Preference was granted by the King to John Bardun (u).

III. Under the Head of Buſineſs of Various kinds we may place Conventions and Recognitions made at the Exchequer; Preſentations and Admiſſions of Officers of the Exchequer, and of the Exchange &c; Preſentations of Mayors and Sheriffs; Payment of Rents; and other miſcellaneous buſineſs. Of theſe, in order. Conventions and Recognitions were frequently made in the Exchequer. John de Boſell came before the Barons of the Exchequer, and in Their preſence put Robert Gardman into full ſeiſin of certain houſes and Lands in Lincoln; and acknowledged before the Barons, that Robert had ſatisfied him Lx marks for the ſaid houſes (w). Robert

No body came to receive the money. So ſhe ſtetit parata (to pay the ſaid money modo prædicto) on St. John Baptiſts Nativity, & per tres dies proximo ſequentes (y). A Tender of money was made in the Exchequer in præſentia Baronum, by John de Hotoſt on behalf of Henry de Leyburn Knight, for John le Latymer to receive it, according to Covenants contained in an Indenture: But John le Latymer did not come (z). In fine, the ancient Rolls of the Exchequer abound with Conventions and Recognitions.

IV. Of the Preſentation and Admiſſion of Officers of the Exchequer, we ſhall ſpeak hereafter in Chapter xxiv. In this Section ſomething may be ſaid concerning the Officers of the Coinage and ſome others. Several Officers of the Exchange and Coinage of Money have been, from time to time, Preſented and Sworn in the Exchequer. Ilger the Goldſmith and ſeveral other Officers of the Mint were Sworn before the High Juſticier There (a). The Kings Cuſtos Cunei for Canterbury was Preſented and Sworn in the Exchequer (b). Otho Fitz William Keeper in Fee of the Kings Mint preſented at the Exchequer Richard Abel Goldſmith, to be Maker and Cutter of the Dyes till Candlemaſs next (c). At another time the Bailiffs of Canterbury preſented to the Barons an Aſſayer of the Mint; who was Sworn and Admitted (d). The Mayor and Sherifs of London preſented an Aſſayer and a Cuſtos Cuneorum, who were Sworn and Admitted (e). The Mayor and Sheriffs of London were commanded to chooſe, by the Oath of Twelve good Men of their City, one of the moſt approved men of their ſaid City, to be the Kings Cuſtos Cunei in the room of Walter le Flemeng deceaſed, and to have him before the Barons of the Exchequer

V. Next, Of the Preſentation which was wont to be made at the Exchequer of Mayours and Chief officers of Towns, Eſcheatours &c. The Citizens of London, after they had choſen a Mayour, uſed to Preſent him yearly on the morrow of SS. Simon and Jude before the Treaſurer and Barons of the Exchequer; who Swore and Admitted him into his Office. They uſed alſo yearly, when they had choſen their Sheriffs, to Preſent them at the Exchequer before the Treaſurer and Barons, on the Morrow of St. Michaël, in the manner hereunder ſet forth. In the 28th year of K. Henry III, the Citizens of London preſented to the Treaſurer and Barons of the Exchequer Nicolas Batt their Mayor: Who was ſworn and admitted (h). In the 40th year of the ſame King, the Citizens preſented Ralf Hardell their Mayor: who was ſworn and admitted (i). In the 55th year of the ſame King, the Citizens of London came before the Barons on Thurſday next after the feaſt of SS. Simon and Jude, and preſented their Mayor John Adrien; who the ſame day was admitted, and took an oath to behave himſelf faithfully towards the King and his heirs, and to keep the City of London faithfully to the uſe of the King, of Edward his Eldeſt ſon, of John ſon of the ſaid Edward, and the other heirs of [the Kingdom of] England that ſhould happen to come after them. The caſe was this. The Citizens of London having this year choſen John Adrien for their Mayor, who with the Kings admittance and conſent had been Mayor the foregoing year; the King by his writ ordered the Barons to admitt him, and to give him an oath in due form, That he would conſtantly during his life adhere to the King, and would keep the ſaid City well and truly for the ſecurity of the King and his liege-men; That if the King died, Edward his Eldeſt ſon living, he would bear true Faith to the ſaid Edward; That if the King and the ſaid Edward died, living the ſaid John ſon of Edward, he would bear like Faith to John before all others, and after his deceaſe to the Right heirs of the Crown of England; That he would cauſe his Fellow-citizens and the whole Community of the City to take the ſame oath at the Exchequer; That he would cauſe the Gates of the City to be kept day by day by men ſufficiently armed, and to be ſafely ſhut every night; That he would ſuffer no Arms nor any Horſe of one hundred ſhillings price or above, to be bought and carried out of the City, unleſs by perſons approved by the King, nor any Meeting of ſuſpected perſons to be holden; nor would let any Horſes of value with any Arms enter into the City, unleſs they belonged to the Kings Known Friends: And this under pain of forfeiting all the lands and chatells he had in the Kings dominions (k). of K. Edward I, on the morrow of SS. Simon and Jude, the Citizens of London preſented at the Exchequer Gregory de Rokeſle their Mayor: Who was ſworn before the Barons, to keep the ſaid Town faithfully, and to perform the Kings commands (l). In the 7th year of the ſame King, they preſented Gregory de Rokeſle their Mayor: Who was ſworn to behave himſelf faithfully (m). In the 5th year of K. Edward II, the Aldermen and other Citizens of London, on the morrow of SS. Simon and Jude, preſented before the Barons John Giſors choſen Mayor of the ſaid City by the ſaid Aldermen and the Community of the ſaid City, praying the Barons to aſſent on the Kings behalf to their Choice, and to admitt the ſaid John to the ſaid Office in the uſual manner. And he was admitted and ſworn (n). The ſame King commanded the Barons not to receive John le Taverner Mayor of Briſtoll, who was preſented to them; but to order the Townſmen to chuſe another (o).

Moreover, in the Sixth year of K. Henry III, the Mayor and Citizens of London attorned, at the Exchequer, Richard Rengier and Thomas Lambert their Sheriffs, to Do to the King what Sheriffs ought to do (p). In the 8th year of K. Henry III, the Citizens of London aſſigned Andrew Bukerell and John Travers their Sheriffs to anſwer to the King at the Exchequer for the City (q): And in the 39th year, two others (r). In the 40th year (or 41th), the King commanded the Barons of the Exchequer, not

In the 17th year (z); and in the 25th year (a). They alſo preſented their Sheriffs in the Firſt (b) and other years of K. Edward II. In the 9th year of That King, John Gyſors Mayor, the Aldermen, and other Citizens came before the Treaſurer and Barons on the morrow of St. Michael, and Preſented Hamon Godchep and William de Buddele their Sheriffs. And when the Treaſurer and Barons required the ſaid Hamon and William to take the Oath for their good behaviour in their Office, the ſaid Mayor and Aldermen &c Say, That the ſaid Hamon and William or others whom the Citizens of London Preſented to That Office, are not bound nor ought to take any Oath touching the exerciſe of their Office, any where ſave before the Mayor and Aldermen of their City; And that ſince the time that the Kings Progenitours granted to the Citizens of London the power of chooſing and making whom they pleaſed Sheriffs of London and Middleſex, and of putting them out of Office at their pleaſure, it was never known that any ſuch Oath had been taken, except once when the ſaid City was in the hands of King Edward I: And they Pray, That the ſaid Hamon and William may be admitted to the ſaid Office upon their Preſentation, as had been accuſtomed aforetime. To this it was anſwered for the King, that although it belonged to the Citizens by their Charters to chooſe or make Sheriffs of London and Middleſex, and to Preſent them at the Exchequer, yet the perſons whom they ſhould ſo chooſe or make Sheriffs, were not by That exempt from taking the aforeſaid Oath, unleſs particular exemption in That behalf was granted by the King or his Progenitours: Wherefore the ſaid Citizens were told by the Treaſurer and Barons, that unleſs the ſaid Hamon and William took the Oath, They the ſaid Treaſurer and Barons do by no means accept or admitt them for Sheriffs, nor will accept or admitt them without the Kings privity; albeit they do not hereby impeach or make void the ſaid election: But that if the ſaid perſons would execute an Office under the King, Such as the Office of Sheriffs is, before they had been Sworn thereto at the Exchequer, it would be at their Peril (c). In the 12th year of the ſame King, the Mayor Aldermen and Citizens of London came before the Treaſurer and Barons at the Exchequer on the morrow of St. Michael, and Preſented John Poynz and John de Dallyng Sheriffs. Sheriffs ought not to take ſuch Oath before the Treaſurer and Barons at the Exchequer (d). In the 15th year of the ſame King, Hamon de Chigewell Mayor of London with the Aldermen and Citizens came before the Barons on the Morrow of St. Michael, and Preſented Richard Conſtantyn and Richard de Hakeneye for their Sheriffs, Praying to have them admitted. The Barons required the ſaid Sheriffs to be Sworn. And the Mayor and Aldermen alleged (as above in the 12th year), that they ought not to be Sworn in the Exchequer (e). In the 17th year of the ſame King, Nicolas de Farendon Mayor, the Aldermen, and other Citizens of London came before the Treaſurer and Barons on the morrow of St. Michael, and Preſented Adam de Sareſbury and John de Oxford for Sheriffs; Praying they might be admitted to That office. They were admitted; and were Sworn to behave themſelves well and truly &c (f).

If a Sheriff of London, being choſen, did not come to the Exchequer at the Kings Command, to take upon him the office of Sheriff, he was to be amerced for the Contempt. So it was in the caſe of Philipp le Taylur (g).

The Mayors or Chief Officers of Oxford, Northampton, Ipſwich, and other Towns were alſo wont in ancient times to be preſented at the Exchequer. But I omitt them.

Sometimes Sheriffs of Counties, Underſheriffs to Hereditary ones, Eſcheatours, and Subeſcheatours were Sworn in Perſon at the Exchequer, for their Good abearance in their Office. Of which matters, I muſt not ſtay to give particular inſtances.

The ſame Rent was paid at the Exchequer in the 15th year of K. Edward II (x). In the 2d year of K. Edward I, John de Audeley rendred a mewed hawk at the Exchequer, for the Manour of Echemendon which he held of the King in capite (y). In the 12th year of K. Edward II, Robert de Dunſtaple paid or rendred at the Exchequer Three pilches of grey, each having ſeven feſſes, viz. for the 8th, 9th, and 10th year of the preſent King, due for a tenement in the City of Wincheſter which he held of the King in Capite. And the ſaid Three pilches were delivered to John de Stokesby one of the Uſhers of the Exchequer, to be carried to Ralph de Stokes Clerk of the Kings Great Wardrobe (z). In the Great Wardrobe (a). In the 15th year of K. Edward II, William de Kerdyff, who held the Manour of Queenhull in Worceſterſhire of the King, by the ſervice of rendring yearly a Dog de mota, rendred at the Exchequer ſix Dogs de mota for ſix years paſt. Which were delivered to Sir David de Betoigne to be carried to the King who was then in Kent (b).

VII. During this Second Period (as well as during the Firſt), the Chief Juſticier, the Treaſurer and Barons, and Council, at the Exchequer, did ſometimes act in affairs relating to the Publick Peace, and to the Government and Defence of the Realm. For example. K. Henry III, in the 34th year of his Reign came with his Council to the Exchequer, and There with his own mouth Commanded all the Sheriffs of England who were at That time there preſent, Firſt, That by all means they Keep and maintain the Liberties of Holy Church, and likewiſe Protect Infants, Orphans, and Widows, and do them Speedy Juſtice; And if they found any one Blaſpheming the name of Jeſus, that they ſtraitway Attach him, to anſwer for it at ſuch Day and Place as the King ſhould appoint: Item, That no Ruſtick be diſtrained for the debts of his Lord, ſo long as his Lord hath whereby he may be diſtrained; And that they diligently enquire, How the Great Men carry themſelves towards their Tenants, And if they find them treſpaſſing, that they amend the Treſpaſſes as far as they are able; and if perchance they are not able fully to amend them, that they Shew the Treſpaſſes to the King: Item, That no Sheriff do put Hundreds, Wapentakes, or other Bailywicks to Rack-ferms, nor let them to any but ſuch as would deal Juſtly with the people: Item, That they diligently enquire What Markets are held without Warant, or to the Nuiſance of the neighbouring Markets, and Certify the King thereof: Item, That they ſafely keep all the Rights and Prerogatives of the King, and do not make Return of the Kings Writs to any one, nor do ſuffer any one to have a View of Frankpledg, or Sheriffs Turn, or Sheriffs Aid, or other Liberties which belong to the Kings Crown, without Warant; except ſuch perſons as have the Kings Charters for thoſe Liberties, or ſuch whoſe anceſtours had obtained them of ancient time (c). In the 14th year of K. Edward I, there being then certain affairs to be ſettled between the King and the Earl of Flanders, relating to Traffick, The King by his Writ commands the Barons, that when the ſaid Earl ſhould ſend over Commiſſioners to Treat upon the ſaid affairs, the the Barons ſhould poſtpone other buſineſs, and diſpatch thoſe affairs; taking care withall that Due Juſtice be done to the Engliſh Merchants, according to a Compoſition or Convention entred into by the King and the Earl (d). And in the ſame year John Duraunt was commanded by the Kings Writ, to appear before the Treaſurer and Barons in the Quinzime of St. Hilary at furtheſt, to Treat concerning ſome affairs of the Merchants of England and of Flanders, as the ſaid Barons ſhould direct, (for which purpoſe the Earl of Flanders was to ſend his Commiſſioners Thither too) (e). The Like Writs were ſent to ſome other perſons to be There to Treat as aforeſaid (f). And about the ſame time an Accompt was made-up at Weſtminſter [in the Exchequer], between the Procuratour or Commiſſioner of the Earl of Flanders, And the Engliſh Merchants (g). In the 23th year of K. Edward I, a Writ iſſued out of the Exchequer to the Sheriff of Rutlandſhire, commanding him to warn all perſons within his County as well Knights as others who had forty pounds a-year or more in Land and rents, ſo to provide themſelves, that they might be ready with horſe and arms to march in the Kings ſervice, and to continue at the Kings wages as he pleaſed, whenſoever they ſhould on the Kings behalf by the ſpace of three weeks be thereunto forewarned: The Sheriff was alſo commanded to warn all perſons who had not forty pounds a-year in land and rents but under That ſumm, in caſe they had horſes and arms, to come, if they would, upon ſuch forewarning as is aforeſaid, into the Kings ſervice, and to remain at his wages: The King likewiſe commandeth the Sheriff to cauſe all the ſaid perſons who had forty pounds a-year or more, to come before him the ſaid Sheriff to be muſtered &c. The like Writs or Commiſſions were ſent to the other Sheriffs of England (h). In the 25th year of K. Edward I, the Lieutenant of the Treaſurer, and the Barons of the Exchequer, ſent to the King by the hand of Robert Dyvelyn Uſher of the Exchequer, a Letter under the Exchequer-Seal, notifying that the Earl Mareſchall, the Earl of Hereford, and Others, came to the Barr of the Exchequer on the Thurſday before the Feaſt of St. Bartholomew at Three a-clock; And that the Earl of Hereford, on behalf of the Earl Mareſchall and the others There preſent, and of the whole Commonalty of the Realm both Clergy and Lay (as he alleged), did let them know, that They and the ſaid Commonalty found themſelves aggrieved in Two things: The one related to certain points which they had already remonſtrated to the King their Leige Lord in certain Articles, The other related to certain things done by the Barons and Officers of the Exchequer without the Kings knowledg, particularly, the Levying of the Utime and the Taking of Wools; And that in the Writs iſſued for levying the Utime it was contained, that the Earls, Barons, Knights, and Commonalty of the Realm had granted the ſaid Utime as they and their Anceſtours had done in former times, Whereas the ſaid Utime was not granted by Them nor by the ſaid Commonalty. In fine, That the Tallage of the Utime and the Taking of Wools was not to be endured, and they would not endure it. Hereupon the Barons of the Exchequer deſire to know the Kings Pleaſure. The King ſends them a Privy Seal dated the 23th of Auguſt and another dated the 24th of Auguſt: By the former He commands them to proceed to Tax and Levy the Hutime in ſuch manner as had been appointed, And to cauſe Proclamation to be made in the Coun-chequer to John Byrom Sheriff of Yorkſhire Three Letters ſealed with the Treaſurers Seal, One of them Directed to the King, Another to Robert de Clifford Commander of the Kings Garriſon againſt the Scots in the borders of Cumberland, And the Third to Walter de Huntercombe and the Sheriff of Northumberland, about certain affairs relating to the ſaid Garriſon: And becauſe the ſending of the ſaid Letters required quick Diſpatch, the Treaſurer and Barons enjoined the ſaid John the Sheriff to tranſmitt the ſaid Letters forthwith by Rideing Meſſengers to the King and the ſaid Other Perſons (m). K. Edward I, in the 31th year of his reign, ſent his writ under the Exchequer-ſeal to Thomas de Furnivall: Commanding him to repair in perſon to York (where the Exchequer was Then holden) with all poſſible ſpeed, to conferr and treat with the Kings Treaſurer and Barons and others of his Council, concerning the eſtate of the Nobility and others whom the King had ordered to ſerve in his army againſt the Scots, and further to Do what the Kings Council ſhould ordain in his name touching the premiſſes. The like writs were ſent to William le Vavaſſour, Brian Fitz-Alan, and ſix or ſeven other Barons of the Northern parts (n). In the 34th year of That King, ſeveral Foreign merchants were brought before the Treaſurer, the Chancellour of England, the Barons, the Juſtices of Both Benches, and others of the Kings Council at the Exchequer, and were examined on the Kings behalf, What and How many Merchants of their reſpective ſocieties were at preſent in theſe ciſmarine parts. The Merchants gave-in their anſwer. Whereupon, they were enjoined by the ſaid Council on the Kings behalf, that under pain of forfeiting their Liberty and Chatells, no one of them do go out of the Realm, or export any thing without the Kings eſpecial leave; and that each Society do on the morrow find Security to do accordingly; and that they do lay a diſtinct and true account, of all the goods and chatells they had in the Realm in money or moneys-worth, before the ſaid Council on the Monday following. The next day the Merchants came before the Barons and Council: but not being able to find Security as they had been enjoined to do, they were committed to the cuſtody of Ralph de Sandwich Conſtable of the Tower of London. Afterwards they became manucaptours for one another, and ſo were delivered out of priſon (o). In the ſame year, Sir Henry de Kygbele having confeſſed, upon his Examination, before the King, that he was the perſon who brought the Bill [or Petition] from the Archbiſhop of Canterbury and the others who Preſſed the King outrageouſly at the Parliament of Lincoln, The King ſends the ſaid Henry to the Exchequer, and by his Privy Seal commands the Treaſurer to cauſe him to be put into ſafe Cuſtody in the Tower of London, there to remain till he ſhould repent of what he had done, and till the King ſhould give further order about him; And the King directs, that he ſhould be Kept without Irons and Mildly Uſed, but in ſuch manner that the Kind Uſage might rather ſeem to be owing to the Treaſurers Curteſy than to the Kings Orders (p). (p) Theſaurario pro Rege. Edward par la grace de Dieu &c; Al Honorable Piere en Dieu Wautier par meiſme la grace Eveſqe de Ceſtre, ſaid Sir Henry was brought by Two of the Kings Valets into the Exchequer, before the Treaſurer, Barons, and Council There; And was committed to the Conſtable of the Tower of London, to be kept in the ſaid Tower in ſuch manner as the King had directed. Afterwards, by vertue of the Kings Writ of Privy Seal, the ſaid Henry was brought into the Exchequer, and when he had taken a Corporal Oath, not to offend, for the future, againſt the King, his heirs, or his Crown, he was delivered out of Priſon (q). In the ſame year, ſome of the Kings Sergeants at Arms brought before the Treaſurer and Barons Patrick de Graham a Scots Knight, who had rendred himſelf to the Kings Peace, in order to ſtand to Right: And with Him the King ſent his writ of Privy Seal to the Treaſurer, commanding him to committ the ſaid Patrick to ſome Caſtle in England, as he ſhould find moſt convenient, where the Priſoner might be Safely kept, and ſo that his Keepers might be charged to anſwer for him Body for Body: Hereupon the ſaid Patrick was delivered to the Conſtable of the Tower of London who was then preſent in Court, to be by him ſafely kept Body for Body (r). About the ſame time Malculm de Innerpeſſry a Scotsman was committed by the Treaſurer to the Tower of London much after the ſame manner (s). And by another Privy Seal the King commands the Treaſurer, to let the ſaid Malcolm make his Profit or do his Pleaſure with Two of his Horſes (t). In the 35th year of K. Edward I, the Conſtable of Dovor-Caſtle arreſted Adam de Swilington Knight, for going beyond-ſea to the Turneaments, contrary to the Kings Inhibition: A Valet of the Conſtables brought Adam before the Treaſurer and Barons; who committed him to the Conſtable of the Tower of London (u). (x) Baronibus per Regem. The King commands the Barons to cauſe to be ſent, haſtivement vers les parties Deſcoce, dieux Nief & deux Barges bien & ſuffiſaument eskypez de gentz & de vitailles ——, a damager nos enemys Deſcoce ——. Don ſouz noſtre Prive Seal a Ever-were made to the Treaſurer Barons and Council at the Exchequer, that divers murders robberies and other outrages had been lately committed in London; particularly the Popes Nuncio informed them, that on laſt Midſummer day, at the time of Veſpers, four or five hundred malefactours came into St. Pauls Church Armed, and there inſulted a certain Lumbard and others of his company with drawn ſwords &c. The Mayor and Aldermen of London were ordered to appear before the Treaſurer and Barons and Council, to anſwer touching the premiſſes. John de Wengrave the Mayor (who had been in That office a year and three quarters) came before the Treaſurer and Barons, in the preſence of the Archbiſhop of Canterbury, the Biſhop of Exeter, Humfrey Earl of Hereford, Maſter J. Waleweyn, and others of the Council; and with him came ſeveral Aldermen and the Sheriffs. The Mayor was examined touching the matters complained of; and was chidden; in regard he had been ſeveral times queſtioned at the Exchequer on the like occaſions. Upon the whole, the Court Enjoined the Mayor Aldermen and Sheriffs, to take Inquiſitions concerning the ſaid Malefactours, and bring them to Puniſhment; particularly, the Mayor was enjoyned ſo to behave himſelf in his Office, that the King might have no cauſe to ſet a Cuſtos over the City; and the Inquiſitions which he ſhould take, he was to get ready againſt Such a time; under pain of forfeiting the Liberties of the City. Afterwards the Mayor and Aldermen came again to the Exchequer; and being ſpoken to by the Council, they ſaid they had made ſolemn Inquiſitions, and would ſo behave themſelves in the Cuſtody of the City and conſervation of the Peace, that there ſhould hereafter be no cauſe of Complaint through their default (y). In the ſame year, the King, intending to ſend a Fleet to guard the Sea and annoy the Scots, commands the Treaſurer and Barons by his Privy Seal, to order, in his name, John Mot and Richard Golde to make haſt, with the Mariners and Ships they had got ready, towards Kingſton upon Hull, and to ſtay there and do according to the Directions which the King had given to Simon de Dryby (z). About the ſame time he commands the Barons, to cauſe Corn and Victuals and other Stores to be provided by the Sheriffs of Counties, and carried to proper Ports, there to be embarked, and afterwards landed near the Marches of Scotland, for the uſe of the Kings Army (a). The ſame King, anno regni 15, by Privy Seal commands the Keeper of the Office of Treaſurer and the Barons and Chamberlains of the Exchequer, to take care that his Caſtles be ſufficiently Victualled and Stored (b). In the 16th year of K. Edward II, a Commiſſion iſſued out of the Exchequer to Geoffrey de St. Quyntyn and John de Haſthorp, ordering them to raiſe ſpeedily, in every town and place in the wapentake of Dykryng as well within franchiſes as without, all the Defenſable men that were between the age of Sixteen and Sixty, as well of Gentz darmes as of Foot, each man being duly arrayed according to his eſtate, and to put the ſaid men in array by Hundreds and Twenties, and being ſo arrayed to lead them to the King at York by ſuch a day, to act againſt the Scots. The like Commiſſions iſſued out of the Exchequer, to John de Belkthorp and Geoffrey Stull for the Wapentake of Buckros, and to other perſons for other Wapentakes, as hereunder particularly appeareth (c).

VIII. In general, the buſineſs and acts of the Court of Exchequer were wont to be entred or recorded in ſeveral Rolls: The principal whereof were Theſe; viz. The Rotulus Annalis or Great Roll of the Pipe, the Memoranda, and the Plea-Rolls. Amongſt the Records of the Exchequer the Great Roll of the Pipe muſt be placed Firſt, by reaſon of its preeminent dignity. It was and is the moſt Stately Record in the Exchequer; and the great medium of Charge and Diſcharge, of Rents, ferms, and debts due to the Crown. Into It, the accompts of the Royal Revenue entred, through divers channels; as rivers flow into the ocean. The worthy authour of the Dialogue concerning the Exchequer (d) giveth ſome account of the Great Roll; whoſe words I need not here repeat (e). In the 4th year of K. Edward I, it was ſtyled primus Rotulus Scaccarij (f). And the authority of it was ſo great, that when Debts had been put in Charge There, they could not be Diſcharged, unleſs by Judgment or award of the Chief Juſticier, or of the Treaſurer, the Kings Chancellour, or his Council, or the Barons of the Exchequer. The Great Roll was written and ſettled with an exact care. Each ſingle Roll of the Ancient Bundles is commonly marked at the bottom, to wit in a ſpare place on the dorſe, Emendatus, iterum emendatus &c. Every County was written by it ſelf. So it was alſo, where two Counties were conjunct, or committed to one Sheriff. If a ſingle Roll would not contain a whole County; the reſidue of That County was written upon another Roll or part of a Roll, and ſo forward till the whole was finiſhed. The Firſt Roll of every County, to wit That which contained the Corpus Comitatus Comitatus, was in That caſe uſually called Rotulus principalis (g); and was marked or entituled, for example, Kancia; the next Roll or part of a Roll, Item Kancia, or Reſiduum Kanciæ; the next, Adhuc Item Kancia, or Reſiduum, according as the caſe was; and ſo forward. The particular Rolls were not wont to be numbred. And it is likely the Accompts were digeſted in this manner, and written upon parts of Rolls where there was room for them; that parchment might not be ſpent unneceſſarily, and likewiſe that the Rolls might not have in them many or large Blank ſpaces. The Great Roll, as I take it, is properly the Treaſurers Roll. This is intimated in the Dialogue (h). But as the Chancellour of the Exchequer ſeems to have been an officer appointed to be a Check upon the Treaſurer: So it ſeemeth that the Chancellour from ancient time cauſed a Counter-Roll of the Treaſurers Great Roll to be made-up every year: Which Counter Roll was the ſame verbatim with the Other Great Roll; and was called Rotulus Cancellarij. There are many of theſe Rotuli Cancellarij of the reign of K. Henry III, and of ſubſequent Kings, to be ſeen in the Repoſitory of the Pipe at Weſtminſter. In truth, there are extant ſome Duplicaments of Great Rolls more ancient (but not in a continued Series) than the reign of K. Henry III. This obſervation may ſerve to reſolve a doubt which the Antiquaries have hitherto lain under. For example. There is in the Record-office in the Tower of London a Duplicate-Great Roll of the Sixth year of K. Richard I, and another of the 7th year of K. John. And there is another of the 3d year of K. John in the Cuſtody of the Treaſurer and Chamberlains of the Exchequer. The Great Rolls of which ſeveral years are alſo extant in the Repoſitory of the Pipe. And in the ſame Repoſitory of the Pipe there are Two Great Rolls of the 4th year of K. John; which are (for I have compared them in part) of one and the ſame tenour. All theſe Duplicate-Great Rolls I take to be Rotuli Cancellarij.

The Records or Bundles made-up by the two Remembrancers of the Exchequer have been uſually called Memoranda, the Memorands or Remembrances. A Remembrance was anciently wont to be made for every year in each of the Remembrancers offices. On the part of the Treaſurers Remembrancer, each yearly Bundle was wont to contain ſeveral heads or titles, ſuch as, Communia, the Common or ordinary Buſineſs; Compota or Compoti, Accompts; Viſus, Views; Adventus, the Advents of Accomptants to the Exchequer; and other titles. For example. The titles or heads ſet-forth hereunder in the margin, are found in the 11th year of K. Henry III (i), in the 28th year (k), in the 42d year (l); in the 7th year of K. Edward I (m); in the the 16th year of K. Edward II (n); and the like in other years of the ſaid Kings. So alſo the Memoranda on the part of the Kings Remembrancer have, in the reigns of the ſaid Kings, the like heads or titles. Of the Originals of the Chancery, which have been wont to be repoſited in the Treaſurers Remembrancers office, I ſpeak elſewhere (o). In the Memoranda of the Exchequer there was entred great Variety of Buſineſs: For inſtance, The Kings Writs and Precepts of many kinds, relating to Revenue, Tenures, and other matters agitated in the Exchequer; Commiſſions of Bailywicks, Cuſtodies, Ferms, &c; Preſentations and Admiſſions of Officers of the Exchequer, and other Officers; Pleadings and Allegations of Parties; Judgments and Awards of the Juſticier, the Treaſurer and Barons, and the Kings Council; Recognitions of Debts, and Conventions of divers kinds; Accompts, and Views of Accompts, with ſeveral Acts relating to Accomptants; Inquiſitions of Sheriffs, Eſcheatours, &c; Advents of Sheriffs, Eſcheatours, and others; And in general, All thoſe things which were comprized under the Term, Communia, or Common Buſineſs. Many inſtances of theſe and other kinds, cited out of the Memoranda of the Exchequer, may be ſeen in this Volume; ſo that More need not be ſubjoined Here. There were alſo many Memorandums entred in theſe Rolls pro commodo Regis, to Controll Accomptants, or to ſave the Kings Rights; either by way of Memorandum pro Rege, or of Loquendum cum Rege, or Loquendum cum Juſticiario, or cum Concilio Regis &c. Of which Latter, I would here give ſome inſtances; becauſe there are not many things of That ſort cited elſewhere in this Volume: Thus, a Loquendum was enterd for the King, touching certain mony impreſted to the Archbiſhop of York (p); Loquendums were alſo enterd touching the Fair at St. Ive belonging to the Abbot of Ramſey (q); and in the caſe of Robert de Ros and Peter Fitz-Herbert (r); concerning the Debts due to the King in Richmondſhire (s); concerning a Debt demanded of the Earl Marſhall by Summonce of the Exchequer (t); concerning certain Charters produced at the Exchequer on behalf of Walter de Eſſeleye (u); concerning

They Plead that they made their Taxation faithfully, & nichil inde detinuerunt. The Iſſue was tryed at the Exchequer; And the Jury acquitted the parties. The Judgment is, Ideo conſideratum eſt, quod (s). In the 27th year of K. Edward I, in the caſe of Miliſent de Monte alto the Entry is, Concordatum eſt per Theſaurarium & Barones, quod —— (t): In the Firſt year of K. Edward II, in the caſe of the Templars, Concordatum eſt per Theſaurarium & Barones & alios de Conſilio, quod —— (u): In the ſame year, in the caſe of John de Rothing, Theſaurarius & Barones concordarunt, quod —— (w): In the 16th year of K. Edward II, in the caſe of Nicolas Gentil Sheriff of Surrey and Suſſex (x). The word concordatum was likewiſe ſometimes uſed in Judgments given in other Courts or Places (y). William le Mareſchal, by adhering to Simon de Montfort and his accomplices, forfeited to the King the Manour of Haſelberg: The King (viz. Henry III) granted That Manour to Alan Plukenet. John Mareſchal ſon and heir of the ſaid William came into the Kings Court coram Rege, and prayed to have it reſtored to him according to the Dictum de Kenelworth. The King granted he ſhould have reſtitution thereof accordingly. Afterwards, in the Court holden before the Juſtices Itinerant at Wilton, the King recovered the ſaid Manour againſt John Mareſchal as his Right and Eſcheat, by Judgment of the ſaid Court. And the Record and proceſs of that Judgment, being at the inſtance of the ſaid John Mareſchal removed into the Court holden before the King Himſelf, it was There Adjudged, concordatum fuit, That the ſaid Judgment given before the Juſtices Itinerant was given Duly and according to the Law and cuſtome of the Realm (z). Sometimes the words, concordatum and conſideratum, were both uſed together in a Judgment. As in the caſe of Richard Oyſel (a). The like in Parliament, in the caſe of John de Haſtinges (b). Sometimes the words Proviſum eſt were uſed in Judgments or awards. It was adjudged or ordered (proviſum eſt) by the Kings Council at the Exchequer, that Ralf Dayrel and Robert de Haringee ſhould have each of them viii d per day for their wages (c). And it was adjudged (proviſum eſt) by the Kings Council, that R. Biſhop of Bathe and Wells ſhould be allowed upon his Accompt certain ſumms for his expenſes (d). IX. In the Buſineſs of the Exchequer (with reſpect both to Pleas and Accompts) there was Frequent uſe of Writs or Letters ſent from the King to the Treaſurer and Barons, ſignifying to them His Pleaſure about matters depending before them. Theſe Writs or Letters paſſed under the Great or the Privy Seal; moſt commonly under the Latter. And ſometimes Meſſages or Inſtructions were brought by Living Meſſengers from the King to the Treaſurer and Barons upon the like occaſions. More particularly, in regard Three ſorts of Writs or Meſſages ſent to the Treaſurer and Barons were (as I remember) moſt frequent and numerous, I will here ſubjoin ſome inſtances of Them. They were Writs or Meſſages, To Do Right to Litigants or Accomptants, Or to ſhew them Favour, Or to give them Diſpatch.

Firſt, Of the Writs or Meſſages, To Do Juſtice or Right to Parties. The Rolls of the Exchequer abound with theſe Writs. They were, for their kind or form, ſuch as follow: that is to ſay, Writs of this ſort were iſſued for the Counteſs of Ou (l), for the Men of the Hundreds of Brokeſwor and Grimeſwroſn (m), for John Thorpe (n), the Men of Ripton (o), Hugh Veer (p), William de Welleby (q), Alyne Lovel (r), Hugh de Veer (s), and others.

Secondly, Of the Writs or Meſſages to ſhew Favour to Parties. I have not obſerved Theſe to be ſo Numerous as the former. Some of this ſort follow hereunder:

And ſometimes Meſſages or Writs were ſent by the Queen and Prince to the Treaſurer and Barons touching things depending before them. For example. The Queen ſent her Writ to the Barons of the Exchequer, importing, that ſhe had given Reſpite to John Leſtrange for a Debt which he owed to John Son of Philipp, and Deſiring them to give him their aſſiſtance in That affair (b). The Queen ſent her Writ to the Barons, Deſiring them to Reſpite a Debt due to the King from William del Garden; ſhe undertaking to pay it for him (i). The Queen, by her Writ, Prayed and required the Treaſurer and Barons to Reſpite all the Debts, demanded at the Exchequer, of Thomas Bardolf, till the Utas of St. Michael, and to Search and Certify Her by the Bearer, How much the ſaid Thomas owed the King at his Exchequer (k). A Writ or Letter on behalf of Dame Margaret Hereward was ſent to the Treaſurer by the Queen; And the like Letters by the Princes Thomas and Edmond (l). Edward Prince of Wales ſent his Letters of Privy Seal to the Treaſurer, Deſiring him to be Gracious and Friendly to Richard de Lue (who had lately been put out of his office of Chamberlain of the Exchequer for a Miſdemeaner), in Richards buſineſs then depending in the Exchequer (m). The ſame Prince by Letters of his Privy Seal, Commanded and Prayed the Treaſurer and Barons, to Diſpenſe with the Sheriff of Cumberlands attendance at the Exchequer at the Day prefixed to him, the Prince having occaſion for his Service in the Marches of Scotland (n). The ſame Prince ſent Two Letters or Writs to the Barons of the Exchequer, on behalf of Stephen de Stone, upon certain buſineſs of Stephens depending before them (o). Theſe Writs of the Great Seal and of the Privy Seal, uſed in theſe and other caſes, were very numerous, and indeed they were often iſſued in caſes wherein there was,

was, as it ſeemeth, no neceſſary occaſion for them, or wherein the Treaſurer and Barons might have acted ex officio or Rege inconſulto. For example. The Writs or many of them, commanding the Treaſurer and Barons to Do juſtice or to give Diſpatch to Litigants or Accomptants, might, as it ſeemeth, have been ſpared. But it was the manner or cuſtom of thoſe times to uſe them. For Then moſt or very many of the Judicial and other acts of the Kings Miniſters moved from the Throne. So that the Kings, notwithſtanding the Truſt which they repoſed in their Judicial Miniſters, ſeem to have reſerved unto Themſelves the Supreme Direction of affairs tranſacted in their Exchequer. If the learned Reader thinks this obſervatum not to be juſt and well-grounded, it is not my meaning to obtrude it on him, but barely to leave it under his conſideration. In proceſs of time, this correſpondence between the Palace and the Judicial Courts, or if you pleaſe, the practice of ſending Writs of the Great and Privy Seal or other meſſages to the Judges of the Kings Courts, was, in many caſes, forbidden by Statute. Which reſtriction, in regard it hapned after the Period where the preſent Hiſtory ends, muſt not be treated of here.

I. IN this Chapter I muſt treat of the Accompts rendred at the Exchequer. Which I ſhall do with all convenient brevity. And in regard one cannot eaſily diſcover the manner of accompting There, during the Firſt period ; I am obliged to put both Firſt and Second period together ; that what is obſcure or wanting in the former, may be ſupplied out of the latter. During the Firſt Period, the moſt conſiderable Accomptants to the Crown were the Sheriffs of the ſeveral Counties. A great part of the Land-Revenue went through their hands ; that is, was collected by them, and anſwered either in ſpecie or by ſufficient Warant of diſcount, according to the uſage of thoſe times. Their Accompts were not Summary, nor could be. Several months commonly paſſed between their Laſt Profer and their Summ. For their Accompts did not conſiſt purely of Receipt and Payment. The property of the Kings ſubjects was often concerned and mixed therein. Many things were neceſſary to be taken in charge by Sheriffs, and to be made made parcell of their Accompts, upon which ſometimes certain doubts or queſtions aroſe, that could not well be diſcuſſed and reſolved on the ſudden: Of which ſort were Seizures of Lands and Rents, levies of Deodands, forfeited chatells, and divers other kinds of debts. In fine, the Sheriffs accompted to the King every year. And the method of their Accompt was Regular and Exact. For which reaſon, whilſt I am treating of Accompts, I ſhall draw moſt of my inſtances from the Accompts of Sheriffs; following therein the Famous Authour of the Dialogue concerning the Exchequer, who taketh That courſe. It is true, there were during the Firſt and the Second Period, ſeveral other Stated Accomptants, beſides Sheriffs of Counties. Such were the Eſcheatours (or Cuſtodes Eſcaëtarum), the Fermers or Cuſtodes of ſuch Towns and Burghs as were not part of the Corpus Comitatus nor within the Sheriffs Receipt, the Cuſtodes Cambij, the Cuſtomers, the Keepers of the Wardrobe, and others. But it is to be underſtood, that all perſons who held any Bailywick from the King, or received any of his Treaſure or revenue by Impreſt or otherwiſe, were obliged to render an accompt thereof. I will be conciſe in what I offer concerning the Accomptants laſt abovementioned; and therefore will ſpeak of them here in the beginning of this ſection, and ſo diſmiſs them. In the 19th year of K. Henry III, Walter de Kirkham Keeper of the Kings Wardrobe, accompted at the Exchequer for his Receipts in That office, from the Wedneſday before the feaſt of St. Dunſtan in the 18th year of the King, until Saturday the Invention of the H. Croſs in the 20th year, by the View and Teſtimony of William de Haverhull (a): And in the 20th year, the ſaid Walter accompted in like manner, from the ſaid Invention of the H. Croſs until the Eve of the Apoſtles Simon and Jude in the 21th year incipient, by View and Teſtimony of the ſaid William (b). In the 33th of K. Henry III, Walter de Bradele Keeper of the Queens Wardrobe, accompted from the feaſt of the Apoſtles Philipp and James in the 33th year of the King, until the feaſt of St. John Baptiſt in the 34th year, by the teſtimony and controll of Robert de Chaury Clerk (c). In the 35th year of K. Henry III, Peter Chaceporc Keeper of the Wardrobe rendred an accompt of his Receipts for That office, from the feaſt of St. John Baptiſt in the 29th year of the King, till Sunday next after St. Valentine in the 36th year. He accompted, for the time ending on Thurſday next after Michaelmaſs in the 33th year, by the View and Teſtimony of William de Watthamſted who was appointed by the Kings writ, inſtead of William Hardel, for part of the time, and of Maſter William de Kyrkenny for the reſidue of the time. He renders an accompt of thirty three thouſand ſeven hundred twenty ſeven pounds and odd, which he had received out of the Kings Treaſury within the time aforeſaid, by the hands of William de Haverhull Treaſurer, by vertue of fourſcore and fourteen writs of Liberate (d). In the 49th year of K. Henry III, Hugh de la Penne accompted for the Queens Wardrobe, from the feaſt of SS. Philipp and James in the 41th year of the King, till the feaſt of SS. Simon and Jude in the 49th year incipient, by the teſtimony and controll of Alexander de Bradeham Chaplain. His Receipts amount to eleven thouſand fifty eight pounds and odd. The expenſes were of this ſort. In the Queens Houſhold, to wit, in the panetry, butlery, kitchin, ſcullery, ſalſary, hall, in feeding the poor, in liveries of garſons, mareſchalcie and ſhooing of horſes, ſix thouſand eight hundred ſixteen pounds and odd: In oblations on Holidays

Firſt year of K. John (o). In the 5th year of K. John, Hugh Oiſel owed the King L marks, That he might have the Cambium of England at the ſame rate and upon the ſame terms as Reginald de Cornhull held the ſame (p). At the ſame time, he accounted for CCCCLxiij l and odd, the profit of the Cambium of England in his time, and for the money which he received for the uſe of the Cambium, and for Lx l received by him of Reginald de Cornhull (q). King Henry III, in or about the 13th year of his reign, committed to Richard Reinger the Cambium or Mint of London and Canterbury, with the Dies and appurtenaunces, together with MCCCCxx l x s viij d paid to him by the hand of Alexander de Dorſete to negotiate therewith. Richard was to hold, from Midlent in the 13th year for the term of four years; and to render to the King yearly DCC marks. Provided, that the King was to have the MCCCCxx l x s viij d at the end of the four years; And that Richard do give the King ſecurity, that he will ſafely keep the ſaid Cambium in the mean time, according to the aſſiſe of the Cambium; and that at the end of the term he will anſwer to the King, as well for the ſaid yearly ſumm of DCC marks, as likewiſe for other moneys which he ſhould receive with the Cambium. And the Conſtable of the Tower of London was commanded to take Security of Richard for the purpoſes abovementioned, and to certify the King thereof (r). In the 29th year of K. Henry III, William Hardell rendred an Accompt, as Cuſtos, of the Cambium of London and Canterbury, for eight years ſix months and three days paſt: He accompted for CCLxxj l vj s x d for the iſſues of the Cambium of London for the Firſt year; and for CCLxxvj l vj s j d, the iſſues of the Cambium of Canterbury in the ſame year, beſides the portion belonging to the Archbiſhop, which was three parts out of eight: And he accompteth in like manner for the iſſues of the reſt of the ſaid years (s). In the 7th year of K. Edward I, Bartholomew de Caſtell accompted for the iſſues of the Cambium of London. The onus of his Accompt was, MCCL l xvij s. Whereof, there was put to him in View, M l, which he delivered in ſilver by weight to Gregory de Rokeſle and

In the 19th year of K. Edward I, Stephen Biſhop of Waterford, the Kings Treaſurer in Ireland, accounted at the Exchequer of England, for his Receipts out of the Kings Treaſure at the Exchequer of Dublin, from the feaſt of St. Michaël (including Michaelmaſs-day) in the ſixth year finient, by a Counter-roll of Maſter John de Kenle then Chamberlain [of the Exchequer of Dublin], exhibited at the Exchequer [of England] by the hands of John de Glaſton Chaplain to the ſaid Maſter John now Chancellour of the Exchequer of Dublin, untill the 28th Day of October in the ſeventh year (u). K. Edward I, in the 21th year of his reign, commanded that for the future, the Accompts of Gaſcony and of Ireland ſhould be rendred yearly at the Exchequer of England before the Treaſurer and Barons There, viz. the former by the Conſtable of Bourdeaux, and the latter by the Treaſurer of Ireland (w). In the 22th year of K. Edward I, William de Eſtdene the Kings Treaſurer in Ireland, accompted for the moneys he had received in the Treaſury of the Exchequer of Dublin, from Monday the tenth day of June in the 20th year of the King, till Friday the fourteenth day of June in the 22th year; by the Counter-roll of Henry de Ponte one of the Chamberlains exhibited at the Exchequer by William de Meones under the Seal which the King uſeth in Ireland, from the ſaid Monday untill Thurſday the firſt day of May in the 21th year, before the ſaid Henry was put-out of that office for certain treſpaſſes whereof he was accuſed; and by the Counter-roll of the ſaid William de Meones, to whom William de Veſcy the Kings Chief Juſticier in Ireland and others of the Kings Council There committed the office of Chamberlainſhip in the room of Henry, from the ſaid Thurſday untill Friday the fourth day of June in the 22th year: the Counter-roll of Geoffrey le Brun the other Chamberlain, from the ſaid Monday till the Cloſe of Eaſter in the 22th year, before the ſaid Geoffrey was amoved from his office for his weakneſs in body, and the Counter-roll of Ralf de Stanes to whom the ſaid Treaſurer and Barons of the Exchequer of Dublin committed That office, untill the Friday aboveſaid, remaining in the ſaid Exchequer of Dublin, as was certified to the Exchequer of England by the Kings writ (x). Then follows the Accompt (in like form) of Nicolas de Clere the Kings Treaſurer of Ireland (y). In the 15th year of K. Edward II, Walter de Iſtlepe Treaſurer of Ireland paſſed paſſed his Accompt in the Exchequer of England for the iſſues and receipts of the Land of Ireland, by the Counter-rolls of the Exchequer of Dublin (x).

In the 9th year of K. Edward I, Bonricini Giudiconi for himſelf and his companions the Merchants of Luca, rendred an accompt of moneys received for the New Cuſtome of Wools, Skins, and Leathers in England from Eaſter in the 9th year till Eaſter in the 10th year. He accounted for CCCxxiij l iij s ix d, the Cuſtome of DCCLxxj ſacks and vij ſtone and a half of wool, eleven thouſand a hundred fourſcore and two woolled-skins, and fourſcore laſts and twelve dackers of leathers, at the Port of Newcaſtle upon Tyne; to wit, for every ſack of wool half a mark, for a laſt of leathers a mark, and for three hundred woolled-skins half a mark; as appeared by a Roll of particulars now exhibited. He accounted for one thouſand fourſcore and ſix pounds ten ſhillings and eight pence received for the uſual Cuſtomes in the Port of Hul; and in other Ports (a).

In the 15th year of K. Edward II, Henry de Shirokes Chamberlain of Northwales accounted for the iſſues of his Chamberlainſhip, to wit, from Eaſter in the 12th year, to Michaëlmaſs in the 14th year (b).

II. Next, concerning the Accompts of Sheriffs. But before I come to treat of Sheriffs as Accomptants, it may be proper to ſay ſomething in brief of their Office. In ancient times the Sheriffs of Counties were uſually men of High Rank and Great Power in the Realm; They had the ſeveral Counties committed to them reſpectively by the King at his Pleaſure, either in Cuſtody or at Ferm certain. To them the King uſually committed (together with the Counties) his Caſtles and his Manours lying within their Bailywick. They provided the Caſtles with ammunition and other neceſſaries; And they ſtocked and improved the Manours. In fine, the King uſually entruſted the Sheriffs with the Collecting of his Revenue, and with divers other powers and juriſdictions. Of which points ſome inſtances will be given by and by. Earl Coſpatrick bought the County [or Sherifrick] of Northumberland of K. William I (c). Maud the Empreſs made an ample Convention with Geoffrey Earl of Eſſex. Amongſt other things contained in it, ſhe granted to him all the Tenements which his Grandfather his Father or Himſelf had held, in Lands, Caſtles, and Bailywicks; namely the Tower of London, and the Sheriffwick of London and Middleſex at CCC l yearly Ferm, as his Grandfather Geoffrey held the ſame, and the Sheriffwick of Hertfordſhire at Lx l, as his Grandfather held it. She granted alſo to Earl Geoffrey the Juſticeſhip of London and Middleſex, and of Eſſex and Hertfordſhire, ſo that no Juſtice ſhould hold pleas in thoſe Counties, but with the conſent of him or his heirs. This Convention was ratified by the Empreſſes Oath, and the Teſtimony of ſeveral Great Lords. For the performance of it, ſeveral Barons of England and Normandy were to be Hoſtages per fidem, and the Clergy of that part of England which was under her Obedience were likewiſe to confirm it (d). (s) Baronibus, pro Andrea Lutterel Vicecomite Lincolniæ. Rex commiſit Andreæ L Comitatum Lincolniæ, cuſtodiendum quamdiu Regi placuerit, pro xx marcis reddendis per annum and County of Northampton with the Honor of Peverell to William de Liſle, To Keep during the Kings Pleaſure. William was to pay Cxx l for the proficuum of the County, and to keep the Caſtle at his own coſt, and to make good the Corpus Comitatus; and he was to have the iſſues of the Honour (t). The King committed to Hugh de Akor the Counties of Salop and Stafford, with the Caſtles of Shrewſbury and Bruges, To Keep during the Kings Pleaſure. Hugh was to render Cxxvj l yearly for the proficuum of the Counties; and was to Keep the ſaid Caſtles at his own coſt; He was alſo to be Allowed for certain Hundreds which were let-out in ferm, and was to make-up the Corpora Comitatuum (u). The King committed the County of Lincoln to Roger Beler, during his Pleaſure, Rendring CCvj l and a mark for the proficuum of the County. Roger was to make good the Corpus Comitatus (w). The King committed the County of Lancaſter with the Caſtle of Lancaſter to Patric de Holuesby. Patric was to Keep the Caſtle at his own coſt. William Hayrun was his Pledg (x). K. Henry III, in the 42th year of his reign, committed all the Counties of England to the reſpective Sheriffs (y): And again in the 44th year (z). Sometimes the Barons of the Exchequer appointed perſons to be Sheriffs, or, if you pleaſe, letted the Counties at ferm. The Barons of the Exchequer committed the Counties of Salop and Stafford to Hugh de Mortimer. He was to render yearly fourſcore pounds for the proficuum of thoſe Counties, to make good the Corpus Comitatuum, and to anſwer to the King for the reſt of the ferms as other Sheriffs uſed to do (a). At another time (in the reign of K. Edward I), the Barons of the Exchequer, by vertue of a writ of the Great Seal, committedto Matthew de Eggleſhey the County of Devon, during the Kings pleaſure (b). In the 13th or 14th year of That King, the Treaſurer and Barons made an Order for raiſing the Sheriff of Somerſet and Dorſets Ferm (c). Robert de Woddeton was commanded by Writ to come with all ſpeed before the Treaſurer and Barons of the Exchequer, to Do what they ſhould enjoin him on the Kings behalf. He came. And the King committed to him the County of Devon during his pleaſure (d). Moreover, the ſame K. Edward I, anno regni 15°, committed the County of Hereford and the Caſtle to Henry de Solarijs, during Pleaſure, Rendring at the Exchequer So much, de remanente firmæ poſt terras datas, and So much de firma pro proficuo. Henry was commanded to be Manful and Diligent in Keeping the Kings Peace, and not to let any ſuſpected perſons lodg or hold Conventicles in the City of Hereford or elſewhere in his Bailywick; and if any ſuch were found, to arreſt and impriſon

The Counties of Oxon and Berk with the Caſtle of Oxford were committed during Pleaſure to William de Grenvill, upon the like terms: The Counties of Cambridg and Huntendon with the Caſtle of Cambridg, to Hugh de Babington; And the County of Southampton with the Caſtle of Winton and Town of Winton to Ingeram le Walejs, upon the like terms (g). The County of Southamton with the Caſtle of Wincheſter, was committed to Thomas de Warblington during pleaſure, and with the like proviſoes (h). The King committed the County of Glouceſter to John de Langlegh, during his Pleaſure, Rendring as much by the year as Thomas de Gardinis late Sheriff was wont to render for the ſame. All perſons were commanded to be intendant and reſpondent to John de Langlegh in things pertaining to his office. And Thomas de Gardinis was commanded to deliver to the ſaid John the Writs, Summonces, Rolls and other things relating to the ſaid County by Chirograph to be made between them (i). Several Counties and Caſtles were committed by the King to ſeveral perſons, quamdiu Regi placuerit (k). K. Edward II, committed the County of York with the Caſtle of York to John de Crepping, To hold during Pleaſure, Rendring yearly as much as William de Houk late Sheriff rendred. And William de Houk was commanded to deliver the ſaid County to John de Crepping, with the Rolls, Writs, &c, by Indenture (l). The King (30 die octob. anno 1°) committed the Counties of Norfolk and Suffolk together with the Caſtle of Norwich to Thomas de Sancto Omero in like form during Pleaſure; The Counties of Surrey and Suſſex to Walter de Geddyngg, during Pleaſure, in like form (m); And other Counties to others (n). The King by Writ of Privy Seal commanded the Treaſurer, to committ the Caſtle of Norwich, together with the office of Sheriff of That Countrey, to Monſieur Henry de Segrave, after he had taken ſuch Oath as was proper upon That occaſion (o). The King committed to Thomas de la Hyde the County of Cornwall with the appurtenances, and the Caſtles of Tintagel, Reſtormel, and Tremeton, and all his lands and tenements, and the Stannary and Coinage in the ſaid County; to Keep the ſame during pleaſure. Coinage aforeſaid, in things relating to the ſaid Sherifrick and Cuſtody (p). The King appointed Walter Hakelut to be Sheriff of Herefordſhire during his Pleaſure, Rendring yearly at the Exchequer as much as other Sheriffs uſed to render; and gave him power to depute one to execute for him the Office of Sheriff for ſo long as he ſhould continue in the Kings Service in his Houſhold (q).

In the moſt ancient times, the Juſticiers and other Great officers of the Kings Court were frequently made Sheriffs of Counties. Many inſtances of this may be ſeen in ſeveral parts of the preſent Hiſtory (r); ſo that I need not add many others here. In the 5th year of K. Stephen, Richard Baſſet and Alberic de Ver (Great Lords) were Sheriffs of the Counties of Eſſex and Hertford (s), and of ſeveral other Counties (t); they were alſo at the ſame time Juſtices Errant for many of the Counties of England (u). In the Second year of K. Henry II, Richard de Luci was Chief Juſticier, or at leaſt one of the Kings Juſticiers that ſat and acted at the Exchequer. The ſumm of Sixty ſix ſhillings and eight pence was paid by an Accomptant to Salomon the Queens Clerk, and Allowed at the Exchequer, by the precept of Richard de Luci (w). At That time Richard de Luci was Sheriff of Eſſex and Hertfordſhire (x). Anno 20 Hen. 2, Robert Mantel was Sheriff of Eſſex and Hertfordſhire, And a Juſticier Itinerant in thoſe Counties (y). Godfrey de Luci and the Sheriff of Cumberland held Pleas in That County (z). In the Reign of K. Richard I, it was ordained, That no Sheriff ſhould be Juſticier in his own County, or in any other County whereof he had been Sheriff ſince the Kings Firſt Coronation. This was one of the Capitula placitorum Coronæ Regis (or Inſtructions given by the King to the Juſtices Errant); as may be ſeen in Houedene (a). But I think This Order was not obſerved punctually,

(a) Nullus Vicecomes ſit Juſticiarius in Vice-ly, or for any long time after. For in the 8th year of K. Richard I, the Sheriff of Dorſet and Sumerſet acted as a Juſticier Itinerant in thoſe Counties (b). In the 12th year of K. John, Engelard de Cigony Sheriff of Glouceſterſhire acted as a Juſtice Itinerant in That County (c). In the Third year of K. Henry III, Hubert de Burgh was Sheriff of Norfolk and Suffolk (d), And a Juſticier Itinerant in thoſe Counties (e). In the ſame year, he was Sheriff of Kent (f), And the Kings Chief Juſticier (g). In the Fourth year, he was Sheriff of Norfolk and Suffolk (h), And a Juſtice Itinerant in thoſe Counties (i).

Whether the Sheriffs of England in the moſt ancient times, took an Oath to the King, upon entring into their office, I cannot ſay with certainty ; or, (if they did) in What form of words. It appears, that K. Henry III in or about the 42th year of his Reign, cauſed the ſeveral Sheriffs of England to take an Oath in this form : That he would ſerve the King faithfully ; That he would Do Right to all men equally, according to the power veſted in him by his office ; and would not fail, for Love nor for Hate nor for Fear of any one, nor for deſire of Gain, to Do Right as well and as ſoon as he could both to the Poor and to the Rich ; That he would not take any thing, by himſelf or by another, or by any art or device, by reaſon of his Bailywick, except only Meat and Drink ſuch as was wont to be brought to the Table, and but for one day at moſt ; That he would not have above Five horſes at the place where he lodged with any one by reaſon of his Bailywick, nor would lodge with any body that had leſs than Forty pounds a year in Land, nor with any Houſe of Religion that had leſs than a Hundred marks a-year in Land or Rents, nor would lodge with any of the Perſons aboveſaid oftener than Once in the year, or at moſt than Twice, nor Then unleſs at their deſire or with their conſent, and would not draw it into example ; and if he was obliged to lodge there oftner or longer, that he would take no Preſent nor other thing of greater value than twelve pence ; And that he would have with him no more Serjeants than were needful for the ſafe-keeping of his Bailywick ; That he would take ſuch Serjeants as could give him Security upon their Fees, ſo that the Countrey be not overmuch charged with their eating or drinking ; And that they, whilſt they continued in their Bailywicks, ſhould not demand nor receive of any man, Clerk or Lay, Free or Villain, nor of any Religious Houſe or any Town, Lamb, corn, grain, wool, or other moveable, nor money or moneys-worth. (This the Sheriff was to cauſe the Serjeants to ſwear, when he put them into their Bailywick.) At the ſame time, the King ordered, That Counties, Hundreds, Wapentacks, or other Bailywicks of the Realm, ſhould not be let to Ferme ; That if Sheriffs or other Bailiffs were convicted of taking, by reaſon of their Bailywick, any thing more than what is above ſpecified, They, both the Giver and Taker, ſhould be puniſhed for it. And the King alſo commanded, that no perſon, man or woman, ſhould offer promiſe or give any thing to any of his Bailiffs, under pain of being puniſhed for it ; Declaring, that when the Sheriff came to Accompt at the Beginning of the year, the King would Allow him for the reaſonable expenſes of keeping his Bailywick both for himſelf and the reward of

In the 12th year of K. Edward II, a Commiſſion was ſent to the Abbot of Malmſbury, to receive of the Sheriff of Wiltſhire his Oath for his good behaviour in his Office, with the tenour of the ſaid Oath as it is ſet down in the Red Book (prout annotatur in Rubeo libro) (m).

If the King required it, the Sheriff found pledges for his good Service in his office, and for true payment of his Ferm and other iſſues of his County. Walter de Laſcy, Hugh de Mortimer, John de Monemouth, and Walter de Clifford became Sureties to K. Henry III, for Walter de Beauchamp, to wit, that Walter de Beauchamp ſhould ſerve the King faithfully for the future, and ſhould not at any time withdraw from his Service. And the King committed to Walter de Beauchamp, the Caſtle and County of Worceſter; upon Condition, that Walter ſhould hold them for fourteen years after the Kings Full Age, And then ſhould reſign them to the King in as good plight as he received them, if the King ſo pleaſed (n). Matthew Bezill, Ralf de Wilinton Sheriff of Devonſhire, and Nicolas Burdon became Sureties for William de Laſſebergh Sheriff of Glouceſterſhire, That William ſhould faithfully ſerve the King in the office of Sheriff; and that if he was not ſufficient, they would anſwer for him to the King in all things relating to the ſaid office (o). William de Swyneford found Six ſureties, to wit, William de Beaumont and five others, for his faithful ſervice in the office of Sheriff of Norfolk and Suffolk, and for his true payment of the Ferms and other duties (p). The King committed his Counties of Stafford and Salop and his Caſtles of Shrewsbury and Bruges to Hugh de Dacovere, during his Pleaſure. Hugh was to pay Cxxvj l and a mark for the proficuum of the Counties; and was to keep the ſaid Caſtles at his own charges, and to be Allowed out of his Ferm ſo much as the King received for certain Hundreds which were lately fermed-out. Hugh found Two Sureties; and was to find Four more the next time he came to the Exchequer (q). Sir Thomas de Snyterton Knight and Five others came to the Exchequer before the Treaſurers Lieutenant and the Barons, and mainpriſed for Gilbert de Holm Sheriff of the Counties of Bedford and Buckingham, That he ſhould behave himſelf well and truly in the office of Sheriff, and ſhould well and truly anſwer to the King for the Kings Debts and the Fermes of the ſaid Counties; and in the ſaid Mainpriſe they bound themſelves their Lands and tenements goods and chatells (r).

Hitherto I have ſpoken of the manner of conſtituting or appointing Sheriffs to their Office. The Duty of their Office ſhould be conſidered next. And That, I think, may upon a general ſcheme be reduced to three or four heads. It was the Sheriffs Duty, To Do the Juſtice of his County, To keep the publick Peace, To ſtock and improve the Kings Lands, And to Collect the Kings Revenue. There may perhaps be ſome other things pertaining to his Duty; which though not here mentioned, are not deſigned to be excluded. It is not my buſineſs to ſpeak of the Sheriff here as an Officer of Juſtice or a Conſervatour of the Peace. I am to ſpeak of him, as he was the Kings Farmer or Bailiff, and his Collectour of Rents and other revenue. It was (I ſay) part of the Sheriffs Duty to Collect and bring-in the Kings Revenue. This appears from the manner of the Sheriffs accompting, and from many Records cited in this Hiſtory. It was alſo part of the Sheriffs Duty to Stock and Improve the Kings Manours and Lands within his Bailywick. In the Second year of K. Henry II, Richard de Luci Sheriff of Hertfordſhire had Allowance made to him for viij l, which he had disburſed in Stocking the Kings Manours in That County (s). Robert de Stafford Sheriff of Staffordſhire was Allowed xxix l xviij s, which he had laid-out in Stocking the Kings Manours in That County (t). And in the ſame year, other Sheriffs had Allowance for the like disburſements in Their Counties. So it was in other years. Wimar le Chapelein Sheriff of Norfolk and Suffolk ſtocked the Manour of Wick with xviij oxen, Two hundred fourſcore and two ſheep, nine cows &c (u). Alan de Valeines Sheriff of Kent ſtocked the Manour of Mapeleſcamp and other Lands in his County (w). Hugh de Boſco Sheriff of Hanteſhire ſtocked the Kings Lands of Mienes with Catell; to wit, with twelve oxen, each ox at iij s price; an hundred ſheep, each ſheep at iiij d price, &c (x). William de Cantilupe had ix l and ij s diſcompted to him for a deficiency of Stock in the Town of Fekeham, which was part of his Corpus Comitatus (y). Thomas de Cirenceſtre Sheriff of Somerſet and Dorſet ſtocked the Kings Manours within his Bailywick with Catell, Seed-corn, and other things (z). CHAP. XXIII. another, That was to be done with the Kings Leave and Conſent. For example. K. Henry III committed the Counties of Notingham and Derby to Walter Archbiſhop of York. The Archbiſhop deputed Hugh de Babington, to Keep the ſaid Counties under Him. The King by his Writ, ſignified to the Barons of the Exchequer, that he had accepted of the ſaid Deputation, and willed that Hugh ſhould anſwer at the Exchequer for the Archbiſhop (a). Next, of the Accompts of Sheriffs.

It is not eaſy to ſet forth particularly, in What manner the Accompts of Sheriffs were wont to be rendred during the Firſt period. But it ſeems likely, that the method of accompting which was uſed in the beginning of the Second period, was in the main like to the method uſed in the Firſt period. Let us eſſay upon the ſubject. The Accompt of a Sheriff was wont to be divided into certain formal parts. One was called the Profer; another the Viſus Compoti, or View of the accompt; another, Summa, or the making of the Summ. The Profer was a Pre-payment made by the Sheriff out of the iſſues of his Bailywick, twice in the year; as will be ſhewn hereafter (b). The View was the entrance or forepart of the accompt; which ſtood de bene eſſe, whilſt the Sheriff was purifying or liquidating his accompt, by producing his waranta, his warants and vouchers, by vertue whereof he was to have an Allowance or Diſcharge of any ſumms charged on him. Of the View, more is ſaid in another place (c). After the View was made, he proceeded to make or caſt his Summ (d).

The Sheriffs Profer was a Prepayment out of his Ferm and Corpus Comitatus, and out of his proficuum and the Summonces. It was, probably, called Profrum, a proferendo. The King ordered the Profers of the Judaiſm, quantum videlicet quilibet per ſe proferat & ſolvat, to be written in a certain Roll by themſelves (e). In the 41th year Incipient of K. Henry III, a Proviſion or General Rule was made by the King, That all Sheriffs ſhould come in Perſon to the Exchequer, on the Morrow of St. Michael and on the Morrow of the Cloſe of Eaſter, to make their Profer according to the ancient cuſtome of the Exchequer; or otherwiſe ſhould be Amerced, viz. the Firſt, Second, Third, and Fourth day, at C s, and the Fifth day at the Kings Pleaſure: And that all Fermers who ought to Anſwer per manus ſuas, as well for Burghs as for other Demeanes of the King, ſhould come in Perſon at the ſaid Terms, to Anſwer for their Ferms and other Debts, Or otherwiſe that every Mayor of a City, or Fermer of a Burgh or other of the Kings Demeanes, ſhould be Amerced at five marks for the Firſt, Second, Third, and Fourth day, and that for the Fifth days default the City, Burgh, or other Demeane ſhould be taken into the Kings hand, not to be reſtored but at the Kings Pleaſure: And that every of the Kings own Bailiffs or Fermers ſhould be Amerced for every Day within the Fifth day at C s, like as if he were a Sheriff: And for diſobedience to this Proviſion, the City of York was taken into the Kings hand (f). K. Henry III, in the 55th year of his reign, commanded the Barons to certify him forthwith, whether all the Sheriffs had made their Profer at the Exchequer or not, and Who had and Who had not, and for How much each Sheriff had made that anciently the Sheriff uſed to make his Profer in perſon. But his perſonal appearance was often diſpenſed-with. In the 26th year of K. Edward I, the Treaſurer granted to Gilbert de Knovill Sheriff of Devon leave to make his profer by one of his Clerks. And Richard de Branteſcumbe made the profer for him (n). In the 31th year of K. Edward I, the Treaſurer ſent a Letter to the Barons, deſiring them to admitt Thomas de la Funtaigne to Do the Profer for the Sheriffs of London (o). In the firſt year of K. Edward II, Alexander de Baſtonthwait Sheriff of Cumberland being ſo occupyed in the Kings Buſineſs within his Bailywick, viz. in helping to keep the Peace in the Marches of Scotland, that he could not come to the Exchequer, to make his Profer in perſon on the Morrow of the Cloſe of Eaſter: The King by Privy Seal commands the Treaſurer and Barons to let him make his Profer by Attorney, for this time (p). The ſame K. Edward II, (anno regni 12) commanded the Barons of the Exchequer by his Writ, To receive ſuch perſon as Monſieur William de Beauchamp Sheriff of Worceſterſhire ſhould put in his place, to make his Profer on the morrow of St. Michael, and to forbear putting him in default for not coming in perſon; He being Then in the Kings Service (q). The like Writs iſſued on behalf of ſeveral other Sheriffs (r).

Of the View of an Accompt. In the 15th year of K. Henry II, Geoffrey de Ver entred upon his Accompt for the Honour of the Conſtabularia; And this (ſaith the Record) was a View only, per verum dictum ipſius, and not an Accompt; becauſe Geoffrey had not yet got his Warants (or Writs) of Diſcount or Allowance for the Terræ datæ and other things (s). In the 16th year, he made a View of his Accompt for the ſame Honour for the ſaid 16th year, by William his Clerk, upon the ſaid Williams Verumdictum. But the ſumms which he claimed were not actually allowed to him, becauſe he had not as yet obtained his warantum Regis (t). In the 21th year of the ſame King, Robert de Stutevill Sheriff of Yorkſhire made a View of his Accompt for certain priſes and perquiſites ariſing from the Kings Demeanes in That County and otherwiſe, per verumdictum ſuum (u). In the 8th year of K. Richard I, the Sheriffs of England made the Views of their Accompts at the Exchequer in Eaſter-term: As appeareth by the entries remaining in a Cedule annexed to the Great Roll of That year (w). In the 7th year of K. John, the ſeveral Sheriffs of England

England made the Views of their Accompts at the Exchequer in Eaſter-term. Memorandums thereof are entred in a Cedule annext to the Great Roll of the Pipe remaining in the Tower of London (x). In the 31th year of K. Henry III, William de Liſle Sheriff of Northamtonſhire had a View of his Accompt made. Upon the View he owed de claro, xxxix l v s viij d ob.: He ſwore to the Marſhall for it: and had Day over (y). In the 36th year of the ſame King, Views were made of ſeveral Sheriffs accompts in Eaſter-term; to wit, of Herefordſhire, Norfolk, Suffolk, and others (z). In the 42th year of That King, a View was made of the Accompt of William Herun late Sheriff of Northumberland. He was charged with certain arrerages, and profits of Iters; and after due allowances had been made to him, he remained in Debet, DCCiiij l xviij s (a). In the 49th year, a View was made of the accompt of Ralf Ruſſell late Sheriff of Wiltſhire. He owed de claro, Lxv l and odd. Whereof, he was to pay at the Exchequer or in the Kings Wardrobe, xxx l at Midlent; and the reſidue when he made up his Summ. He had Day given him, viz. the Quinzime of Eaſter, to make his Summ (b). In the 1ſt year of K. Edward I, Hugh de Penne enterd upon his Accompt for the Queens Wardrobe, by the Teſtimony and Controll of Alexander de Bradeham the Queens Chaplain (c): And This (ſaith the Record) was only a View, and not an Accompt; becauſe the Accomptant had not his proper Vouchers to produce (d). In the 18th year of K. Edward I, a View was made of the debts of Thomas de Pin late Sheriff of Devonſhire. He was in Debet, MCCxj l and odd. There were put in View to him ſevenhundred fourſcore and four pounds and a mark, which were paid into the Exchequer by four Dividend tallies, ten pounds for carriage of the money ariſing by the Diſme of the Clergy; and other ſumms (e). In the 5th year of K. Edward II, upon the Accompt rendred at the Exchequer, of the Triennial Diſme impoſed by the Pope on the Clergy, a View was made in this manner: The Onus was 62, 491 l 10 s: Whereof, there was anſwered by Countertallies 38, 992 l 6 s; Put in View to the Accomptants 10, 451 l 13 d; Delivered to William Teſta in part of the Fourth reſerved to the Pope

Pope — &c (f). In the 15th year of the ſame King, in Eaſter term, upon a View made of the Accompt of Humphrey de Baſſingburn Sheriff of Northamtonſhire for the firſt half of this fifteenth year, he charged himſelf with xlvj s xj d the remanent of the Blank ferm of the County, which is valued by Tale after the Terræ datæ in the Great Roll; and with L marks the ferm of the proficuum of the County; but he doth not charge himſelf with the ferms of Serjanties and other ſmall ferms, becauſe, he ſaith, they are to be levied at Michaelmaſs (g). In Eaſter term in the ſame 15th year, upon a View made of the Accompt of John de Tychebourne late Sheriff of Wiltſhire for the firſt half of this year, he chargeth himſelf with Lxv l v s vij d q. for all the Blank ferms of the County, and for the ferm for the proficuum, deducting the yearly Allowances; but he doth not charge himſelf with any minute ferms, becauſe they are not levyable till Michaelmaſs; he alſo chargeth himſelf with other money levied by vertue of the Summonce: The Summ of the Onus or Charge put-together is, Cxv l xviij s vij d ob.; Whereof there were reſpited to him ſuch and ſuch ſumms &c (h).

Of the Summ. In the 22th year of K. Henry III, the Sheriff of Suſſex had Day given him to caſt his Summ, and pay his arerages (i). In the 41th year of K. Henry III, the Sheriff of Devonſhire had Day given him to make his Summ. Which he did make accordingly (k). In the 52th year of the ſame King, upon making the Summ of John de Oketon Sheriff of York, he was in Debet Lxxviij l iiij s j d, for the firma pro proficuo and the remanens firmæ of his County, which he could not levy becauſe of the Civil wars &c (l). ſame King, another Sheriff had his Summ made-up. Upon It, he owed CLvj l xv d ob.; for which he was committed priſoner to the Flete. Afterwards, there was xx l, which he had paid by Dividend tally, put to him in View. Then he owed Cxxxvj l xv d ob.; for which he was committed to the Marſhall. Afterwards, he had Day given him to pay it at his Profer; ſo that his Profer was not to be leſſened by it (o). In the 18th and 19th years of the ſame King, the Community of the City of London accompted [for the Citizens]. Upon making their Summ, they were indebted thirteen thouſand two hundred and five pounds three pence half penny. From which, deducting twenty thouſand marks, they were indebted Dxxxviij l vj s xj d ob. And becauſe all the Aldermen of the ſaid City were not preſent, Day was given them, to wit, the octaves of St. Michael, to anſwer for the ſaid Debts (p). On the morrow of St. Michael in the 9th year of K. Edward II, Stephen de Abyndon and Hamon de Chigwell Sheriffs of London and Middleſex came to accompt. Upon their Summ, they were indebted xij l xiij s ij d. There was put to them in View xxix s ij d, which they had paid out of the ferm of their City to Peter Fabre of Montpelier Keeper of the Kings Lion in the Tower of London, and for maintenance of the Kings Leopard There; And then they were indebted, iij d (q). It is to be underſtood, that the Sheriffs Summ was made at the End of his Accompt. No Sheriff (ſaith the Record cited hereunder) rendring his Accompt here, ought to offer at getting an allowance of his Tallies, or to deſire that the Summ of his accompt, which is the End of his accompt, may be made-up, untill he hath fully accompted for all the Summonces of the Exchequer relating to his County, and for all his Receipts. And ſome Accomptants were impriſoned for acting againſt this Rule (r).

There is another way of conſidering the manner or form of a Sheriffs Accompt: And That is, as the Accompt ſtands in the Great Roll. In which reſpect it conſiſted (when he accompted ut Firmarius), of ſeveral parts; namely, the Corpus Comitatus; the remanens firmæ after the Terræ datæ; the crementum if there was any ſuch; the proficuum or firma de proficuo; the iſſues of eſcheats and purpreſtures; Fines, Oblatas, Amerciaments, of divers ſorts; Eſcuages, Aids, Tallages, and Caſual profits; Ferms or iſſues of Towns, Burghs, Gilds, or lands which were within the Sheriffs Charge; and the like. The Corpus Comitatus conſiſted of ſeveral Manours and lands, which being letten or committed together unto the Sheriff, made the fund out of which the annual ferm to the Crown aroſe. Thoſe Manours and lands were ſuch as lay within the Sheriffs County. It was So in general. But (I cannot tell by what accident) there were anciently certain Manours lying in Cornwall, which belonged to the Ferm of Devonſhire; For example; In the fifth year of K. Henry II (s), in in the 18th year of the ſame King (t), in the 7th year of King Richard I (u), and in the tenth year of K. Edward I (w). In proceſs of time, the Kings charged the Manours or lands which made-up the Corpus Comitatus, with certain payments of Alms, and Liveries, called Eleemoſynæ and Liberationes conſtitutæ; and the Kings alſo granted away part of the ſaid lands. Hence came the diſtinction of the Terræ datæ. For when ſeveral of the lands out of which the Sheriffs ferm ſhould ariſe, were granted away; it was fit the Sheriff ſhould have allowance or deduction, for ſo much as the Terræ datæ amounted-to or bore in the Corpus Comitatus. Accordingly, it was the uſage to make ſuch deduction. And the ſumm to be anſwered-for by the Sheriff after That deduction, was called Remanens firmæ poſt Terras datas. For example. In the 9th year of K. Henry III, William Earl of Warenne accompted as Sheriff of Surrey. After a deduction had been made for the Terræ datæ, his Summ or Debt was, fourſcore and five pounds ſeventeen ſhillings and ſix pence Blank. This ſumm was extended at fourſcore and ten pounds three ſhillings and four pence by Tale. And the ſaid extended ſumm is called There in the Great Roll, the Remanens firmæ or firmarum (x). In the ſecond year of K. Henry II, Henry de Oilli accompted for the Ferm of Oxfordſhire. He paid part of it into the Receipt. And had allowance or deduction of other part, for conſtituted Alms, and Liveries or Penſions; and likewiſe for the Terræ datæ; to wit, to the Earl of Flanders Lxxvj l Blank in Bentun, with C s for Wich; to Hugh de Plugenoi xlij l x s Blank in Hedendon; to the Abbeſs of Godſtowe C s Blank in Hedendon; to Henry de Oxinefort L s Blank in the ſame town; to Richard de Luci xx l by Tale in Blocheſham &c. The ſumm of the Terræ datæ was Cxxvj l Blank and Lxxvij l viij s by Tale (y). The Lands thus granted away, were ſometimes ſaid to be miſſæ extra Comitatum put out of the County; that is, ſeparated from the Sheriffs Corpus Comitatus; as in the caſe of Richard de Canvill Sheriff of Berkſhire (z). Beſides the Terræ datæ, there were ſeveral conſtant and ſettled payments wont to be made by the Sheriff out of his Corpus Comitatus. Such were the Eleemoſynæ conſtitutæ, the Liberationes conſtitutæ (as hath been ſaid above) and the Tertius denarius Comitatus &c. There were alſo ſome Caſual payments: Such as, Occaſional diſburſements or Proviſions of various ſorts, Maintenance of Approvers, and the like. As to the Eleemoſynæ and Liberationes conſtitutæ, and as to the ſaid occaſional diſburſements, many examples of all Theſe may be ſeen in this Volume. Omitting them, I will here only add a few inſtances concerning the Tertius denarius, and the Terræ datæ. Earl Patrick, who was both Earl and Sheriff of Wiltſhire, had xxij l xvj s vij d allowed to him upon his Accompt, for the Tertius denarius Comitatus (a). Richard Earl of Devon had xviij l vj s and viij d by tale paid to him for the Tertius denarius, by William de Boterells Sheriff of Devonſhire (b). Earl Geoffrey [de Mandevill] had xl l x s x d, And the Earl of Clare xxxiij l xx d, paid to them reſpectively for the Third penny of the Counties of Eſſex and Hertford, by Maurice de Tiretai Sheriff of thoſe Counties (c). Earl William de Mandevill had xx l v s v d, and the Earl of Clare xvj l x s x d, paid to them reſpectively for

In another year, the ſaid Earls of Eſſex and of Clare had their reſpective Third penny paid to them by the Sheriff of the ſame Counties (e). Geoffrey Fitz-Pier Earl of Eſſex had likewiſe his Third penny of That County paid him by the Sheriff (f): and the ſame Earl Geoffrey again (g): and William de Vernun Earl of Devon in like manner (h). So, Walter de Shelfhangre Sheriff of Norfolk had Allowance made to him upon his Accompt, for the Third Penny of That County payable to Earl Roger le Bygot (i). And Iſabell ſiſter and heir of Baldwin del Iſle late Earl of Devon, had xviij l and half a mark paid to her for [the arrere of] the Yearly Fee [or Third penny] of That County (k). If the Tertius denarius was withheld or not duly paid by the Sheriff, the Earl to whom it was due might have a Writ ordering payment of it. K. Henry III, by his Writ commanded the Barons of the Exchequer to cauſe the Third penny of the County of Surrey to be paid to John de Warenne, in like manner as his Father and other Anceſtours uſed to receive it (l). K. Edward I, by his Writ commanded the Sheriff of Lincolnſhire to pay to Henry de Lacy Earl of Lincoln the Third penny of That County, as the ſaid Earl and his Anceſtours were wont to receive the ſame (m). And the Treaſurer and Barons awarded a Writ to the Sheriff of Devonſhire, for paying the Yearly Fee of That County to Hugh de Courtney (n).

The principal part of the Sheriffs ferm aroſe out of the Corpus Comitatus. The Corpus Comitatus conſiſted of ſeveral aſſiſed lands or rents, which, when put ogether, made the total ſumm that was called by That name. And they had a way to compute the value of the ſeveral things that made-up the Corpus Comitatus, whenſoever part thereof was granted away, and when thereupon a deduction of ſo much came to be made out of the Sheriffs ferm. In making this valuation, they uſed to ſay, ſuch a Manour or Land portat in Corpore Comitatus ſo much. Thus the Manour of Hedindon bore or amounted to L l in the Corpus Comitatus. The L l was divided thus.

thus. To the Abbeſs of Godſtowe C s, to Geoffrey le Flechier L s, and to Thomas Baſſet xlij l x s (o). The Sheriff of Somerſet and Dorſet is commanded to enquire by Oath of lawful men, How much the town of Brideport beareth in the Corpus Comitatus at the Exchequer, and How much it uſed to bear in the time of the Kings predeceſſours (p). And in another caſe, it was judged upon computation, that xv l in Gaynz and xl s in the Foreign hundred of Rading ought not to be allowed to the Sheriff of Berkſhire, becauſe he had, without them, enough in aſſiſed lands to make-up the full ſumm of his Corpus Comitatus, with v s over and above (q). If the King granted to any man a Manour Lands or other profits which were part of the Corpus Comitatus, or of the Settled proficuum of the County, the Sheriff was wont to have upon his Accompt an Allowance or Diſcompt de tanto. Richard de Canvill had a Deduction made to him out of the Ferm of Berkſhire for the Terræ datæ, the Lands granted away or put out of the Corpus Comitatus, to the value of one hundred fourſcore and ſixteen pounds Blank, and Two hundred twenty ſix pounds and a mark by Tale (r). The Manour of Writele was part of the Corpus Comitatus of Eſſex. The King granted ſome franchiſes to John Fitz William and Walter de Hadfeld; by which means the ſaid Manour decreaſed in its yearly value. cheatour or Cuſtos (x). The Mannour of Benſenton in Oxfordſhire (which had been part of the Corpus Comitatus) was extended or valued at C l at the timewhen it was granted-out to Robert de Harecurt. And whereas That extent was More by xlij l xij s per annum than the ſumm (viz. Lvij l viij s) which was wont to be Allowed to the Sheriff in the Corpus Comitatus whilſt the Manour was in the ſaid Roberts hands: When the Manour reverted to the Crown the Sheriff of Oxfordſhire was charged for it upon his Accompt at the rate of the ſaid Extent (y). And K. Henry III granted to Walter Biſhop of Worceſter Cogniſance of Pleas de vetito namio, with the profits ariſing from thence, which had been formerly part of the Proficuum Comitatus, whereby the ſaid Proficuum was lowered in value iiij l yearly. So the King by his writ commanded the Barons to Allow iiij l yearly to the Sheriff of Worceſterſhire in his Ferm in reſpect of That Deduction (z). The Sheriff of Eſſex and Hertfordſhire was diſcharged of the proficuum of his Counties; Becauſe the res aſſiſæ, pleas, and perquiſites of the Counties were not ſufficient to make up the value of the Corpus Comitatuum (a).

There were in ancient time two ways of committing a County to the Sheriff, namely, either at Ferm or in Cuſtody. This difference in committing the County made a Difference in ſome particulars in the Sheriffs accompt. The Sheriff that was Fermer was charged abſolutely with the Ferm of his County, and with the Crementum; if there was any, and if he accepted the County upon thoſe terms; and with a ferm for the proficuum of the County. But the Sheriff that was Cuſtos was not abſolutely charged to anſwer in the ſame manner. For he was but a kind of a proficuarius, or Bailiff. John Bucuinte had the Sherivalty of London and Middleſex committed to him upon this condition, that he ſhould have all thoſe ſumms Allowed to him upon his Accompt at the Exchequer, which were deducted out of the profits of the Counties by vertue of the Kings Charters of Quitance made to the Clergy and the Barons (b). Henry de Colevile Sheriff of Cambridg and Huntendon was to Accompt to the King at the Exchequer as Cuſtos of thoſe Counties and not as Fermer (c). Hugh ſon of Otho, Robert de Cornhull, and Thomas de Baſing, Sheriffs and Committees of the City of London whilſt it was in the Kings hands, accompted as Cuſtodes (d).. his County, and to be diſcharged of the Ferme (e). Again Henry de Audley Sheriff of Shropſhire (anno 13. H. 3.) had the whole Proficuum of That County for That year granted or allowed to him, for the Cuſtody of the County and of the Caſtles of Shrewsbury and Bridges: And the Like for Staffordſhire (f). Walter de Glouceſter late Sheriff and Improver of the Counties of Somerſet and Dorſet was indebted to the King upon his Accompt, in certain ſumms of money de remanenti firmæ, and de remanenti proficui, and de Auxilio Vicecomitis. Theſe ſumms the King, of his ſpecial grace, remitted to him, in conſideration of his Good Service, and of his expenſes in his Office; and commanded the Barons to make him an Allowance thereof (g).

It being the Ancient courſe to write the Kings Debts in the Great Roll afreſh every year, in order to charge the Sheriff therewith: This became very burdenſome to the Officers of the Exchequer concerned in That ſervice; eſpecially where Debts were Deſperate or ſtood long in Charge: And was at the ſame time of little or no Advantage to the Crown. For remedy of this inconvenience, a form of a Proviſion was drawn up by the Treaſurer and Barons of the Exchequer, and preſented to the King. On the morrow of St. Scholaſtica in the 54th year of K. Henry III, That Form of a Proviſion was read, debated, and approved before the King, and his Council, to wit, Richard King of the Romans, Walter Archbiſhop of York, Godfrey Biſhop of Worceſter, Prince Edward, William de Valencia the Kings Brother, Roger de Mortimer, Philipp Baſſet, Henry de Alemannia, Robert Aguillon, Robert Walerand, and other Magnates of the Kings Council. The Proviſion related chiefly to the manner of entring the Sheriffs accompt in the Great Roll, and of charging him with the Kings Ferms and Debts. Firſt (ſaith it) let the Corpus Comitatus be written [in the Great Roll], then the ſettled Alms and Liveries, and the Warants for the Sheriffs disburſements. Then charge the Sheriff with the ferm for the proficuum of his County or with the proficuum. Then write all the Ferms both great and ſmall, and all attermined debts, each in their proper order. In like manner write all Great Debts or other Known or Cleer debts down to the uſual Title, Nova Oblata. After That title, charge the Debts contained in the Originals which the Sheriffs take in charge upon their Returns of Writs or their Appoſals. Let the Sheriffs be diligently appoſed concerning all other debts. If the Sheriff hath levied no part of them, let them ſtand in the Roll, and the letter D be ſet againſt each Debtours name. At the end of the Sheriffs accompt yearly, let this title be written, The Debts of ſundry perſons having the letter D ſet before their names in ſuch a Roll; which are to go out in Summonce yearly. And afterwards let them go-out in Summonce accordingly. If the Sheriff receive any part of ſuch debts, then let the letter D be taken away, and write, He [the Debtour] anſwereth in the Great Roll. And let ſuch debts be put in charge There, and the Debtours be diſcharged. This was the ſumm of the Proviſion. And the ſame, being ratified by the King and his Council, was ſent to the Treaſurer and Barons of the Exchequer, and they by a writ of the Great Seal were commanded to act according to the tenour thereof (h). This Proviſion was purſued; as appeareth by the Form uſed in the Great Roll of the

the three and fiftieth year of K. Henry III, in the County of Glouceſter (i), and in the reſt of the Counties of England. The like form was uſed in the 55th year of That King, in the Counties of Norfolk and Suffolk (k), and the reſt of the Counties: And in the 10th (l), and the 12th years of K. Edward I (m). In the 12th year of K. Edward I, a Writ Patent under the Great Seal was ſent to the Treaſurer, Barons, and Chamberlains of the Exchequer, whereby it was Ordered, That for the future, the Corpus Comitatus of each County ſhould not be written every year afreſh in the Great Roll but in a particular Roll by it ſelf, and out of That Roll ſhould be read every year to the Sheriff upon his Accompt. But that the Remanens firmæ after the Terræ datæ ſhould be written in the Great Roll every year, and the Sheriff charged therewith. That there ſhould be a View in the Exchequer to ſettle the Allowances which were fit to be made to Sheriffs, And that after ſuch View made, the Treaſurer and Barons ſhould make a Certificate to the Kings Chancellour, upon which Certificate the Chancellour ſhould cauſe Writs to iſſue for Allowances to be made to the Sheriff. That in the Great Roll there ſhould be written the Sheriffs Ferm, the proficuum of the County, the Ferms of Serjanties and Aſſarts, the Ferms of Cities Burghs and Towns, and other yearly Ferms. That in the ſame there ſhould be written all Debts atterminated, all Sperate and Clear Debts. And when in writing the Great Roll they came to the Title of Nova Oblata, no Debts ſhould be charged in the Great Roll of every year, except thoſe of which the Sheriff levied ſomewhat, or thoſe which were found in the Originals and ſeemed to be Clear Debts. But that for Dead Ferms and Deſperate Debts, a particular Roll ſhould be made for each County; which Roll ſhould be read yearly upon the Sheriffs Accompt, And if the Sheriff levied any of thoſe Debts, then the ſame ſhould be written ten in the Great Roll and There Diſcharged. There are alſo in this Writ Patent ſeveral other Directions, touching the producing and Allowance of Tallies of Acquittance given by Sheriffs to the Kings Debtours, touching Dividend-tallies to be made at the Receipt, and touching the holding of Common Pleas in the Exchequer (n). By vertue of this Writ, in the following years of this King, the Corpus Comitatus of each County was written by it ſelf in a ſeparate Roll. And in That Roll the Dead Ferms and Deſperate Debts were alſo entred. Thus in the 13th year of K. Edward I, the Corpus Comitatus of Notinghamſhire and Derbyſhire is left out of the Great Roll, and referred-to as entred in the ſeparate Roll appointed for That purpoſe. And then the Sheriff of thoſe Two Counties accompts for the Remanens firmæ of his Counties; and ſo gos on with his Accompt in the uſual manner (o). The like was done in this 13th year, by the other Sheriffs of England. And the Corpus Comitatus of each County being left out of the Great Roll; the Accompt of each Sheriff beginns, Corpus hujus Comitatus annotatur &c. And afterwards, viz. in the 22th year of K. Edward I, the Sheriffs Accompt uſually begann with the Remanens firmæ after the Terræ datæ. So the Accompt of the Sheriff of Glouceſter begann (p); And the Accompt of the Sheriff of Notingham and Derbyſhire (q); And the Accompts of other Sheriffs in That year.

Sometimes the Sheriffs have craved Allowances to be made to them upon their Accompts, according to the equity of their caſes. Geoffrey le Rus who was Sheriff of the Counties of Bedford and Buckingham, in the 50th year of K. Henry III, prayed to have Allowance made to him upon his Accompt of ſeveral Items, viz. For the Res aſſiſæ of his Bailywick taken from him by the Turbulent Barons, For the Horſes and Arms he had bought and other expenſes he had been at in keeping the Peace by the command of Prince Edward, For the Loſs he ſuſtained by reaſon of the Kings Service in the burning of his Houſes and Corn, For the Horſes, Arms, Clothes, and other goods, of which he was deſpoiled at his Manour of Hendon by John de Eyville and other Barons, For ſome of the Kings money then in his hands of which he was plundered by the ſaid Barons, For the Defect in the Perquiſites of the Counties, occaſioned by the Inteſtine war, And for ſo much time as he wanted to make the year of his Sherivalty complete (r).

The Sheriffs were wont to accompt for the whole time that they held their Baylivick, whether it was a quarter of a year, half a year, or a whole year. In proceſs of time, they generally accompted from Michaelmaſs in one year, to Michaelmaſs in next year. In the firſt year of K. Edward II, Thomas de Burnham Sheriff of Lincolnſhire accompted to the Crown for the iſſues of his office, viz., from the feaſt of St. Michael in the 34th year finient and 35th year incipient of K. Edward I, untill the 7th day of July to wit the day of the Tranſlation of St. Thomas the Martyr in the ſaid 35th year; upon which day K. Edward I died, and upon which day his Son and heir K. Edward II begann to reign; and from the ſaid day of the Tranſlation until the feaſt of St. Michael then next following. And in That year ſeveral other Sheriffs accompted in the ſame manner (s). Hereditary Sheriffs accompted at the Exchequer in the ſame manner as other Sheriffs did. Thomas de Lancaſtre Earl of Lancaſter, Son and heir of Edmund Brother to K. Edward I, Sheriff in Fee of Lancaſter, accompted for the Kings Debts and the Ferm of the County of Lancaſter in the uſual manner (t). The like was done by other Sheriffs in Fee.

K. Edward I ordained, that the Sheriffs ſhould be Eſcheatours in their reſpective Counties. Accordingly, Bogo de Knovile Sheriff of Shropſhire and Staffordſhire accompted for the Kings Eſcheats within thoſe Counties (u): Alexander de Kirketon Sheriff of Yorkſhire, for the Eſcheats of his County (w); And other Sheriffs for the Eſcheats of their Counties.

III. It is to be known, That there were anciently ſeveral Aſſiſes or Rules obſerved in the Exchequer, touching the rendring of Accompts, and the levying and getting-in of the Kings Rights and Credits. Some of them do hereunder follow. For example. If a man held a Bailywick under the King, and executed it by a ſubſtitute; The immediate Baillee, and not the ſubſtitute, was to paſs the accompt for the iſſues of ſuch Bailywick. Alberic de Billingſgate was charged with Lxxij s and iiij d, for the Cuſtomes of Billingſgate, Botulfsgate, and Gracechurch in London. But it was adjudged, that William de Haverhell ſhould account for the ſame; Becauſe William had That Bailywick from the King, And Alberic from William (x). Gilbert Carbunel ſtood charged with xxv l Blank, an arerage of the Ferm of London for a year longſince paſt. was put into That bailywick by Earl William [de Mandevill] who was the Kings immediate baillee; and in regard Geoffrey Fitz Pierre did now enjoy Earl Williams Land, the ſaid debt was ſet-off from Gilbert and charged upon Geoffrey (y). John de Craft Bailiff or Receiver under Almaric de St. Amand was charged as Debtor to the King for certain money received by him: But in regard John was not the Kings Immediate Bailiff, the Heir of Almaric was ordered to accompt for the ſame (z). Thomas de Camvill came before the Barons to render an account as Cuſtos of the Manour of Wyham. But foraſmuch as he had not the Cuſtody thereof immediately from the King, but from Walter de Burgh, the Barons ordered Walter, who was the Kings immediate Baillee, to render the Account (a).

IV. The ſtated Accompts were wont to be rendred regularly in courſe every year. Inſomuch that ſometimes, if an Accompt hapned to be poſtponed, a Memorandum was made thereof, as well pro commodo Regis, as for preſerving the uſual Order of Accompting. As in the caſe of William de Braioſe (b).

V. In general, Accomptants were obliged to come in perſon to render their Accompts. If they made an Attorney to Accompt for them, it was uſual to have the Kings Leave for it. Sometimes the Accomptant nominated his Attorney before the King: And thereupon the King by his Writ commanded the Treaſurer and Barons to admitt ſuch perſon as Attorney accordingly. But ſometimes, eſpecially towards the Latter part of the Second Period, the Accomptants Attorney was admitted by Warant or Leave of the Treaſurer, Chancellour of the Exchequer, or Barons, or one of them. John de Gateſden Sheriff of Suſſex Attorned one before the King, to anſwer for him at the Exchequer touching his Sherivalty: And the King commanded the Barons to admitt the Attorney thereto (c). The Abbot of Waltham having appointed, before the King, Two perſons to be his Attorneys, to Claim his Franchiſes in the Exchequer, The King by his Writ commands the Barons to receive them as Such (d). (t) Baronibus, pro Rogero de Ingepenne Vicecomite Cornubiæ. Quia idem Vicecomes a partibus Cornubiæ hijs diebus recedere non poteſt abſq; dampno E. Comitis Cornubiæ, propter Providentias quas contra adventum ipſius Comitis ad partes Cornubiæ fieri ex præcepto ejuſdem Comitis neceſſario oportebit, per quod coram Baronibus in Scaccario in inſtanti quindena S. Johannis Baptiſtæ ad compotum ſuum reddendum comparere non poteſt, ſicut ei ſignificarunt: Rex mandat Baronibus, quod Johannem Hommeden & Gilbertum de Berkhamſted, vel eorum alterum quem præſentem eſſe contigerit, loco prædicti Rogeri ad compotum illum pro prædicto Vicecomite reddendum recipiant hac vice, de gratia Regis ſpeciali. being Sick, the King by Privy Seal commanded the Treaſurer and Barons, to receive an Attorney or Attorneys to accompt for Gilbert at the Exchequer: And he made Attorneys accordingly (u). The like permiſſion for a Sheriff to accompt by his Clerk was given by Writ of the Privy Seal, to John de Nevill Sheriff of Lincolnſhire; he being then attending, by the Kings leave, upon certain affairs of the Earl of Waremne (w). Nor is it to be wondred, that the admiſſion of Attorneys to act in accompts and other buſineſs at the Exchequer, ſhould be ſo frequently regulated and directed by the Kings Writs; for in ſeveral caſes wherein the King was not (for what appears) any way concerned, namely in Pleas between party and party, Attorneys were many times appointed or conſtituted in the Kings preſence or by his permiſſion. Herbert de Venaiſon Attorned one in his ſtead ad lucrandum and perdendum, in a Plea of Detinue moved between Him and Richard le Avener (x). This Caſe of Herbert de Venaiſon being inſerted in the Norman Roll of Oblatas, it is likely his Attorney was nominated by the Kings permiſſion, and for a Fine paid to the King upon That occaſion. Maſter William de Riparijs, when he ſtayed in England by the Kings leave, came before the King, and remmoved John atte Merſh (whom he had formerly attorned together with John Petipas) from being one of his General Attorneys in Ireland; and in the room of John atte Merſh he ſubſtituted Roger le Curtays, together with the ſaid John Petipas ſub alternatione, to be his Attorneys ad lucrandum &c in all Pleas and ſuits in Ireland. This Letter of Attorney was to laſt until the feaſt of St. Calixtus, and from thence for a year complete. This tranſaction was declared by Duplicated Letters of the Great Seal (y). And, as I remember, ſome other inſtances of the like kind do occurr in Records.

Sometimes alſo, Attorneys were made by Accomptants without any Writ or Precept from the King, for ought that appears. As in the caſes of the ſeveral Sheriffs and other Accomptants hereafter named; to wit, In the caſe of William de Bickely (z), Robert de Meyſey (a), John de Albernun (b), Alan la Zuche (c), W. Archbiſhop of York Sheriff of the Counties of Notingham and Derby (d), Walter de Shelſhanger (e), Gregory de Rokeſle (f), John de Kirkeby (g), Robert de Clifford and Idonea de Leyburne, Sheriffs in Fee of Weſt-

VI. Accompts were to be rendred at the Exchequer upon Oath. When the Accomptant had been Sworn de fideli compoto reddendo, he entred upon and went through his Accompt. In ſome Records mention is made of the Accomptants anſwering at the Exchequer per Fidem or per verumdictum. Whether this Fides and verumdictum was the ſame with an Oath, or in what reſpect different from it, I am not prepared to determine. But I am enclined to think, it was rather a Voire dire, or a Declaration upon their Faith or Allegiance, than an Oath. The Sheriff of Eſſex and Hertfordſhire accounted for the eſcuage of the Honour of Peverell of London, per verumdictum ſuum (u). The Sheriff of Norfolk and Suffolk anſwered at the Exchequer per fidem, touching an Amercement of CC l ſet upon William de Merlai (w). The Sheriff of Cumberland anſwered per verumdictum, touching an eſcuage charged on Lambert de Muleton who married the eldeſt daughter and heir of Richard de Lucy (x); and others in like manner mutatis mutandis. Again, ſometimes the Stewards of the Nobility were admitted to anſwer for their Lords at the Exchequer, per verumdictum or per fidem ſuam, in their Accompts or affairs depending There. For example. Randulf de Glanvill made a View of his accompt for Weſtmerland for three years, by Reiner his Dapifer: And Reiner entred upon his accompt per verumdictum ſuum (y). The Earl of Leiceſters Dapifer anſwered at the Exchequer on his Lords behalf, per verumdictum, concerning certain Small Fees of Moreton (z). This anſwering by Dapifers or Stewards was, I ſuppoſe, owing to the Kings favour (a). And as the Barons at the Exchequer, ſo the Sheriffs in their Counties uſed frequently to give credit to the Stewards of Great Lords, when they declared per fidem on behalf of their Lords touching debts which they owed to the King: as in the caſe of William de Areci (b) and others. But in proceſs of time there was found to be ſome inconvenience in That practice. So it proved in a caſe relating to Robert de Tateſhal. The King commanded the Sheriff of Lincolnſhire to levy upon Roberts chatells Lxx l xv s, which he owed to the King, and for the future not to believe the Steward of any Baron barely upon his Fides, where the Kings debts were concerned (c).

VII. Where one was indebted to the King and likewiſe to other perſons, the Kings Debt was to be preferred in payment; that is, The King was to be paid before any other Creditour of the party. This was the Law and aſſiſe of the Exchequer; As appeareth, In the caſe of the Executours of R. de Chaucumb and Stephen Croc (d), the Abbot of Forde Executour of Robert de Curtenay (e),

Oxford gave ſecurity to pay unto the King the debts due to him, from their teſtatour; and thereupon, adminiſtration of the Earls goods was granted to them (s). In like manner mutatis mutandis, adminiſtration was granted to the Executours of Bartholomew Caſtle (t); the executours of John de Somerſete (u); the executours of Walter de Luveny (w); the Executours of Walter de Monci (x); and the executour of Henry de Say (y). Tis true, from the caſe of William and of Mary de Brewoſe, as it ſtands in Ryley, ſome may perhaps conjecture, that the Treaſurer and Barons of the Exchequer granted to Mary Adminiſtration of the goods of William de Brewoſe deceaſed. But if I take the matter right, That is to be underſtood thus; that the Treaſurer and Barons conſented to her having the Adminiſtration, which (in regard her late husband William was, at his Death, the Kings Debtour) ſhe could not have had, without conſent or permiſſion of the King or the Court of Exchequer. The caſe may be ſeen in Ryley (z). On the other part. If the Debt demanded of a Deceaſed perſon on the Kings behalf was a Doubtful debt; the King would ſometimes command the Executours to retain in their hands ſo much as the Summ amounted to, till the matter was diſcuſſed in the Exchequer (a).

If one dyed indebted to the King, and it was doubtful whether the chatells of the Deceaſed would amount to ſatisfy the Debts due to the King [and to other perſons], it was uſual for the King to ſeize into his hands the chatells of his Debtour deceaſed, in order to have ſatisfaction of his Debt, before any other Creditour of the Deceaſed was paid, or the chatells eloigned or applyed to any other uſe. This was done in the caſe of the Earl of Kent (b). But when the King ſeized the chatells of his Debtour deceaſed, he allowed out of the ſame a competent part for the decent funeral of the Deceaſed. As in the caſe of Malcolm de Harleigh Eſcheatour on this ſide Trent. The King by Writ of Privy Seal commanded the Treaſurers Lieutenant and the Barons of the Exchequer, that whereas upon Malcolms death they would probably ſeize his goods and chatells into the Kings hands, they ſhould leave enough in the hands of his folks for the honourable enterrment of his body: And that they ſhould ſend ſome fit perſon to all places where he had any goods, to make a true and exact Inventory of them, that the King when he ſhould be certified of the affair in due manner, might give ſuch orders therein as he thought meet. Thomas de Boyvill was aſſigned by Letters Patent, to take an Inquiſition concerning the Goods of

VIII. If the Kings Debtor was unable to ſatisfy the Kings Debt out of his Own chatells, the King would betake himſelf to any Third perſon who was indebted to the Kings Debtor, and would recover of ſuch Third perſon the Debt he owed to the Kings Debtor, in order to get payment or ſatisfaction of the Debt due to the Crown; And then, upon ſuch Recovery had, the Third perſon was acquitted againſt the Kings Debtor, and the Kings Debtor was acquitted againſt the King, de tanto. This ſeems to be confirmed by the caſe of Henry de Cornhill and William Earl of Albemarle, in the 5th year of K. Richard I. Henry de Cornhill owed the King C l for the arerage of the Cambium of all England except Wincheſter, And vj l for the Ferm of the Land of Engelran de Muſtroil. And William Earl of Albemarle Acknowledged before the Barons of the Exchequer, that he owed So much to Henry de Cornhill. And thereupon William Earl of Albemarle was charged (as Debtor to the King) with the ſaid reſpective ſumms (d). However, this uſage appears plainly enough in the ſucceeding times: For example: In the caſe of perſons indebted to Herbert Fitz-Matthew Debtor to the King (e); In the caſe of ſeveral perſons who had intermeddled with the goods of Ranulf Briton Debtor to the King (f); In the caſe of Beneit Aze and others Debtors to John de la Bulebuſe Debtor the King (g); in the caſe of the the executours of Edmund Archbiſhop of Canterbury debtors to William Talebot debtor to the King (b); and of Reginald de Wyme debtor to H. late Earl of Arundel Debtor to the King (i).

IX. The Heir of the Kings Debtour was not to be Diſtreined for the Debt due to the King, in caſe the chatells of the Kings Debtour were ſufficient to anſwer it. As may appear in the caſe of Ralf de St. Amand heir of Almaric (k). In truth, there was a Proviſion to This purpoſe, made by the Great Charters of K. John (l), and K. Henry III (m). And Walter de Avenbury Guardian of the land and heir of Richard Aneſey had the like privilege allowed to him (n). But if the Chatells of the Kings Debtour deceaſed were not ſufficient to pay the Kings Debt, the Debtours heirs were to be diſtreined by their Lands for the ſame. In the reign of K. Henry III, Simon de Heddon one of Brian de Liſles Executours had not aſſetz in his hands to ſatisfy certain debts due to the King from Brian. Therefore the Sheriff was commanded to diſtrein Brians heirs for the ſaid debts (o). In the reign of K. Edward II, in the caſe of Alan de Cherleton, the Barons of the Exchequer were commanded by Writ, to apportion amongſt Parceners a certain Debt due from their Anceſtour to the King (p).

X. The Widow of the Kings Debtour was not to be Diſtreined by her Dower to anſwer the Kings Debt, in caſe the Heir had ſufficient to anſwer it. Maud de Beauchamp was diſtreined by the Dower which ſhe had from her firſt husband, to anſwer to the King for the debt of her ſecond husband. Upon complaint, the King by his writ commanded the Sheriff to forbear demanding That debt from Maud, and to diſtrein the heirs of the ſecond husband for it: Becauſe (ſaith the Writ) a Tenant in Dower ought not to be diſtreined for debts, whilſt the heir hath ſufficient to anſwer the ſame (q). Juliana late wife of John de Cornhull likewiſe obtained relief, upon her

XII. By the Ancient uſage of the Exchequer, the Kings Debtors or Accomptants were wont to have Writs of Aid, whereby to recover their Debts of ſuch perſons as were indebted to them; in order to enable them to anſwer the Debts they owed to the King. For example. William de Horleſh and Richard de Redvers were appointed to collect, in the Nortreding of Yorkſhire, the Aid granted to K. Henry III, for Marrying his Siſter. And the Sheriff of the County was commanded by Writ, to aſſiſt the ſaid Collectours in diſtreining all perſons indebted to the King for That Aid (w). Counties, What perſons had paid their debts to Sheriffs, and What ſumms, whereof the Sheriffs had not acquitted them at the Exchequer. And at length a Statute was made for puniſhment of Sheriffs and others offending in ſuch caſes. In the 22th year of K. Henry III, Whereas divers perſons in Yorkſhire had paid (ſome of them to John Fitz-Geoffrey, others to Brian del Iſle, others to Philipp de Aſſeley, others to William de Stutevill, and others to Robert de Kokefeld, or to their Bailiffs,) divers ſumms demanded of them for the King by the Summonce of the Exchequer; Whereof the ſaid Sheriffs had not acquitted the ſaid Debtors at the Exchequer: The King, upon complaint thereof made to him, ſent a Writ to the preſent Sheriff, commanding him to make Proclamation, That All ſuch perſons as had paid to the ſaid Sheriffs or their Bailiffs any Debts due to the King whereof they were not afterwards diſcharged at the Exchequer, ſhould come before Him (the preſent Sheriff) and the Coroners, at the Wapentacks in each Trehing wherein they dwelt, and bring their Tallies of payment, and produce their Vouchers or Witneſſes; Whereupon the Sheriff was to view their Tallies and examine their Witneſſes, And to ſet down in a Roll to be made for that purpoſe the names of ſuch as had paid as aboveſaid, To Whom, In Whoſe preſence, When, Where, and How Much each perſon had paid to each of the ſaid John, Brian, Philipp, William, and Robert, or their Bailiffs, whereof they (the Debtours) were not diſcharged at the Exchequer; Which Roll the Sheriff was to have before the Barons of the Exchequer upon his next Accompt, under his Own Seal and the Seal of the Coroners (l). In the reign of K. Edward I, John de St. Valery Sheriff of Somerſet and Dorſet was aſſigned to Enquire in Full County, What Debts ſeveral Sheriffs of thoſe Counties and their Bailiffs had received of divers of the Kings Debtours, Which Debts ſtill ran in Summonce. The manner in which the Inquiſition was to be made, is directed in the writ hereunder recited (m). In the 27th year of the ſame King, a Proclamation iſſued into Yorkſhire, Reciting that divers perſons of That County complained to the King, that the Sheriff diſtreined them for divers Debts due to the King, which they had paid to Former Sheriffs as appeared by Tallies of payment given them by ſuch Sheriffs, And commanded that Outcry be made, That all men of the Eſtriding having Tallies of Payment made to them by any Sheriffs during the preſent Kings Reign, of Debts whereof they are not diſcharged, ſhould Bring or Send their Tallies to the Exchequer at York at the Cloſe of Eaſter, ſo that the Sheriffs and their Receivers might be ſent for to come and Diſcharge ſuch perſons whilſt the Exchequer continued in this County; And for ſparing mens charges, it was directed, that one or two of the Eſtriding might be Attornies to bring the Tallies for all the Reſt. And the Debts running in proceſs were to be levyed upon all ſuch as did not Come or Send their Tallies. Thoſe of the Northriding were to have Day in the Quinzime of Eaſter, And thoſe of the Weſtriding Three Weeks after Eaſter, in like form reſpectively (n). Again; When Sheriffs had levied or diſtreined for the Kings Debt, it was their Duty to ſell or diſpoſe of ſuch Diſtreſs at a juſt and reaſonable price, ſo that the Owner was not aggrieved thereby. But in regard ſome Sheriffs had misbehaved themſelves in That behalf, it was provided by Ancient Statute, that when the Sheriff had ſeized any Catell for the Kings Debt, certain perſons ſhould be aſſigned to apprize the ſame, according to which apprizement they were to be ſold by the Sheriff, leſt the Sheriff ſhould ſell them at under-rates to the wrong of the Owners. Peter de Meuling claimed to be Hereditary Apprizer in this caſe for the County of Norfolk or Suffolk (o).

XIV. When the Sheriff came to accompt, he was to Warn all the Bailiffs of Liberties within his County, of the time of his accompting, and likewiſe to make proclamation thereof in his County, that all who had Tallies of the Exchequer (touching things within his accompt), might come forth and obtain Allowances thereupon. As in the caſe of the Sheriff of Surrey and Suſſex (p).

XV. The Kings Debtors found Sureties (if they were required ſo to do) for their True payment. The Sureties were uſually called Plegij, obſides, and manucaptores. Sometimes the Pledges in theſe caſes were remarkably numerous. For example. Hugh Cordele Fined to the King in fourſcore and ſix pounds and one mark of ſilver, That he might be let out of priſon, and might have his land again. Hereof he paid into the Kings Treaſury xx marks of ſilver: and for the remainder, viz. Cx marks of ſilver, he found the pledges hereunder named; Alberic de Ver for xx marks of ſilver, John ſon of Ulri for xij marks of ſilver, Osbert Eight-pence for v marks, Otho Alwineſſune for ix marks, and other perſons for other ſumms. The Pledges are in number nineteen (q). Ralf de Cornhull owed the King MM marks, That he might have again his lands whereof he was diſſaiſed, and the Kings Favour. His Pledges for this Fine were the Earl of Clare for xl marks, Earl Alberic for xx marks, Robert de Crevequoer for xx marks, Richard de Muntfichet for xx marks, Earl David for xx marks, William de Warenne for xv marks, and fourteen perſons more for other ſumms (r).

Fulk Fitz-Warin found two and forty ſureties for a debt which he owed to the Crown (s). Hugh de Albiniaco Fined in 2,500 marks, to have Seiſin of his Lands, And found above Thirty Sureties for the Fine (t). W. Biſhop of Exeter Fined in 2000 marks, for the Cuſtody of the Land and Heir of W. de Abrincis with his marriage; He found above Thirty Sureties for the Fine (u). And ſometimes the Kings Debtors bound their Lands for True payment. In the 5th year of K. Henry III, Nicolas de Stutevill ſtood charged to the King in M marks for his Ranſom. He had covenanted to pay it at four Terms; to wit, CCL marks at Midlent in the ſecond year of the King, CCL marks at Whitſontide, CCL marks at St. Peter ad vincula, and CCL marks at Martinmaſs in the third year of the King; Upon theſe conditions, namely, If he did not make payment at the Firſt Term, he was to incurr or forfeit upon his Manours of Kirkeby Moreſheed and Lidel, fifty pounds in yearly rent; if he failed at the Second Term, fifty pounds more; if at the Third Term, fifty pounds more; and if at the fourth Term, fifty pounds more. If the ſaid two Manours would not amount to make-up the ſaid two hundred pounds in yearly rent, he was to ſupply it in his other Manours Robert de Stutevill and Walter de Soureby became manucaptors for this Fine; on condition, that if Nicolas did not keep his ſaid Terms of payment, all their Land was to to be incurred or forfeited (w). Add, that the Kings Debtour was wont to be ſummoned firſt in the County wherein he reſided or had Lands: And if the Debt could not be levied in one County, it might be transferred and Summoned in another. Robert Fitz Bernard owed the King Lxxij l Blank and iiij l xix d by Tale areres of the ferm of Dovor. The Debt was Summoned in Kent. The Sheriff of Kent returned, that Robert was dead, and that his heirs might be diſtreined in Devonſhire. Hereupon the Debt was ſent-out in Summonce in Devonſhire. But the Sheriff of That County returned, that Robert had nothing in demeane in Devonſhire (x). Again; Diſtreſſes taken for the Kings Debts were not Replevyable, except by Precept from the King or Barons of the Exchequer. As in the caſe of the Tenants of the Biſhoprick of London (y). Theſe are ſome of the aſſiſes or ſtatutes of the Exchequer. There may be others. Which though omitted here, are not deſigned to be excluded.

XVI. Writs of the Great Seal and of the Privy Seal were frequently uſed, both in reference to Accompts, and other buſineſs tranſacted at the Exchequer. Many inſtances hereof may be ſeen in a foregoing part of this Hiſtory (z), and many other in this Chapter (a).

XVII. If the Sheriff or other Accomptant was to have any ſumm allowed or diſcounted to him upon his Accompt, Such Allowance or Diſcount was uſually made per warantum, to wit, either by vertue of the Kings writ in That behalf (which was the moſt uſual way), or by writ or award of the Chief Juſticier, or of ſome other Juſticier or Baron, or of the Treaſurer. And it being uſual for the King to order either the whole or part of ſuch moneys as aroſe from his Ferms or other Revenue, to be paid to ſuch perſons as he was indebted to, there was by That means a vaſt number of Writs of Allocate and Computate iſſued from time to time, and directed to the Treaſurer and Barons of the Exchequer, whereby they were impowered to Allow to Accomptants or Debtors the moneys which they had paid to others by vertue of warants or precepts in that behalf. to the King (g). Bartholomew de Caſtle was Allowed the Wages of the Moneyours, Exchangers, Aſſayers &c, in his Accompt of the Exchange of Canterbury, by Judgment of the Kings Council at the Exchequer (gg). In caſes where the Allowances were Cuſtomary and Known, There the Treaſurer and Barons were wont to adhere to the Practice and Uſage; taking due care to prevent Innovation therein to the Kings prejudice. As in the caſe of John Giffard Keeper of the Caſtle of Buelt: He had Allowance made to him of more than was Uſual in like caſes: Whereupon, the Treaſurer and Barons adjudged, that the Former Allowance ſhould be Diſallowed; and that a Deduction being made of what had been Allowed more than was Uſual in like caſes, he ſhould be Allowed what had been Cuſtomary, and no more (h).

XVIII. Atterminations were wont to be given by the Treaſurer and Barons to the Kings Debtors, by vertue of the Kings Writs directed to them for That purpoſe: And in like manner Reſpites, and Diſcharges. By Attermination is meant, granting men ſeveral Terms or Days for payment of their Debt, where they were not able or could not conveniently pay it at one entire payment. Ralf Fitz-Nicolas owed the King CC l. The King by Writ directed to the Barons granted him leave to pay it at xxx l every year; to wit, xv l at the Exchequer of St. Michael, and xv l at the Exchequer of Eaſter, till he had paid the whole Summ (i). The Debts due to the King from P. Biſhop of Hereford were Attermined at C marks per annum, by vertue of the Kings Writ (k). The King commands the Barons by his Writ, to Attermine William de Tykingcot, for certain Amercements ſet on him for Treſpaſſes, at ſo much a-year as it ſhould be found by Inquiſition he was able to pay, Saving the Maintenance of himſelf, his Wife and Children (l). Matthew de la Mare and others had Attermination by a Meſſage from the King declared by the Treaſurer, for certain Debts (m). The King by Writ commanded, that Henry de Shotbrok ſhould have reaſonable eſtallment of his Debts, ſo that he might be able to pay them without being impoveriſhed (n). The like Command was given, in the caſe of the Poor men of Dodington; that they might be able to pay their Debts to the King, Saving their Contenement (o). in the caſe of Simon le Lardener (p), of Miliſent de Mohaut (q), Thomas Pridias (r), Roger de Chaundos (s), and others. However, the Treaſurer did ſometimes give the Kings Debtors Attermination, without any particular Writ, for ought that appears. And it has been ſaid, that it was in That caſe in the power of the Treaſurer only (excluſive of the Barons of the Exchequer) to grant Atterminations. In the 24th year of K. Edward I, John de Lockinton prayed to have attermination for certain debts which he owed to the King. But the Barons of the Exchequer would not attermine him without the Treaſurers preſence; to whoſe office it belonged to attermine (t). Robert le Faukener Fined to the King in x marks, for Relief of certain Lands which he held of the King in Capite, by the Serjanty of Keeping a Falcon from the feaſt of St. Martin to Candlemaſs. The Treaſurer granted him Terms of paying it, to wit, at Two marks a-year (u). The Treaſurer granted Attermination to John de Lokinton (w), and to John de Cormayles (x).

If men had Attermination granted to them, and did not keep their Terms by punctual payment, they loſt the benefit of their Attermination. However, they were many times admitted to recover their Terms again, and be in the ſame or like ſtate. Damian the Clerk Fined in v marks, For deteining x marks due to the King longer than the Term at which he ought to have paid it (y). Henry ſon of Hugh de Nevill was diſſeiſed of his Land, for not obſerving the Terms ſet him for payment of his Fine (z). Henry de Oili accounted to the King for M and xv l xvij s xj d, a Debt of Simon the Jew of Oxford which was ſeized into the Kings hand.

CHAP. XXIII.

He paid L marks of it to the King himſelf in Camera ſua; and was attermined to pay the remainder at the two Exchequers, at C marks yearly; provided, that if Henry did not keep his terms of payment, Walter de Grai the Kings Chancellour was to reſtore to Simon the Jew the Charter by which That debt was ſecured, and Henry was to loſe all that he had paid before his forfeiture incurred by breaking his attermination (a). Peter de Maillai fined to the King in ſeven thouſand marks, That he might have to wife Iſabell daughter of Robert de Turneham, with all the lands belonging to her by hereditary right, whereof her father Robert was ſeized on the day of his death. Peter was attermined to pay the Fine thus: In the firſt year (to wit, the ſixteenth of K. John) two thouſand marks, in the ſecund year one thouſand marks, and ſo in the third, fourth, fifth, and ſixth year a thouſand marks yearly. He found pledges, to wit, Ranulf Earl of Cheſter for a thouſand marks, William Earl de Ferrers for a thouſand marks, and others. For the reſidue of the Fine he put all the ſaid Land in counterpledg; on condition, that if he did not obſerve his Terms of payment, he ſhould loſe all that he had paid in any former year (b). William de Ferrers Earl of Derby Fined for and obtained an Attermination, though he did not punctually keep to the Terms granted him (c). Thomas de Hemmegrave had a Freſh Attermination granted to him, though he had not obſerved his Former Terms (d). Alexander de Hilton was permitted to Recover his Terms (e): And Herbert Fitz-Matthew (f), and Reginald de Cornhull were permitted to recover Theirs (g). The Citizens of Norwich did not obſerve the Terms granted to them at the Exchequer for payment of their debts to the King. The Sheriff of Norfolk was commanded to enter their Liberty, and diſtrein Twelve of the Richer and more Diſcreet perſons of the Community, to appear and anſwer in the octaves of St. Hilary. The Citizens appeared; And were permitted to recover their Terms, and pay the ſaid debts debts at x l per annum (b). At another time, the Treaſurer granted to Roger de Preſthope, that he ſhould recover his Terms. And he had a Writ of Servat terminos thereupon (i). But after Atterminations had been granted, the King did ſometimes, upon extraordinary occaſions, ſuſpend or make void the ſame. Thus K. Edward II commanded the Barons to cauſe to be levyed all his Debts exceeding the ſumm of xl l, notwithſtanding any Atterminations granted by any others, except by the King himſelf or by his ſpecial command (k). And ſoon afterwards the King made void all the Atterminations granted to his Fermours (all over the Realm), touching their Ferms (l). But This was a Singular caſe.

XIX. In the next place, Of Reſpites granted to the Kings Debtors and Accomptants. There ſeems to have been a like method uſed in reſpiting as in attermining. Sometimes Reſpites were granted by vertue of the Kings mandates or writs, and ſometimes by the Treaſurer and Barons without writ. Nicolas de Magena had Reſpite for a Debt of CC marks during the Kings Pleaſure, by vertue of the Kings Writ (m). (z) Bagrant Common Reſpites to Perſons claiming Liberties by his Predeceſſours Charters or his Own (z). In ſhort, Reſpites were granted by particular Writs for the Perſons following: to wit, for John de la Garſton (a) the Sheriff of Cornwall (b), the Dean and Chapter of St. Martin London (c), Theobald de Verdon (d), Bartholomew de Badeleſmere (e), Richard de la Rivere Sheriff of Glouceſterſhire (f) the Biſhop of Ely (g), Peter Barde (h) and others. The Treaſurer and Barons of the Exchequer did ſometimes grant Reſpites, without Writ for ought that appears. Geoffrey de Ver Sheriff of Shropſhire did not account in his year for the Aid due from ſeveral Knights Fees in his bailywick; becauſe the Barons of the Exchequer gave him reſpite in That caſe, till the King ſhould declare his pleaſure (i). The Abbat and Monks of Torre had Reſpite given them at the Exchequer, touching a Market which they had held longer than the time for which it was granted them; And in the mean time they might purchaſe of the King Acquittance for the Supertenure, if they thought fit (k). Robert Fitz Walter had Reſpite for Eſcuage, by Writ of the Chief Juſticier (l): and Peter Mark for a Debt of M l, by Writ of the Chief Juſticier (m). For the Better Conveniency to the Barons and the Accountants in the Exchequer, a General Writ for Common Reſpite Was in ſome caſes uſed. The King by his Writ commands the Barons, to grant all manner of Common Reſpites at the Exchequer, as they had been wont to do at the Kings command in times paſt (n). A Writ of Common Reſpite was granted for the Abbat of Wardon at the Queen Mothers inſtance (o).

When men were in the Kings Service, it was uſual, for the King, or the Chief Juſticier, or the Treaſurer, and Barons of the Exchequer, to put in Reſpite the Pleas, Debts, or Accompts of ſuch perſons being in the Kings Service. The Barons of the Exchequer reſpited a Debt of William de Chainey; he being in the Kings Ser-

(o) Alanus de Nevilla debet iiij l & x s, de Cenſu comptable for the Ferm of Grimeſby. But in regard Ralfs ſons had Fined to the King in Hawks for the ſaid Debt, the King by his Writ ordered Ralf to be Diſcharged thereof (p). Geoffrey Fitz-Pierre fined in three thouſand marks, To have the Land of Earl William, which was the inheritance of Beatrice de Say, Geoffreys wife; provided that, according as Geoffrey ſhould ſerve the King well, it was to be at the Kings pleaſure, whether he would accept the whole Fine aforeſaid or not. Geoffrey paid part of the Fine. In the Third year of K. Richard I, he paid other part of it (q). In the fifth year of K. Richard I, there remained of the whole Fine, five hundred marks, unpaid. In That year, the King commanded by his writ, that Geoffrey ſhould be diſcharged of the ſaid Fine, when he had paid the whole. He paid the ſaid five hundred marks; and was diſcharged accordingly (r). Philipp Biſhop of Dureſme was amerced D marks, Becauſe Hugh his Predeceſſour held Plea in Court Chriſtian touching the Advouſon of a Church. But the King remitted to him the Debt, by Writ de Ultra mare ſent to the Chief Juſticier (s). William Fitz-Geoffrey was charged at the Exchequer with ix l and odd, for certain chatells (apprized at That ſumm) which were aſſigned to him when he was diſſeiſed of the Town of Chelardeſton. Of which Debt (ſaith the Record) he could not be diſcharged without the Kings Writ of Diſcharge. But when, afterwards, he brought a Writ of Diſcharge to the Juſticier and Barons, they ordered him to be Diſcharged accordingly (t). Stephen de Turneham fined to King John in M marks. And thereupon, the King by his Letter or Writ, cited hereunder, and directed to the Barons of the Exchequer of London, quitclaimed Stephen of all accompts, rerages of eſcheats and wards for the whole time that he had the cuſtody of them, as well in the reign of K. Richard as of K. John, and of ferms of Counties, and all other fines, tallages, and receipts, wherewith he ſtood charged in the Kings Rolls. The King releaſed to Stephen CCC marks, part of this fine of M marks; and ordered, that out of the reſidue Stephen ſhould be allowed a mark a-day for the cuſtody of the Kings Niece. Wherefore the King commanded the Barons to do accordingly (u). Nicolas de Stutevill was Diſcharged by the Kings Writ, of a Fine of M marks demanded of him on the Kings behalf for his Ranſome (w). Godfrey de Craucumbe Sheriff of Oxfordſhire had a Writ Dormant, to Diſcharge him of rendring an Account ſeparately

Whereupon, the Barons of the Exchequer adjudged, that Reginald ſhould be diſcharged of the ſaid C marks increment (s). Robert de Gant ſtood charged with a debt of xxvj l. But by Judgment of the Barons he was acquitted thereof; and the Debt was ſet in charge upon his heir (t). Robert de Turneham, who married the daughter and heireſs of William Foſſard, was charged with Dx l xiiij s the debts of Aaron the Jew. But it appearing to the Barons of the Exchequer, that Aaron by his charter had quitclaimed William Foſſard of the ſaid debt; the Barons adjudged, that Robert de Turneham ſhould be diſcharged thereof (u). William Briewerre ſtood charged with the Ferm of Huiam: And the Barons of the Exchequer adjudged him to be Diſcharged thereof (w). Peter de Schidimor Sheriff of Dorſet and Somerſet was charged with L marks and C marks and L marks more, as increment of the ſaid Counties for two half-years and one whole year paſt. But it appearing, that Peter when he became Sheriff, never conſented to pay the ſaid increment, but always declared againſt it, and that accordingly he was admitted to Fine with the Chief Juſticier in x marks, that the ſaid increments might not be demanded of him; he was acquitted thereof by judgment of the Barons (x). William de Albenni was charged (as Fermour) with L l under the name of Increment. But in regard it appeared to the Chief Juſticier and Barons, that William was to anſwer as Cuſtos, they acquitted him of the ſaid Increment (y). Geoffrey de Mandevill was charged with C marks Fine, To have Right. (z) Galfridus de Mandevil debet C marcas, ſicut was now adjudged by William Mareſchall Earl of Pembroke Governour of the King and Kingdom, by Peter Biſhop of Wincheſter, Hubert de Burgh Chief Juſticier, and by the Kings Council, that Nicolas de Verdun ſhould be diſcharged of the ſaid DLj l (a). Alan de St. George was Diſcharged of an Amercement of the Foreſt by Judgment of the Barons (b). The Abbot of Barlinges was pardoned, by the Juſticier, an amerciament of xx s, for the Soul of K. John (c). William Hardel was charged with xx l for Wine. He came into the Exchequer before the Juſticier, the Chancellour, the Biſhops of Bath and of Saresbiry, the Earl of Glouceſter, and other Barons there preſent, and made oath that he did not ow the King the ſaid xx l. And the Juſticier ordered him to be diſcharged thereof (d). Simon Earl of Huntendon was charged with an hundred fourſcore and ſixteen pounds for the Debts of Aaron the Jew. But in regard Earl Simon died without heirs, the Barons of the Exchequer adjudged, that John now Earl of Huntendon ought not to be ſummoned for the ſaid debt; becauſe he was not heir to Earl Simon, nor had any thing from him by hereditary deſcent or otherwiſe (e). The Citizens of London with John Travers and Andrew Bukerel Bailiffs of the Queens Hithe, were diſcharged of the Ferm of the Queens Hithe for the 8th and 9th years of the Kings Reign, by Judgment of the Barons of the Exchequer (f). Hamon de Crevequor was Diſcharged of a Debt, by Judgment of the Barons; he having been doubly Charged for one and the ſame fact (g). John de Rocheford was Diſcharged by Judgment of the Barons, he having been alſo doubly charged for one one and the ſame Fact (b). The Abbot of Vale Royal was Diſcharged by Judgment of the Court of Exchequer, of an Accompt and of certain Treſpaſſes relating thereto, upon his making Fine with the King for the ſame (i). A Debt of xx marks was Sett-off from William Biſhop of Ely by vertue of the Kings Writ grounded upon a Recordation made at the Exchequer by William Briewerre and other Barons (k). However, in ſome caſes (as it ſeems) no body but the King himſelf could grant a Diſcharge. The following caſe was one of That ſort. Certain perſons became Manucaptors in the Exchequer for the Executors of Gregory de Rokeſley an Accomptant. The Executors came and Accounted. And the Treaſurer thereupon ordered, that the Manucaptors ſhould be Diſcharged of their Manucaption, quieti eſſent de Manucaptione ſua prædicta, & quod ſi quid Regi aretro eſſet &c, Rex ſe caperet ad hæredes & tenentes terrarum prædicti Gregorij & ad executores teſtamenti ejuſdem. Several years afterwards, this matter coming to be Reconſidered in Court, the Treaſurer and Barons adjudged, That nobody beſides the King himſelf could diſcharge the ſaid Manucaptors of their ſaid Manucaption; And accordingly they annulled the ſaid Diſcharge of the ſaid Manucaption, and ordered that the ſaid Manucaption ſhould be in force (l).

Sometimes both Debts and Accompts were diſcharged by the Kings Pardon. Ralf Brito paid a fine of DCCl and odd, To be quit of rendring an accompt of the iſſues of the Land of Henry de Eſſex and of the Honour of Boloigne, which had lately been in his Cuſtody (m). K. Henry III Pardoned or Remitted to the Heir of William de Corneburh M marks and two Palfreys, being a Fine for obtaining the Kings Favour; William having Dyed in impriſonment for that Debt (n). The ſame King Pardoned William de Lund Cs, impreſted to him out of the Kings Treaſure at the Exchequer (o). For good ſervice done to the King by Engelard de Cygony in his life time, the King granted to his Executors, that they ſhould be Quit of all Accompts to be rendred by them at the Exchequer, and of all arerages of Accompts and of all Debts and Impreſts (p). Emme de Ely iiij marks and a half, part of her Husbands Quota of a Tallage ſet upon the Citizens of London (q). The King pardoned to the Earl of Arundel ſundry Debts charged on him de claro at the Exchequer; and commanded the Barons to acquit him thereof (x). The King pardoned to Cecill de Baquelle four marks at which her chatells were taxed in London to the Quinzime granted to the King in the Firſt year of his reign by the Community of the ſaid City; And commanded the Barons to acquitt her thereof at the Exchequer (y). King Edward II pardoned to Ebulo de Montibus CCL l, due upon his Accompt of the Iſſues of the Templars Lands, which Ebulo had in his Cuſtody whilſt the ſame were in the Kings hands (z). The ſame King Pardoned to the Earls, Barons, and all Others, who ſerved in Perſon in Aquitany, in the Warr moved between K. Edward I, and the King of France, the Onzime and Diſme granted to the ſaid K. Edward I, payable out of the Goods of the ſaid perſons who ſerved in That War (a). But when the King had ordered certain Debts to be Reſpited or Pardoned, he ſometimes countermanded ſuch Order. K. Henry III, in the 51th year of his reign commanded the Treaſurer and Barons in Full Exchequer, That no Sheriff or Bailiff, who owed the King any Debt, ſhould depart from the Exchequer, till he had fully paid it; And that if any Writ was afterwards ſent to the Barons for Reſpiting or Pardoning ſuch Debt, they ſhould not do any thing thereupon, without conſulting the King Himſelf (b).

XXI. If upon the Accompt Viewed and Stated, the Crown was found indebted to the Accomptant, the Summ in which the Crown was ſo found indebted was called Superplus or Superpluſagium; probably, becauſe it was ſo much more than the Accomptants Receipts. Pain Sheriff of Surrey and Huntendonſhire had a Surpluſage in his Account for the County of Surrey: which was Allowed to him in his Account for were indebted to the King in xx marks for a Fine to have their City reſtored to them. And becauſe John Paiable Bailiff of the City had not paid-in the ſaid Fine as he was enjoined, a Writ was awarded to the Sheriff of Kent, to take the City into the Kings hands, and to Attach John. Afterwards the Citizens paid the xx marks by Tally. And thereupon the Treaſurer reſtored to them their City with the iſſues thereof (q). The town of Appleby was taken into the Kings hands, for the Areres of their Ferm (r); And was thereupon committed to the Cuſtody of Alexander de Berewyk, during the Kings Pleaſure (ſ).

There were ſeveral other cauſes for which the King uſed to take Towns or Liberties of Lords into his hands; As for Treſpaſſes committed by the Men of a Town, or by the Lord of a Liberty or his Men and Tenants, for Contempts, Defaults, or Falſe Claims made by their Bailiffs, and the like. The City of Norwich was ſeized for a Contempt done by their Bailiffs in departing from the Court without Licence (t). The Liberty of the Hundred of Rochford was taken into the Kings hands, Becauſe John de Burgh and his Bailiffs did not execute the Kings Writs within That Liberty, nor ſuffer the Sheriff of Eſſex to execute them (u). The City of London was taken into the Kings hand for a Treſpaſs of the aſſize: and the Cuſtody of it was delivered to John de Gizors (w). Kenebalton and other Liberties of Humfrey de Bohun Earl of Eſſex and Hertford were ſeized into the Kings hand for a default which the Earl had made in the Exchequer (x). The ſeveral Liberties of Robert de Champeyne, William de Goldingham (y), and Hugh de Cancellis (z) were ſeized for defaults. The Liberty of the Biſhop of Worceſter was ſeized into the Kings hands, for a Falſe Claim made by the Biſhops Attorney. But it appearing that the Claim was made through Ignorance, the Liberty was reſtored (a). Thomas de Pirie came to the Exchequer to accompt there as Bailiff of the Town of Oxford, and took the uſual Oath of an Accomptant. Upon Examination, Thomas acknowledged that he was not Bailiff of the ſaid Town, but a Clerk of the Bailiffs of the Town. For this Deception, he was committed Priſoner to the Fleet. And becauſe the Bailiff of the Town did not appear, to Accompt and to do what appertained to him, the Liberty of the Town was ſeized into the Kings hands (b). The Abbot of Peterburghs Liberty was ſeized, for a Falſe Claim made by his Bailiff at the Exchequer (c). manding him to diſtrain ſuch Debtor by his Eccleſiaſtical Benefices. Many of theſe Writs had in them a Clauſe importing, that if the Biſhop failed to make due execution, the King would cauſe the Debt to be levied on the Biſhops Barony (d). Sometimes theſe Writs of Diſtringas were directed to the Biſhops Official. The Official of Norwich was commanded to diſtrein Michael de Polſtede by his Eccleſiaſtical Benefices, to render to the King xxvj l ix s viij d (e). The Biſhop of Exeter was commanded to diſtrein John Wake by his Eccleſiaſtical benefice, to render to the King a Debt of xl l: Or in default of executing the Diſtringas, the King would betake himſelf to the Biſhops Barony (f). A Pluries Diſtringas iſſued. The Biſhop failed in executing it. Whereupon, the Sheriff was commanded by writ to levy the xl l on the Biſhops chatels, and to have the money at the Exchequer on ſuch a day: Becauſe, ſaith the Writ, by the aſſize of our Exchequer and Cuſtom of our Realm, we may betake us to the Biſhops Barony, when upon our Command, he doth not diſtrein the Clerks of his Dioceſe to pay the debts which they owe to us (ff). The Biſhop of Saresbury was commanded by Writ, to diſtrein the executours of the teſtament of Biſhop William his predeceſſour by their Eccleſiaſtical benefices, to render unto the King C l, which the ſaid Biſhop William owed; and to return the money to the Exchequer by ſuch a day; or elſe the King would cauſe it to be levied on the preſent Biſhops Barony (g). At another time, the Biſhop of Exeter was commanded by ſeveral Writs, to diſtrein Oliver de Tracy by his Eccleſiaſtick benefice. The Biſhop had failed to execute thoſe writs. The Sheriff of Devonſhire was ordered to levy the money due to the King from Oliver on the goods of the Biſhops Baronie (h). The Diſtreſs in theſe caſes was (as I take it) by way of Sequeſtration. And when by ſequeſtring the iſſues of the Benefice, or by other means, the Kings Debt was ſecured, then the Sequeſtration was releaſed. So it was in the caſe of John Wak. He was endebted to the King in Lx marks. The King by his Writ commanded the Biſhop of Exeter to diſtrain him by his Eccleſiaſtical Benefices. The Biſhop diſtrained him in ſeven ſeveral Benefices, and received out of the profits thereof the ſumm of Lviij marks and xl d; And John found ſecurity for the reſidue of his Debt; whereupon the King ordered the Sequeſtration to be releaſed (i). XXIV. The Accomptants, at the time of Paſſing their Accompts, did as it ſeems ſometimes ſit upon a Bench or Benches in the Court of Exchequer. In the Firſt year of K. Edward I, it was adjudged at the Exchequer, that the Biſhop of Norwich ought not to anſwer for the Kings Debts per manum ſuam. And thereupon John de Roynges the Biſhops Attorney was ordered to go-off from the Bench of Accomptants (l). Simon de Bradenham Sheriff of Eſſex and Hertford, ſat at the Exchequer in rendring his Accompt. And after he had been Sworn to Charge himſelf Duly with the Kings Debts, he was Appoſed by the Barons upon the Summonce of the Pipe (m). Richard de Welleford and Simon de Mereworth Sheriffs of London and Middleſex Sat at the Exchequer to make the View of their Accompt. And the Mayor and Aldermen of the City were called, to make their Claim touching certain Ferms and other Debts running in Demand upon the Citizens to the Kings uſe (n).

XXV. It was obſerved in another place (o), that although the Kings money was moſt generally paid-in at his Exchequer, yet it was alſo Sometimes paid to the King himſelf in his Palace, in Camera Regis. So it may be obſerved here, that although Accounts were properly to be rendred at the Exchequer, yet they were alſo ſometimes rendred, either wholly or in part, to the King, or his Officers in Camera Regis. In the 9th year of K. Henry II, Maurice de Tiretai rendred his Accompt to the King himſelf, for the Ferm of the Counties of Eſſex and Hertford (p). Richard de Luci, for the Ferm of Colcheſter (q), and William de Chaiſney for the Ferm of Norfolk (r). And Robert de Glouceſter rendred an Account in Camera Regis for the Biſhoprick of Chicheſter (x). And when an Accomptant had rendred his Accompt to the King himſelf, the ſame was wont to be ſignified to the Barons of the Exchequer by the Kings Writ; And thereupon the Accomptant was Diſcharged at the Exchequer; As it appears by the inſtances above cited. But I am to treat only of the Accompts that were rendred at the Exchequer.

XXVI. There were in ancient time many ways of putting Debts in Charge pro Rege. For example. Debts were put in Charge, Firſt, By vertue of the Kings Writ (y): Secondly, By the Writ or Perſonal teſtimony of the Chief Juſticier or ſome other Juſticier or Baron of the Exchequer (z): Thirdly, By Judgment or Award of the Juſticier or Treaſurer and Barons of the Exchequer in Court (a): Fourthly, By the Rolls, or Eſtreats of the Juſticiers (b): Fifthly, By the Acknowledgment (c) of the Margareta quæ fuit uxor Johannis de Baketon debet xl marcas —. Sed non debet inde ſum-the Parties: Sixthly, from the Original of the Chancery (d); and by other ways.

XXVII. It hath been ſhewn above (e), that in the moſt ancient times, the Chancery was uſually holden at the Exchequer: or, if You pleaſe, many or moſt of the Chancery Writs were Then diſpatched and ſealed at the Exchequer; at which place the Great Seal was commonly kept. When therefore the Chancery was ſeparated from the Exchequer, and the Charters, Writs and Precepts of the Great Seal came to be enterd by themſelves in the Rotuli Cancellariæ (ſuch as the Charter-Rolls, Patent-Rolls &c), at or about the beginning of K. Johns Reign: Then, as it ſeems, commenced the Method (which has been continued ever ſince) of ſending Eſtreats from the Chancery into the Exchequer. But this I propoſe as a conjecture. In fact; from the Beginning of the Reign of K. John, they wrote every year the ſaid Rotuli Cancellariæ, and afterwards made Eſtreats thereof; which Eſtreats were tranſmitted into the Exchequer and were called Originale or Originalia, the Originals, and Extractæ Cancellariæ, the Eſtreats of the Chancery. They were written out of the Fine Rolls, Patent-Rolls, and other Rolls of the Chancery. And out of Them, Fines, Ferms, &c. were taken, and put in Charge at the Exchequer for the Kings profit. In ſome of the Ancient Chancery-Rolls extant in the Tower of London we find Breaks in the Rolls, with theſe or ſuch like words: Mittendum, or Hinc mittendum eſt ad Scaccarium, intimating that what followed there in the Roll was not yet eſtreated. This kind of Note was made in the Chancery-Rolls of the 2d. year of K. John (f), The 18th year of K. Henry III (g), and in the Rolls of many other years. Theſe Notes made upon the Rolls were for a Memorandum to the Clerk or Officer in Chancery, Of What had been eſtreated from Thence into the Exchequer, and What not; that he might be ſure he did not fail in his Duty of Eſtreating. When this Record was actually brought into the Exchequer, it was There immediately called Originale, the Original. Which Name is probably as Ancient as the Uſage of Eſtreating. Mention is made of the Original of the ninth year of K. John (h), of the 12th year (i), and of the 14th year of K. John (k). And frequently in the Reign of K. Henry III: for inſtance, in the 11th year (l), the 13th year (m), the 18th year (n), the 22th year (o), the 25th year (p), the 26th year (q), and many other years of K. Henry III. But I need not inſiſt on This, becauſe there remains in the Exchequer to this day (to wit, in the Lord Treaſurers Remembrancers Office) a Series of theſe Originals, from the Reign of K. Henry III incluſive, to the Preſent times. Next, as to the manner of eſtreating or delivering-in theſe Originals. In the 22th year of K. Henry III, the Original was ſent to H. de Pateſhull Treaſurer, under the Seal of the Kings Chancellour, on the eve of St. John Baptiſt (r). In the 18th year of K. Edward I, it was delivered to J. Biſhop of Ely Treaſurer, by the hand of R. Biſhop of Bath and Wells Chancellour (s). In the 27th year of the ſame King, it was delivered to the Biſhop of Coventry and Lichfeld Treaſurer, by the hand of John de Langeton Chancellour (t). In the 34th year of the ſame King, it was deliverd to John de Drokneſford the Treaſurers Lieutenant, by the hand of W. de Hamelton Chancellour of England (u). In the Tenth year of K. Edward II, the Original was, it ſeems, delivered-in to the Exchequer by William de Ayreminne Keeper of the Rolls of the Chancery; as the firſt membrane of the Bundle for That year witneſſeth; and the debts contained therein were ſtraitway ſent out in Summonce for the Kings uſe (w). The ſame William delivered into the Exchequer a Cedule (part of the Original of That year), in the Room of a Roll or membrane contained in That Bundle, which had been amended in the Chancery, after the Original was eſtreated. The Cedule is titled, De arentatione & excultura Vaſtorum foreſtæ de Wyndeſore; and is endorſed in the words hereunder written (x).

Eſtreats were alſo wont to be made of fines, amercements, and ſuch like, from the Court holden coram Rege, and from the Common Bench, and from the Iters, &c. All theſe were, I think, called the Foreign Eſtreats; and were ſent-out in another Summonce than That which was awarded for the debts contained in the Originals. If theſe Eſtreats, or others which ought of right to be delivered-in, were not brought-in in due time, a Writ or writs were wont to iſſue to the Juſtices or perſons before whom they lay, to bring them in. In the 30th year of K. Henry III, amerciaments were eſtreated into the Exchequer from the Common Bench (y); and in the 18th year of K. Edward I (z). In the 42th year of K. Henry III, the Barons of the Exchequer were commanded [by writ] to enquire diligently, in Whoſe hands were the Rolls and Chirographs made as well before the Juſtices in Eire, as in the Court coram Rege, and in the Bank, ſince the Kings Firſt Coronation at Glouceſter, which ſtill remained abroad, and to cauſe them to be brought to the Exchequer, to be laid up in the Kings Treaſury; and to enjoin all the Juſtices, to deliver-in to the Barons for the future their Rolls and Chirographa relating to the King, that the ſame might be kept in the Treaſury (a). In the ſame year, ſeveral writs were awarded to ſeveral perſons, ordering them to bring-in the Rolls of the Juſtices remaining in ſundry places. The Abbot of Leiceſter was ordered to bring-in all the Rolls left in his Abbey, of the Pleas had before Stephen de Segrave, as well in the Bank as in Iters; and likewiſe the Priour of Kenilworth. The like writs were ſent to Henry de Bratton touching the Rolls of Martin de Pateſhell and William de Radley (b). In the 14th year of K. Edward I, Salomon de Rocheſter and his Conjuſtices were commanded by writ to ſend into the Exchequer with all ſpeed, the eſtreats of amercements ſet in their Iter in the County of Eſſex, that the ſame might be in readineſs for the Kings ſervice and might be laid up in the Treaſury. And theſe eſtreats were afterwards brought-in by the hand of Hugh de Kendale (c).

XXVIII. Tallies were of great and conſtant uſe in the Exchequer. The uſe of them was very ancient; coeval, for ought that I know, with the Exchequer it ſelf in England. The word, Tallie, is originally French. It ſignifies Cutting; as every body knows. Theſe Tallies were pieces of wood, cut in a peculiar manner of correſpondency. For example. A ſtick or rod of Hazel (or perhaps of ſome other wood) well dried and ſeaſoned, was cutt ſquare and uniform at each end and in the ſhaft. The ſumm of money which it bore was cutt in notches in the wood by the Cutter of the Tallies, and likewiſe written upon two ſides of it by the Writer of the Tallies. The Taliy was cleft in the middle, by the Deputy Chamberlains, with a knife and mallet, through the ſhaft and the notches: whereby it made two halves; each half having a ſuperſcription and a half part of the notch or notches. A notch of ſuch a largeneſs ſignified M l; a notch of another largeneſs, C l; of another ſize, xx l; of another, xx s; of another, j s, &c. It being thus divided or cleft, one part of it was called a Tally, the other a Countertally; or a Tally and a foil, folium. One of the parts was alſo ſometimes called ſcachia, and the other contratallia (d): and ſometimes one was called contratallia, and the other ſtipes (e), and chacia (f). However theſe were in effect one Tally, or two parts of one entire thing. And when theſe two parts came afterwards to be joined; if they were genuine genuine they fitted ſo exactly, that they appeared evidently to be parts the one of the other. Concerning Tallies, the Reader may alſo pleaſe to conſult the Dialogue de Scaccario (g). The uſe of Them (like as the deſign or uſe of Indenting of Charters) was, to prevent fraud.

Tallies, as well thoſe that were made out at the Exchequer, as thoſe which were uſed in pais, were wont to have a ſuperſcripture, importing of what nature they were and for what purpoſe given. Robert de Fulham gave a tally of acquittance. It was ſuperſcribed, to be for money which he had received in Lincolnſhire, and that he was to acquitt the payer de tanto at the Kings Exchequer. This was a tally made in the Countrey (h). The Tallies of the Exchequer were frequently Allowed at the Upper Exchequer, by award of the Juſticier or of the Treaſurer and Barons: As in the caſe of the Earl De Ferrers (i), the Earl of Eſſex (k), the town of Wilton (l), and others. In the 49th year of K. Henry III, Philipp de Keylmers came before the Barons, and produced a tally of acquittance given to him by William de Liſle. It had been broken by miſchance. And was left in the cuſtody of the Remembrancer (m). In the 13th and 14th year of K. Edward I, Maſter Henry Sampſon brought before the Barons of the Exchequer [the pieces of] a Whole Tally for iiij l, levied by the Sheriff of Rutlandſhire; which Tally was by miſchance broken in the preſence of the ſaid Henry and his ſervants (n). K. Edward I (anno regni 14) made a Proviſion or Order, to be obſerved in the Exchequer, concerning Tallies that hapned to be Loſt, viz. That ſuch Tallies ſhould be Innovated, and the Countertallies thereof quaſhed; with ſome other particulars to be practiced upon That occaſion. This Proviſion is ſet forth in Ryleys Appendix (o). A Countertally containing leſs than the Stipes by iiij d, was, upon view of the Rolls of the Receipt, ordered by the Barons to be mended, and made to agree with the Stipes; in the caſe of William Bykot (p). A Tally was to be innovated for John de Eſcudemor. He was ordered by the Barons to ſue to the Treaſurer to get it innovated; without whoſe

Several Counters belonging to the Kings Exchequer were found about him. Some of the Men of That Town were impriſoned upon That occaſion. The King ordered the Counters to be returned to the Exchequer from whence they were taken (u). In the Twelfth year of K. Edward II, Rogiero Ardyngelli a Florentine Merchant came before the Treaſurer and Barons, and brought with him xx ſhillings of the New money of Venice, which exceeded Sterling money in weight and value. They were delivered to the Biſhop of Wincheſter the Treaſurer; Who aſſigned the ſame (except Two pence only) to the uſe of the Exchequer, to remain There and in the Receipt

I. LET me now ſpeak concerning the Officers or Miniſters of the Exchequer. I ſhall be very brief in what I ſay concerning Them, becauſe I intend to purſue the ſame method in this caſe, which I have obſerved in the foregoing parts of this Hiſtory; that is, I ſhall ſet-down only ſuch things as I find in Records: In truth, one is able to give but an imperfect account of ſeveral officers or of their Functions, eſpecially during the Firſt Period and for ſome time after. For in thoſe times they are, (if I obſerve right) commonly ſpoken of in indefinite terms, and not diſtinguiſhed from one another by a particular name or by a character of their proper office. The Clerks of the Great Exchequer or moſt of them were Then uſually comprehended under the general name of Clericus Scaccarij: and in like manner the Clerks employed at the Receipt, or moſt of them, under the general ſtyle of Clerici Theſaurarij & Camerariorum, or Clerici de Recepta. I ſpeak now of thoſe Clerkſhips or Offices which were not Serjeanties. For the Serjeanties were eaſily diſtinguiſhable from the reſt. The perſons following are reſpectively ſtyled Clericus de Scaccario: viz. Richard de Staunford (a), Nicolas de Caſtello (b), Elias de Hereford (c), Hugh de Oyldeboſ and Laurence de London (d), Adam de Stratton (e), William de Rowell (f), and William Flore (g). Elias de Hereford was a Remembrancer of the Exchequer before and at this time (h); and ſo was Nicolas de Caſtello. The like way of ſpeaking was uſed in former times concerning the Officers or Clerks of the Kings Chancery. Then, the Clerks of the Chancery as well of Higher as Lower rank, whoſe offices have ſince been diſcriminated from one another by diſtinct and proper names, were commonly called by the general name of Clerici Cancellariæ; as ſufficiently appeareth to them that are converſant in Records. Again; ſometimes the Officers of the Exchequer are called Miniſtri Regis de Scaccario (i). For the reaſons mentioned here above, I ſhall diſcourſe of the Officers of the Exchequer, under both Periods together. The Principal Officers of the Great or Superiour Exchequer were, The Two Remembrancers, The Ingroſſer of the Great Roll, The Uſher, the Conſtable, the Marſhal, The Auditours, The Clerk of Eſtreats.

II. Of the Clerk or Officer called Remembrancer, Memorator and Rememorator. There were anciently at the Exchequer Two Remembrancers. As other Clerks of the Exchequer were ſometimes called in general terms, the Kings Clerks [and other Miniſters There, the Kings Miniſters of his Exchequer]: So the Remembrancers were, as it ſeems, ſometimes called Rememoratores Regis. In the 38th year of K. Henry III, the Sheriff of Oxfordſhire was commanded to diſtrein the Bailiffs of Richard Earl of Cornwall, the Abbot of Weſtminſter, and other Noblemen, to anſwer to the King wherefore they do not diſtrein for the Kings debts within their Liberties, nor will permitt the Kings Bailiffs or the Sheriff to enter and diſtrein for the ſaid debts. A Roll containing the names of thoſe Noblemen was laid-up in the cheſt of the Kings Remembrancer at the Exchequer (k). Or perhaps this Memorator Regis might be the particular officer who has been ſince called the Kings Remembrancer. Again; one of them was called unus Rememoratorum, and the other alter Rememoratorum. Nicolas de Caſtle was the unus, and Maſter Odo de Weſtminſtre was the alter (l).

In the 19th year of K. Edward I, an Entry was made in the Roll of one of the Remembrancers. About ſeven years after, the matter of this Entry came to be queſtioned. The Chancellour of the Exchequer and three of the Barons, who were Chancellour and Barons in the ſaid 19th year, declared expreſly that they knew nothing of it: but did believe it was written by John de Kyrkeby the Remembrancer (for it was in his hand), by the order of the Biſhop of Bath and Wells who was then Treaſurer. And John de Kyrkeby declared, that he wrote it by the order of the ſaid Treaſurer (m). Here John de Kyrkeby is ſtyled a Remembrancer, but it doth not appear, Which of the Two he was.

In proceſs of time, one of them came to be called the Kings Remembrancer, the other the Treaſurers Remembrancer. And their Offices were diſtinct. As doth ſufficiently appear by the Diſtinct Remembrances or Bundles of Memoranda, which have been made-up in their reſpective Offices, and remain There from very Ancient time to this day. On the 26th day of February in the 27th year of K. Edward I, Walter Biſhop of Coventry and Lichfeld, the Treaſurer, delivered to Robert de Balliol Sheriff of Northumberland, the tranſcript of an Ordinance and Extent of the town of Berwick upon Tweed, in five Rolls, under the ſeal of John de Kirkeby the Kings Remembrancer of his Exchequer (n). At this time there was alſo an Officer called Treaſurers Remembrancer, Rememorator Theſaurarij. John le Boteler an Attorney of the Common Bench delivered into the Exchequer, by command of the Treaſurer and Barons, a charter made to Robert Burnel late Biſhop of Bathe and Wells, of the Homage and Service of Roger de Owelton. And That charter was left in the cuſtody of the Treaſurers Remembrancer (o). K. Henry III (anno regni 35) granted to Roger de la Leye the yearly Fee of xx l, payable at the Two Exchequers of Michaelmaſs and Eaſter, ſo long as he continued in the office of a Remembrancer at the Exchequer, Until the King provided better for him [in ſome Eccleſiaſtical Benefice] (p).

In Trinity term in the 18th year of K. Edward I, Richard de Luda was a Remembrancer (q): And in the ſame term Nicolas de Caſtello was a Remembrancer (r). On St. Martins day in the 21th year of K. Edward I, John de Kirkeby was admitted to the Office of Remembrancer in the Exchequer; And was Sworn before the Treaſurer and Barons (s.) John de Kirkeby had been a Remembrancer of the Exchequer for ſeveral years in the Reign of K. Edward I. And K. Edward II continued him in That office during his Pleaſure by the Writ hereunder recited (t). On the Firſt day of March in the Firſt year of K. Edward II, Walter de Bedewynde Clerk was admitted to the office of a Remembrancer of the Exchequer, in the room of John de Kyrkeby deceaſed: And the ſame day Walter was Sworn before the Treaſurer Barons and Kings Council at the Exchequer (u). On Monday the 11th day of October in the 5th year of K. Edward II, William de Everdon was admitted to the office of Treaſurers Remembrancer in the Exchequer: And the ſame day was Sworn to behave himſelf well therein (w). In the ſame 5th year, the King by his Writ of the Great Seal commanded the Treaſurer and Barons to deliver to Adam de Lymbergh Clerk the Office of Remembrance in the Exchequer which John de Cokermuth lately held, To hold to Adam during the Kings Pleaſure. And on Monday next after the octaves of St. Michael, Adam came before the Treaſurer and Barons, and by virtue of the ſaid Writ was admitted and ſworn into the ſaid Office (x). K. Edward II, in the 15th year of his reign, ſent to the Exchequer a Patent writ of the Great Seal, whereby he committed to Robert de Notingham, the office of a Remembrancer of his Exchequer, which Adam de Lymbergh lately held; To hold during his pleaſure; with the accuſtomed Fee of That office. He alſo ſent a Cloſe Writ of the Great Seal, whereby he commanded the Treaſurer and Barons, to admitt Robert into That office, and to deliver to him the Rolls and Memoranda belonging to it. Accordingly, Robert, being preſent in Court, was Sworn; and had the ſaid Rolls and Memoranda delivered to him (y). John de Kirkeby one of the Remembrancers of the Exchequer was ſent into Glouceſterſhire to Survey, Haſten, and Aſcertain the Debts due to the King in That County (z). K. Edward I. in the 13th year of his reign, by writ of Liberate aſſigned to Nicolas de Caſtello one of his Remembrancers of his Exchequer, ten marks, for the charges and expenſes which Nicolas and his Clerks had been at in making-out the Summonces of the Exchequer (a); and in the 15th year of his reign, ten pounds more for the like Service (b). III. The Engroſſer of the Great Roll was a moſt Ancient and a conſiderable Officer in the Exchequer. His Office is, for ought that appears, as Ancient as the Exchequer it ſelf: that is, when the Exchequer was firſt inſtituted in England, Then, ſome perſon or perſons was or were employed to write the Great Rolls. Inſomuch that one can hardly form a diſtinct notion of an Exchequer, without Two things, to wit, a Chequered Board, and a Great Roll: Which Two things have been ſteadily retained through the courſe of ſeveral ages, wherein the Exchequer hath undergon ſome alterations in other particulars. It is true, the ſtyle or name of Engroſſer of the Great Roll doth not, for ought that I know, occur in the moſt ancient times next after the Conqueſt. However, the coeval antiquity of his Office is, I ſuppoſe, ſufficiently evinced by the coeval Great Rolls which ſtill remain.

In the Third year of K. Edward I, Richard de Staunford and Robert de Walmesford were Writers of the Great Roll (f). In the 4th year of K. Edward I, the Barons enjoined the ſaid Richard de Staunford a Clerk of the Exchequer, to go and take the nomination of an Attorney of Philipp de Paunton, in a Plea of Debt depending between him and the Men of Graham (g). K. Edward I, in the 30th year of his reign, by Letter Patent committed to Nicolas de Balſcote the office of the Groſſaria [or Ingroſſerſhip] which William le Deveneys lately had in the Exchequer of Dublin, To hold during his pleaſure: And by a Cloſe Writ, commanded the Treaſurer and Barons of the ſaid Exchequer, to give him poſſeſſion of That office (h). K. Edward II, in the firſt year of his reign ſent a Writ of the Great Seal to Hugh de Notingham Clerk: reciting that the King Willed, that the ſaid Hugh ſhould execute the office of Keeperſhip of the Great Rolls of the Exchequer during the Kings pleaſure, in like manner as he had done in the reign of K. Edward I: and commanding Hugh forthwith to repair to the Exchequer at Weſtminſter, to execute the ſaid office (i). In the 52th year of K. Henry III, Robert de Verun late Sheriff of Wiltſhire was amerced before the Barons of the Exchequer at C s, for a Contempt. This ſumm was by the Treaſurer and Barons aſſigned to William de Rowell Clerk for writing the Great Roll of the Firſt year of K. Edward I. And a writ of Fieri facias iſſued to the Sheriff to enable him to levy it upon the goods and chatells of the ſaid Robert (k). In the 19th year of K. Edward II, an Order was made for encreaſing the Stipends of the Ingroſſer of the Exchequer and of the Remembrancer. It ſeems in Trinity term in the 16th year of the King, by vertue of a Writ directed to the Treaſurer and Barons in That behalf, a Proviſion was made at York for regulating certain things in the Exchequer. The articles of That Proviſion were entred in the Red-Book remaining in the cuſtody of the Kings Remembrancer. Part of thoſe articles relates to the Ingroſſers office. And therein it is ſet-forth, that the Great Roll of One year was now larger than it was wont to be in three or four years in the time of the Kings anceſtours; that there were ſeveral Accompts for former years ſtill in arere; and that the buſineſs in the ſaid Exchequer daily encreaſed. And therefore it was ordained, that two Clerks who were to be at the Kings wages, ſhould be employed to engroſs the Foreign Accompts, in aid of the ſaid Ingroſſer, untill the affairs of the Exchequer could be put into a better method of diſpatch. Other part of the articles relates to the Treaſurers Remembrancers office. Therein it is ſet-forth, that the buſineſs of the ſaid office was very much encreaſed in the preſent Kings reign, and and did daily encreaſe; that therefore it was as laborious to write the Rolls and writs of That office for one year, as for five or ſix years in the time of the Kings progenitours; and that the ſaid Remembrancers Fee for executing his office, was no more than what was accuſtomed in the time of the ſaid progenitours. And therefore it was ordered, that the ſaid Remembrancer, beſides the uſual Fee, ſhould have and receive of the King yearly, by adviſement with the Treaſurer and Barons for the time being, a competent ſumm for reteining of two more Clerks beſides thoſe which he hath already, to diſpatch the buſineſs of the ſaid office; and that this Order ſhould be obſerved till further meaſures could be taken. But in regard it was not expreſsly mentioned in the ſaid articles, How much the ſaid Engroſſer and Remembrancer ſhould receive for the maintenance of the ſaid two Clerks; Now, in this preſent Trinity term in the 19th year of the King, the Archbiſhop of York Treaſurer, and the Barons of the Exchequer, upon conſideration of the caſe, unanimouſly Agreed and Ordered, That the ſaid Engroſſer and Remembrancer, beſides the accuſtomed ſalary for their reſpective offices, ſhould each of them, in relief of their expenſes, receive for the maintenance of two Clerks Twelve marks yearly, from the time of the ſaid Ordinances, and ſo from hence forward till further directions ſhould be given therein (l).

IV. The Office of Uſher of the Exchequer was a very ancient and an hereditary office. K. Henry II, by his Charter granted to Roger de Warenguefort the Miniſtry of the Chief Uſhery of his Exchequer, with the appurtenances; To hold to Roger and his heirs, as amply as any other held it in the time of K. Henry I (m). This Office was veſted in the ſaid Roger and his heirs: and was holden of the King and his heirs, by Serjeantie; as will appear hereafter in this ſection. The Chief or Hereditary Uſher had ſeveral perſons that acted under him in the Great Exchequer, in the Exchequer of the Jews, and in the Common Bank. In the 37th year of K. Henry III, Roger del Eſcheker was ſeized of this Office. He committed a great treſpaſs againſt the King. And for That cauſe, the King, by a Writ of the Great Seal, commanded the Barons of the Exchequer, to ſeize the ſaid Rogers Bailywick or office into the Kings hand, and to remove all his Under-uſhers: And by another writ of the Great Seal, the King commanded the Juſtices of the Common Bench to ſeize into his hand the Bailywick which the ſaid Roger had in the Common Bench: And all the lands belonging to the ſaid Serjanty were likewiſe taken into the Kings hand (n). Many curious and uncommon memoires relating to this Office do occur in records. I ſhall ſet-down a few of them; taking notice of the ſucceſſion of Uſhers, which is, I ſuppoſe, deducible from Roger de Walingford abovenamed. In the ſecond year of K. Henry II, the Sheriffs of London, by vertue of the Kings writ in that behalf, paid to Roger the Oſtiarius de Theſauro xxviij s v d, for his livery or corrody (o): and in the ſame year, the Sheriff of Kent paid to the ſaid Roger a mark of ſilver, by order of the Biſhop of Ely a Juſticier or Baron of the Exchequer (p). In the 7th year of K. Henry II, the ſame Roger was Uſher of the Exchequer (q): And in the 12th year of the ſame King (r). In the 13th 14th and 15th year of That King,

King, Elias was Uſher of the Exchequer, and had the care of conveying the Summonces that iſſued for levying the Kings debts throughout England (s). Peradventure, the Uſherie (it being held of the King in Capite by Serjeanty) was now in the Kings hand, by the death of Roger the Uſher, whoſe Children were under age and his Widow in the Kings donation. For in the 16th year of That King, Elias the Uſher fined in xx marks, That he might have the widow of Roger the Uſher and his Office, untill Rogers children ſhould come to full age (t). In the 21th year, the Sheriffs of London paid to Elias the Uſher one mark, towards his charges in tranſmitting the Summonces for Danegeld through England (u). In the 22th year of That King, Elias the Uſher paid all that was behind of his Fine of xx marks, for the Wife and Office of Roger the Uſher (w). In the 29th year, Elias the Uſher was allowed xij d for Wax to ſeal the Writs of Summonces, and a mark for tranſmitting the Summonces through England (x). In the 31th year, Elias the Uſher had a mark paid to him for conveying the Summonces through England which were retornable in Eaſter and Michaelmaſs term (y). In the ſecond year of K. Richard I, two marks were paid to Elias the Uſher for tranſmitting the Summonces Twice in That year (z). In the 3d year of K. Richard I, Laurence was Uſher of the Exchequer; and had three marks for conveying the Summonces over England three times, and two ſhillings for Wax to ſeal them (a). In the 4th year of That King, Laurence the Uſher was paid Lxvj s xj d for the like ſervice (b). In the 5th year, Laurence the Uſher had one mark paid to him, for ſending the Writs of Summonce to the Sheriffs of England, for getting-in the Kings money that was to be paid for the Ranſom of his perſon (c). In the ſame 5th year, there was paid, to Laurence the Uſher, xx s, for conveying over England the Kings Summonces for calling a Council to meet at Oxford; to Thomas the Writer of Hugh Peverell, two marks and a half, for a horſe to carry to Glouceſter the Rolls and Summonces which Hugh and he had written; and to the Spigurnell, iij s iiij d, for Wax to ſeal the Summonces which were ſent to the Barons all over England, for the Army of Glouceſter (d). In the 6th year, Laurence the Uſher received a mark, for

(d) Et Laurentio Oſtiario xx s ad deferendas Summonitiones Regis per Angliam pro Concilio tranſmitting the Kings Summonces to the Kings Barons, whereby they were enjoined to come before the King at Southwell (e). In the 8th year of the ſame King, John de Wika was Uſher of the Exchequer. There was paid to him, one mark, for conveying the Kings Summonces for Aids, Hidages, and Tallages, over England; and xij d for Wax to ſeal thoſe Summonces; and to Thomas, Hugh Peverells Clerk ij s vj d, for his corrody for ſix days whilſt he wrote the ſaid Summonces (f). In the ſixth year of K. John, Laurence ſon of Alienor fined to the King in Lx marks and one palfrey, That he might have his Inheritance, the Uſhery of the Exchequer at Weſtminſter with the appurtenances (g). In the ſecond year of K. Henry III, William Druell fined in C marks and a palfrey, To have the Office late of Laurence the Uſher of the Exchequer, and to have the wardſhip of the Land and heirs of the ſaid Laurence, with the Marriage of them and of the ſaid Laurences Widow (h). In the 27th year, a Writ iſſued to the Cuſtos of the Honour of Walingford, commanding him to reſpite till his next Accompt, the demand which he made on Roger the Uſher of the Exchequer, of Military ſervice for his Land of Eſton, and to ſhew cauſe before the Barons at That day, Why he demanded ſuch ſervice, in regard Roger did not hold the ſaid Land of the Honour of Walingford, but by the Serjeanty of Uſherie of the Exchequer, as it was found by Inquiſition (i). Roger was Uſher in the next year (viz. the 28th of K. Henry III) (k). In the 33th year, in regard Matthew de Wikes Uſher of the Kings Exchequer, was attending at the ſaid Exchequer on Friday next after the feaſt of St. Matthew the Apoſtle, ſo that he could not appear at the Court of Heſe to Do ſuit There, the King by Writ commanded the Bailiffs of Heſe not to put him in default for his abſence on That day, becauſe the King waranted him for That day. Perhaps Matthew de Wikes might be an Underuſher (l). On Monday next after the octaves of the H. Trinity, in the 40th year of K. Henry III, Roger del Exchequer came before the Barons, and preſented Nicholas de Winton, to execute in his ſtead the Office of Uſhery during the life of Nicholas, provided he behaved himſelf well and truly in the ſaid Office. Nicolas was ſworn and admitted the ſame day in form aforeſaid (m). In the 52th year of the ſame King, Roger del Eſchequer was Chief Uſher, and Nicolas de Winton and Simon de Creton were his Deputy-Uſhers. Roger came before the Barons, and preſented Simon de Creton to the office of an Uſher, in the room of Talyefer the Uſher deceaſed. At this time, a Writ iſſued to the Sheriff of Oxfordſhire, reciting that it appeared by Inquiſition, that Roger del Exchequer and his Anceſtours held their Land of Eſton in the County of Oxford, of the King and his Anceſtours Kings of England, by the ſervice of Keeping the Door of the Kings Exchequer, and not by Knights ſervice of the Honour of Wallingford; and therefore the King commanded the Sheriff by

That writ, to ſurceaſe the demand which the Bailiffs of That Honour made on Roger for the Aid to the Ranſome of the King of Alemaigne, payable out of the ſaid Land (n). In the next year, Roger de Scaccario granted for himſelf and his heirs to Richard de Hederſete the office of Uſher of the Exchequer during his Life; ſo that Roger or his heirs might not put him out of the ſaid office (o): And Roger Preſented him before the Barons; And he was Sworn into the ſaid office (p). Richard de Hederſete was amerced for not coming to take Knighthood. K. Edward I pardoned his amercement (q). In the firſt year of K. Edward I, Laurence del Eſchequer granted for himſelf and his heirs to Richard de Mendeſham, That he would give Richard the Firſt Bailywick in his Gift that ſhould become void either in the Common Bench or in the Exchequer of the Jews: That in the mean time, till he could provide for Richard in That manner, he would give him two marks ſterling per annum de camera ſua: That when he provided for him as aforeſaid, he would make to him a Letter Patent of the Office for his the ſaid Richards life: That if he ſhould grant to Richard an Office or Serjeanty at the Common Bench, Richard ſhould pay him for it yearly half a mark, If an office or Serjeanty at the Exchequer of the Jews, Richard ſhould pay or render to him for it as much as other of his the ſaid Laurences Sergeants or ſubſtitutes uſed to render in like caſe. And for performance of this Contract, Laurence ſubjected himſelf to the coercion of the Barons of the Exchequer (r). In the 32th year of K. Edward I, a writ was ſent to the Barons, commanding them to certify to the King under the Exchequer-ſeal; whether it would be to the dammage of the King or of any other perſons, if he ſhould grant leave to Maud de Dagworth one of the ſiſters and heireſſes of Simon del Exchequer, to alien her purpart of the office of Uſhery of the Exchequer, and to William Peyforer and Lora his wife another of the ſiſters and heireſſes of Simon to alien her the ſaid Loras purpart of the ſaid office to Reginald Herlizoun and Hawiſe daughter of the ſaid Maud; to hold to Reginald and Hawiſe of the King and his heirs; and if it was to the dammage of the King or of any others, to whoſe dammage it was, and how much, and in what manner; and how much the ſaid purparts were worth by the year. Hereupon, the Barons certified: That they conceived, it would not be to the dammage of the King or of any others, if ſuch a Grant was made as the Writ mentioned; becauſe the Serjanty is now divided amongſt three parceners, and by the grant two parts would be united: They could not certify the Value, becauſe much of the profits of the office aroſe in the Iters of Juſtices (s). In the ſecond year of K. Edward II, Maud de Daggeworth held for the term of her life the Third part of the Bailywick of the Uſhery of the Exchequer, granted to her by John de Daggeworth, by Fine levied thereof, with the Kings licence, in the reign of K. Edward I. Maud died. K. Edward II received of John de Daggeworth his Homage for the ſaid Third part, and rendred the ſame to him: And then by his Writ commanded the Barons of the Exchequer, to give the ſaid John full ſeiſin thereof; ſaving to every man his Right. Upon this, John came before the Barons, and took the oath to demeane himſelf well and truly in his ſaid office (t).

It was the Uſhers duty, to keep the Exchequer ſafely, and to take care of the doors and avenues to it, ſo that the Kings Records which were laid-up There might be in ſafety (u). It was alſo his Duty, to tranſmitt the Writs of Summonces which iſſued out of the Exchequer for the Kings debts; that is, to cauſe them to be delivered to the reſpectivie Sheriffs to whom they were directed. This doth appear by the precedents cited above in this ſection, and by two or three more here ſubjoined. The Sheriff of Hereford retorned Tarde upon a writ of Diſtringas. James de Eggemere Uſher of the Exchequer, who (ſaith the Record) ought to convey the Writs iſſuing pro Rege to the reſpective Sheriffs, being examined by the Court touching the delivery of the ſaid Diſtringas, one Walter de Ellesfeld Clerk to the Sheriff of Hereford was found Faulty and committed to priſon (w). On the 22d day of December in the 27th year of K. Edward I, the Eſtreats of Fines, amercements, and iſſues ſet and loſt before W. de Beauchamp Steward of the Kings Houſehold, in the 24th and 25th years of the King, were ſent out in Summonce into the ſeveral Counties of England, except Cumberland and Devonſhire. The ſaid Summonces were ſealed with the Exchequer-ſeal, under the teſtimony of Walter Biſhop of Coventry Treaſurer, and delivered to John Dymmok Uſher of the Exchequer, that he might ſend them with ſpeed to the Sheriffs of the ſaid Counties (x). In the ſecond year of K. Edward II, a writ iſſued to the Sheriff of Norfolk and Suffolk, ordering him to ſeize into the Kings hands all the lands and tenements of Walter de Langeton late Biſhop of Coventry and of the Templars. The like writs iſſued into ſeveral other Counties. And all the ſaid Writs were delivered at the Exchequer to John de Eggemere Uſher of the Exchequer, to be ſent by him with all ſpeed to the Sheriffs of the ſeveral Counties. And to prevent delay in conveying the writs, the Treaſurers Lieutenant delivered to the ſaid Uſher as much money as was needful for the ſtipends of the ſeveral meſſengers who were to carry them (y). The ſame King by his Writ commanded the Abbot of Peterburgh, to be in perſon before the Kings Council at Weſtminſter ſuch a day, And to have with him There Frere William de la More who, as the King had heard, reſided in the Abbey of Peterburgh, and other Templars if any of them were in the Abbots power. This Writ was delivered, at the Receipt of Exchequer, to John Doget Servant to John Dymmok an Uſher of the Exchequer, to be conveyed to the ſaid Abbot (z). In the 5th year of K. Edward II, on the third day of December at one a-clock, ſeveral Cloſe Writs of the Great Seal were delivered to John de Eggemere Uſher of the Exchequer. They were titled at the tails of them, De terris capiendis &c; and were to be tranſmitted by the Uſher to the reſpective Sheriffs (a). In the 12th year of K. Edward II, writs were awarded to the ſeveral Sheriffs of England, for ſummoning the Taxours of the Kings Eighteenth and Twelfth, to appear before the Kings Council at Weſtminſter [to receive their Formule or Articles of Inſtruction]. To ſome of the Sheriffs or their Clerks who were then preſent at the Exchequer, the writs for their reſpective Counties were delivered in the preſence of the Treaſurer and Barons: And other writs were delivered to John de Eggemere Uſher of the Exchequer, to be by him ſent to the reſpective Sheriffs of the other Counties (b). In the 15th year of K. Edward II, certain writs relating to Maſter Jordan Moraunt late Conſtable of Bourdeaux, were ſealed, and then delivered to John de Stokesby one of the Uſhers of the Exchequer, who was to deliver them to certain Meſſengers, to be by them conveyed with all ſpeed to the Biſhops and Sheriffs to whom they were directed (c). There were ſome other things pertaining to the Uſhers office or Duty. For example. In the 52th year of K. Henry III, Nicolas de Wynton Uſher of the Exchequer was commanded by the Barons, to go unto John de Aubernun late Sheriff of Surrey and Suſſex now accompting, and to take the ſaid Johns appointment of an Attorney to make his Summ for him, and to Charge and Diſcharge him, upon his Accompt (d). In the 4th year of K. Edward I, the goods and chatells which Luke de Batencurt had in London at the time of his death, were, by order of the Treaſurer and Barons, appraiſed by the Sheriffs of London and Richard de Hederſete Uſher of the Exchequer (e). The Sheriff of Cornwall was attached by James de Eggemere Uſher of the Exchequer, to appear before the Barons, and to anſwer a plaintif for a Treſpaſs (f).

Edward par la grace de Dieu Rei Dengleterre &c, Au Treſorier & as Barons del Eſchequier, ſalutz. Sachiez ed and ſurrendred to K. Edward I, all his Caſtles, Manours, Lands, and tenements in England and Wales, which he held in Fee, and all his Right, Honour, and Lordſhip nomine Comitis in the Counties of Hereford and Eſſex, and his Conſtableſhip of England, To hold to the King and his heirs in Fee; And K. Edward I afterwards viz. 26. Novemb. anno regni 31°, by his Charter gave and granted to Humfrey de Bohun and Elizabeth Counteſs of Holland, his Wife, the Kings Siſter, all the ſaid Caſtles, Manours, lands, tenements, Right, Honour, Lordſhip, and Conſtableſhip of England &c, To hold to the ſaid Humfrey and Elizabeth, and the heirs of the body of the ſaid Humfrey begotten, of the King and other Chief Lord and Lords of the Fees (p). And afterwards, K. Edward I by his Writ commanded the Barons to deliver unto Humfrey de Bohun and Elizabeth his wife, the Office of Conſtableſhip in the Exchequer and other things mentioned in the Writ, according to the tenour of the Kings Charter made in that behalf (q). K. Edward II (anno regni 17°) by Writ of the Great Seal committed to Richard de Luda the office of Conſtable of his Exchequer (being then for certain cauſes ſeized into his hands), To hold during Pleaſure: And the Treaſurer and Barons were commanded to admitt Richard to the ſaid Office (r). I can ſay but little concerning the Powers or Duty of this Officer: ſave that he ſeemeth to have had in ſome caſes a concurrent or Like power with the Marſhall. In the 39th year of K. Henry III, Robert de Fulham (then Conſtable of the Exchequer) was commanded by the Kings Writ to go to Lincoln, and arreſt the Sheriff of Lincolnſhire, and bring him up before the Barons of the Exchequer ad audiendum & faciendum (s). In the ſame year the King ſent Robert de Fuleham to the Coroners of Lincoln, to levy and collect all arerages or debts due to Gilbert de Cheyles Sheriff of Lincoln, by View and teſtimony of the ſaid Coroners: And in regard Gilbert owed to the King CCxliij marks de claro, the King commanded Robert to levy the ſame on the goods and chatels of Gilbert, and to have the money at the Exchequer (t). In ancient time there was alſo a Conſtable in the Court of Common Bench, who enrolled Eſſoignes, and Did other Miniſterial acts There (u).

VI. The Office of Marſhal of the Exchequer is very Ancient. There is mention made of him in the reign of K. Richard I. (x) Et Magiſtro G. Mareſcallo Clerico Mareſc., xx s de prædicta firma [propreſturarum], chequer (y), John de Nevill, Clerk of the Marſhalſey (z). He was wont to be appointed to his Office by the Marſhall of England for the time being; that is to ſay, the Marſhal of England uſed to Preſent to the King, or to the Barons of the Exchequer a Clerk to execute for him the Office of Marſhall in the Court of Exchequer; Which Clerk was thereupon admitted and Sworn in the Exchequer. But when the Office of Marſhall of England hath hapned to be in the Kings hand, then the Marſhall of the Exchequer was appointed, either by the King himſelf, or by the perſon to whom the King committed the Office of Marſhall of England. I will give ſome inſtances of theſe things. K. Henry III ſignified by his Writ to the Barons of the Exchequer, that at the Preſentation of G. Mareſchall Earl of Penbroke, he had admitted Maſter Richard de Swindon the Earls Clerk, to reſide at the Exchequer as Marſhall in the Earls ſtead, untill the King ſhould come again to the Exchequer: And therefore by this Writ he commanded them to admitt Richard to the ſaid Office, and to certify Him at his next coming, whether Richard was fit for it (a). About the 31th year of K. Henry III, Maud Counteſs of Warehne and Norfolk, had the Eſnece of the Inheritance of Walter Mareſchall late Earl of Pembrok; for which reaſon the King committed to her the Staff of the Mareſchalſy; and ſhe, with the Kings licence, committed the ſaid Staff to Roger le Bigod Earl of Norfolk her Son and Heir, who Did Homage to the King for the ſame: The King thereupon by his Writ commands the Barons, to let the ſaid Earl have What pertained to the ſaid Staff or Office, and to admitt ſuch Perſon (being Fit), as he ſhould appoint to Act for him at the Exchequer (b). And ſoon after, the ſaid Earl preſented to the Treaſurer and Barons John de Nevill Clerk, to execute for him the Office of Mareſhall at the Exchequer, during his Pleaſure; who was Sworn and admitted to That office (c). Anno 49° Hen. III, there being no Marſhall reſident at the Exchequer: The King by his Writ commanded Roger le Bigod Earl-Marſhall, to appoint ſome perſon to act for him as Marſhall at the Exchequer (d). In the 10th year of K. Edward I, the Earl Marſhall Preſented before the Barons John de la More, to the office of Marſhall of the Exchequer; who was Admitted and Sworn (e.) In the 34th year Finient of K.

Edward I, it being reported that Roger le Bygot Earl of Norfolk and Mareſchall of England was dead, the Office of Marſhall in the Exchequer (belonging to the ſaid Earl) was taken into the Kings hands. And immediately the ſaid Office was, on the Kings behalf, committed to William de Spanneby Clerk, for him to hold it till further order was taken therein. And William was Sworn (f). K. Edward II, in the Firſt year of his Reign, committed to Nicolas de Segrave the Office of Marſhall of England during Pleaſure; And thereupon commanded the Treaſurer and Barons to Admitt ſuch perſon as Nicolas ſhould Preſent to them, to act for him in the Exchequer: And Nicolas Preſented Elias Puger to act for him at the Exchequer; who was Admitted and Sworn (g). The ſame King in the 5th year of his Reign, granted the office of Marſhall of the Exchequer to Arnald de Tylye during Pleaſure; And Arnald was Sworn accordingly (h). And quickly afterwards, the King commanded the Treaſurer and Barons to Admitt ſuch perſon to the office of Marſhall of the Exchequer as Nicholas de Segrave (to whom the King had granted the Marſhalſey of England) ſhould depute in that behalf: He deputed Joceline de Branteſcombe; who was Admitted and Sworn (i). Roger le Bygod Earl of Norfolk and Mareſhall of England granted and remiſed to K. Edward I the Mareſchalſey of England with all things pertaining thereunto. K. Edward II, by his Charter granted the ſaid Mareſchalſey to his Brother, Thomas de Brotherton Earl of Norfolk; To hold to him and the heirs males of his Body, of the King and his heirs; and to Do unto the King and his Heirs the Services which were wont to be done to the Kings Progenitours the ancient Kings of England for the ſame: And ſent a Writ of the Great Seal to the Treaſurer and Barons of the Exchequer, commanding them to admitt ſuch perſon to the office of Marſhalſey in the Exchequer as the Kings ſaid Brother ſhould nominate or by his Letters Patent depute thereunto. Afterwards, in the octaves of Eaſter, the Earl of Norfolk came into the Exchequer before the Treaſurer and Barons, and nominated Ambroſe de Newburgh to execute the office of Marſhall in the Exchequer, in the name and ſtead of the ſaid Earl; praying, the ſaid Ambroſe might be admitted thereto. And by vertue of the ſaid Mandate, Ambroſe was admitted, and Sworn to his good demeaner (k).

I will here ſet-down ſome things relating to the Duty or buſineſs of this officer. Whilſt an Accompt pended, he had the keeping of ſeveral ſorts of Writs and Vouchers produced to the Court by Debtors or Accomptants. Theſe he uſed to keep in Forules or Binns, or in Filets or Files, or in a Burſe or Bag. The Forules were, it ſeems, digeſted by Counties. In the Exchequer-Records, frequent mention is made of the Forulus Mareſcalli, and ſometimes of the Forulus Mareſcalli of ſuch or ſuch a County. For example. There was the Marſhalls Forulus of Lincolnſhire (l); his Ligula or Filet (m); and his Burſe or Bag (n). He performed ſeveral acts relating to Accomptants in the Exchequer. For inſtance. When an Accomptant, having been Sworn to Account, did not proſecute his Account bona fide, but made default at any Day prefixt to him: Or did not duly anſwer the arerages of his Account: In ſuch caſes he was committed in cuſtody to the Marſhall, to remain his Priſoner till the Court made a receſs. Ralf Baſſet was delivered to the Marſhall, for the arrerages of his Accompt. He had Day given him as a Priſoner upon his Parole, for ſo long as the King was in Town and the Exchequer was Sitting (o). Upon making up the Summ of Thomas de Pyn Sheriff of Devonſhire for the ſecond year of K. Edward I, Thomas owed the King xv l xv s vj d; for which, he was committed to the Marſhals cuſtody (p). When the Court finiſhed their Seſſion, the Marſhall delivered up his Priſoner, who was thereupon committed to the Fleet, or ſome other Priſon (q). If an Accomptant at the Exchequer was arreſted, the Marſhall claimed to have the cuſtody of him. In or about the 38th year of K. Henry III, Roger Earl of Norfolk and Marſhall of England complained to the King, That whereas by the Ancient cuſtom of the Exchequer, if a Sheriff or other Perſon, being upon his Account at the Exchequer, was arreſted, he ought to be committed to the cuſtody of the Marſhall, ſuch Accomptants had Then of late been frequently committed to the Flete priſon: Whereupon, the King by his Writ commanded the Barons, that if it were ſo, they ſhould ſee Right done to the Marſhall in That caſe (r). And at another time, complaint was made on behalf of Roger Earl of Norfolk Marſhall of England, before the Juſticier, the Treaſurer and Barons, and other Great Men of the Kings Council in Full Exchequer, That whereas Licoricia the Jeweſs was committed to the cuſtody of R. de Goſebec the Earls Deputy-Marſhall, for certain Clear Debts which ſhe owed to the King; ſhe was wrongfully removed from his Cuſtody, and committed to the Conſtable of the Tower of London: But it being found, upon due Examination, and Search of Precedents, that both Jews and Chriſtians who owed to the King any Clear Debts enrolled at the Great Exchequer, ought to be committed to the Marſhall for the ſame; It was adjudged, that Licoricia ſhould be redelivered to the Marſhall (s). Again; it was uſual for Accomptants (being in the Marſhalls cuſtody) to make Oath to him, before the Barons of the Exchequer, that they would not depart from the Court without Licence, or would not go above ſuch a Diſtance from the Court without Licence, Or that they would anſwer the arerages of their Accompt. Of theſe matters I have already given ſome inſtances in another place (t). Accomptants aſſigned before him their Attorneys whom they deputed to act for them in their Accompts. Hugh de Kynardele Sheriff of Herefordſhire, was ſick in London. The Treaſurer and Barons ſent John de Nevill Marſhall of the Exchequer to Hugh, to receive his nomination of an Attorney. And Hugh, in the Marſhalls preſence, appointed Robert de Trillet and Reginald de la Rode, to render his Accompt and to make his Summ for him (u). It ſeems he had the fee of half a mark by the day from perſons committed to his cuſtody: John Sampſon came and Acknowledged before the Barons, that he owed Roger de Goſebec the Marſhall Two marks and a half for Five days Committment (w). And Richard le Eſcot who had been arreſted at the Exchequer, made the like Acknowledgment before the Barons, for Two marks and a half Fees due to the Marſhall for Five days Cuſtody (x). Simon de London, Attorney of Thomas Corbet, Acknowledged before the Barons that he owed to the ſame Roger Lx s Committment-Fees (y): Upon which Acknowledgment, Roger had afterwards a Writ of Fieri facias, to levy the Lx s upon the ſaid Thomas Corbet (z). K. Edward II. in the firſt year of his reign, being willing to know What rights fees and devoirs did belong to the Mareſchall of England by reaſon of the office of the Kings Mareſchalſey; By his Writ of Privy-Seal commanded the Barons of the Exchequer, to certify Him diſtinctly and plainly by their Patent Letters, concerning the ſaid rights fees and ſervices, with all commodious ſpeed (a). I have not found the Certificate which the Barons made to the King upon this mandate. But the ſame King, in the ſecond year of his reign, ſent a writ of the Great Seal to the Barons of the Exchequer; ſignifying, that he Willed that the Mareſchalls of the Exchequer ſhould receive and enjoy all and ſingular the fees which rightfully belonged to them on account of the ſaid office of Mareſchalſey, in like manner as former Mareſchalls, in the time of the Kings Father, uſed to receive and enjoy the ſame; and therefore commanding the Barons, to ſuffer the ſaid Mareſchalls to have and enjoy the ſaid Fees which belonged to them by means of the ſaid Marſhalſey, as it had been accuſtomed in the time of the Kings Father. This Writ iſſued at the the relation of W. de Melton (b). In fine, the word Marſhall ſeems to have been ſometimes uſed with latitude. The perſons that were wont to be employed at the Exchequer, in arreſting accomptants or other delinquents, were ſometimes called by That name (c).

VII. In proceſs of time there were Officers at the Exchequer who were called Auditores Compotorum Scaccarij. In the reign of K. Edward II, certain Clerks were appointed to audite the Foreign Accompts in the Exchequer: Who ſeem to have been ſettled Officers; becauſe upon the Death or Removal of One of them, Another was put into his place: But then it is ſaid, that thoſe Clerks were nuper deputati, lately aſſigned to That employment; which leads one to think, they were Officers Then newly introduced. Thus in the 9th year of K. Edward II, Richard de Luda was admitted to be unus Clericorum nuper deputatorum ad compotos forinſecos audiendos hic in Scaccario, in the room of Edmund de Dynington; And took an Oath for his Good abearance in That Office (d). In the preceding times (for ought that I have obſerved), Accompts of ſome part of the Revenue were uſually audited either by ſome of the Juſtices or Barons, or by Clerks or Perſons aſſigned hac vice for That purpoſe, by the King or the Treaſurer and Barons. For Example. In the tenth year of K. Henry III, Stephen Archbiſhop of Canterbury accompted for CC marks Impreſt-money; and for Dxxxij l xviij s xi d, the Quinzime of his Demeane, and of his Men, and of the Men of his Knights; and for CLxj l x s, the Quinzime of the Religious of his Dioceſe in Kent and of their Men; Except the Abbat of St. Auſtin and the Priour of

The Accompt for this Quinzime rendred by the Archbiſhops Bailiffs, was audited by the Biſhops of Bathe and Saresbery and their Companions (e). K. Henry III, in the tenth year of his reign, by writ of his Great Seal commanded R. Biſhop of London one of his Council, to appoint Maſter Michael Belet and William del Caſtel to hear or audite the accompt of the Juſtices or Commiſſioners of the Kings Quinzime, who were to yield their accompt at a day prefixed to them in Hilary term then next following (f). In the 20th year of K. Edward I, Thomas de Bellehus, W. de Carleton, and H. de Creſſingham, were appointed to audite and purify all manner of debts, and to ſumm-up and report before the King the ſumms of all the debts of K. Henry III. But probably this was in Parliament (g). In the 35th year of K. Edward I, the Merchants Friſcobalds were to Account at the Exchequer for the Kings Cuſtoms. The King by his Letters Patents aſſigned certain perſons to Audite their Accompt. But in regard Two of Thoſe perſons could not attend to act therein, One by reaſon of other affairs, The other by reaſon of Sickneſs; Thereupon, the Kings Council at the Exchequer Appointed Two others to join with the perſons before aſſigned by the King, in Auditing the ſaid Account (h). In or about the ſame 35th year, John del Iſle and others were appointed to be Auditors of the Accompts of the Diſme impoſed by the Pope on the Clergy (i). In the 12th year of K. Edward II, John de Foxle, Maſter John de Everdon, John de Ocham, and Robert de Wodehous Barons of the Exchequer, and Adam de Lymbergh a Remembrancer of the Exchequer were aſſigned to audite the Accompt of John Biſhop of Bath and Wells, for the time that he was Keeper of the Ward-robe of K. Edward I; ſo that they jointly and ſeverally, or at leaſt Two of them together, ſhould diſpatch that Affair (k). Walter de Gatelyn Cuſtos of the Manour of Clarendon expended ſeveral ſumms of Money in Works and Repairs about the Manour. Rolls of the Particulars thereof, and likewiſe Counter-rolls of the Kings Viewers of thoſe Works, were delivered-in at the Exchequer; Which were examined by Robert de Thorpe a Clerk aſſigned by the Barons for that purpoſe (l). Richard Squier, Cuſtos of the Manour of Fekenham delivered-in a Cedule of Particulars of the Works done about That Manour; And it was examined by J. de Okham a Baron of the Exchequer (m). In the 15th year of K. Edward II, mention is made of Auditors of the Accompts of Bailiffs and Miniſters (n). K. Edward II, anno regni 16, appointed Henry de Leiceſter and William de Oterhampton, jointly and ſeverally, Auditours of the accompts of the Cuſtodes of the goods and chatells, and of the Bailiffs and Cuſtodes of the Lands and tenements, of Thomas late Earl of Lancaſter, and of others of the Kings enemies and rebells in Norfolk Suffolk and other Counties. The Commiſſion is Teſte W. Exonienſi Epiſcopo Theſaurario vij die octobris (o).

VIII. Little occurs within the cycle of my preſent Hiſtory, concerning the Clerk of the Eſtreats and foreign Summonces. On the twelfth day of November, in the eighteenth year of K. Edward II, all the Eſtreats as well of Fines and iſſues forfeited, as alſo of amercements, before Juſtices of either Bench, Barons of the Exchequer, Juſtices in Eire, and other Juſtices aſſigned, ariſing in the reign of K. Edward I, and of the preſent King, and likewiſe all other Eſtreats of Greenwax, which were in the cuſtody of the Treaſurers Remembrancer, were by command of the Treaſurer and Barons delivered to John de Chiſenhale Clerk of the Summonces, to keep (p). In Michaelmaſs-term in the 19th year of K. Edward II, William de Bereford Chief Juſtice of the Common Bench delivered into the Court of Exchequer ſeveral files of Rolls containing the eſtreats of divers Fines, iſſues, and amerciaments: Which Rolls were delivered to Nicolas de Lye, to be by him ſent-out in Summonce (q). In the ſame year, on the third day of February, the Eſtreats were, by the command of the Treaſurer and Barons, delivered to Hugh de Colewyk Clerk. And Hugh, being then preſent before the Treaſurer and Barons, took an oath that he would well and truly keep the ſaid Eſtreats and all other eſtreats hereafter delivered to him; and that he would well and truly ſend-out in Summonce, with all the haſt and diſpatch he conveniently could, as well the Eſtreats which were not yet ſummoned, as alſo all ſuch as ſhould thenafter be delivered to him (r).

IX. There was alſo a Clericus Brevium de Scaccario. In the 5th year of K. Edward I, Laurence de Lincoln was in That Office (s). It belonged to the Office of Chancellour of the Exchequer. In the 6th year of K. Edward I, Laurence de Lincoln was Clericus brevium, and had one Adam for his companion or fellow-clerk. In That year, the King empowered the Treaſurer to reward ſuch officers of the Exchequer as had not due recompenſe for their attendance and labour about the Kings buſineſs. Whereupon, the Treaſurer, conſidering the great labour and ſmall profit of the ſaid Laurence and Adam, did with the conſent of the Chancellour and Barons, grant to the ſaid Laurence and Adam, that for the future they ſhould receive to their own uſe the moneys ariſing from the iſſues of divers lands, which were levied and anſwered by divers Sheriffs; ſo as that when ſuch iſſues were ſent by the Sheriffs to the Exchequer, the ſame were to be delivered to Laurence and Adam; provided, that when perſons who had forfeited their iſſues came at their days and healed their former defaults, Then the iſſues ſhould be reſtored to ſuch perſons, and inſtead of the iſſues Laurence and Adam ſhould receive the money paid for healing the ſaid defaults (t).

X. Amongſt the Officers of the Exchequer during the Second Period, we may reckon the Chamberlains. In the Firſt Period or great part of it, the Chamberlains in Fee, who were Great Officers in the Kings Court, ſometimes Sat and acted in perſon in the Kings Exchequer: And are numbred amongſt the Barons There (u). But afterwards, the Chamberlains in Fee uſually deputed others to execute their Offices for them, both in the Great Exchequer and at the Receipt. The perſons ſo deputed were at Firſt wont to be Knights. But others were ſometimes deputed, who were not Knights. K. Henry III, gave William Mauduit time till the feaſt of of the H. Trinity, to provide himſelf a Knight to Serve for him in the Office of Chamberlain (w). The ſame King commanded the Barons to admitt ſuch perſon as Margaret de Riparijs ſhould Preſent to them, to Reſide in her room at the Exchequer, though he were not a Knight, in caſe they thought him Fit in other reſpects (x). When the Chamberlain in Fee deputed one to execute his Office for him, he was, regularly, to come in perſon and preſent his Deputy to the Treaſurer and Barons at the Exchequer; And thereupon the Deputy uſed to be Sworn and Admitted. But ſometimes he Preſented his Deputy to the Barons by his Steward, or other Attorney appointed for That purpoſe: And ſometimes by his Letters Patent directed to the Treaſurer or Barons. Sometimes alſo, he Preſented his Deputy to the King Himſelf: And then, upon the Kings Writ ſent to the Barons of the Exchequer certifying the ſame, ſuch Deputy was Admitted. Of theſe ſeveral Preſentments I ſhall ſet down ſome inſtances according to the order of Time. In the 29th year of K. Henry III, Margaret de Riparijs preſented to the King Thomas Eſperun, to act for her [as Chamberlain] in the Exchequer (y). In the 49th year of the ſame King, William Mauduit Earl of Warwick, by his Letters Patent preſented David his Chamberlain to the office of Uſher of the Receipt; who was admitted and ſworn (z).

In the 51th year of K. Henry III, William Mauduyt Earl of Warwick, deputed before the King, Richard le Chamberleng, to execute for him before the Barons his office of Chamberlain of the Exchequer, during his pleaſure: And the King commanded the Barons to admitt Richard to the ſaid Office (b). In the 52th year, William de Beauchamp heir of William Mauduit late Earl of Warwick came to the Exchequer and preſented David de la More to the office of Uſher of the Receipt, during his pleaſure. Who was Sworn and admitted (c). In the ſame 52th year, Iſabell Counteſs of Albemarle came in perſon before the Barons of the Exchequer, and Preſented Ralph de Bray (her Deputy) to the Office of Chamberlain (d). In like manner, W. de Beauchamp Earl of Warwick preſented to the Treaſurer and Barons John Peverel, to act for him in the Office of Chamberlain in the Exchequer till the Michaelmaſs then next following (e). About This time alſo, James Earl of Albemarle was a Chamberlain-in-Fee of the Exchequer (f). In the reign of K. Edward I, Iſabell Counteſs of Albemarle, by John de la Ware her Steward, and by her Letter Patent and the Kings Writ, preſented William de Cotton to the office of Chamberlainſhip of the Exchequer, to execute That office until Michaelmaſs next (g). This was in the firſt year of K. Edward I. In the ſame or the next year, William de Beauchamp Earl of Warwick preſented William de Bradecote (h): And William Earl of Worceſter preſented William Golafre (i). Soon after, Iſabell Counteſs of Albemarle preſented to the Barons William de Cotton to Act for her in the Great Exchequer, during her Pleaſure, And Adam de Stratton, to Act for her in the Exchequer of Receipt (k). the Earl of Warwick one of the Chamberlains of the Exchequer in Fee, by his Letter preſented Peter le Blound to act for him in That Office at the Exchequer: Who was by the favour of the Court admitted for this time; provided that the Earl do come hereafter in perſon, to preſent his Chamberlain (s). When a Chamberlain in Fee was in Wardſhip, the Guardian nominated a Deputy. The Queen, having the Cuſtody of Baldwin del Iſle, appointed Thomas Eſperon to be Deputy-Chamberlain (t). Or, if the Office of the Chamberlain in Fee was ſeized into the Kings hands, or became devolved to Him, Then the King aſſigned one or more perſons to execute the Office. K. Edward I, in the 6th year of his Reign (the Office of Chamberlain of the Exchequer being then ſeized into His hands) committed the ſame Office to Ralph de Beſages during pleaſure (u). In the 7th year of the ſame King, the Office of Chamberlain of the Exchequer was, by the Kings Command, reſtored to William de Beauchamp Earl of Warwick; who being preſent in Court, appointed Two perſons to act for him in That Office, one at the Great Exchequer, the other at the Receipt, And they were Admitted accordingly (w). In the 18th year of K. Edward I, Adam de Stratton was removed from the office of Chamberlain. Upon his removal, an account was taken of the money then remaining in the Treaſury. William de Eſtden was put in his place (x). In the 26th year of the ſame King, it being reported that William de Beauchamp Earl of Warwick Chamberlain-in-Fee of the Exchequer was Dead, the Lieutenant of the Treaſurer, the Barons and Juſtices at the Exchequer, took into the Kings hands the Office of the ſaid Chamberlainſhip; And put-out the ſeveral perſons who had acted in That Office under the Earl. Neverthelеſs, in regard the ſaid ſeveral perſons ſo put-out had well behaved themſelves in their reſpective Places, the Lieutenant of the Treaſurer, the Barons, and Juſtices, appointed them to Continue in their places, and to act Now under the King (in like manner as they had lately done under the Earl), untill the King ſhould further declare his pleaſure therein. And the ſaid Officers were Sworn and admitted accordingly (y). In the 26th year of K. Edward I, William de Brykhull was commanded by the Kings Writ (which is entred inter Hil. Brevia 26 Edw. 1. Rot. 116. a.) to appear in perſon at the Exchequer Such a day, to Hear and Do what the Barons There ſhould enjoin him. He came accordingly. And was admitted by the Treaſurer and Barons to the Office of Chamberlain of the Exchequer, in the room of Richard de Luda; And was Sworn into That Office. And on the day following, he appointed one to be his Deputy-Chamberlain, as to the Cuſtody of Countertallies; Which

Which Deputy was Sworn and Admitted (z). K. Edward II conſtituted Henry de Lutegereſhale Chamberlain of the Exchequer during Pleaſure, in the room of William de Brikhull (a): who afterwards made humble Suit to the King to be Diſcharged from that Office, and was Diſcharged accordingly by Writ of Privy Seal (b). K. Edward II, anno regni 9°, by his Letters Patent conſtituted Maſter William de Maldon Chamberlain in the Receipt of Exchequer (in the room of Maſter John de Golafre deceaſed, who had lately executed That Office for Guy de Beauchamp late Earl of Warwick Chamberlain in Fee), And commanded the Treaſurer and Chamberlains to admit him to the ſaid Office. Accordingly, he was Admitted and Sworn, before the Treaſurer Barons and Chamberlains. And John de Aſton Clerk to the ſaid Maſter John [de Golafre] ſurrendred to the Court Two Great Keys and three and twenty Leſſer Keys (being Keys to the Doors of the Treaſury and to the Coffers There); which were the ſame day delivered to the ſaid Maſter William (c). At the Same time, the Office of Keeper of the Tallies in the Exchequer, which Robert de la Feld lately held under the Earl of Warwick, was, on behalf of the King, committed by the Treaſurer and Barons, to John de Vyene Clerk; Who was Sworn into That Office; And the ſaid Robert having ſurrendred in Court before the Treaſurer and Barons Six Keys belonging to the Coffers of Tallies, the ſame were delivered to the ſaid John (d). And at the ſame time likewiſe, Hugh de Bray was appointed by the Treaſurer and Barons, on behalf of the King, to be Uſher of the Receipt, in the room of Adam de Rameſeye (who had lately been one of the Uſhers of the Receipt under the ſaid Earl): And he was Sworn accordingly (e). In the 16th year of K. Edward II, Richard de Luda one of the Chamberlains for Tallies, being at preſent hindred from executing his ſaid office perſonally, ſent to the Exchequer, by his Clerk Walter Skyp, eight Keys belonging to his ſaid office. Whereupon, the Barons of the Exchequer Ordered, that Richard de Ty ſhould have the cuſtody of the ſaid Keys, and ſhould execute the ſaid office [of Keeperſhip of the Tallies] in the mean time. And Richard de Ty was Sworn to behave himſelf well therein (f). K. Edward II committed the Office of Chamberlain to Richard de Crumbwell: And Richard came before the Barons, and Deputed Geoffrey de la Thorne to act for him as Keeper of the Tallies; Who was Admitted and Sworn (g). In the room of Richard de Crumbwell, the ſame King conſtituted his Kinſman Maſter James Deſpaigne one of the Chamberlains of the Receipt of Exchequer, during his pleaſure, ſure, with the accuſtomed ſalary (h). In the reign of K. Edward I, Richard de Lue a Chamberlain of the Exchequer, for ſpeaking raſh and outrageous words in Court to John de Cobham a Baron of the Exchequer, was put out of his office of Chamberlainſhip. John de Cobham in his life-time, and Henry de Cobham his heir and executour after Johns death, forgave Richard That treſpaſs. Hereupon, the King by his writ of Privy ſeal, commanded the Treaſurer and Barons, to reſtore him to his ſaid Chamberlainſhip, or elſe to put him into ſome other proper office at the Exchequer. And Prince Edward by his writ of Privy Seal, recommends Richard de Lue to the Treaſurer for the ſame purpoſe (i).

XI. The Treaſurer and Chamberlains had, under them, certain Clerks attending on the Kings buſineſs at the Exchequer. Theſe Clerks, during the time of their attendance There, were at Livery or Allowance from the King. So it was (for example) in the firſt year of K. Richard I, whilſt they ſtaid at Weſtminſter to attend the Sealing of the Kings Summonces (k); and whilſt they (together with Ten Tellers) were at Sareſbury, receiving the Kings money ariſing by the Diſmes (l). The Clerks employed under the Treaſurer and Chamberlains at the Receipt of Exchequer were uſually called, during the Firſt Period, Clerici Theſaurarij & Camerariorum, and Clerici de Theſauro or de Recepta, without diſtinguiſhing them from one another by particular names of office. Hence hath riſen ſome obſcurity. It ſeemeth (but I ſpeak only upon conjecture) that under the terms Clerici Theſaurarij, were comprehended the Officers who in proceſs of time were called, Clerk of the Pells, Writer of the Tallies, &c, and indeed all the Officers of the Receipt, except thoſe whoſe Offices were Sergeanties, and thoſe who ſerved under the Chamberlains in ſuch acts of Clerkſhip as related immediately to the Chamberlains office. In the Upper Exchequer there are but few memorials concerning the officers or Clerks of the Receipt. The names of ſome of them do caſually occur; and little or nothing more is ſaid. John de Lincoln, John Dunden, and Richard de Ceſtreford, are ſtyled Clerks of the Receipt (m). And others are mentioned after the like manner. In the 31th year of K. Edward I, Nicolas de Okham the Treaſurers Clerk who made or wrote the Tallies at the Receipt of Exchequer, being unable to attend at the ſaid Receipt; whereby the buſineſs There was put to a Stop: The Chancellour of the Exchequer (who was alſo the Treaſurers Lieutenant) and the Barons, unanimouſly agreed, That till ſuch time as Nicolas returned and acted at the ſaid Receipt, or ſome other perſon was deputed to execute That Office, John de Brantingham the ſaid Chancellours Clerk ſhould execute the ſaid office. And John was accordingly Sworn to behave himſelf well therein (n). In Hilary term in the 34th year of K. Ed-

CHAP. XXIV.

K. Edward I, Nicolas de Ocham, a Clerk in the Receipt of Exchequer, to whom it belonged to write the tallies of acquittance for perſons who paid money into the Kings Exchequer, was ſo ſick, that he could not write the tallies, nor do other things pertaining to his ſaid office; by means whereof, ſeveral perſons who had paid monies at the Receipt of Exchequer, had not yet received their tallies (as regularly they ought), but only bills teſtifying the receipt of the money; upon which bills a final allowance could not be made to them at the Exchequer: Whereupon, this preſent ſeventh day of February, it was ordered by John de Drokenesford the Treaſurers Lieutenant and the Barons, That ſome Clerk be appointed to write the ſaid tallies, and to execute the ſaid office par interim. And inſtantly the ſaid Lieutenant and Barons appointed John Deverey Clerk thereunto; namely, to write as well the tallies for the time paſt, for payments upon which bills had been made, as the tallies for the time to come upon payments hereafter to be made, untill the Treaſurers return; that the ſaid Treaſurer, when he came, might diſpoſe of the ſaid office as he thought meet; unleſs the ſaid Nicolas ſhould in the mean time recover his health and be able to execute the office himſelf. And the ſaid John was ſworn (o). Nicolas de Ocham died of his ſaid ſickneſs. Afterwards, on Monday the morrow of the Cloſe of Eaſter, to wit, the 12th day of April, the Biſhop of Coventry and Lichfeld, the Treaſurer, preſented here in the Exchequer before the Barons and Chamberlains of the Exchequer, William de Eſton his Clerk, to execute in the Exchequer of Receipt, in the ſaid Treaſurers room, the Office which Nicolas de Ocham lately the Treaſurers Clerk There, now deceaſed, did in his life-time execute; that is, to keep the Keys of the Kings Treaſury, which do belong to the ſaid Treaſurer, in his ſtead, and to enroll the Receipts and Iſſues made in the Exchequer of Receipt &c, and to write the tallies of the Exchequer, and to do other things pertaining to That office. And the ſaid William was admitted; and immediately was Sworn, that he ſhould behave himſelf well and truly, and that he would not, by pretext of any precept from the Treaſurer or from his Lieutenant in his abſence, or from any other, deliver any money out of the Kings Treaſury, to any perſon without the Kings Writ, or procure or conſent to have the ſame delivered &c (p).

The Clerkſhip of the Pells is, probably, an ancient Clerkſhip. There remaineth in the Treaſury at the Receipt of Exchequer, a Pell (or it may be a Counter-pell) of the ninth year of K. Henry III; which is the moſt ancient of any that I have yet ſeen. I have quoted ſome things out of it at the concluſion of this Chapter. In the 35th year of K. Henry III, we find the Pell or Pell-roll is called Magnus Rotulus de Recepta (q); in the 5th (r), and the 9th (s) year of K. Edward II, Pellis Memorandorum de Recepta Scaccarij.

XII. In the 28th year of K. Henry III, Simon de Weſtminſtre was choſen one of the Tellers of the Exchequer by the Treaſurer, and was Sworn before the Barons to behave himſelf Truly in that Office (t). In the next year Ralf Sumer was put into the Office of a Teller by the Treaſurer, and was Sworn before the Barons (u). Anno 52 of the ſame King, James de Langedone was made one of the Four Tellers of the Exchequer by the Treaſurer, and was Sworn before the Barons (uu). In the 26th year of K. Edward I, Thomas de Helles came into the Exchequer, and ſurrendred his Office of Teller to the Treaſurer, who thereupon the ſame day gave That Office to another, who was then admitted, and Sworn before the Treaſurer and Barons (w).

XIII. At the Receipt of Exchequer there were alſo ſome Serjeanties or Hereditary offices: namely, a Peſour and a Fuſour. First of the Former of theſe two, viz. the Peſour, Ponderator, or Weigher. This, I ſuppoſe, was the Sergeanty which in the 4th

4th year of K. John was veſted in Thomas de Windeſore (x), and remained in That Family for ſome time afterwards. About the 22th year of K. Henry III, it was veſted in John de Wyndeſore, and from him deſcended to his Son Thomas (y). About the 35th year of K. Henry III, it was veſted in John ſon and heir of Thomas de Windeſor (z). In the 41th and 42th years of That King, it was veſted in John de Windeſor (a). In the 48th year of That King, it was veſted in Sir John de Windeſor; Who conveyed it in Fee to Adam de Stratton by Feoffment; which Feoffment was Inſpected and Confirmed by the King (b). It was conveyed to Adam de Stratton in Mortgage; and Adam was to reconvey it to Sir John, whenever Sir John or his heirs enfeoffed Adam or his heirs of Twelve librates in Land or Yearly Rent, quit, free, payable out of one entire eſtate of one Tenure, according to a good and large valuation ſuch as ſhould be to the content of Adam or his heirs; as appeareth by the Deeds of the ſaid Parties acknowledged and enrolled in the Exchequer (c). In the 18th year of K. Edward I, William de Stratton was Weigher at the Receipt. He came Then before the Barons, and attorned Henry del Palace, to execute for him the office of Weigher. And Henry was Sworn before the [Treaſurer and] Chamberlains, to behave himſelf well (d). The ſame K. Edward I, by his Letters of the Privy Seal ſignified to the Treaſurer and Barons of his Exchequer, that he had granted to John le Convers the office of Peſour of ſilver at the Receipt, in the room of William de Stratton, with the uſual fee: And commanded them to cauſe Letters Patent of the Exchequer to be made to him of the ſaid office for his life, and to put him in poſſeſſion thereof in due manner (e): And Letters Patent were made to him accordingly (f). It appeareth by the Roll of Serjeanties (which is without date), that Thomas de Windeſores Serjeanty of Weigher at the Exchequer, was alienated in part. The lands alienated were valued at xiij l vij s viij d. And thereupon Thomas de Windſore made fine to the King, for the Tenants of thoſe lands and with their their conſent, at iiij l ix s per annum; and each of the Tenants was to anſwer to Thomas for the Third part of the yearly value of his tenement; and Thomas was to Do the ſervice of the ſaid Serjeanty for his part which was not alienated (g).

XIV. Another Sergeanty at the Receipt of Exchequer was the Fuſorie. By Fuſor, I ſuppoſe, we are to underſtand, Melter. One William was Fuſor in the reign of K. Henry II and Richard I. And after Williams Death, Joia his Widow profered to the King x marks, To have the Lands and Chatells of her husband, and to have Right for the Debts due to her husband, and to have her husbands Office at the Exchequer for the benefit of his Children: But ſhe not having money wherewith to pay the Fine ſo profered, Andrew del Eſchequer paid it: And thereupon, the Cuſtody of the Heir of William, with his Land and Debts (ſaving to Joia her Dower), was granted to Andrew by the Chief Juſticier and his Companions (h). In the 24th year of K. Henry III, Odo ſon of John the Fuſor, by his charter granted, confirmed, and quitclaimed, for himſelf and his heirs, to Edward [de Weſtminſter] ſon of Odo the Goldſmith, all the right he had in the office of Fuſor of the Kings Exchequer: To hold to the ſaid Edward and his heirs and aſſignes: Doing for the ſame what belonged to the office of Fuſorie of the ſaid Exchequer: For which grant and quitclaimer, Edward gave to Odo twelve marks of ſilver, towards his voiage into the Holy Land: This grant was made in the preſence of K. Henry III, who in the preſence of Odo and at his inſtance, received Edwards homage for the ſaid office: And K. Henry III, by his Charter confirmed the whole tranſaction (i). In the Reign of the ſame K. Henry III, this Office being veſted in Odo de Weſtminſtre, That King (anno 51°) gave leave to Odo to depute one to execute his Office for two years, whilſt he ſhould be engaged in his Studies: And thereupon Odo deputed Hamon de Wroxhull (k). And ſoon after, Odo (by vertue of the Kings Writ in That behalf) appointed Gerand. de Ely to Preſent for him to the Barons an Attorney to execute his ſaid Office, and likewiſe to purſue another buſineſs depending between Him and William Fitz-Richard (l). Afterwards Maſter Odo de Weſtminſtre, for himſelf and his heirs, Surrenderd and Quitclaimed the ſaid Office of Fuſory to K. Edward I (m).

Concerning the Uſher of the Receipt I find nothing memorable within this Period.

An allowance was wont to be made to ſeveral miniſters of the Receipt of Exchequer for their liveries or corrodies, and for divers neceſſaries. In the ninth year of K. Henry III, the allowance was in this manner. “The Liveries of the miniſters “of the Exchequer, of the Term of St. Michael in the ninth year of K. Henry III, “for fourſcore days, to wit, from the feaſt of St. Michael until the Monday next af-“ter

Ampliſſimo & Nobiliſſimo Baroni,

CAROLO Domino HALIFAX,

Pari MAGNÆ BRITANNIÆ,

Thomas Madox S. P.

TRACTATUS ſive Dialogus ſequens, Baro Nobiliſſime, hiſtoricis atque antiquarijs noſtræ gentis jampridem in pretio fuit; etiam dum in codicibus MSS delituit. Quin & mihi videbatur aptiſſime coincidere argumento Hiſtoriæ quam de Scaccario in præcedentibus ſchedis concinnavi. Propterea huic volumini inſerendum duxi. Nunquam antehac totus integerque editus, jam tandem Tuis auſpicijs in lucem prodit. Tuis inquam auſpicijs. Quum enim conſilium inibam edendi ad calcem meæ Hiſtoriæ accuratum Dialogi exemplar juxta Codicem MS qui Liber Niger Receptæ dicitur; ſimulatque honorem conſecutus eram id mei conſilij Tibi exponendi, copiam mihi pro Tua humanitate feciſti quatenus in Te erat, non illius tantum Codicis MS, ſed & aliarum membranarum veterum authenticarum, quotquot reconduntur in Scaccarij Regij Theſauraria, quæ tribus obſerari ſolet clavibus, quarum unam ut Auditor quem vocant Receptæ geris. Compluſcula ſane hujus Dialogi exemplaria MSS, moderno charactere exarata, in Bibliothecis tum publicis tum privatis reperiuntur. Honos mihi obtigit mutuo accipiendi exemplaria ejus duo, quæ quidem præ alijs quæ mihi forte obvenerant legibilia & emendata ſunt, extantia nimirum in inſtructiſſima Bibliotheca Doctiſſimi Baronis Johannis Domini Somers. Horum duum exemplarium ope tranſcriptum integri Dialogi fieri juſſi. Deinde illud tranſcriptum ipſemet quam potui diligentiſſime cum Libro Nigro MS ſupra memorato, atque etiam cum Libro Rubro MS in Scaccario Regio aſſervato contuli; ſicut mox fuſius exponam. Et quoniam exemplarium examinatio nonniſi a duobus, altero prælegente altero codicem inſpiciente, fit; in hoc tranſcripto ad fidem utriuſque illorum Librorum MSS examinando, opem operamque petij & obtinui a Viro Strenuo mihique amiciſſimo Georgio Holmes, vicemgerente Viri Clariſſimi Ricardi Topham, ſacrarum membranarum in archivis Turris Londonienſis repoſitarum Cuſtodis Regij, Amici mei humaniſſimi. Adeoque hæc editio juſta & caſtigata jure cenſenda. Jamque adſum, Baro Ornatiſſime, ut quem mihi Tractatum in Nigro Libro deſcriptum ſuppeditaſti, eum typis expreſſum Tibi præſentem. Præſentoque quanta maxima poſſum cum obſervantia, pro eo ac Tua Dignitas Virtuſque expoſcunt. Sunt autem aliæ rationes, ob quas exoptavi hanc editionem Tuo nomine præfixo ornari. Per orbem Britannicum inclaruiſti literatorum Patronus: uti & ipſe literis ingenioque præcellis. Ita ſerio doctrinæ provehendæ operam dediſti, ut ſolidam iſto pacto exiſtimationem comparaſti & ad ſeros nepotes duraturam. Speciatim vero, hoc potiſſimum nomine a me celebrandus es, quod nempe Hiſtoricen Scientiamque Antiquariam promovere curaſti. Baro Somers ac Tuipſe, pro ea qua apud Dominos Wilhelmum & Mariam pridem Regem & Reginam Angliæ felicis memoriæ valuiſtis gratia, auctores fuiſtis ut juſſu Regio inchoaretur præclarum illud opus Colligendi & in lucem emittendi Fœdera, Conventa, & Acta Publica, quotquot uſpiam in Archivis reperiri poterant, quæ inter Anglorum Reges & Exteros Reges atque Reſpublicas per aliquot præterita ſecula interceſſerunt. Quod quidem opus gratia Sereniſſimæ Reginæ ANNÆ etiamnum utcunque pergit. Præterea, juſtum rectumque eſt maximas ab Antiquarijs noſtræ Britanniæ gratias referri, perquam Honorabilibus & perquam Reverendis Proceribus ac Prælatis ſelecti cœtus, a Camera Procerum in Parlamento conſidentium (Te ibi coram & palam proponente) delegatis, ad perluſtranda ſingula Recordorum (a) Repoſitoria quæ Londoniæ ſunt (b), & Tibi in ſpecie, Baro eruditiſſime, Quod vos omnes Proceres Delegati negotium illud tam ſolerti cura peregiſtis: Quod Recordorum repoſitoria ipſimet adijſtis; Quod Recorda quo eſſent in ſtatu ſagaciter perſpexiſtis; Quod providiſtis ea a tempeſtate alijſque damnoſis caſibus illæſa ſervari, quin & in methodum redigi, indicibuſque ſi qui defuerant adjectis publico uſui aptos reddi; In ſumma, quod a Regia Theſauraria amplas impetraſtis pecuniæ ſummas (quæ pro innata Reginæ Optimæ munificentia facile conceſſæ) ad ædes cameraſque in quibus recorda aſſervantur inſtaurandas & reficiendas. Hoc ſane ſicut eſt ſuapte natura opus ſummis laudibus efferendum; ita non poteſt non eſſe apprime gratum acceptumque ijs omnibus, quibus veneranda Antiquitatis monumenta in pretio ſunt.

Indultus eſt mihi honor vos Proceres Delegatos comitandi: Semel videlicet, quum Archivum Regium Turris Londonienſis viſum ibatis; quo tempore ibi aderant perquam Honorabiles Domini, Thomas Comes de Stamford, Radulphus Baro Grey de Werk, Johannes Baro Poulet de Hinton St. George nunc Comes Poulet, Johannes Baro Somers, Carolus Baro Halifax (Amplitudinem Tuam innuo), ac plurimum Reverendi Johannes Ciceſtrenſis & Wilhelmus Carliolenſis Epiſcopi: Itemque alia vice quando perluſtraſtis Domum Capitularem Weſtmonaſterij, aliud Recordorum Regiorum Repoſitorium; quo die ibi adfuerunt Perilluſtres Domini Thomas Comes de Stamford, Carolus Comes de Sunderland, Johannes Comes de Angleſey, Laurentius Comes de Rocheſter, Carolus Vicecomes Towneſhend, Johannes Baro Poulet, jam Comes Poulet, Johannes Baro Somers, & Tuipſe Baro Ampliſſime, ac admodum Reverendus Wilhelmus Epiſcopus Carliolenſis (c), aſſociato ipſis Chriſtophoro Wren Equite Aurato, Architecto Regio: Iterumque alia vice, quum Repoſitoria Turris Londonienſis denuo viſeretis; quo tempore ibi præſentes erant perquam Honorabiles Domini Thomas Comes de Stamford, Johannes Baro Somers, & Tuipſe, ac plurimum Reverendus Gilbertus Epiſcopus Sareſberienſis. Permitte autem ſi placet ut hic profitear, maximo me oblectamento perfuſum fuiſſe, videntem atque notantem quam ſolicite omnes Proceres Delegati proſpexiſtis, ut Regia Recorda tuta & ſarta tecta ſerventur. Neque vero heic loci a me reticendum eſt propoſitum aliud laudatiſſimum (cujus Tu vel auctor vel adjutor), providendi nimirum pulcram & magnificam Bibliothecam ad Codices MSS Muſei Cottoniani quod Weſtmonaſterij eſt (Theſaurum certe quantivis pretij) condendos promendos. Quod quidem propoſitum gratia & munificentia ANNÆ Reginæ pientiſſimæ aliquando adimpletum iri ſperare licet.

Proximo loco nonnihil dicendum erit, Baro Illuſtriſſime, de Tractatu ſive Dialogo quem hic Tibi in manus do. Duo illius vetuſta exemplaria MSS hodie ſuperſunt. Unum deſcriptum in Nigro Libro qui eſt in Recepta Scaccarij Regij, in cuſtodia Theſaurarij ſaurarij & Camerariorum ; Alterum in Libro Rubro qui cuſtoditur a Rememoratore Reginæ in Scaccario Baronum: utrumque antiqua exaratum manu. Exemplar quod in Libro Nigro extat charactere minuſculo & denſiuſculo ſcribitur : Et ſcriptum fuit, ut conjicio, tempore circiter Edwardi I. Regis Angliæ. Tranſcriptor, quiſquis is fuit, aliquoties vacua in textu ſpatia reliquit ; ſiquando ſcilicet exemplar quo uſus eſt non potuit perfecte legi : Eaque vacua ſpatia (nonnunquam ad inſtar trium aut quatuor linearum) ſupplentur ab alterius cujuſdam penna, & diverſa quidem a reliquo textu ſcriptura ; at ſimili illi quæ ſub Edwardo I. Rege vulgo uſurpata fuit ; ſicut, inter examinandum, attentius intuentes conjectabamur. Hujus exemplaris textus integer eſt. Sed nulli habentur tituli ſeu lemmata capitum. Ubi ea inſeri debuerant, paſſim relinquuntur ſpatia vacua ; ſicut per linearum fracturas quæ ſunt ad initium quamplurium e capitibus conjicere licet ; quæ ſpatia (ut fit) Tranſcriptor poſtea non adimplevit. Indicium autem, ex quo liquere poſſit quiſnam vel Dialogum compoſuerit vel iſtius exemplaris ſcriptor fuerit, in Libro Nigro nullum reperio.

Exemplar alterum quod eſt in Libro Rubro, ſcribitur charactere admodum parvo & compreſſo ; & ſcribi potuit (conjectando loquor) circa Henrici III. Regis tempora anteriora, vel forſan Johanne regnante. Nullum habet Titulum generalem, neque auctoris nomen præfixum. Nam folio 31. a. ſic infit, Ordinatis a Deo poteſtatibus &c ; Et in dorſo ejuſdem folij ſic orditur, Anno xxiij regni Regis Henrici ſecundi, cum ſederem ad feneſtram ſpeculæ &c. Deinde ſequitur Dialogus columnatim ſcriptus. Iſte Liber Ruber quondam fuit Alexandri Archidiaconi Salopiæ. Id quod ipſe diſertis verbis teſtatur in charta ſive ſcripto cujus tenorem in margine appoſui, de quadam Concordia facta coram Rege & compluribus Magnatibus, inter Epiſcopum Herefordiæ & illius Urbis Cives (d). Hæc Concordia in Libro Rubeo ſequitur continuo poſt finem Tractatus de cujus auctore diſquirimus ; ſcripta ſcilicet eadem pagina ſeu dorſo folij in quo Tractatus deſinit, & quidem charactere ni fallor coævo illi in quo Tractatus ſcribitur. Hanc Concordiam ſcribebat ipſe Alexander ; ipſomet teſtante ſe interfuiſſe & hoc ſcripſiſſe.

Iſte Alexander Archidiaconus Salopiæ, fuit Alexander de Swereford, vir præſtantiſſimus, cujus memoria fauſta eſt, & apud Antiquarios hodienum viret floretque. Scaccarij primum Clericus, dein Baro. Cognominatus de Swereford, a villa ſive parochia ejus nominis in Comitatu Oxonienſi. Cujus parochiæ fuit primum Vicarius, deinde Rector (Perſonam vocarunt), ab Abbate & Conventu Oſeneiæ præſentatus (e). Anno Regis Johannis 17°, fuit Clericus familiaris Epiſcopi Coventrenſis ; & Regis permiſſu obviam Epiſcopo ſuo trans mare profectus eſt. Occurrit Salopiæ Archidiaconus, & teſtis chartæ Roberti de Watford Decani ac Capituli Londonienſis 5 Kal. Dec. 3. H. 3. (f). Conceſſit ei Henricus III. Rex, tunc Archidiacono Salopiæ & Clerico Regis, xx marcas per annum, ad ſe ſuſtentandum (g). Anno 18. H. 3. die 6. Julij, in Scaccario Regis reſedit tanquam Baro (h). Anno 123½, die 15 Jan. memoratur Theſaurarius S. Pauli Londoniæ (i). Item A. (d) Anno Domini Mccxxvij°, Regni Regis H. filij Regis J. xj, vigilia S. Margaretæ fuit Rex Londoniæ apud Weſtmonaſterium in capella S. Johannis cum Magnatibus quibuſdam. Et venit ibi H. Hoc exemplar proculdubio ex aliquo alio exemplari aut libro fuit exſcriptum. Nam exſcriptor nonnunquam alba ſpatiola repoſuit pro verbis quæ vel legere non potuit vel non ſatis intellexit: Et alibi nonnulla verba per errorem ſcripſit loco aliorum, quæ ijs, juxta modum ſcripturæ & abbreviationis illis temporibus uſitatum, ſimilia erant; ſicut & D. Georgius Holmeſius & egomet, Librum Rubrum oculis inſpicientes, conjectati ſumus. Porro, Alexander qui Regi in Scaccario ſuo jam inde a diebus Willelmi de Ely ſervierat (Willelmi, inquam, de Ely, qui in initio imperij R. Johannis Theſaurarius Regis fuit) ſedulam operam impenderat colligendis quas potuit rebus memorabilibus, ad Scaccarium, Regiumque Proventum, & Tenuras pertinentibus. Hoc ſane conſilio in Librum Rubrum (quo uſus videtur pro Collectaneorum penu) multa e Rotulis Annalibus (quos hodie Magnos Rotulos Pipæ vocamus) de Servitijs Militaribus excerpta retulit. Et inter alia quæ in Libro illo congeſſit, integrum conſervare ſategit noſtrum hunc de Scaccario Dialogum. Sed Dialogum ſuperius innui, Baro Ampliſſime, Alexandri Archidiaconi ævo antiquiorem eſſe. Idque ex intrinſecis quibuſdam notis ſive indicijs vero ſimile videtur. Exempli gratia. Dialogi auctor eo ipſo modo de Curia Regis loquitur, quo loqui ſolitum eſt ante Curiarum juridicarum partitionem (m). Pleraque Brevia ab ipſo citata ſtylum Regalem ſingularis numeri præ ſe ferunt (n); ubi R. Henricus II, annis imperij ſui poſterioribus, & poſt eum omnes Angliæ Reges, numero plurali ſcripſerunt, Nos & Noſtrum &c. Uſitatæ ſunt apud ipſum phraſes ſive dictiones quædam antiquitatem primævam ſpirantes. R. Henrici II. 15° (f). In ſumma, Tractatus iſte videtur vel partim ſcriptus vel forſan perfectus ſtatim poſt annum R. Henrici II. quartum & vigeſimum. Teſtatur auctor ſe ſcribere incepiſſe anno Regis illius vigeſimo tertio (g). Loquiturque de Brevi Regio emanante ſub Termino S. Michaelis anni vigeſimi quarti (h), tanquam de re tunc recens facta. Et ad hoc fere temporis ſpatium refertur alia clauſula Dialogi. —— “ A Ricardo (inquit auctor) Pictavenſi Archidiacono, nunc Wintonienſi “ Epiſcopo (i). Ille autem Ricardus Archidiaconus electus dicitur Epiſcopus Wintonienſis Kal. Maij A. D. 1173, (anno 19°, ineunte 20° R. Henrici II); obijtque A. D. 1188, (viz. anno ultimo R. Henrici II) (k).

Jam, ſi Tuæ Amplitudini placeat, inquirendum venit, Utrum Gervaſius Tilburienſis iſtius Tractatus auctor fuerit, an quis alius. Per aliquammultos annos elapſos Gervaſio quaſi communi hominum antiquariorum ſententia adſcriptus innotuit: atqui ob quam rationem adſcriptus, augurari nequeo. Ea res mihi videtur adeo in obſcuro poſita, ut profecto ſi quæratur, Quiſnam Gervaſius Tilleberienſis fuerit, lubens fateor me inter antiquas membranas nihil de eo reperiſſe. A ſcriptoribus modernis traditur materno genere ab Henrico II. Anglorum Rege ortum duxiſſe. Literarum ſcientem fuiſſe. Et complura ſcripſiſſe; ſpeciatim hiſtoriolam de Regibus Angliæ & Franciæ, quam Othoni IV. Imperatori Alemanniæ, filio Henrici Ducis Saxoniæ & Matildæ filiæ Henrici II. Regis Anglorum inſcripſit (l). Hiſtoriola illa a Cheſnio edita eſt inter Scriptores Francicos. Gerit ibi titulum hic in margine inferius memoratum (m); continetque quaſdam Regum Angliæ & Franciæ res geſtas breviter perſtrictas. Gervaſius magna apud Othonem Imperatorem gratia fuiſſe (n), & ab ipſo Mareſcallus Regni Arelatenſis deſignatus, fertur (o). Floruit (inquit Balæus loco ſupra citato) tempore R. Johannis. Et quidem circa illud idem tempus floruit Otho; nimirum, regnantibus R. R. Ricardo I, & Johanne; ſicut e memorandis quæ mox citaturus ſum liquere poterit. Tuæ Amplitudinis favore & patientia fretus, paulisper ab argumento meo digrediens, nonnulla hic de Othone Gervaſij Patrono enarrabo. Recolligendum eſt, Othonem (qui ſuo ſeculo eouſque emicuit, ut Germaniæ Imperator eligeretur, ſeu electus renunciaretur) Regia ſtirpe Angliæ prognatum. Mater ei fuit Domina Matilda, filia primogenita Henrici II. Regis Angliæ, principis potentiſſimi & magnificentiſſimi (p): Pater, Henricus Dux Saxoniæ. Illius Conjugij ſoboles maſcula fuerunt Henricus, Otho, & Willelmus cognomento Anglicus. Willelmo Anglico procreati ſunt Duces Brunſwici & Luneburgi. Sicque fundamentum poſitum eſt antiquæ inter Regalem Angliæ ſtirpem, ac Illuſtriſſimas Brunſwici & Hannoveræ familias, conſanguinitatis; Quæ ſane temporibus modernis in perſona Dominæ Eliſabethæ, matris Sereniſſimæ Principis Sophiæ nunc Electricis Dotiſſæ de Hannovera, feliciter renovata fuit & confirmata. Ea de cauſa æquum bonumque judicavi, ab interitu conſervare, quin & perpetuæ quantum in me eſt memoriæ tradere, aliqua ex ijs quæ notabilia in antiquis membranis occurrunt de illuſtriſſima illa Familia, quam gens Anglorum altiſſima ut par eſt veneratione proſequitur.

Hujuſce rei complures inſtantias ſuppeditat præcedens Hiſtoria (u): Pariliter, Conſtabularij, quod perinde ac Mareſcalli officium Laicum videatur, non raro a Clericis adminiſtrabatur. Qui enim in Scaccario vice Conſtabularij Angliæ ſervire ſolebant, utplurimum Clerici erant, nuncupati utique Clerici de Conſtabularia (w). Quinetiam, regnante Henrico III, Eboracenſis Archiepiſcopus Turris Londonienſis Conſtabularius fuit (x): & regnante Edwardo I, vir eccleſiaſticus Antonius Bek Conſtabularius fuit Turris Londonienſis per annos bene multos, tum antequam Epiſcopus Dunelmenſis factus eſſet, tum etiam poſt (y). Veruntamen, vel iſta quam poſui objectio, vel quæ ad eam fulciendam adduci poſſint argumenta, nihil, ut mihi perſuadeo, impedient, quin Mareſcalli officium proprie Laicum fuiſſe arbitremur. Notandum eſt, quod Mareſcalli & Conſtabularij de Scaccario officia actis præcipue Clericalibus conſiſtebant. Id quod etiam, opinor, ſupponendum de officio Conſtabulatus Turris Londoniæ, quatenus illud executus eſt Antonius de Bek. Non enim probabile eſt, ipſummet Antonium in ſuo Conſtabularij officio ejuſmodi acta peregiſſe, quæ proprie erant Militum Servientum, & Hominum ad arma (z), at potius ea quæ ordini Clericali erant conſentanea. Quocirca Mareſcallatum Arelatenſem fuiſſe proprie Laicum munus, ad præſens auſim Tua venia pro admiſſo ſumere. E contrario, ſatis liquet hujus Tractatus auctorem virum fuiſſe Eccleſiaſticum. Ejus rei teſtimonia aliqua ex ipſo Tractatu hauriri poſſint. Auctor paſſim tali ſtylo modoque ſcribendi utitur, qualis illo ſeculo viris eccleſiaſticis fere uſitatus fuit. Poſſeſſiones prædiales vocat, Temporalia (a); vocabulo tunc temporis & etiam uſque hodie Prælatorum reditus annuos denotante. Scribit ut peritior Textuarius quam pro virorum ſui ævi Laicorum modulo. Abundat enim alluſionibus ad S. Scripturæ dictiones; ſicut in locis infra citatis (b) & alibi videre eſt; imo ipſum quem de Scaccario ſermonem habuit ad ſenſum ſpiritualem ſeu ſacramentalem convertit (c). Sed non eſt verbis opus. Auctor ipſe palam fatetur ſe virum Eccleſiaſticum. “ In ſponte oblatis (inquit) apud omnes lex una ſervatur, ut ſive Cleri-

Ad eundem fere modum, in alio Libri Rubri loco, præclarus ille vir Alexander Archidiaconus Dialogum noſtrum memorat per verba Libro ſuperiori. “ Quid (inquit ibi) “ ſit Danegeldum, & propter quod aſſiſum, Libro ſuperiori eſt expreſſum (i); plane ad Dialogi Librum Primum & caput undecimum referendo. Quem igitur Alexander Archidiaconus, Londonienſi Epiſcopo Ricardo filio Nigelli pene coætaneus, hujus Tractatus auctorem credidit, quidni nos etiam credamus.

Jam videmur, Ampliſſime Baro, Dialogi auctorem comperiſſe. Hoc comperto, illum effuſe laudare non eſt neceſſe. Sufficiat dicere, Dialogum ſcriptum eſſe a viro rerum Fiſcalium ſcientiſſimo, & ut ſuum erat ſeculum eruditiſſimo. Si quis autem Dialogum diligenter perlegere velit, una mecum, confido, judicabit, tum quod nullis meis laudibus indiget, tum etiam quod pretio & dignitate longe ſuperat quaſcunque attulero. Nec tamen meæ ſolius opinioni innitor. Ad alios provoco. Jampridem a literatis pleriſque citari conſuevit tanquam Tractatus magnæ famæ & fidei, etiam quantæ haud temere alius ejus generis. Equidem Vir Cl. Jacobus Tyrellus (qui in Hiſtoria Anglicana deſudavit), in quadam ſua Introductione (k), parum honorifice de eo loqui videtur. Dicit, “ multum dubitatum eſſe a quibuſdam e noſtris Anti-“ quarijs, utrum Tractatus iſte a Gervaſio Tilburienſi ſcriptus fuerit necne: Nam Equi-“ tes Aurati Willelmus Dugdale & Simonds Dewes credebant ab eo non ſcriptum; ſicut “ liquebat a quibuſdam Notis quæ in manuſcriptis ipſorum hodie viſuntur: Neſcie-“ bat ſane quibuſnam rationibus adducti in hanc opinionem ibant; ſed veriſimile vi-“ debatur ipſos ſatis validis rationibus fuiſſe perſuaſos, Tractatum illum (ſc. Dialo-“ gum) Spurium eſſe; alioqui notas in eam ſententiam poſt ſe non reliquiſſent. In hunc modum Eruditus Tyrellus. Veruntamen, quum apud eum de hac re pridem diſſererem, is mihi ultro faſſus eſt, quin & conſenſit ut hic publice proteſtarer ſuo nomine, Se per vocem, Spurium, hoc innuiſſe, nimirum quod Dialogus auctori non vero fuit vulgo adſcriptus, ſive quod Gervaſius Tilburienſis non fuit, ſua quidem opinione, illius auctor. Quod ad me attinet, dicam quemadmodum ſentio. Stabilior ſane ac confirmatior mihi videtur Dialogi exiſtimatio ac fides, quam ut cujuſvis privati ſcriptoris judicio labefactari vel etiam infirmari queat.

Hanc igitur editionem in lucem emiſſurus id egi potiſſime, ut lectori proſtituatur genuinus quoad fieri poſſit Dialogi textus. Eo fine, deſcripſi textum perpetuum prout in Nigro Libro Scaccarij ſe habet; & lectiones quæ in Rubro Variantes reperiuntur, in margine cujuſvis paginæ repoſui. Attamen neceſſe habui quandoque verba e Rubro ſumpta in textum adſcire; ut ſcilicet textum, ubi vitioſus erat aut mutilatus, utriuſque codicis ope reſtituerem & integriorem ponerem. Annotationes etiam aliquot, quas quidem in præſenti licuit, ſparſim adjeci; plures fortaſſe additurus, niſi res meæ domeſticæ & valetudo vetuiſſent. Nec tamen, ut ſpero, annotationes aut explicationes multum deſiderabuntur: quum eas ex præcedenti hiſtoria diligens lector de facili utplurimum ſupplere poterit. De Dialogo plura hic dicere omitto. Vale Baro Illuſtriſſime. Dabam e Medio Templo Juriſconſultorum quod Londoniæ eſt, A. D. 1708.

ſidens ego Alexander Archidiaconus Salopesbiriæ apud Weſtmonaſterium in Regis Scaccario, antiquorum Regum Angliæ rotulos revolvens annales, ad hoc ſollicitius animum direxi, ut per regna Angliæ debita Regi ſervicia militaria quatenus potui pleniſſime percunctarer. Cum neque Nigellus quondam Elyenſis Epiſcopus Regis Henrici primi Theſaurarius vir quidem in ſcientia Scaccarij plenius inſtructus, nec ejuſdem ſucceſſor officij Ricardus Londonienſis Epiſcopus licet in ſui libelli tractatu ſuperius multa de negocijs Scaccarij degereret, nec vir valde peritus in eiſdem Willelmus Elyenſis, ſub cujus regimine temporibus Regis J. multociens ibidem militavi, ſuper hijs certum aliquid diffinirent. Illud commune verbum in ore ſingulorum tunc temporis divulgatum fatuum reputans & mirabile, Quod in regni conquiſitione Dux Normannorum Rex Willelmus ſervicia triginta duo mille militum infeodavit. Cum nec ſuper hoc poſteris ſuis Regibus Anglorum rotulos reliquerit, Nec annalia ſua temporibus meis a quibuſquam viſa ſint; Rotulo quidem Wintoniæ ſive Domuſdey vel Libro Hidarum excepto; quo quidem Hidas tocius Angliæ earundemque tenentes anno regni ſui xxiiij° per tocius regni Comitatus recenſens ſatis compendioſe concluſit, Ignoraſſe quidem hæc ſervitia militaria Regis ejuſdem poſtmodum ſucceſſores ſubſequentium argumento non immerito potuit dubitare. Quia cum Rex Henricus filius Imperatricis Duci Saxoniæ filiam ſuam Matildem nuptui traderet, a quolibet ſui regni Milite marcam unam in ſubſidium nuptiarum exegit, puplico præcipiens edicto quod quilibet Prælatus & Baro quot Milites de eo tenerent in Capite pupplicis ſuis inſtrumentis ſignificarent; quæ quidem inſtrumenta per ſingulos Comitatus diſtincta ſub præfato Willelmo Elyenſi in unum recollegi volumen. ORDINATIS a Deo poteſtatibus in omni timore ſubici ſimiliter (a) & obſequi neceſſe eſt. Omnis enim poteſtas a Domino Deo eſt. Non ergo videtur abſurdum vel a viris Eccleſiaſticis alienum, Regibus quaſi præcellentibus & cæteris poteſtatibus ſerviendo, ſua jura ſervare; præſertim in hijs quæ veritati vel honeſtati non obviant. Oportet autem hijs (b) ſervire, non in conſervandis tantum dignitatibus, per quas gloria Regiæ poteſtatis elucet, verum in mundanarum facultatum copijs, quæ eos ſui ſtatus ratione contingunt: illa enim illuſtrant, heæ ſubveniunt. Porro nobilium copia vel defectus, Principum poteſtates humiliat vel exaltat. Quibus enim hæc deſunt, hoſtibus præda erunt: quibus autem hæc ſuppetunt, hijs hoſtes in prædam cedunt (c). Sane licet hæc Regibus plerunque jure non prorſus examinato, ſed patrijs quandoq; legibus, quandoque cordium ſuorum conſilijs occultis, vel ſolius interdum ſuæ voluntatis arbitrio provenire contingat, eorum tamen facta ab inferioribus diſcutienda vel condempnanda non ſunt. LIB. I.

ANNO xxiij Regni Regis Henrici Secundi, cum ſederem ad feneſtram ſpeculæ quæ eſt juxta fluvium Tamenſem, factum eſt verbum hominis in impetu loquentis ad me, dicens, Magiſter, non legiſti, quod in ſcientia vel theſauro abſcondito nulla ſit utilitas ? Cui cum reſpondiſſem, legi; ſtatim intulit, Cur ergo Scientiam de Scaccario quæ penes te plurima eſſe dicitur alios non doces, & ne tibi commoriatur ſcripto commendas? Tum ego; Ecce, frater, ad Scaccarium jam per multa tempora reſediſti, & nihil te latet (a), cum ſcrupuloſus ſis; ſic & de cæteris qui aſſident probabile eſt. At ille, ſicut qui in tenebris ambulant & manibus palpant, frequenter offendunt: Sic illic multi reſident, qui videntes non vident, & audientes non intelligunt. Tum ego; irreverenter loqueris; nec enim ſcientia tanta eſt vel de tantis; ſed forte ſunt illis qui magna occupantur corda, ut pedes aquilæ, qui parva non retinent, & quos magna non effugiunt. Et ille, eſto: Sed licet Aquilæ celſius (b) volant, tamen in humilibus quieſcunt & reficiuntur; & ob hoc humilia vobis (c) exponi petimus ipſis Aquilis profutura. Tum ego; veritus ſum de hijs rebus opus contexere, quia corporeis ſenſibus ſubjecta ſunt, & cotidianis uſibus vileſcunt; nec eſt vel eſſe poteſt in eis ſubtilium rerum deſcriptio, vel jocunda novitatis inventio. Et ille; qui novitatibus gaudent, qui ſubtilium rerum fugam appetunt, habent Ariſtotelem & libros Platonicos, audiant illos. Tu ſcribe non ſubtilia, ſed utilia. Tum ego; de hijs rebus quas petis impoſſibile eſt, niſi ruſticano ſermone & communibus loqui Verbis. At ille, velut ſuccenſus in iram, deſideranti enim animo nihil ſatis feſtinatur, ait: Artium ſcriptores ne multa parum ſciſſe viderentur, & ut ars difficilior cognita fieret, multa conquiſierunt, & verbis incognitis palliarunt: Tu vero ſcribendam artem non ſuſcipis, ſed quaſdam conſuetudines & jura Scaccarij; quæ quia Communia debent eſſe, communibus neceſſario utendum eſt verbis; ut ſint cognati (d) ſermones rebus de quibus loquimur. Præterea, quamvis plerunq; nova liceat nomina fingere, rogo tamen, ſi placet, ut uſitatis rerum ipſarum vocabulis, quæ ad placitum ſunt uti non pudeat, nec nova difficultas ex inſolitis verbis oborta amplius perturbet. Tum Ego; ſenſi te iratum; ſed animo æquior eſto; faciam quod hortaris. Surgens ergo ſede ex adverſo; & de hijs (e) quæ te offendunt interroga. I. Quid ſit Scaccarium, & quæ ratio hujus nominis.

Diſcipulus. Quid eſt Scaccarium ?

Magiſter. Scaccarium tabula eſt quadrangula (f) quæ longitudinis quaſi decem pedum, latitudinis quinque, ad modum menſæ circumſedentibus appoſita undiq; habet limbum altitudinis quaſi quatuor digitorum, ne quid appoſitum excidat. Superponitur autem Scaccario Superiori pannus in Termino Paſchæ emptus, non quilibet, ſed niger virgis diſtinctus, diſtantibus a ſe virgis vel pedis vel palmæ extentæ ſpacio. In ſpacijs autem Calculi ſunt juxta ordines ſuos de quibus alias dicetur. Licet autem tabula talis Scaccarium dicatur, tranſmutatur tamen hoc nomen ut ipſa quoque Curia qua conſedente Scaccario eſt Scaccarium dicatur; adeo ut ſi quandoq; (g) per Sententiam aliquid de communi conſilio fuerit conſtitutum (h), dicatur factum ad Scaccarium illius vel illius anni. Quod autem hodie dicitur ad Scaccarium, olim dicebatur ad Taleas.

D. Quæ eſt ratio hujus nominis ?

M. Nulla mihi verior ad preſens occurrit, quam quod Scaccarij luſilis ſimilem habet formam.

D. Nunquid antiquorum (i) prudentia pro ſola forma ſic nominavit, cum & ſimili ratione poſſit Tabularium appellari ?

M. Merito

M. Merito te Scrupuloſum dixi. Eſt & alia, ſed occultior. Sicut enim in Scaccario luſili quidam ordines ſunt pugnatorum, & certis legibus vel limitibus procedunt vel ſubſiſtunt, præſidentibus alijs & alijs præcedentibus (k): Sic in hoc quidam præſident, quidam aſſident ex officio ; Et non eſt cuiquam (l) liberum leges conſtitutas excedere ; quod erit ex conſequentibus manifeſtum. Item ſicut in luſili, pugna committitur inter Reges : Sic in hoc inter duos principaliter conflictus eſt & pugna committitur, Theſaurarium ſcilicet & Vicecomitem qui aſſidet (m) ad compotum ; reſidentibus alijs tanquam Judicibus ut videant & judicent (n).

D. Nunquid a Theſaurario Compotus ſuſcipitur, cum illic multi ſunt qui ratione poteſtatis Majores videantur ?

M. Quod Theſaurarius a Vicecomite compotum ſuſcipiat, hinc manifeſtum eſt (o), quod idem ab eo cum Regi placuerit requiritur : Nec enim (p) ab ipſo requireretur quod non ſuſcepiſſet. Sunt tamen qui dicunt Theſaurarium & Camerarios obnoxios tantum hijs quæ ſcribuntur in rotulis in Theſauro, ut de hijs (q) Compotus ab eis exigatur. Sed verius creditur ut de tota Scriptura rotuli reſpondeant ; quod ex conſequentibus conſtare poterit.

II. Quod aliud eſt inferius, aliud ſuperius ; Una tamen origo utriuſque.

D. Nunquid ſolum illud (r) Scaccarium eſt in quo eſt talis conflictus (s)?

M. Non. Eſt enim inferius Scaccarium, quod & Recepta dicitur, ubi pecunia numeranda traditur, & ſcriptis & tallijs committitur, ut de eiſdem (t) poſtmodum in ſuperiori compotus reddatur (u); una tamen eſt utrinſq; origo (w); quia quicquid ſolvendum eſſe in majori deprehenditur, hic ſolvitur ; & quod hic ſolutum fuerit, ibi computatur.

III. Quæ ſit ratio vel inſtitutio inferioris per ſingula officia.

D. Quæ eſt ratio vel inſtitutio inferioris Scaccarij ?

M. Ut video nullius horum ignorantiam ſuſtines. Noveris autem quod inferius illud Scaccarium ſuas habet perſonas, ratione quidem officiorum a ſe diſtinctas, ſed in regis utilitatem, ſalva tamen æquitate, pari intentione devotas; omnes quidem dominorum ſuorum nominibus non proprijs militantes exceptis duobus militibus duntaxat (x) qui præſunt (y) examinibus, & fuſore. Horum officia de Regis noſtri pendent arbitrio ; unde magis ad ſuperius quam ad inferius pertinere videntur, ſicut infra dicetur. Illic eſt Clericus Theſaurarij (z) cum ſigillo ejus. Sunt & duo milites Camerariorum. Eſt & Miles quidam (a) qui Argentarius dici poteſt ; quia ex officio argento examinando præeſt. Eſt & Fuſor qui argentum examinat. Sunt & quatuor Computatores ad numerandam pecuniam. Eſt & Hoſtiarius Theſauri, & vigil. Horum autem hæc ſunt officia. Clericus Theſaurarij, cum fuerit numerata pecunia, & in forulos miſſa per Centenas libras, apponit ſigillum, & deputat ſcripto, quantum, vel a quo, vel ob quam Cauſam recepit ; Taleas quoque de eadem Recepta a Camerarijs factas inbreviat ; non ſolum autem pecuniæ ſaccis ſed & archis & ſingulis forulis in quibus Rotuli vel Talliæ collocantur ſi libet aponit ſigillum (b) ; & ad omnia ſubjecta officia diligenter proſpicit, & nihil eum latet. Militum, qui & Camerarij dicuntur quod pro Camerarijs miniſtrant, hoc eſt officium : Hi claves archarum bajulant ; archæ enim cuilibet duæ ſeræ ſunt diverſi generis, hoc eſt cujus neutri clavis alterius poſſit aptari ; & hij claves earum deferunt ; circumcingitur autem quælibet arca corrigia quadam immobili, in qua deſuper firmatis ſeris Theſaurarij ſigillum apponitur ; ut nulli eorum niſi de communi aſſenſu acceſſus pateat. Item officium horum eſt, numeratam pecuniam & in vaſis ligneis per centenos ſolidos compoſitam ponderare ne ſit error in numero, tunc demum in forulos mittere per Centenas ut dictum eſt libras. putatur, apponitur, ſed ſtatim de quo dubitatur in acervum numerandorum projicitur. Et nota quoſdam Comitatus a tempore Regis Henrici primi & in tempore Regis Henrici ſecundi licite potuiſſe cujuſcunq; monetæ denarios ſolutioni offerre, dummodo argentei eſſent & ponderi legitimo non obſtarent. Quia ſcilicet monetarios (c) ex antiqua inſtitutione non habentes, undecunq; ſibi denarios perquirebant; quales ſunt Norhumberland & Cumberland; ſic autem ſuſcepti denarij licet de firma eſſent ſeorſum tamen ab alijs cum quibuſdam ſignis appoſitis mittebant (d). Reliqui vero Comitatus, ſolos uſuales & inſtantis monetæ legitimos denarios tam de firmis quam de placitis afferrebant. At poſtquam Rex illuſtris, cujus laus eſt in rebus magnis excellentior, ſub Monarchia ſua per univerſum regnum unum pondus & unam monetam inſtituit, omnis Comitatus una legis neceſſitate teneri & generalis Commercij (e) ſolutione cœpit obligari. Omnes itaq; idem monetæ genus quomodocunq; teneant (f) ſolvunt. Sed tamen examinationis (g) quæ de combuſtione provenit jacturam omnes non ſuſtineant. Item hij taleas faciunt de receptis, & commune eſt eis cum Clerico Theſaurarij, ut per brevia Regis vel præcepto Baronum, Theſaurum ſuſceptum expendant; non tamen inconſultis Dominis ſuis. Hij tres ſimul omnes vel viciſſim cum theſauro mittuntur cum oportuerit. His (h) tribus præcipua cura eſt in omnibus his quæ in inferiori Scaccario fiunt (i).

D. Ergo, ut video licet his per breve Regis, vel præcepto eorum qui præſident theſaurum ſuſceptum conſultis tamen Dominis ſuis expendere.

M. Licet, inquam, hoc modo de Liberationibus ſervientum inferioris Scaccarij, & de minutis neceſſarijs Scaccarij emendis, qualia ſunt vaſa illa lignea, & alia, de quibus infra dicetur, eorum fidei committitur; alias autem non. Qui vero breve Regis vel cartam detulerit pro pecunia, præcipientibus Dominis ſuis, hac ei lege ſolvatur id quod expreſſe nominatur (k) in brevi, ut antequam exeat, ſuſceptam pecuniam numeret; quod ſi quid defuerit, redeat ad Scaccarium is qui ſuſcepit, & fidei religionem præſtet ſub hac forma: quod quantum ſuſcepit reportavit, non appoſito, ſecundum conſcientiam ſuam, ut fit in alijs; & hoc facto, ſolvatur ei quod reſtat; numerata prius eadem coram omnibus ab conſtitutis Computatoribus. Si vero lege ſibi propoſita oſtium Theſauri egreſſus fuerit; quæcunque fuerit perſona, vel quantacunq; jactura, non ei reſpondeatur. Militis argentarij & Fuſoris officia ſibi videntur annexa, & ad Superius Scaccarium magis pertinentia; & ob hoc ibidem cum cæteris officijs explananda. Quatuor (l) Computatorum officium hoc (m) eſt. Cum in Scaccarium numeranda pecunia mittitur, unus eorum diligenter totam commiſcet, ut non ſeorſum meliores & ſeorſum deteriores ſint, ſed mixti, ut ponderi reſpondeant; quo facto, Camerarius ad libram Scaccarij ponderat quantum oportet in trutina. Quod ſi numerus xx Sol. plus quam vj nummis excreverit reſpectu libræ, integra (n) recipi dicitur: Si vero vel ad vj vel infra ſe cohibet, Suſcipitur; & a computatoribus diligenter per centenos ſolidos, ut prædictum eſt, numeratur. Si vero de firma ſunt denarij & ſint examinandi, facta commixtione XLiiij ſolidorum de acervo in loculum ſeorſum mittuntur, & huic Vicecomes ſignum apponit; ut ex hijs poſtmodum Examen, quod vulgo Eſſaynm dicitur, fiat, ſicut ex conſequentibus (o) liquebit. Erit autem curæ eorum qui præſunt receptæ gratia dominorum ſuorum, hoc eſt, Clerici Theſaurarij & Camerariorum, ut recepta pecunia ſeorſum mittant examinati argenti pondera & Denarios de firma, appoſitis quibuſdam ſignis ſaccis eorum, ut ſi Rex vaſa argentea ad cultum domus Dei, vel ad Domus propriæ obſequium, vel forte monetas tranſmarinas fieri voluerit ex hijs fiant.

Hac lege minoris Scaccarij vel Receptæ ratio ſubſiſtit.

D. Sic mihi ſatisfactum eſt in hac parte ut nihil deeſſe videatur. Nunc ergo, ſi placet, proſequere de majore.

IV. Quæ ſit authoritas Superioris, & unde ſumpſit originem?

M. Licet eorum qui ad Scaccarium majus reſident, officia quibuſdam videantur proprietatibus eſſe diſtincta: Unum tamen omnium (b) officium eſt & intentio; ut Regis utilitati proſpiciant; ſalva tamen æquitate ſecundum conſtitutas leges Scaccarij. Ejus autem ratio vel inſtitutio cum ipſa temporis antiquitate, cum Magnorum qui aſſident auctoritate roborata ſubſiſtit. Ab ipſa namque regni Conquiſitione per Regem Willelmum facta cœpiſſe dicitur, ſumpta tamen ipſius ratione a Scaccario tranſmarino: Verum in plurimis & pene majoribus diſſident. Sunt etiam (c) qui credunt uſum ejus ſub regibus Anglicis extitiſſe; hinc ſumentes rei hujus argumentum, quod coloni & jam decrepiti ſenes fundorum illorum qui coronæ annominantur, quorum in hijs cana (d) memoria eſt, optime noverint a patribus ſuis edocti, quantum de Albo firmæ pro ſingulis libris ſolvere teneantur. Sed hæc ratio cognitionis eſt de firmæ ſolutione, non de Scaccarij ſeſſione. Videtur autem eis obviare, qui dicunt Album firmæ a temporibus Anglicorum cœpiſſe, quod in Libro Judiciario in quo totius regni deſcriptio diligens continetur, & tam de tempore Regis Edwardi, quam de tempore (e) Regis Willelmi ſub quo factus eſt, ſingulorum fundorum valentia exprimitur, nulla prorſus de Albo firmæ fit mentio: unde probabile videtur, quod facta illa deſcriptione tempore jamdicti Regis de Albo firmarum fuerit a ſtudioſis ejus conſtitutum propter cauſas, quæ inferius annotantur. Quocunq; vero tempore cœperit uſus ejus, certum eſt quod Magnorum auctoritate roboratur; adeo ut nulli liceat ſtatuta Scaccarij infringere, vel eis quavis temeritate reſiſtere. Habet enim hoc commune cum ipſa Domini Regis Curia, in qua ipſe in propria perſona jura decernit (f), quod nec recordationi, dationi, nec ſententiæ in eo (g) latæ licet alicui contradicere. Huic autem Curiæ tam inſignis auctoritas eſt, tum propter Regiæ imaginis excellentiam quæ in ſigillo ejus de theſauro individua lege ſervatur; tum propter eos qui aſſident, ut dictum eſt, quorum ſolertia totius regni ſtatus indemnis (h) ſervatur. Illic enim reſidet Capitalis Domini Regis Juſticia, primus poſt Regem in Regno ratione fori, & Majores quiq; de regno, qui familiarius Regijs ſecretis aſſiſtunt; ut quod fuerit ſub tantorum præſentia conſtitutum vel terminatum, inviolabili jure ſubſiſtat. Verum quidam ex officio, quidam (i) ex ſola juſſione principis reſident. Ex officio principaliter reſidet imo & præſidet primus in regno, Capitalis ſcilicet Juſticia. Huic autem aſſident (k) ex ſola juſſione Principis, momentanea ſcilicet & mobili auctoritate quidam, qui majores & diſcretiores videntur in regno, ſive de Clero ſint ſive de Curia. Aſſident inquam ad diſcernenda jura & dubia determinanda quæ frequenter ex incidentibus quæſtionibus oriuntur. Non enim in ratiocinijs ſed in multiplicibus judicijs excellens Scaccarij ſcientia conſiſtit (l). Facile enim eſt propoſita ſumma quæ exigitur, & ſuppoſitis ad collationem ejus hijs quæ ſoluta (m) ſunt per ſubtractionem diſcernere, ſi ſatisfactum eſt, vel ſi quid reſtat. At cum cœperit multiplex inquiſitio fieri de hijs rebus, quæ variæ fiſco proveniunt & diverſis modis requiruntur, & a Vicecomitibus non eodem modo perquiruntur, diſcernere ſi ſecus egerint, quibuſdam grave eſt, & ob hoc circa hæc ſcientia Scaccarij major eſſe dicitur. Dubiorum vero vel dubitalium judicia, quæ frequenter emergunt ſub una tractatus ſerie comprehendi non valent; quia necdum omnia (n) dubiorum genera in lucem prodierunt. Quædam tamen ex hijs (o) quæ propoſita vel determinata cognovimus, ſuis locis inferius annotabimus.

V. Quid ſit officium Præſidentis, & omnium illic ex officio reſidentium; & quæ diſpoſitio ſedium.

D. Quid eſt hujus tam excellentis Seſſoris officium?

M. Aliud verius attribui ſibi non valet, niſi quod omnibus quæ inferiore vel ſuperiore Scaccario fuerint (p), hic proſpicit & ad nutum ipſius quælibet officia ſubjecta diſponuntur. Sic tamen ut ad Domini Regis utilitatem juſte proveniant. Hoc tamen inter cætera videtur excellens, quod poteſt hic ſub teſtimonio ſuo breve Domini Regis facere fieri, ut de Theſauro quælibet ſumma liberetur, vel ut computetur alicui quod ſibi ex Domini Regis mandato prænoverit computandum; vel ſi maluerit, breve ſuum faciet ſub aliorum teſtimonio de his (q) rebus.

D. Magnus eſt hic, cujus fidei totius regni cura, immo & cor Regis committitur. Scriptum quippe eſt; ubi eſt theſaurus tuus, ibi eſt & cor tuum. Sed jam ſi placet proſequere de cæteris.

M. Vis proſequar de ipſis ſecundum gradus dignitatum an ſecundum diſpoſitionem Sedium?

D. Secundum quod quiſq; ratione officij ſui ſedem adeptus eſt. Facile enim erit ut credo ex officijs perpendere dignitates.

M. Ut noveris quo ordine diſponantur, ſcias ad quatuor Scaccarij latera quatuor poni ſedilia vel Scanna. Ad caput vero Scaccarij, hoc eſt unde latitudo diſcernitur, in medio non ſedilis ſed Saccarij, locus eſt illius Principalis de quo ſupra diximus. In læva ejus primo loco reſidet Cancellarius ratione officij, ſi adeſſe eum contingat: poſt hunc miles gregarius quem Conſtabularium dicimus: poſt hunc duo Camerarij, prior autem, qui intuitu provectioris ætatis venerabilior eſſe videbitur: poſt hos miles qui vulgo dicitur Mareſcallus: inſeruntur tamen quandoq; alij his abſentibus, vel forte eis præſentibus, ſi tanta ſcilicet fuerit auctoritas eorum qui a Rege deſtinantur, ut eis cedere debeant. in medio lateris Scaccarij illi qui compotos (s) poſitione ponit calculorum. Poſt hunc aliqui non ex officio, neceſſarij tamen. In fine ſedilis illius reſidet Clericus qui Scriptorio præeſt; & hic ex officio. Sic habes ſecundi Scanni diſpoſitionem. Verum ad Dextram præſidentis Juſticiarij reſidet primo loco nunc Wintonienſis Epiſcopus quondam Pictaviæ Archidiaconus, non ex officio quidem ſed ex novella conſtitutione; ut ſcil. proximus ſit Theſaurario, & ſcripturæ Rotuli diligenter intendat. Poſt hunc reſidet Theſaurarius in Capite Secundæ ſedis in dextra, cui diligentiſſima cura eſt per ſingula quæ illic geruntur, quaſi rationem de hijs omnibus ſi oportuerit reddituro. Poſt hunc reſidet Clericus ejus Scriptor Rotuli de Theſauro: poſt hunc alius Scriptor Rotuli de Cancellaria: poſt hunc Clericus Cancellarij, qui occulta fide ſemper proſpicit, ut Rotulus ſuus alij per ſingula reſpondeat, ut nec Iota unum deſit, nec alius ſit ordo ſcribendi: poſt hunc quaſi in fine ſedilis illius reſidet Clericus Conſtabularij, magnus quidem & officioſus in Domini Regis Curia, & hic quidem habens officium quod per ſeipſum vel per Clericum diſcretum, ſi Regi viſus fuerit alias magis neceſſarius, adminiſtrat. Et hæc eſt deſcriptio tertiæ ſedis. In quarto ſcanno, quod eſt oppoſitum Juſticiario (t) in Capite reſidet Magiſter Thomas cognomine (u) Brunus, cum Rotulo tertio qui ex novella conſtitutione, hoc eſt a Domino Rege noſtro additus eſt; Quia ſcriptum eſt, funiculus triplex difficile ſolvitur. Poſt hunc Vicecomites & clerici ſui, qui aſſident ad compotum cum taleis & alijs neceſſarijs. Et hæc eſt diſpoſitio quartæ ſedis.

D. Scriptor Magiſtri Thomæ nunquid ſedem habet cum alijs ſcriptoribus ſed ſuper alios (w)?

M. Sedem quidem habet non cum alijs ſed ſuper alios (x).

D. Quare ſic?

M. Cum enim ſic diſpoſitæ eſſent ſedes ab initio, ut ſcriptor Theſaurarij ad latus ſuum reſideret, ne quid ſcriberetur, quod oculum ejus effugeret; & item ſcriptor Cancellariæ ad latus ſcriptoris Theſaurarij, ut fideliter exciperet quod ille præſcribebat; & item Clericus Cancellarij neceſſario proximus eſſet illi ſcriptori, ne poſſet errare; non ſuperfuit locus in quo ſcriptor ille reſideret in ſerie ſcanni, ſed datus eſt ei locus in eminenti, ut proſpiciat & immineat ſcriptori Theſaurarij qui primus ſcribit, & ab ipſo quod oportet excipiat.

D. Huic oculi Lyncei neceſſarij eſſent, ne erraret; periculoſus enim in hijs error dicitur.

M. Licet erret interdum in excipiendo, quia remotus eſt; tamen dum Rotuli corriguntur (y) facta omnium trium collatione, facile erit errata corrigere.

D. Satis hactenus dictum eſt de ordine ſedentium. Nunc de eorum officijs ſi placet exequere, incipiens a læva Præſidentis.

Quid ad Cancellarium.

M. Cancellarius in ordine illo primus eſt: & ſicut in Curia ſic ad Scaccarium magnus eſt: adeo ut ſine ipſius conſenſu vel conſilio nil magnum fiat, vel fieri debeat. Verum hoc habet officium dum reſidet ad Scaccarium, ad ipſum pertinet cuſtodia Sigilli Regij, quod eſt in Theſauro, ſed inde non recedit niſi cum præcepto Juſtitiæ ab inferiore ad ſuperius Scaccarium a Theſaurario vel Camerario defertur, ad explenda ſolum negotia Scaccarij. Quibus (z) peractis in Loculum mittitur, & Loculus a Cancellario conſignatur, & ſic Theſaurario traditur cuſtodiendus. Item, cum neceſſe fuerit, ſignatus ſub omnium oculis Cancellario offertur; nunquam ab ipſo, vel ab alio alias offerendus. Item ad ipſum pertinet Rotuli qui eſt de Cancellaria, cuſtodia per ſuppoſitam perſonam; & ſicut viris magnis viſum eſt de omni ſcriptura Rotuli Cancellarius æque tenetur ut Theſaurarius, excepto duntaxat de hoc, quod ſcribitur in theſauro receptum: licet enim non præſcribat ut Theſaurarius conſcribit (a) tamen etſi ille erraverit, licet ipſi (b) vel Clerico ejus Theſaurarium rium cum modeſtia corripere, & quid debeat ſuggerere. Quod ſi Theſaurarius perſeveraverit, & mutare noluerit, poterit eum ſi de parte ſua confidit tantum coram Baronibus arguere, ut ab eis quid fieri debeat judicetur.

D. Veriſimile etiam videtur cuſtodem tertij Rotuli eadem ſcripturæ lege conſtringi.

M. Non eſt veriſimile tantum ſed verum: par enim eſt auctoritas illis (c) duobus Rotulis ratione ſcripturæ; quia ſic placuit ejus auctori.

Quid ad Conſtabularium.

Conſtabularij officium eſt ad Scaccarium, ut in brevibus Regis de exitu theſauri, vel de aliquibus computandis his (d) qui compotum faciunt, ſimul cum Præſidente teſtis exiſtat. In omnibus enim hujuſmodi brevibus ex antiqua inſtitutione duos oportet conſcribi teſtes. Item ejus officium eſt cum ad Scaccarium ſtipendiarij Regis venerint pro ſtipendijs ſuis, ſive ſint reſidentes in caſtris Regis ſive non, aſſumpto (e) ſecum Clerico Conſtabulariæ, cujus eſt terminos eorum noſſe, & Mareſcallo Scaccarij, computet eorum liberationes, & de retractis fidem ſuſcipiat, & reſiduum ſolvi faciat. Omnis enim liberatio quorumcunq;, ſive Accipitrariorum ſive Falconariorum, ſive Bernariorum ad officium ejus (f) ſpectat, ſi præſens fuerit; niſi forte Dominus Rex ad idem aliquem prius aſſignaverit: quia Conſtabularius a Rege non facile poteſt avelli, propter majora & magis urgentia. Notandum vero quod Mareſcallus Scaccarij de liberationibus reſidentium militum percipit, quod ad eum pertinet ratione officij ſui; de commeantibus autem non. Item huic cum alijs magnis commune eſt, ut nihil magnum eo inconſulto fieri debeat.

Quid ad Camerarios.

Camerariorum officium annexum eſt officio Theſaurarij, quia uno & eodem prætextu honoris vel diſpendij militare noſcuntur; & eſt eis idem velle ad honorem Regis, adeo ut quod ab uno factum fuerit, a nullo eorum dicatur infectum. Theſaurarius enim pro ſe & pro eis ſuſcipit compotos, & ſecundum qualitates exactorum verba miniſtrat in Scripturam Rotuli, in quibus omnibus pari jure Societatis obligantur, & ſic de alijs quæ vel ab hoc, vel ab hijs, ſalva fide Domini Regis, fiunt, ſive in ſcriptis, ſive in receptis, ſive in taleis, ſive in expenſis.

Quid ad Mareſcallum.

Mareſcalli cura eſt taleas debitorum quas (g) Vicecomes reddiderit, quæ tamen (h) annotantur in Rotulo, mittere ſeorſum in forulo ſuo: Brevia quoq; regia de computandis, vel perdonandis, vel dandis, his (i) quæ exiguntur a Vicecomite per ſummonitionem. Illi vero forulo ſuperſcriptio Comitatus, cujus hæc ſunt apponitur, & ſingulis Comitatibus ſingulos oportet forulos, a Vicecomite qui computat, Mareſcallo miniſtrari.

D. Eſt hic aliquid quod me movet.

M. Satis præſenſi. Suſtine tamen modicum. Plana enim erunt omnia ex conſequentibus. Item ſi quis debitor non ſatisfaciens de ſummonitione meruerit comprehendi, huic traditur ſervandus, & (k) ſoluto Scaccario illius diei, ſi voluerit, mittet (l) eum in carcerem cuſtodiæ publicæ, non tamen vinculabitur, vel in ima (m) trudetur, ſed ſeorſum vel ſupra-carcerem, licet enim ſolvendo non ſit, tamen ob hoc non meruit ſceleratis (n) deputari; ita tamen ſi miles non fuerit; de militibus namq; pro pecunia retentis, illuſtris Regis conſtitutio eſt, quæ infra annotabitur in agendis Vicecomitis. Item ad hunc ſpectat, ut peracto compoto Vicecomitis, vel cuſtodis, vel cujuſcunq; perſonæ qui ad compotum reſidet, fidem ab ipſo ſuſcipiat in publico, quod legitimum compotum ſecundum conſcientiam ſuam fecerit. Sic habes eorum, qui in primo Scanno reſident, officia diſtincta.

Quid ad Factorem Talearum.

In capite vero ſecundæ ſedis primus eſt ſerviens Camerariorum, Clericus ſeu Laicus, cujus officium paucis expediri poteſt, verbo tamen non opere. Hic taleas de theſauro contra Vicecomitem, vel eum qui computat, miniſtrat, & cum oportuerit ſecundum quod ratio computationis exegerit, mutat, vel minuit, vel addit in talea, appoſita eidem contratalea (o) Vicecomitis. Quo facto in termino Paſchæ longiorem Vicecomiti reddit iterum in termino Sancti Michaelis afferendam. In termino vero Sancti Michaelis, cum in Rotulo ſumma ejus ſcripto fuerit deputata, tradit eandem longiorem Mareſcallo, in forulo ſuo reponendam.

D. Miror, quod dixiſti taleam ſemel compoto ablatam (p) iterum (q) alij compoto offerendam.

M. Noli mirari; quoniam quicunq; (r) exacta, vel ſoluta fuerint (s) a Vicecomite in termino Paſchæ, neceſſe eſt iterato ſummoneri; non tamen ut ſecundo ſolvatur quod jam ſolutum fuerit, ſed ut offerant ſe compoto, & oblata talea ſolutionis jamdudum (t) factæ redigatur in ſcripturam Rotuli; & ſic abſolvatur a debito. Dum enim taleam penes ſe habuerit, liberatus non erit, ſed ſemper ſummonendus.

D. Et hæc neceſſaria viſa ſunt; ſed proſequere, ſi placet, de officijs.

M. Immo quia de taleis mentionem fecimus, quo ordine taliandi ratio conſiſtat, paucis adverte. Talearum igitur alia eſt, quæ ſimpliciter Talea dicitur; alia, quam numerandam nuncupamus. Legitimæ vero Taleæ longitudo a ſummitate indicis uſq; ad ſummitatem extenti pollicis eſt: illic terebro modico perforatur. Memoranda vero quæ de firma Bl[anca] ſemper fieri ſolet, paulo brevior eſt; quia facto Eſſayo, per quod firma dealbatur, prima illa confringitur, & appoſita ſibi talea combuſtionis taleæ longitudinem tunc primo meretur. Hac autem ratione fit inciſio. In ſummo ponunt M libr.; ſic ut inciſio ejus ſpiſſitudinis palmæ capax ſit; C l ut pollicis; xx l ut auricularis; libræ unius inciſio quaſi grapi Ordei tumentis; ſolidi vero minus; ſic tamen ut ex conciſionibus loco vacuato modicus ibi ſulcus fiat; denarius (u) facta inciſione nullo dempto ſignatur. Ex qua vero parte millenarius inciditur, alium non pones numerum; niſi forte mediam ejus partem; ſic ut mediam ſimiliter inciſionis ejus partem demas, & infra conſtituas. Sic ſi C l inciſurus eſt, & non ſit tibi Millenarius, facies ſic; & de xx l. ſic; & de xx Sol. quos libram dicimus. Quod ſi multi Millenarij, vel centenarij, vel vigenæ librarum incidendæ ſunt, lex eadem ſervetur, ut ex patentiore parte ejuſdem taleæ, hoc eſt, quæ directe tibi (w) proponitur facta annotatione major numerus, ex altera vero minor incidatur; ex patentiore (x) vero parte ſemper eſt (y) major numerus in ſummo, ex minus patente ſemper minor, hoc eſt denarij. Marcæ argenti ad Scaccarium inciſio ſola ſignificativa non eſt; ſed per ſolidos deſignatur. Marcam autem auri in medio taleæ, ſicut libram unam incidas. Aureum vero unum non prorſus ut argenteum, ſed ducto directe incidentis cultello per medium taleæ, non obliquando ſicut fit in argenteo. Sic igitur ipſa locorum diſpoſitio & inciſionis differentia, quid aureum vel quid ſit argenteum, utrumq; determinat. Cæterum oportunius hæc omnia Viſu quam verbo cognoſces.

D. Quod de his reſtat oculata fide conſtabit. Nunc ſi placet de officijs proſequere.

M. Poſt hunc ut ſupra diximus interpoſitis viris aliquibus diſcretis a rege miſſis, reſidet (a) is qui ex præcepto Regis computationes facit poſitione numerorum pro calculis. Officium quidem ſatis perplexum eſt & laborioſum; & ſine eo vix vel nunquam Scaccarij ratio poſſit expediri; ſed nulli illic reſidenti convenit ex officio, niſi (b) cui Rex vel Juſticia mandaverit exequendum. Laborioſum inquam; quia cætera officia lingua vel manu; hæc hijs duobus explentur; ſed in hoc, lingua, manus, oculi, mens indefeſſa laborant.

Quid ad Calculatorem.

Hujus autem hæc eſt ratio. Secundum conſuetum curſum Scaccarij non legibus Ariſmeticis. Memoriter, ut credo, dixiſſe me retines, Scaccario ſuperponi pannum virgis diſtinctum, in cujus interſtitijs numerales acervi collocantur. Porro Calculator in medio lateris reſidet, ut pateat omnibus, & ut liberum habeat miniſtrà (c) manus excurſum. Statuit autem ad dextram in ſpacio inferiore acervum nummorum (d) ab xj & infra; in ſecundo ſolidorum a xix & infra; in tertio vero librarum. Et hic quidem ipſi recta fronte debet (e) opponi quia medius eſt in conſuetis compotis Vicecomitis; in quarto acervus eſt vigenarum; in quinto centenarum; in ſexto Millenarum; in ſeptimo, ſed raro, decem mille librarum; raro inquam, hoc eſt, cum a Rege vel mandato ejus, a Magnis Regni (f) compotus a Theſaurario & Camerarijs Regni totius recepte ſuſcipitur. Licet autem Calculatori pro decem ſolidis argenteum (g) pro decem vero libris obolum aureum apponere ut compotus expeditius (h) fiat. Cavendum vero eſt, ne manus præambula linguam præveniat, vel e converſo; ſed ſimul qui computat, & calculum mittat & numerum deſignet, ne ſit error in numero. Depoſita igitur per acervos ſumma quæ a Vicecomite requiritur, diſponuntur infra ſimiliter per acervos, quæ ſoluta fuerint, vel in Theſauro vel alias. Quod ſi fuerit firma numero quæ ab ipſo requiritur, vel quodlibet aliud debitum cui ſolo poſſit numero ſatisfieri, ſimplex fiet detractio inferioris a ſuperiore ſumma, & de reſiduo tenebitur; ſecus autem fiet ſi firmam Bl. ſit ſoluturus, quod in agendis Vicecomitis plenius oſtenditur (i).

D. Parce parumper currenti Calamo ut liceat paucis uti.

M. Ad aleam reſides, nec ſunt tibi verba neganda.

D. Videre mihi videor fieri poſſe ratione calculandi, ut idem denarius pro calculo miſſus, nunc unum, nunc ſolidum, nunc libram, nunc centum, nunc (k) mille ſignificet.

M. Sic eſt quibuſdam tamen appoſitis; itemq; fieri poteſt eiſdem demptis ſi Calculatori placeat, ut qui mille ſignificat gradatim deſcendens unum ſignificet.

D. Sic fit ut quivis de plebe, cum homo ſit & aliud eſſe non poſſit, temporalibus appoſitis voluntate Præſidentis ab imo conſcendat in ſummum (l), ac deinceps fortunæ lege ſervata retrudatur in imum (m), manens quod fuerat, licet videatur ratione dignitatis & ſtatus (n) a ſe ſibi mutatus.

M. Noſcis, quod ſermo tuus non capit in omnibus; verum quicquid alijs videatur, mihi ſatis placet, quod ex hijs alia conicis (o); in mundanorum vero tribulis miſtici (p) intellectus flores quærere laudabile eſt. Nec in hijs tantum quæ (q) commemoras, ſed in tota Scaccarij deſcriptione Sacramentorum quædam latibula ſunt. Officiariorum (r) namq; diverſitas, judiciariæ poteſtatis auctoritas; Regiæ imaginis impreſſio, citationum emiſſio; Rotulorum conſcriptio, Villicationum ratio, debitorum exactio, reorum condempnatio vel abſolutio, diſtricti examinis figura ſunt, quod revelabitur cum omnium libri aperti erunt & janua clauſa. Sed de his hactenus. Nunc proſequamur de officijs; Poſt hunc qui Calculis inſervit, primus reſidet ex officio Clericus qui præeſt Regis Scriptorio.

Quid ad Clericum qui præeſt Scriptorio.

Ad hunc (s) pertinet ſcriptores idoneos ad Rotulum Cancellariæ, & ad brevia Regis quæ in Scaccario fiunt, nec non ad Summonitiones conſcribendas, invenire, & ut bene fiant proſpicere; quæ quidem officia, licet paucis exprimatur verbis, infinitis tamen vix expleri poſſunt laboribus; quod norunt hij, qui hæc ipſa rerum experientia didicerunt. Sic habes officia diſpoſitorum in ſecundo ſedili.

Quid ad Pictavenſem Archidiaconum nunc Wintonienſem Epiſcopum.

D. Si bene memini primus ad dextram Preſidentis reſidet Wintonienſis Epiſcopus, cujus (t) officium in Scaccario vellem protinus expediri. Magnus enim eſt & niſi magnis occupari non debeat.

M. Magnus eſt proculdubio; & magnis intentus in multa diſtrahitur, ſicut in Tricolumni (u) plenius eſt oſtenſum. Hic autem tempora (w) promotionis (x) dum paulo inferior in Regis Curia militaret, viſus eſt fide & induſtria Regis negotijs neceſſarius, & in computationibus atq; in Rotulorum & Brevium ſcripturis ſatis alacer (y) & officioſus. Unde datus eſt ei locus ad latus Theſaurarij, ut ſcilicet ſcripturæ Rotulorum, & hijs omnibus cum ipſo intenderet. Theſaurarius quidem tot & tantis curis & ſollicitudinibus per omnia diſtrahitur, ut fas ſit interdum tanto operi ſubrepere ſomnum. In humanis autem actionibus vix aliquid eſt uſquequaq; perfectum.

D. Quid eſt quod dicis? nec enim novi quid ſit Tricolumnis (z).

M. Libellus quidem eſt a nobis utcunq; tempore Juventutis editus de tripartita Regni Angliæ hiſtoria, ſub illuſtri Anglorum Rege Henrico ſecundo; quem quia per tres Columnas per univerſum digeſſimus, diximus Tricolumnum (a). In prima quidem de Eccleſiæ Anglicanæ negotijs plurimis, & de nonnullis reſcriptis ſedis Apoſtolicæ. In ſecunda vero de inſignibus prædicti Regis geſtis, quæ fidem humanam excedunt. In tertia vero de pluribus negotijs tam publicis (b) quam familiaribus, necnon Curiæ & Judicijs (c) agitur. Hic ſi forte in manus tuas inciderit, cave ne te effugiat; utilis enim poterit (d) futuris eſſe (e) temporibus & jocundus his, qui de Regni ſtatu ſub prædicto principe ſolliciti fuerint. Hic enim Rex licet atavis Regibus æditus fuerit, & per longa Terrarum ſpatia triumphali victoria ſuum dilataverit Imperium; majus tamen eſt, quod prodigum in ſe famæ titulum ſtrenuis actibus ſuperavit. Sed de his (f) actenus. Nunc cœpta negotia proſequamur.

D. Eſto, ſi (g) ſic placet. Salva ſit igitur reverentia Theſaurarij: hic videtur ejus dignitati derogatum, quia non eſt ſoli fidei ipſius per omnia creditum.

M. Abſit; imo magis ſic ejus laboribus parcitur & indemnitati providetur; non enim quod vel ipſi vel alij non creditur, tot & tanti reſident ad Scaccarium: ſed quia rebus magnis & Regni negotijs ſub tanto principe decet magnos ac multos deputari, non tamen ut utilitati (h) proſpiciant, ſed excellentiæ & honori Regis (i) deſerviant.

D. Proſequere, ſi placet, de officijs.

Quid ad Theſaurarium.

M. Officium Theſaurarij, vel cura vel ſollicitudo ipſius vix explicari poſſet verbis, etiamſi eſſet mihi Calamus (k) velociter ſcribentis. In omnibus enim & per omnia, quæ vel in inferiori Scaccario vel in ſuperiori geruntur, ipſius ſollicita diligentia neceſſaria eſt. poſſit manente Scaccario; in recipiendis ſcilicet compotis Vicecomitum, & in ſcriptura Rotuli. Ipſe namq; miniſtrat verba ſecundum qualitatem negotiorum in ſcripturam Rotuli ſui, a quo poſtmodum illud idem excipitur ab alijs Rotulis; ſicut ſupra dictum eſt; & cavendum eſt ipſi, vel in numero, vel in cauſa, vel in perſona ſit error; ne abſolvatur qui quietus non eſt, vel rurſus conveniatur qui meruit abſolvi. Tanta namque Rotuli ejus auctoritas eſt, ut nulli liceat ei contradicere vel mutare; niſi forte tam manifeſtus error fuerit, ut omnibus pateat: neque tunc niſi de communi conſilio omnium Baronum mutari debet, & ipſis præſentibus cum ad huc ſcilicet Scaccarium illius diei (m) perſeverat: Scripturam vero Rotuli præterito anno factam, vel etiam hujus anni extantis poſt ſolutum Scaccarium nulli mutare licet niſi (n) Regi, cui ſemper his (o) licent quæcunq; (p) libent. Item ad eum ſpectat, ut ad omnia magna negotia cum Superioribus aſſumatur, & nil (q) eum lateat.

Quid ad ſcriptorem Theſaurarij.

Scriptoris qui proximus ut Theſaurario (r) officium eſt præparare Rotulos ad Scripturam ex pellibus Ovinis non ſine cauſa. Longitudo autem (s) eorum eſt quanta ſurgit ex duabus membranis; non tamen quibuſlibet, ſed magnis, ad hoc opus ex induſtria procuratis: Latitudo vero paulo plus una expanſa & ſemis. Regulatis igitur Rotulis a ſummo pene uſque deorſum, & ex utraq; parte, lineis a ſe decenter diſtantibus prænotantur (t) in ſummo Rotuli Comitatus & Bailliæ, de quibus infra compotus redditur: facto vero modico intervallo quaſi trium vel quatuor (u) digitorum, præſcribitur in medio lineæ nomen Comitatus de quo primo loco agendum eſt. Deinde in Capite ſequentis lineæ nomen Vicecomitis depingitur, ſubſequente hoc tenore verborum. Ille vel ille Vicecomes reddit compotum de firma illius vel illius Comitatus. Deinde paulo poſt in (w) eadem linea ſcribitur; In Theſauro, nec apponitur aliud niſi conſummato compoto, propter urgentem cauſam, quæ in agendis Vicecomitum manifeſta eſt. Deinde in capite ſequentis lineæ, quid in Elemoſina & Decimis conſtitutis, quid etiam in liberatione, de firma Comitatus expendatur, exprimitur. Poſt hæc (x) in capite lineæ inferioris in Terris datis annotantur ea quæ Regum munificentia contulit Eccleſijs, vel his quæ eis militarunt, in fundis ſuis quæ Coronæ annominantur, quibuſdam Bl., quibuſdam numero.

D. Movet me quod dicis quoſdam fundos dari Bl[ancos], quoſdam numero.

M. Proſequamur ad præſens de Scriptoris officio; & in agendis Vicecomitis ſuper hoc, ſi libet, interroga. Poſt Terras datas, facto intervallo unius lineæ ut videantur etiam ipſa ſui ratione ſejuncta, annotantur ea quæ juſſa ſunt de firma expendi per Brevia Regis; quia hæc conſtituta non ſunt, ſed caſualia; quædam etiam, quæ ſine brevibus computantur per conſuetudinem Scaccarij, de quibus infra dicetur: & ſic terminatur compotus de Corpore Comitatus. Poſt hoc facto intervallo quaſi ſex vel ſeptem linearum, fit compotus de Purpreſturis & Eſcaetis (y) ſub his (z) verbis. Idem Vicecomes reddit compotum de firma Purpreſturarum & Eſcaetarum (a); ſed & de omnibus firmis Maneriorum & de cenſu Nemorum, quæ annuatim debentur & ſolvuntur. Poſt hæc (b) ſuo ordine compoti collocantur, exceptis quibuſdam Civitatibus & Villis & Baillijs, quarum majores compoti ſunt; quia conſtitutas habent Elemoſinas vel liberationes, & terras datas; & ad Cuſtodes earum terrarum (c) propriæ ſummonitiones de debitis Regis (d) diriguntur. De his (e) autem compoti fiunt poſt conſummatum omnino compotum de Comitatibus in quibus ſunt. Qualia ſunt Lincolnia, Wintonia, Mienes, Berchamſtede, Coleceſtria, pleraq; alia.

D. Miror dixiſſe te quoſdam reditus conſtitutos dici firmas, quoſdam vero cenſus.

M. Firmæ Maneriorum ſunt, cenſus autem nemorum tantum. Quæ enim ex Manerijs proveniunt, quia per agriculturam quolibet anno renovantur & redeunt; & præter hæc (f) in ipſis certi ſunt conſtituti redditus conſuetudinum jure perpetuo, merito firma (g) & immutabilia nominantur. Quæ vero ex nemoribus quæ quotidie (h) ſucciduntur & pereunt annua lege debentur, quorum non eſt tam firmus vel immobilis quæſtus, ſed eſt in eis aſcenſus & deſcenſus, licet non annuus frequens tamen, Cenſus dicuntur: & ſic per Aphæreſim (i) redditus hos cenſeri (k) dicunt. Sunt tamen qui credunt, cenſum dici quæ a ſingulis hominibus ſolvuntur; firma vero quæ ex his (l) ſurgit; ut ſit firma nomen collectivum, ſicut turba: ob hoc igitur ſicut creditur ſic cenſetur, ut annuum indicet, & firmum non eſſe deſignet. Poſt hæc conſtituta, facto iterum intervallo fit compotus de debitis, ſuper quibus ſummonitus eſt Vicecomes; prætitulatis tamen nominibus illorum Judicum quorum hæc ſunt. Ultimo vero de Catallis Fugitivorum, vel mutilatorum pro exceſſibus ſuis. Et his (m) expletis, compotus illius Vicecomitatus terminatur. Cavendum autem eſt ſcriptori, ne aliquid motu animi ſui ſcribat in Rotulo, niſi quod Theſaurario dictante, didicerit. Quod ſi forte per negligentiam vel alium quemlibet caſum, contigerit eum errare in ſcriptura Rotuli, vel in nomine, vel in numero, vel in cauſa, in quibus vis major ſcripturæ conſiſtit; non præſumat abradere, ſed linea ſubtili ſubducta cancellet, & ſcribat in ſerie quod oportet: habet enim Rotuli ſcriptura hoc commune (n) cum chartis (o) & alijs ſcriptis patentibus, quod abradi non debet (p): & ob hoc cautum eſt ut de pellibus Ovinis fiant; quia non facile niſi manifeſto vitio raſuræ cedunt.

D. Scriptor iſte de proprio an de fiſco Rotulos invenit?

M. In termino iſte (q) Sancti Michaelis v ſolidos de fiſco recipit, & ſcriptor Cancellariæ alios nihilominus v; ex quibus ad utrumq; Rotulum, & ad ſummonitiones & receptas inferioris Scaccarij membranas inveniunt.

Quid ad Scriptorem Cancellariæ.

Cura labor ſtudium reliqui ſcriptoris ad ejus latus reſidentis in his maxime conſiſtit, ut ſcilicet excipiat de Rotulo altero verbum e verbo, eodem ut prædiximus ordine Servato. Item ad hunc pertinet Brevia Regis de exitu Theſauri (r) ſcribere, de his (s) tantum rebus quæ conſideratione Baronum, conſedente Scaccario, a Theſaurario & Camerarijs liberari debent: nihilominus hic Brevia Regis ſcribit de computandis vel perdonandis his, quæ Barones ad Scaccarium computanda vel perdonanda decreverint (t). Ad hunc (u) etiam ſpectat, ut peractis compotis Vicecomitum, & taxatis debitis Regis de quibus Summonitiones fiunt, eaſdem per totum Regnum dirigendas diligenti ſimul & laborioſa diſcretione conſcribat: ex quibus, & in (w) quorum gratia ſequentis termini Scaccarium convocatur.

VI. Quis ſit tenor Brevium Regis factorum ad Scaccarium, ſive de exitu Theſauri, ſive de computandis, ſive perdonandis.

D. Brevia Regis de exitu Theſauri ſub quo tenore verborum fiunt (x)?

M. Theſaurarius & Camerarij niſi Regis expreſſo mandato vel præſidentis Juſticiarij, ſuſceptam pecuniam non expendunt: oportet enim ut habeant auctoritatem reſcripti Regis de diſtributa pecunia, cum ab eis compotus generalis exigetur; eſt autem hic tenor; H. Rex &c; N. Theſaurario & illi & illi Camerarijs ſalutem. Liberate de Theſauro meo (y) illi vel illi, hanc vel hanc ſummam. Teſtibus (z) his apud N, ad Scaccarium. Additur autem ad Scaccarium, ut ſic fiat diſcretio Brevium quæ in Curia Regis fiunt. Oportet etiam ut facto brevi de exitu theſauri, ut diximus, faciat idem ſcriptor reſcriptum ejus, quod (a) vulgo dicitur contrabreve; & illud penes ſe reſervabit Clericus Cancellarij in teſtimonium liberatæ factæ per breve Regis originale, quod Theſaurarius & Camerarij habent. Brevia quoq; de computandis vel perdonandis his, quæ Barones decreverint (b) computanda vel perdonanda, præcognita Domini Regis voluntate, ſub hoc tenore verborum fiunt. H. Dei gratia &c, Baronibus de Scaccario ſalutem. Computate illi vel illi (c) hanc vel hanc ſummam, quam liberavit ad hoc vel ad illud negotium meum. Teſtibus hijs ibi ad Scaccarium. Item; Rex Baronibus de Scaccario (d) ſalutem. Perdono illi, vel clamo quietum hunc vel illum de hoc vel de illo (e). Teſtibus hijs ibi ad Scaccarium. Horum autem omnium brevium reſcripta penes jamdictum Clericum reſidebunt, in teſtimonium factorum Brevium. Originalia enim computatorum vel perdonatorum Brevia forulis Mareſcalli factis Vicecomitum compotis includuntur; de cætero, niſi contentio de eis oriatur, non exponenda. Quod autem de brevibus Regis dicimus, intelligendum eſt ſimiliter de brevibus Præſidentis Juſticiarij (ee), tantum cum Rex abſens eſt; & cum ſigilli ejus impreſſione jura regni ſtatuuntur, & cauſæ citantur ut condemnentur (f) vel abſolvantur qui vocantur ad Curiam. Cæterum dum Rex in Regno Angliæ fuerit; Brevia Scaccarij nomine Regio fient, ſub ejuſdem Præſidentis & alicujus alterius magni teſtimonio. Quis autem ſit tenor Brevium illorum quæ Sommonitiones dicuntur, plenius infra dicetur in titulo de Summonitionibus.

Quid ad Clericum Cancellarij.

Clericus Cancellarij qui huic proximus eſt, licet non proprio ſed alieno nomine militet, magnis tamen occupatur, & in multa diſtrahitur: adeo ut ab ipſo initio compotorum uſq; ad finem inde avelli non poſſit; niſi forte dum ſibi propitius eſt (g); ſubſtituto ſibi interim diſcreto vicario. Huic tantum prima cura eſt poſt Theſaurarium in hijs omnibus quæ illic geruntur; maxime tamen circa Rotulorum ac Brevium ſcripturam; in hijs (h) enim præcipue verſatur; nam ne forte ſui calamus ſcriptoris aberret proſpicit hic, alium ſequitur dum paſſibus æquis. Item hic intuetur diligenter alterius anni Rotulum ſibi propoſitum, donec a Vicecomite ſatisfactum fuerit de debitis hijs (i) quæ illic annotantur, & de quibus ſummonetur. Item reſidente Vicecomite ad compotum, computatis & ſcripto deputatis his quæ conſtituta ſunt in Comitatu, Breve ſummonitionis, cui Regis ſigillum appenſum eſt, ſuſcipit a Vicecomite, & de his (k) debitis quæ illic ſcripta ſunt urget Vicecomitem, pronuncians in publicum & dicens, Redde de hoc tantum, & de illo tantum. Debita vero quæ ſolvuntur in integrum, & de quibus ſatisfit, cancellet idem Clericus linea ducta per medium; ut ſit diſtintio per hoc etiam inter ſoluta & ſolvenda. Hic etiam cuſtodit contrabrevia factorum ad Scaccarium. Hic etiam ſummonitiones factas ut prædictum eſt corrigit, & ſigillat; & eſt ei labor infinitus, atq; poſt Theſaurarium maximus.

D. Utilis hic eſſet magis Argus, quam Polyphemus.

Quid ad Clericum Conſtabulariæ.

Conſtabulario liberationibus Militum vel quorumlibet eorum intendit, ut prædictum eſt; & eſt interdum laborioſum ſatis officium ejus (m), licet paucis exprimatur. Explet tamen illud frequentius per ſuppoſitam perſonam ſicut Cancellarius; quapropter Majores (n) non facile poſſunt a Regis præſentia longius ire. Sic habes diſpoſitorum in ſecundo ſedili ad dextram Præſidentis utcunq; diſtributa officia.

Quid ad Brunum.

Porro in (o) capite quarti ſedilis quod opponitur Juſticiarijs, reſidet Magiſter Thomas cognomento Brunus (oo). Hujus ad Scaccarium non vilis eſt auctoritas. Magnum enim (p) & Validum fidei ejus & diſcretionis eſt argumentum, quod a tam excellentis ingenij Principe electus eſt, ut præter antiquam conſuetudinem tertium habeat Rotulum, in quo Regni jura Regiſq; ſecreta conſcribat, & eundem penes ſe reſervans quocunq; voluerit deferat. Habet etiam Clericum ſuum in inferiore (q) Scaccario, qui juxta Clericum Theſaurarij reſidens, liberam habet facultatem ſcribendi, quæ recipiuntur & expenduntur in Theſauro.

D. Nunquid Principi cognita eſt eo uſq; fides ejus atq; diſcretio, quod ad hoc opus merito non æſtimetur alius ad illum?

M. Magnus hic erat in magni Regis Siculi curia, conſilijs providus, & in Regis ſecretis pene præcipuus. Surrexit interea Rex novus qui ignorabat illum, qui prava habens latera patrem perſequebatur in ſuis. Compulſus eſt igitur vir iſte, mutatis rebus proſperis, vitæ ſuæ conſulere, & licet pateret ei cum ſummo honore acceſſus ad Regna plurima; tamen frequenter vocatus ab illuſtri Rege Anglorum Henrico, cum fama veritate ipſa minor (r) eſt, prælegit ad natale ſolum & ſucceſſorium ac ſingularem dominum ſuum accedere. Suſceptus igitur ab ipſo ſicut utrumque decuit, quia apud (s) Siculum magnis intenderat, hic etiam ad magna deputatur negotia Scaccarij. Sic igitur & locum & dignitatis officium adeptus eſt; ad quælibet etiam Scaccarij magna negotia cum Magnis aſſumitur. Sic habes omnium qui ad majus Scaccarium ex officio reſident jura diſtincta. Conſequens autem eſt, ni fallor, ut quæ ſint eorum dignitates ratione ſeſſionis ad Scaccarium proſequamur.

D. Imo, ſi placet, de officio Militis quem Argentarium dicis, nec non de Fuſoris officio dicendum eſt; quia cum ſibi videantur annexa, & ad majus Scaccarium pertinentia, hucuſq; dilata ſunt.

M. Cerno quod te promiſſorum memoria non præterit, ex quo ſpes certa concipitur, quod te jam dictis non fraudabit oblivio. Credebam ſane de officijs tibi fuiſſe (t) ſatisfactum, quia de reſidentibus ad Scaccarium neminem prætermiſeram. Sed hij de quibus commemoras certas non habent ſibi deputatas ſedes, immo pro imperio Præſidentis vel Theſaurarij ſuum explent officium.

Quid ad Militem Argentarium.

Porro Miles Argentarius ab inferiori Scaccario ad ſuperius defert loculum examinandi argenti, cujus ſupra meminimus; quem cum intulerit ſignatum ſigillo Vicecomitis, ſub omnium oculis effundit in Scaccario quadraginta quatuor ſolidos, quos de acervo ſumptos prius ſignaverat, factaq; commixione eorundem, ut ponderi reſpondeant, mittit (u) in unum Vaſculum trutinæ libram ponderis, in alterum vero de denarijs quod oportuerit, quo facto numerat eoſdem, ut ex numero conſtare poſſit, ſi legitimi ponderis ſint; cujuſcunq; vero ponderis inventi fuerint, ſeorſum mittit in Ciffum libram unam, hoc eſt xx Sol. (w) ex quibus examen fiat; reliquos vero xxiiij Sol. (x) mittit in loculum. Item duo denarij præter libram examinandam dantur Fuſori, non de fiſco ſed de parte Vicecomitis, quaſi in præmium ſui laboris. Tunc eliguntur a Præſidente, vel a Theſaurario ſi ille abſens fuerit, alij duo Vicecomites, ut ſimul cum Argentario nec non & Vicecomite cujus examen faciendum eſt, procedant ad ignem; ubi Fuſor ante Præmonitus præparatis neceſſarijs eorum præſtolatur adventum: ibi (y) iterum præſente Fuſore & hijs (z) qui a Baronibus miſſi ſunt, diligenter computantur, & fuſori traduntur.

Quid ad Fuſorem.

Quos ille ſuſcipiens manu propria numerat, & ſic diſponit eos in Vaſculum ignitorum cinerum quod in fornace eſt. Tunc igitur artis fuſoriæ lege ſervata redigit eos in maſſam, conflans & emundans argentum. Cæterum cavendum eſt ei, ne citra perfectum ſubſiſtat, vel importunis (a) æſtuationibus vexet illud atq; conſumat; Illud propter Regis, hoc propter Vicecomitis jacturam; ſed modis omnibus provideat (b) & procuret quanta poterit (c) induſtria, ut non vexetur, ſed ad parum tantum excoquatur: hoc autem ipſum (d) providere debent (e) hij, qui ad idem miſſi ſunt a Majoribus. Facto igitur examine, defert illud Argentarius ad Barones comitantibus illis, & tunc in omnium oculis ponderat illud cum libra prædicta ponderis: Supplet autem mox, quod ignis conſumpſit appoſitis denarijs ejuſdem loculi, donec æquilibriter ſe habeat examen cum pondere; tunc inſcribitur idem examen deſuper ducta creta his verbis, Everwicſcira. Libra arſit tot, vel tot denarijs; & tunc illud Eſſaium dicitur non enim inſcribitur niſi præconceſſo (f) quod ſic ſtare debeat. Quod ſi Vicecomes cujus eſt, calumpniatus fuerit illud quaſi plus juſto conſumptum fuerit, ignis ſcilicet ex æſtuatione, vel plumbi infuſione; vel etiam fuſor ipſe qualibet occaſione defeciſſe fateatur examen, iterum numerentur viginti Solidi, qui reſidui ſunt in loculo prædicto, coram Baronibus ſicut dictum eſt, ut eadem ratione ſervata fiat examen. Hinc tibi conſtare poteſt, qua conſideratione de acervo magno præpoſitæ pecuniæ quadraginta quatuor ſolidi ſeorſum ab initio mittantur in loculum appoſito Vicecomitis ſigillo. Notandum vero eſt, quod Fuſor duos percipit denarios pro examine, ſicut diximus. Quod ſi quovis caſu aliud faceret, etiam ſi tertio examinaverit, non percipiet quicquam, ſed contentus erit ſemel ſuſceptis duobus.

D. Miror a tantis tantam adhiberi diligentiam (g) in unius libræ examinatione, cum nec magnus ex eo quæſtus nec multa jactura perveniat.

M. Non propter hanc tantum fiunt hæc, ſed propter Omnes illas quæ ab eodem Vicecomite ſub eodem nomine firmæ ſimul cum hac perſolvuntur. Quantum enim ab hac libra per ignen purgatorium decidit, tantundem ex ſingulis alijs libris noverit Vicecomiti de ſumma ſua ſubtrahendum: ut ſi centum libras numeratas ſolverit, & libra examinis xij denar. exciderit, non computentur ei niſi nonaginta quinque.

D. Nunc videre videor, quæſtum ex hijs provenire poſſe non modicum, ſed cui cedere debeat ignoro.

M. Semel dictum eſt & ſemper intelligatur, ſoli Regiæ utilitati in his omnibus ſerviri. Licet autem a talea Vicecomitis combuſtio detrahatur mittitur tamen tamen ſeorſum in taleam alteram breviorem, ut de ſumma ejus Theſaurarius & Camerarij reſpondeant. Sciendum vero quod per hanc taleam combuſtionis dealbatur firma Vicecomitis; unde in teſtimonium hujus rei ſemper majori taleæ appenſa (b) cohæret.

D. Pulſat adhuc me quæſtio non diſſimilis illi, quam in agendis inferioris Scaccarij propoſuiſſe me memini; quare videlicet libra una plus altera decidat, cum par debeat eſſe conditio omnium operantium in moneta.

M. Ad hanc ſicut ad illam quæſtionem ſufficit reſpondere, fieri poſſe hoc per falſarios & nummorum detonſores. Fuerunt autem, qui crederent (i), quibus nec ego diſſentio, non eſſe legitimam hujus regni monetam, ſi examinata libra (k) decidat (l) pluſquam VI. a pondere, quam (m) numerata reſpondet; & etiam delatam ad Scaccarium hujuſmodi pecuniam fiſco debere cedere, niſi forte novi ſint (n) & non uſuales denarij, quorum etiam ſuperſcriptio ſuum prodat (o) auctorem; tunc enim idem monetarius ſuper opere ſuo diſtricte convenietur, & legibus conſtitutis ſine jactura Vicecomitis condemnabitur vel abſolvetur. Quod ſi per examinationem probatis & reprobatis denarijs monetarius condemnatus & punitus fuerit, denarij a Fuſore Scaccarij præſentibus alijs hujus artis peritis redigentur (p) in maſſam, & pondus ejus Vicecomiti computabitur. Verum totum hoc pene nunc abolitum eſt & multum relinquitur, quoniam in moneta generaliter peccatur ab omnibus (q). Cum autem ad debitum & lege determinatum modum moneta pervenerit, primitivæ conſtitutionis legem obſervari neceſſe erit (r). Contra, ſi quis Vicecomes nummos attuliſſet, quorum libra combuſta a v vel iiij vel (s) infra ſe cohiberet, & viderentur de novo facti, non uſuales vel curſorij, ſimili modo non legitimi dicebantur, quaſi excedentes legem communem; unde & infiſcari poterant ſicut & alij. Item ſunt ad Scaccarium liberationes conſtitutæ (t) quæ ſtatutis terminis ſine Brevi Regis ſolvuntur: qualis eſt liberatio Naucleri, Cuſtodis ſcilicet navis Regiæ quam Eſneccam (tt) dicimus, qui xij percipit quaq; die; de qua & (u) conſimilibus taleæ fiunt a Camerarijs, quia de hijs brevia non habent. Miles autem Argentarius horum recauta habet, i. e. contrataleas. Hic ſimul & fuſor rogati a (w) Camerarijs cum neceſſe fuerit, & plurima delata pecunia opprimit Computatores, juvant eos in computatione: voluntarium tamen eſt eis, non neceſſarium. Sic habes militis Argentarij & (x) Fuſoris officia.

D. Quæ ſint ſigna facti vel infecti examinis.

M. Non ſatis novi; quia nec ſollicitus ſuper hijs fui. Verum quamdiu ſuper jam liquidum argentum nigra quædam nubecula circumferri conſpicitur, infectum dicitur. At cum quædam quaſi grana minuta ab imo deducuntur ad ſummum, & illic diſſolvuntur, ſignum eſt examinati.

VII. A quibus vel ad quid inſtituta fuit argenti examinatio.

D. A quibus vel ob quam rem inſtituta fuit examinatio hæc vel combuſtio?

M. Ut de his (y) tibi conſtare poſſit, paulo altius oriendum eſt. Sicut traditum habemus a patribus, in primitivo regni ſtatu poſt Conquiſitionem, Regibus de fundis ſuis non auri vel argenti pondera ſed ſola victualia ſolvebantur; ex quibus in uſus cotidianos domus Regiæ neceſſaria miniſtrabantur. Et noverant, qui ad hæc deputati fuerant, quantum de ſingulis fundis proveniebat. Cæterum ad ſtipendia vel donativa Militum & (z) alia neceſſaria, de placitis Regni vel conventionibus, & ex civitatibus vel caſtellis a quibus agricultura non exercebatur, pecunia numerata ſuccreſcebat. Toto igitur Regis Willelmi primi tempore perſeveravit hæc inſtitutio, uſq; tempora Regis Henrici filij ejus; adeo ut viderim ego ipſe quoſdam, qui victualia ſtatutis temporibus de fundis Regijs ad Curiam deferri viderint: certumq; habebant (a) officiales domus Regiæ a (b) quibus Comitatibus triticum, a quibus diverſæ ſpecies carnium vel equorum pabula, vel quæ neceſſaria, debebantur. Hijs vero ſolutis ſecundum conſtitutum modum cujuſq; rei, Regij officiales computabant Vicecomiti redigentes in ſummam denariorum. Pro menſura ſcilicet tritici ad panem C hominum, Solidum unum; pro corpore bovis paſcualis ſolidum unum; pro Ariete vel Ove iiij d; pro præbenda xx equorum ſimiliter iiij d. Succedente vero tempore, cum idem Rex in tranſmarinis & remotis partibus, ſedandis tumultibus bellicis operam daret, contigit ut fieret ſibi ſumma neceſſaria ad hæc explenda (c) numerata pecunia. Confluebat interea ad Regis Curiam querula multitudo colonorum, vel quod gravius ſibi videbatur prætereunti frequenter occurſabat, oblatis Vomeribus in ſignum deficientis agriculturæ; innumeris enim moleſtijs premebantur occaſione victualium, quæ per plurimas Regni partes a (d) ſedibus proprijs deferebant. Horum igitur querelis inclinatus Rex diffinito Magnorum conſilio deſtinavit per Regnum quos ad id prudentiores & diſcretiores cognoverat (e), qui circueuntes & oculata fide fundos ſingulos perluſtrantes, habita æſtimatione victualium, quæ de hijs (f) ſolvebantur, redegerunt in ſummam denariorum. De ſumma vero ſummarum quæ ex omnibus fundis ſurgebat in uno Comitatu, conſtituerunt Vicecomitem illius Comitatus ad Scaccarium teneri; addentes, ut ad ſcalam ſolveret, hoc eſt propter quamlibet numeratam libram vj d. Rati ſunt enim tractu temporis de facile poſſe fieri, ut moneta tunc fortis a ſuo ſtatu decideret. Hæc eos fefellit opinio; unde coacti ſunt conſtituere ut firma maneriorum non ſolum ad ſcalam, ſed ad penſum ſolveretur; quod perfici non poterat niſi longe pluribus oppoſitis. Servabatur per plures annos ad Scaccarium lex hujus ſolutionis: unde frequenter in veteribus (g) Annalibus Rotulis Regis illius invenies ſcriptum, in theſauro C libras ad ſcalam; vel, in theſauro C libras ad penſum. Surrexit interea vir prudens, conſilijs providus, ſermone diſcretus, & ad maxima quæque negotia per Dei gratiam repente præcipuus, dicens, in eo completum quod ſcriptum eſt; neſcit tarda molimina Spiritus ſancti gratia. Quid ad Oſtiarium Superioris Scaccarij.

Oſtium domus illius in qua Scaccarium reſidet, Oſtiarius ille ſolus ſine conſorte cuſtodit; niſi cum de domo propria ſervientes aſſumit in onus officij ſui. Nihilominus (s) cuſtodit idem oſtium thalami ſecretarum, qui collocatus eſt juxta domum ubi Scaccarium eſt. Ad hunc accedunt Barones, cum proponitur eis verbum ambiguum ad Scaccarium, de quo malunt ſeorſum tractare quam in auribus omnium; maxime autem propter hoc in partem ſecedunt, ne compoti qui ad Scaccarium fiunt impediantur; quibus moram facientibus in conſilijs, conſuetus curſus compotorum agitur. Si quid vero natum fuerit quæſtionis, referetur ad eos. Liberum etiam eſt Oſtiario, ut quibuſlibet magnæ auctoritatis viris ad hoc opus non neceſſarijs impune præcludat aditum cum voluerit. Solis vero hijs qui ad Scaccarium ex officio vel ex Regis mandato reſident, voluntarius patet ingreſſus in utrumq; thalamum. Quod ſi auctenticæ ſint perſonæ, quas ſingulariter incedere non eſt idoneum, unum vel duos introducere poterunt in exteriorem domum Scaccarij, ſed in thalamum ſecretorum ſoli Majores introeunt, cæteris excluſis; niſi cum ad quælibet Regia negotia explenda a Dominis ſuis vocantur. Item Oſtiarius factas Summonitiones & ſignatas a Mareſcallo ſuſcipit; ſoluto Scaccario illius termini, in propria perſona vel per fidelem nuncium per Angliam, ſicut ſupra dictum eſt, eaſdem defert. Hic etiam ex mandato Præſidentis convocat in præſentiam (t) ejus Vicecomites qui extra domum ubicunq; diſperſi ſunt, cum indiguerit illis. Item ad hunc pertinet, ut ſollicitus ſit circa minuta quælibet neceſſaria quæ in domo Scaccarij ſunt, velut (u) ad ſternenda & præparanda ſedilia circa Scaccarium, & hujuſmodi. Ex prædictis, ut credimus, de officijs omnium qui ad Scaccarium reſident tibi conſtare poteſt. Nunc quæ ſunt eorum jura vel dignitates ratione ſeſſionis ad Scaccarium oſtendemus.

Oportet autem de cætero nobis amplius parcat lingua detractoris, & dens æmulus ne laniet inſultando; vix enim ad notitiam tuam aliquid horum pertingeret, ſi non uſitatis rerum vocabulis, ſed exquiſito verborum ſcemate vel confectis (w) nominibus duxerimus inſiſtendum.

D. Solam verborum novitatem a principio vitare præmonui, & circa communia communibus & uſitatis uti verbis obtinui, ne diſciplinalia rudimenta novitas inſueta turbaret. Sic igitur, ut cœpiſti, cœptum libeat iterum explere. Quod ſi te ſic gradientem detractoris æmula mens vel lingua repererit (x) illud obtineas ab eo, ut qui in ſcriptis ſuis ſine peccato eſt, primus in te lapidem mittat.

M. Sponte pareo, dumodo lex iſta ſervetur. Dignitas reſidentium ad Scaccarium in pluribus conſiſtit. Sive enim de Clero ſint ſive de Regis Curia qui aſſident ex mandato, ab ea die qua convenient uſq; ad generalem Seſſionem, ad alias quaſlibet cauſas ſub quibuſcunq; judicibus non evocantur; & ſi forte vocati fuerint, ratione publicæ poteſtatis excuſantur. Quod ſi ſint actores & non rei qui aſſident, & alias habent lites, in eorum erit arbitrio vel experiri per procuratorem, vel abſq; omni detrimento ſui juris diem prorogare. Si vero judex ſub quo litigant, ſive ſit Eccleſiaſticus ſive Forenſis, legis hujus ignarus, ab jam dicta die convocationis ad Scaccarium citaverit quemlibet eorum, & abſentem forte per ſententiam poſſeſſione ſua vel quovis jure ſpoliaverit, auctoritate Principis & ratione ſeſſionis revocabitur in eum ſtatum cauſa (y) ipſius, in quo erat, ante citationem: Sed judex propter hoc puniri non meruit; quod enim ſui officij eſt, eſt exequutus; licet pro publica poteſtate non conſequatur effectum. Quod ſi ſic citatus fuerit, ut fatalis dies lege determinatus ſibi conſtitutus, diem convocationis ad Scaccarium præveniat, non poterit ſe per illud excuſare, vel Judicis ſententiam declinare (z), vel in ſe latam irritam facere, etiamſi alter alteri ſic proximus ſit, ut iterum cogatur arripere. Procuret itaque ſibi procuratorem vel reſponſalem, & ipſe Regijs addictus (a) negotijs ad Curiam ſine ſimulatione feſtinet. Præterea Barones qui ad Scaccarium

Si vero acquieſcere noluerit, ſet magis in ſua temeritate perſeveraverit (d), proponatur verbum Præſidenti, & ab eo poſtmodum quod juſtum fuerit uterque ſuſcipiat. Cæterum ſi per incentorem malorum diabolum, qui fraternæ pacis jocundam lætitiam non æquis aſpicit oculis, fieri contigerit, ut inter ipſos Majores diſſentionis oriatur occaſio, deinde quod abſit ſuccreſcant conviciorum jurgia, & addente ſtimulos Sathana, per alios collegas operis ejus pax reformari non poſſit; horum omnium cognitio ipſi Principi reſervabitur; qui ſecundum quod cordi ſuo Deus, in cujus manu ipſe eſt, inſpiraverit, exceſſum puniet; ne qui præſunt alijs ferre videantur impune quod decernunt in alijs puniendum.

D. Ex his manifeſtum eſt, quod Salomon ait, mors & vita in manibus linguæ; Et item Jacobus; lingua modicum membrum eſt, & magna exaltat.

Ab hijs omnibus omnes hij qui ad Scaccarium ex Principis mandato reſident liberrimi ſunt; adeo ut non ſolum a dominiis ſed etiam ab omnibus feodis ſuis nihil horum exigatur (gg). Si vero qui reſidet ibi fundum habeat (h) vel ad firmam, vel in cuſtodiam, vel etiam in pignus pro pecunia, liber non erit, ſed magis de hijs legibus publicis obnoxius fiet. Amplius autem præter has liber erit ad Scaccarium a Murdris, Scutagijs, & a Danegeldis (i) (ii). Regis, illi vel illi hoc vel illud; cum tamen nullum ſuper hoc Breve Regis habuerit. Caveat autem cui dimittitur aliquid a Principe, ne poſtea ſibi dimiſſum requirat a ſubditis, ſed magis memor ſit verbi illius; dimittite & dimittemini; quia cum hoc fuerit deprehenſum, Princeps Evangelicæ æmulator doctrinæ nec dimittet eum nec debitum dimittet ei, ſed forſitan in centuplum puniet; quia impenſa ſibi gratia videtur abuti, cum ab alijs irreverenter exigit quod gratis ſibi dimiſſum eſt.

D. Dictum eſt, ſi bene memini, quod quicunque Regis præcepto reſidet ad Scaccarium quibuſdam a lege determinatis ratione ſeſſionis liber eſt. Additum eſt etiam, ſi bene recolo, conſidere Scaccarium in termino Paſchæ, non tamen quæ (k) illic fiunt omnino terminari, ſed eorum conſummationem termino Sancti Michaelis reſervari. Cum igitur poſſibile ſit, imo & frequenter contingat, aliquem ex Regis mandato in Termino Paſchæ ad hoc aſſumi, qui in termino Sancti Michaelis vel fati debita ſolvit, vel ad alia Regni negotia mandato Regis transfertur (l), vel quod fortius quibuſdam viſum eſt, medio tempore Principi factus exoſus, tam excellentibus negotijs indignus judicatur: Quæro ſi qui Termino Paſchæ quietus eſt quo pauca terminantur, ſed omnia per iteratam ſummonitionem innovantur, hic talis in termino Sancti Michaelis abſolvi mereatur, cum etiam & Scaccarij ſeſſionem & ipſam principis gratiam demeruerit.

M. Ad hujus quæſtionis partem utramq; conſtruendam copioſa forſitan eſt rationum inventio, ſed noveris Regiæ munificentiæ libertatem, poſt ſemel (m) indultam abſolutionis gratiam etiam cum pecuniæ diſpendio in partem meliorem ſemper eſſe proniorem: quippe ſimilis eſt donorum & perdonorum Regis ratio, ut ſicut dona ejus revocari vel repeti non debent; ſic nec Regis diſmiſſa quæ vulgo perdonata dicuntur, nequeunt in irritum devocari. Liber igitur & abſolutus eſt in termino conſummationis, qui quocunque modo in præcedenti meruit abſolvi.

D. Movent me quædam, quæ prædicta ſunt. Primo quod dicis aliquid alicui dimitti ſub hoc tenore verborum; In perdonis per Breve Regis, illi vel illi hoc vel illud, cum tamen nullum Breve Regis dimiſſionis obtinuerit. Quomodo enim fieri poteſt, ut ſic falſa non deprehendatur Scriptura Rotuli, non video.

M. Movet te? Nec immerito; quod me diu movit; atq; (ut credo) nondum patuit omnibus hæc Scripturæ ratio: unde licet non ſit magnum quod petis, attamen eſt inſolitum, & videtur abſurdum, ut per Breve Regis dicatur dimiſſum quod ſine Brevi ſemper eſt dimittendum. Ea propter de hac ipſa ſollicitus fui circa Dominum Elienſem virum itaq; hujus officij peritiſſimum, cujus memoria in benedictione ſit in æternum. Hic illuſtris illius Anglorum Regis Henrici primi Theſaurarius, & nepos Sarisburienſis cujus ſupra meminimus, incomparabilem ſuis temporibus habuit Scaccarij ſcientiam: Maximus etiam exiſtens in hijs (n) quæ ad ſui ſtatus dignitatem pertinebant, celebrem ſui nominis famam fecit, adeo ut pene ſolus in regno ſic vixerit & ſic deceſſerit ut gloriam ejus invida lingua denigrare non audeat. Hic etiam ab illuſtri Rege Henrico ſecundo frequenter rogatus, Scaccarij Scientiam continuata per multos annos bellica tempeſtate pene prorſus abolitam reformavit, & totius deſcriptionis ejus formam, velut alter Eſdras bibliothecæ ſedulus reparator, renovavit. Credidit ſane vir prudens ſatius eſſe, conſtitutas ab antiquis leges poſteris innoteſcere, quam ſua taciturnitate ut novæ conderentur efficere; vix enim modernitas in quæſtu pecuniæ mitiora prioribus jura dictavit. Ab hoc igitur ſuper hoc hujuſmodi reſponſum accepi; frater, qui aures audiendi avidas habet, facile detractoris linguam invenit; etiam is qui non habet non facile eandem effugiet. Acceſſit itaq; ad Regem Henricum primum vir aliquis habens ſibila Serpentis, dicens ei; Barones veſtri qui ad Scaccarium reſident ut quid quæ de terris eorum exurgunt non ſolvunt? Cum quidam conſtitutas habeant ad Scaccarium liberationes pro ſeſſione ſua; quidam etiam pro officio ſuo fundos habent & fructus eorum; hinc ergo gravis jactura fiſco provenit. Cum igitur ille Principis emolumentum allegans frequenter inſtaret, mentem ejus vix tandem verbum iſtud eo uſque poſſedit, ut omnia conſtituta ab omnibus ſolvi præciperet, nec aliquid alicui dimitti, niſi quis ſuper hoc expreſſum ejus obtinuiſſet

Simile autem huic aliquid temporibus modernis nos vidiſſe meminimus, quod tractu temporis ſub conſimili verborum tenore hijs (q) qui abſolvi meruerint computabitur. Præcepit namque Dominus Rex Henricus ſecundus in termino Sancti Michaelis xxiiij anni Regni ſui, ut milites Templi, & fratres Hoſpitalis & Monachi Ciſtercienſis ordinis, quibus per chartæ ſuæ libertatem longe ante quietantiam indulſerat omnium qui ad denarios pertinent, excepta juſticia mortis & membrorum a modo quieti eſſent de hijs omnibus quæ (r) ad Denarios per ſingulos Comitatus pertinerent, adeo ut de cætero chartas ſuas ad Scaccarium deferre non cogerentur. X. Quid Murdrum, & quare ſic dictum.

Porro Murdrum proprie dicatur mors alicujus occulta, cujus interfector ignoratur. Murdrum enim idem eſt quod abſconditum vel occultum. In primitivo itaq; Regni ſtatu poſt Conquiſitionem, qui relicti fuerant de Anglicis ſubjectis in ſuſpectam & exoſam ſibi Normannorum gentem latenter ponebant inſidias, & paſſim ipſos in nemoribus & locis remotis, nacta opportunitate, clanculo jugulabant: in quorum ultione cum Reges & eorum miniſtri per aliquot annos exquiſitis tormentorum generibus in Anglicos deſævirent, nec tamen ſic omnino deſiſterent, in hoc tandem devolutum eſt conſilium, ut Centuriata quam Hundredum dicunt, in qua ſic interfectus Normannus inveniebatur, quia quod (d) mortis ejus miniſter non extabat, nec per fugam, quis eſſet, patebat, in ſummam grandem argenti examinati, fiſco condemnaretur, quædam ſcilicet in xxxvj, quædam in xliiij l (e), ſecundum locorum diverſitatem & interfectionis frequentiam; quod ideo factum dicunt, ut ſcilicet pœna generaliter inflicta prætereuntium indemnitatem (f) procuraret, & feſtinaret quiſque tantum punire delictum, vel offerre judicio per quem tam enormis jactura totam lædebat viciniam. XI. Quid Danegildum, & quare ſic dictum.

Inſula noſtra ſuis contenta bonis peregrinis non eget. Hanc igitur merito dixere priores, divitijſq; ſinum (u) delicijſq; (w) Larem. Propter hæc innumeras ab exteris injurias paſſa eſt; quia ſcriptum eſt; furem precioſa ſignata ſollicitant. Circumjacentium enim inſularum prædones irruptione facta maritima depopulantes, aurum argentum & quæque pretioſa tollebant. Verum cum Rex & Indigenæ bellicis apparatibus inſtructi in ſuæ gentis defenſionem inſtarent, illi fugas aggrediebantur æquoreas. Inter hos itaq; pene præcipua & ſemper pronior ad nocendum erat bellicoſa illa & populoſa gens Dacorum; qui præter communem raptorum avaritiam acrius inſtabant, quia aliquid de antiquo jure in ejuſdem regni dominatione vendicabant, ſicut Britonum plenius narrat Hiſtoria. Ad hos igitur arcendos a Regibus Anglicis ſtatutum eſt, ut de ſingulis hidis regni jure quodam perpetuo duo ſolidi argenti ſolverentur in uſus virorum fortium, qui perluſtrantes & jugiter excubantes maritima impetum hoſtium reprimerent. nomine poſſidentur. Quia enim aſcriptitij de Regni jure non ſolum ab hijs quæ modo poſſident, ad alia loca a dominis ſuis transferri poſſunt: verum etiam ipſi quoq; licite venduntur vel quomodo libet diſtrahuntur; merito tam ipſi quam terræ, quas excolunt ut dominis ſuis ſerviant, Dominia reputantur. Item fertur ab his quibus antiqua Scaccarij dignitas oculata fide pernotuit, quod Barones ejus ab Eſſartis Foreſtarum liberi ſunt de Dominijs ſuis. Quibus & nos conſentire videmur; adjecta determinatione, ut de hijs Eſſartis dicantur quieti, qui fuerant ante diem qua Rex illuſtris Henricus primus rebus humanis exemptus eſt. Si enim de omnibus quocunq; tempore factis vel faciendis quieti eſſent, liberum videretur Baronibus propter impunitatem nemora ſua in quibus Regia foreſta conſiſtit, pro ſui arbitrij voluntate ſuccidere; quod nequaquam impune poſſunt, niſi præcedente Regis conſenſu vel principalis Foreſtarij. Porro in neceſſarios etiam uſus ſuæ domus de proprijs nemoribus non aſſumant hij, qui in foreſta ſua habent Domicilia, niſi per viſum eorum qui ad foreſtæ cuſtodiam deputantur. Verum ſunt plures qui ſuis velint argumentis aſtruere, quod de Eſſartis hijs nullus liber ſit ratione Seſſionis ad Scaccarium. Si quis omnium illic reſidentium erga Principem quovis delinqueret infortunio, unde pecuniariter puniri mereretur, a pœna illa liber non eſſet niſi ſpeciali Principis mandato. Cum ergo Eſſartum factum exceſſus ſit in foreſtam Regis, non debet, ut dicunt, is (a) qui ſic delinquit & propter hoc punitur, niſi Regis expreſſo mandato liberari. Hæc itaque ratio licet ſubtilis ſit, & videatur aliquibus pene ſufficiens, obviat tamen illi quod pœna pro Eſſartis conſtituta ſit & communis in illos, qui ſic delinquunt; Ut ſcilicet pro Eſſarto jugeris unius triticei ſolidus unus ſolvatur; pro jugere vero quo ſeritur avena, vj d (b) jure perpetuo. Ex hijs autem particulis coacta ſumma quædam exurget, de qua Vicecomes ad Scaccarium reſpondere tenetur; ſicut ex conſtitutis duobus ſolidis vel uno per ſingulas hidas Comitatus ſumma una quæ comunis aſſiſa nuncupatur, excreſcit. Quia igitur in hijs (c) expreſſam habet ſimilitudinem Eſſartum cum Aſſiſa communi, ſicut dictum eſt, videri potuit non immerito ſimiliter quietos habendos illos ab Eſſartis ut ab alijs communibus Aſſiſis. Item obviat eis conſuetudinis uſuſq; longævi non vilis auctoritas. Sic enim retroactis temporibus fuiſſe commemorant quibus cana (d) memoria eſt. Vidi ego (e) ipſe qui loquor tecum temporibus modernis Legreceſtriæ comitem Robertum, virum diſcretum, literis eruditum & in negotijs forenſibus exercitatum. Hic ingenitam habens animi virtutem, paternæ quoque prudentiæ æmulator effectus eſt: cujus induſtria pluribus examinata eſt penes (f) Principem noſtrum Henricum ſecundum, quem nec palliata prudentia nec diſſimulata fallit ineptia; ut (g) ex mandato ipſius non ſolum ad Scaccarium, verum etiam (h) per univerſum regnum Præſidentis dignitatem obtinuerit. Hic ſemel imminente viſitatione nemorum quam Reguardam vulgo dicunt, quæ tertio anno fit, Breve Regis obtinuit, ut quietus eſſet ab hijs quæ de terra ipſius pro Eſſartis exigebantur, appoſito numero (i) qui de his exurgebat: quo delato & lecto ad Scaccarium in publico (k) ſtupebant omnes & mirabantur, dicentes; nonne Comes iſte libertatem noſtram infirmat? Contuentibus igitur ſe invicem qui aſſidebant, exorſus eſt fælicis memoriæ Nigellus tunc (l) Elienſis Epiſcopus, ſic inquiens cum modeſtia: Domine Comes, irritam feciſſe videris per hoc Breve Scaccarij dignitatem, qui mandatum Regis de hijs Rebus impetraſti, a quibus liber es per Seſſionem Scaccarij: ac ſi conſequenter amodo (m) per locum a majori debeat inferri; Qui de Eſſartis Breve Regis non obtinet, ſolutioni mox obnoxius fiat; ſed ſalva reverentia, pernitioſus eſt propter exemplum hic abſolutionis modus. Cum igitur, ut fit in dubijs, quidam ſic quidam aliter ſentirent, allatus eſt in hujus rei validum argumentum, Rotulus annalis de tempore Regis (n) illius Magni cujus ſupra meminimus, ſub quo plurimum floruiſſe dicitur dignitas, & ſcientia Scaccarij; & (o) inventum eſt aliquid, quod (p) Epiſcopo de dignitate

D. Salva Reverentia, non exemplis ſed rationibus in hijs utendum eſt.

M. Ita eſt ; ſed fit interdum, ut cauſæ rerum dictorumq; rationes occultæ ſint, & tunc ſufficit de his (u) exempla (w) ſubicere, præſertim de viris prudentibus ſumpta, quorum opera circumſpecta ſunt & ſine ratione non fiunt. Verum quicquid ſuper his (x) dixerimus allegantes pro hac libertate vel contra eam, certum habeas quod nihil in hac parte certum dicimus, niſi quod principis auctoritas decreverit obſervandum. Sane Foreſtarum ratio, pœna quoq; vel abſolutio delinquentium in eas ſive pecuniaria fuerit ſive corporalis, ſeorſum ab alijs Regni judicijs ſecernitur, & ſolius Regis arbitrio vel cujuſlibet familiaris ad hoc ſpecialiter deputati ſubicitur. Legibus quidem proprijs ſubſiſtit ; quas non communi Regni jure, ſed voluntaria principum inſtitutione ſubnixas dicunt ; adeo ut quod per legem ejus factum fuerit, non juſtum abſolute, ſed juſtum ſecundum legem Foreſtæ dicatur. In foreſtis etiam penetralia Regum ſunt, & eorum maximæ deliciæ ; ad has enim Venandi cauſa curis quandoq; depoſitis accedunt, ut modica quiete recreentur (y). Illic ſerijs ſimul, & innatis Curiæ tumultibus omiſſis, in naturalis libertatis gratiam pauliſper reſpirant ; unde fit, ut delinquentes in eam ſoli Regiæ ſubjaceant animadverſioni.

D. Ab ungue primo didici, quod prave prudentis eſt ignorantiam pati malle, quam dictorum cauſas inquirere ; ut ergo de prædictis plenius conſtet, aperire non differas quid Foreſta ſit, & quid Eſſartum.

XII. Quid Regis Foreſta, & quæ ratio hujus nominis.

M. Foreſta Regis eſt tuta ferarum manſio ; non quarumlibet ſed ſilveſtrium ; non quibuſlibet in locis ſed certis & ad hoc idoneis ; unde foreſta dicitur, e mutata in o, quaſi Fereſta, hoc eſt ferarum ſtatio.

D. Nunquid in ſingulis Comitatibus Foreſta Regis eſt ?

M. Non ; Sed in nemoroſis, ubi & ferarum latibula ſint & uberrima paſcua : nec intereſt cujus ſint nemora, ſive ſint Regis, ſive regni procerum, liberos tamen & indempnes (z) habent feræ circumquaque diſcurſus.

XIII. Quid Eſſartum, & quare ſic dictum.

Eſſarta vero vulgo dicuntur, quæ apud Iſidorum (a) occationes (b) nominantur ; quando ſcilicet foreſtæ nemora vel dumeta quælibet paſcuis & latibulis opportuna (c) ſucciduntur ; quibus ſucciſis, & radicibus avulſis terra ſubvertitur & excolitur. Quod ſi nemora ſic exciſa ſint, ut ſubſiſtens quis in vix extante ſucciſæ quercus vel alterius arboris ſtipite, circumſpiciens V ſucciſas viderit, Vaſtum reputant, hoc eſt, vaſtatum per Syncopen ſic dictum. Exceſſus autem talis etiam in proprijs cujuſq; nemoribus factus, adeo gravis dicitur, ut nunquam inde per ſeſſionem Scaccarij liberari debeat ; ſed magis juxta ſui ſtatus poſſibilitatem pecuniariter puniri. Noveris autem Theſaurum quandoq; dici pecuniam ipſam numeratam; vaſa diverſi generis aurea vel argentea, ac veſtimentorum mutatoria. Secundum hanc acceptionem dicitur, Ubi eſt theſaurus tuus, ibi eſt cor tuum. Dicitur enim Theſaurus locus in quo reponitur, unde Theſaurus auri Theſis id eſt (g) poſitio nominatur (h); ut nunc incongrue reſpondeatur quærenti de quolibet ubi ſit, in Theſauro eſt, hoc eſt, ubi Theſaurus reponitur. Numerata quidem pecunia vel alia prædicta ſemel in tuto loco repoſita non efferuntur, niſi cum ex Regis mandato in neceſſarios uſus diſtribuenda ſibi mittantur. Verum plura ſunt in repoſitorijs archis theſauri, quæ circumferuntur, & includuntur & cuſtodiuntur a Theſaurario & Camerarijs, ſicut ſupra plenius oſtenſum eſt: qualia ſunt Sigillum Regis de quo quæris, liber Judicarius, Rotulus qui exactorius dicitur, quem quidem nominant Breve de firmis. XV. Qui ſit uſus Sigilli Regij quod eſt in Theſauro.

Uſus Sigilli Regij qualis eſſe debeat ex præmiſſis conſtare poteſt: hoc enim factæ ſummonitiones & alia pertinentia duntaxat ad Scaccarium Regis mandata ſignantur; nec effertur alias; ſed ſicut ſupra dictum eſt, a Cancellario cuſtoditur per Vicarium. Expreſſam autem habet imaginem & inſcriptionem cum deambulatorio Curiæ ſigillo, ut par cognoſcatur utrobiq; jubentis auctoritas, & reus ſimiliter judicetur pro hoc & pro illo, qui ſecus egerit. Incipit Liber Secundus.

AUDI me, frater, & auribus audiendi percipe quæ loquor tibi. Non pœnitebit te modicum tempus ereptum otijs impendere velle negotijs. Sunt enim nonnulli, qui non (b) erubeſcunt dicere in cordibus ſuis, qui apponit ſcientiam, apponit & dolorem Hijs oneroſa (c) eſt doctrina & jocundum decipere. Propter hoc ab hijs longe facta eſt veritas, qui metuentes jocundum diſciplinæ laborem incident in errorem. Fiunt igitur cæci corde, viarumq; pericula non videntes pronis greſſibus in præcipitium ruunt. Verum te, frater, nullus dies otioſum inveniat; ne (d) te forte vacantem (e) peſſimis quibuſq; ſubjiciat (f) pronior in malum infirmitatis humanæ conditio. Quod ſi forte tibi nulla ſunt (g) honeſta tamen finge negotia; ut ſemper exercitatus animus expeditior ſit ad doctrinam. Hijs igitur negotijs in quæ nos impegiſti pauliſper attende; non ut ex eis magnos (h) laboris metas fructus, ſed tantum ne [ſis] otioſus.

D. Vereor ne inſtantis noctis crepuſculum præcipitem imponat finem negotijs, & omiſſis pluribus neceſſarijs acceleres, ut careas importunitate quærentis.

M. Imo ego magis veritus ſum, ne te poſt longa ſilentia, propter agreſtem ſtilum, diu ſuppreſſus cachinnus ſuccuteret, vel forte tacitus tecum pertractaſſes, qualiter ſine noſtra moleſtia ab his (i) avelli poſſes, ad quæ nos coegiſti. Ob hoc fateor me finem intempeſtivum pene poſuiſſe dicendis: ſed tamen cum docilis ſis & in te nondum tepuerit attentionis induſtria (k) cœpto ferar itinere. Ut igitur diſpoſitæ rationis ordini ſatisfiat, de ſummonitionibus primo loco dicendum eſt: ex quibus ſcilicet & qualiter, & ad quid fiant. Atq; ut de his tibi plenius conſtet, ſit trium præmonſtrandorum, primo, prius, ultimum, hoc eſt, ad quid fiant.

Fiunt autem ſummonitiones, ut Scaccarium fiat.

Præcedente namque brevi ſummonitionis, quod Regiæ auctoritatis (l) ſignatur imagine, convocantur ad locum nominatum qui neceſſarij ſunt; nec enim neceſſe habent accedere, niſi ſummonitione præmiſſa. Accedunt autem quidam ut ſedeant & judicent (m), quidam ut ſolvant & judicentur. Sedent & judicant ex officio vel ex principis mandato Barones quorum ſupra meminimus. Solvunt autem & judicantur Vicecomites & alij plures in regno, quorum quidam voluntarijs oblationibus quidam neceſſarijs ſolutionibus obnoxij ſunt, de quibus infra plenius dicemus in agendis Vicecomitis. Horum itaq; cum per omnes Comitatus numeroſa ſit multitudo, oportet in ipſa citatione emiſſa de ſingulis ſeriatim exprimi, quantum in inſtanti termino ſolvi debeat, adjecta etiam cauſa; ut ſi (n) dicatur, de illo habeas hanc vel illam ſummam (o), propter hanc vel hanc cauſam. Quod ſi autem reſidente ad compotum Vicecomite, requiratur aliquid de quovis debitore qui ſit in Comitatu ſuo, de quo tamen in ſummonitione nulla fuit (p) mentio, non tenebitur reſpondere; ſed magis excuſabitur; quia non præceſſit hujus rei ſummonitio. Ad hoc ergo ſummonitiones fiunt (q), ut firmæ Regis & debita multiplici ratione requirenda fiſco proveniant. Verum ſunt aliqua, quæ per manum Vicecomitis provenire neceſſe eſt, etiamſi nulla de his (r) ſummonitio fiat; ſed (s) hæc magis caſualia ſunt quam conſtituta vel certa, ſicut ex conſequentibus liquebit.

Qualiter Summonitiones fiant.

Qualiter autem vel quo ordine fiant, primo dicendum eſt, ac demum ex quibus. Noveris autem (t) quod ſoluto Scaccario termini illius quo fiunt ſummonitiones, excipiuntur a clericis Theſaurarij debita Regis per ſingulos Comitatus a Magno Rotulo illius anni, & in brevioribus annotantur, ſimul (u) cum cauſis, quo facto ſecedunt (w) hij in partem quos majores diximus, præpoſito Comitatu quolibet, & de ſingulis debitoribus illius decernunt quantum ſummoneri (x) debeat, habita conſideratione ſecundum qualitatem perſonæ, & ſecundum qualitatem negotij & cauſæ pro qua Regi tenetur. Auctenticus (y) etiam Annalis Rotulus a quo debita excepta ſunt, tenetur a (z) Theſaurario vel ejus clerico, ne forte fuerit in excipiendo quomodolibet erratum (a). Eſt etiam alius Clericus, qui quod illi taxaverint in exceptis annotat ſtudioſe; de quibus Summonitio fit per hæc verba. H. (b) Rex Anglorum, illi vel illi Vicecomiti ſalutem. Vide ſicut teipſum & omnia tua diligis, quod ſis ad Scaccarium ibi vel ibi, in craſtino Sancti Michaelis, vel in craſtino clauſi Paſchæ, & habeas ibi tecum, quicquid debes de (c) veteri firma vel nova, & nominatim hæc debita ſubſcripta; de illo x marcas pro hac cauſa, & ſic deinceps. Annotatis autem omnibus debitis illic ſeriatim cum cauſis, quæ in majori Annali Rotulo continentur, proferuntur minores quiq; Perambulantium Judicum (d) Rotuli, ex quibus excipiuntur quæ in ſingulis Comitatibus domino Regi debentur, labore & induſtria ipſorum (e); & hijs taxatis a Majoribus, in Summonitionibus annotantur; quibus ordine (f) digeſtis, terminatur ſummonitio per hæc verba: Et hæc omnia tecum habeas in (g) denarijs taleis & brevibus & quietantijs, vel capientur de firma tua; Teſte illo vel illo, ibi ad Scaccarium. Fuerunt tamen qui crederent dicendum in denarijs vel taleis vel brevibus vel quietancijs; non intelligentes vel quandoq; ſubdisjunctive poni. Superflua tamen eſt hujuſmodi de verbis contentio, cum de eorum intellectu conſtiterit: ſive enim dixeris in denarijs vel brevibus vel quietancijs, vel in denarijs & brevibus & quietancijs, idem eſt intellectus; ut ſcilicet in hijs omnibus vel eorum aliquibus, ſatisfiat de his (h) quæ in Summonitione continentur. Præterea, quia novis morbis per nova remedia decet ſubveniri (i), additum fuit in Summonitionibus hoc ſubſcriptum, ex novella conſtitutione, hoc eſt poſt (k) tempora Regis Henrici primi: Quod ſi forte de alicujus debito ſummonitus es, qui terram vel catalla non habet (l) in baillia (m) tua, & noveris in cujus baillia (n) vel Comitatu habuerit; tu ipſe Vicecomiti illi vel ballivo per breve tuum hoc ipſum ſignifices, deferente illud aliquo a te miſſo, qui ei breve tuum in Comitatu, ſi poteſt, vel coram pluribus liberet. Hæc quæ prædiximus (o) apponere, ridiculoſa ſatis & diſpendioſa quorundam ſubterfugia compulerunt. Cognito enim quibus determinatis Summonitiones emittebantur, antequam perveniſſet ad Comitatum ſummonitorio de debito ſuo, vacuatis horreis & pecunijs ſuis quocunq; ſibi diſtractis (p) vel ad loca tuta tranſlatis, vacuus in domo ſua reſidens, Vicecomitis & cæterorum officialium ſecurus expectabat adventum; & hac arte plurimis annis Regiæ Summonitionis auctoritas non ſine diſpendio videbatur eludi. Ille enim, ad quem cum facultatibus ſuis metus hujus cauſa tranſierat cum inde mandatum non haberet in res ſuas manum mittere non præſumebat. Hac ergo conſideratione per aliquot annos in Summonitionibus appoſitum fuit verbum quod præmiſſum eſt; nec poſtea alicui patuit locus ſubterfugij, quin ſatisfaciat omnis debitor per omnem modum, niſi quem ſola ſuprema excuſat inopia. Cum autem jam omnibus Vicecomitibus & debitoribus conſtitiſſet quia ſic ſophiſticæ poterant importunitates determinari, non oportuit amplius illud verbum apponi, nec apponitur: modus tamen ille qui dictus eſt coercionis debitorum quacumq; ſe tranſtulerint, perſeverat apud Vicecomites, & quaſi quodam jure perpetuo conſtitutus ſervatur (q).

D. Audivi jamdudum referentibus multis, quod bis (r) in anno Scaccarium convocetur, hoc eſt in termino Paſchæ & in termino S^{ti} Michaelis. Dixiſti etiam ſi bene memini, niſi præmiſſis ſummonitionibus Scaccarium (s) non teneri. Cum ergo Summonitiones ad utrumq; terminum fiant, rogo te, ſi placet, aperias, ſi in utriſq; Summonitionibus lex una ſervetur, vel, ſi in (t) verborum tenore diſſonantia eſt, quæ ſit, & quare ſic (u).

II. Quæ ſit differentia ſummonitionum utriuſq; termini.

M. Magnum tuæ provectionis eſt argumentum quod ſuper hijs jam (w) noſti dubitare. Porro certo certius eſt, quod bis (x) Scaccarium in anno convocatur & tenetur; Præcedentibus tamen, ut prædictum eſt, ſummonitionibus. Terminorum utriuſq; ſeſſionis ſatis bene meminiſti. Sed (y) attende, quod in termino Paſchæ a Vicecomitibus non compoti ſed quidam viſus compotorum fiunt; unde pene nihil eorum quæ illic tunc geruntur ſcripturæ commendatur; ſed totum reſervatur alij termino; tunc diligenter in Magno annali Rotulo ſingula per ordinem annotentur; tamen quædam Memoranda quæ frequenter incidunt (z) a clerico Theſaurarij ſeorſum conſcribuntur; ut ſoluto Scaccario illius termini de hijs diſcernant Majores; quæ quidem non facile propter numeroſam ſui multitudinem, niſi ſcripto commendarentur (a), occurrerent. Inſuper quid Vicecomes in Theſauro ſolverit de firmis; ac deinde ſi ſatisfacit (b), in eadem linea ſcribitur, & quietus eſt: ſi non, debitum ejus in inferiori linea diſtincte ponitur, ut ſciatur, quantum de ſumma illius termini deſit; & ſtatim ſatisfaciat ad arbitrium Præſidentium. Quilibet enim Vicecomes medietatem firmæ illius quæ de ſuo Comitatu per annum exurgit, in termino illo ſoluturus eſt. Noveris autem, quod in hijs ſummonitionibus tenor verborum non mutatur niſi quod ad terminum pertinet vel locum (c); ſi ſcilicet decreverint Majores alias tenendum Scaccarium Paſchæ, & alias Scaccarium Sancti Michaelis; ſed eadem virtute verborum in utriſq; Summonitionibus ſervata. Diſſimilis eſt debitorum exceptorum annotatio. In ſummonitione namq; contra terminum Paſchæ facta, quod tunc annus ille dicitur initiari, ſimpliciter dicetur de illo, habeas x; & de hac ſummonitione non niſi ſolvendo tunc vel ſatisfaciendo de x abſolvetur. Ac cum facienda eſt Summonitio de termino S^{ti} Michaelis in quo clauditur & terminatur idem annus, & fit annalis Rotulus, addetur prædictis x aliæ (d) x, vel plura, ſicut Præſidentibus (e) viſum fuerit, & dicetur; de illo habeas xx (f) qui tamen termino Paſchæ de hac ipſa ſumma x (g) ſolverat (h) ſed ſolvens x in denarijs nunc, & proferens taleam de x jamdudum (i) ſolutis, abſolvi merebitur a ſummonitione: dictum eſt enim in Summonitione, Hæc omnia (k) habeas in denarijs & brevibus & taleis. Noveris præterea, quod facta ſummonitione, ſi dum corrigitur inventus fuerit error, non debet ſubducta linea cancellari, ſed nec abradi, quia patens (l) ſcriptura eſt: imo potius, in quo erratum fuerit, debet penitus obliterari, ut quid ſcriptum fuerat (m) nulli pateat; cujus rei cauſa, ſi tecum ſuper hijs (n) actitaveris, facile tibi valet occurrere.

D. Cum ſicut commemoras patens (o) ſit illud ſcriptum, & ſic Vicecomiti deſtinetur, & per longa tempora penes ipſum ſuoſq; reſideat, ſoli fidei ejus ſummonitionis indemnitas (p) committitur (q). Poſſet enim, quod vellet impune delere mutare vel minuere (r), cum non extet (s) aliquod penes Barones ejus reſcriptum.

M. Poſſet fortaſſe, ſi vellet; ſed foret hoc (t) inſani capitis argumentum, ſi tantis ſe periculis ſponte (u) opponeret; præſertim cum non auferre ſic Regis debita poſſet, ſed vix differre (w). Omnia namque debita de quibus Summonitiones fiunt, alias diligenter annotata ſervantur; unde non poſſet quis a debito ſuo etiam procurante Vicecomite hac arte liberari. Verum ad majorem hujus rei cautelam vidimus a Pictavenſe Archidiacono nunc Wintonienſe Epiſcopo omnium Summonitionum reſcripta fieri, nec aliquatenus originales emitti, niſi factis & diligenter correctis earum reſcriptis. Cum autem ſedente Vicecomite ad compotum legeretur Summonitio (x) a clerico Cancellarij, inſpiciens Clericus Archidiaconi reſcriptum, obſervabat eum ne exorbitaret. Procedente vero tempore cum numerus debitorum creſceret in immenſum (y), adeo ut uni Summonitioni (z) unius membranæ longitudo ſufficeret, ſufficeret, ceſſum eſt multitudini & laborioſo operi, & ſola originali Summonitione, ſicut antiquitus contempti ſunt. Sic habes, ut credo, quantum brevitas permiſit, qualiter & ad quid ſummonitiones fiant. Nunc ex quibus fieri debeant libet intueri; licet ex præmiſſis hoc ipſum magna pro parte jam conſtet.

Ex quibus Summonitiones fiant.

Illuſtris Anglorum Rex Henricus hoc nomine participiantium Regum ſecundus dictus eſt, ſed nulli modernorum fuiſſe creditur in rebus componendis animi virtute ſecundus: ab ipſo enim (a) ſuæ dominationis exordio totum in hoc direxit animum, ut Paci rebellantes & diſcolos (b) multiplici ſubverſione conteret (c), & pacis ac fidei bonum in cordibus hominum modis omnibus conſignaret. Hujus igitur inſignia cum jam in omnes gentes celeberrima fama vulgaverit, adeo ut his exponendis inſiſtere ſupervacuum videatur: unum tamen eſt, quod cum ſilentio præterire non valeo, ex quo ſolo ſingularis ejus probitas & pietas inaudita firmatur. Non tamen hoc hominis fuit immo Dei miſerentis, Quod ſibi quod toti cum (d) paucis reſtitit orbi.

D. Qualiter ſibi reſiſtere dici poſſit opus inſigne, niſi planum feceris non video.

M. Licet hæc ad opus cœptum vel propoſitum non adpertineant (e), memor tamen Regis illius magnanimi, cum pace meæ mentis hijs ſuperſedere non valui. Videas ergo quam miraculoſe (f) vir ille ſibi reſticit, in ſuos filios quidem ſuæ carnis, immo & animæ ſuæ ſpem poſt Deum unicam & gloriam ſingularem; dum parvuli eſſent, & ratione ætatis cerei ſupra modum & in omnem animi motum proni, vulpeculæ pertinaces conſilijs pravis demolitæ ſunt, & tandem in patrem tanquam in hoſtem ſua viſcera converterunt; facti ſunt etiam inimici homines domeſtici ejus, & qui cuſtodiebant latus ejus, conſilium inierunt adverſus eum; dicentes filijs & hoſtibus perſequemini (g) contra eum, quia non eſt qui eripiat (h); diceres in hijs (i) verbum completum Prophetæ; filios enutrivi (k) & ecce ipſi ſpreverunt me (l). Cum igitur uxor in virum, filij in patrem ſuum, domeſtici ſine cauſa deſævirent (m) in dominum; nonne ſatis optime ſibi rebellantem virum diceres? Verum contra numeroſam hoſtium multitudinem ſolius Divinæ gratiæ magnitudo ſubvenit, & quaſi pugnante pro ſe Domino, ſic in brevi pene rebelles omnes obtinuit, ut longe fortius quam prius ex eo quo infirmari debuit confirmaretur in Regno.

Norunt enim per hoc potiſſimum (n) qui conſpiraverant (o) adverſus eum in omni virtute ſua clavam a manu Herculis niſi vix extorqueri non poſſe. Comprehenſis inſuper hoſtibus tam enormis ſeculi incentoribus inaudita (p) pepercit miſericordia; ut eorum pauci rerum ſuarum, nulli vero ſtatus ſui vel corporum diſpendia ſuſtinerent (q). Si legeres ultionem quam exercuit David in ſubverſores Abſolonis filij ſui, diceres hunc illo longe mitiorem extitiſſe (r): cum tamen de illo ſcriptum ſit; inveni virum ſecundum cor meum. Licet autem Rex (s) inſignis pluribus abundaret exemplis, & poſſet in eos (t) vel viliſſimam exercere vindictam; maluit tamen expugnatis parcere quam eos punire, ut ejus regnum creſcere videant vel inviti. Vivat igitur in longo tempore Rex ille glorioſus & fælix, & (u) pro inpenſa (w) gratia gratiam mereatur ab alto. Vivat & proles ejus ingenua, patri ſuo ſubjecta nec ei diſſimilis: & quia nati ſunt populis imperare, paterno ſimul & proprio diſcant exemplo, quam glorioſum ſit parcere ſubjectis & debellare rebelles. Nos autem ſuſcepta negotia proſequamur. Quod ſi de hijs & alijs ſtrenuis ejus actibus libet plenius inſtrui, libellum cujus ſupra meminimus, ſi placet, inſpicito. Igitur poſt naufragum Regni ſtatum pace reformata, ſtuduit iterum (x) Rex avita tempora renovare; & eligens diſcretos viros ſecuit Regnum in vj partes, ut eas electi Judices quos Errantes vocamus perluſtrarent, & jura deſtituta reſtituerent. Facientes ergo ſui copiam in ſingulis Comitatibus, & hijs qui ſe læſos putabant Juſtitiæ plenitudinem exhibentes, pauperum laboribus & ſumptibus pepercerunt. lem, quidam pecuniariam pœnam luant (z). Porro pecuniariæ delinquentium pœnæ in Rotulis Errantium diligenter annotantur; & conſedente Scaccario coram omnibus Theſauro traduntur. Caveant autem Judices, ut correctos & per ordinem depoſitos (a) Rotulos Theſaurario liberent; non enim fas erit (b) ipſis etiam Judicibus facta traditione iota unum mutare etiam in quod omnes Judices conſenſerint.

D. In hoc mirabile eſt, quod cum ſcriptorum ſuorum auctores ſint, & non niſi de ipſorum induſtria vel labore proveniat (c) etiam in unum aliquid conſentientes ſcriptum proprium mutare non poſſunt.

M. Cum indulta ſint correctionis tempora, & legem noverunt (d) conſtitutam (e), ſibi imputent; oblatorum enim ſumma vel ab ipſis debitoribus ſi in hanc condempnati ſunt, vel ab ipſis Judicibus requiretur. Ut ſi in Rotulo condempnatum aliquem in ſolutione xx deſcripſerint, & tradita jam cautione Theſaurario recordati fuerint, quod non teneatur ille niſi in x; ipſi Judices de reſiduo ſatisfacient; quia ſcriptum ſuum cum deliberatione factum & correctum, poſt traditionem revocare non poſſunt. Suſceptorum vero Rotulorum debita Theſaurarius in Magno annali Rotulo diligenter & diſtinate per ſingulos Comitatus annotari facit, ſimul cum cauſis; prænotatis, ut jam dictum eſt, nominibus Judicum; ut per hoc exactorum fiat diſcretio. Ex his (f) igitur ſummonitiones fiant ſic; De placitis illorum N de illo illud; ſecundum quod Præſidentes prius debita taxaverint. Habes ex prædictis, ut credimus, quantum neceſſe eſt, ex quibus & qualiter & ad quid ſummonitiones fiant: nunc ad agenda Vicecomitis tranſeamus. Decet autem te dicendis ſollicitam adhibere diligentiam, quia in hijs excellentior Scaccarij ſcientia conſiſtit, ſicut dictum eſt ab initio.

III. De agendis Vicecomitum multipliciter.

Omnes igitur Vicecomites & Ballivi, ad quos Summonitiones diriguntur, eadem neceſſitate legis conſtringuntur; hoc eſt, auctoritate Regij mandati; ut ſcilicet die nominato deſignatoque loco conveniant, & de debitis ſatisfaciant; quod ut manifeſtius fiat ipſius Summonitionis tenorem diligentius intuere; ait enim: Vide ſicut teipſum & omnia tua diligis, ut ſis ad Scaccarium ibi tunc; & habeas tecum quicquid debes de veteri firma & nova, & hæc debita ſubſcripta. Attende igitur, quia duo dicuntur, quæ duobus ſequentibus coaptantur: hoc enim, Vide ſicut teipſum diligis, refertur ad ſis ibi tunc; illud vero, & ſicut omnia tua diligis, referri videtur ad hoc, & habeas tecum (g) hæc debita ſubſcripta: ac ſi aperte dicatur; Abſentia tua, tu quicunq; ſuſcipis ſummonitionem, niſi neceſſarijs & lege definitis cauſis poſſit excuſari; in capitis tui periculum redundabit; videris enim ſic Regium ſpreviſſe mandatum, & in contemptum Regiæ majeſtatis irreverenter egiſſe. Si citatus ſuper Regis quibus addictus (h) es negotijs nec veneris, nec excuſatorem miſeris. Verum ſi per te (i) ſteterit, quo minus debita ſubſcripta ſolvantur, tunc de firma quam ſoluturus es, aliena debita de quibus ſummonitus es capientur: Firma vero de catallis & fundorum tuorum redditibus perficietur (k); te interim, ſi Barones decreverint, in loco tuto ſub libera cuſtodia collocato. Cum ergo præmiſſa fuerint (l) a Vicecomite ſuſcepta ſummonitio, ipſa die nominata veniat & oſtendat ſe Præſidenti, ſi adeſſe eum contigerit, vel Theſaurario, ſi Præſidens ille præſens non fuerit. Deinde ſalutatis Majoribus, ipſa die ſibi vacet, & in (m) craſtino & deinceps die qualibet ad Scaccarium rediturus. Quod ſi forte nec venerit nec juſtam præmiſerit excuſationem, prima die Regi condempnabitur in C ſolidis argenti de quolibet Comitatu, ſequenti vero (n) in x libris argenti, ſimiliter in C, tertia, ſicut ab his (o) accepimus, qui nos præceſſerunt, in beneplacito Regis erunt quæcunque mobilia poſſidet; quarto vero quia jam ex hoc contemptus Regiæ majeſtatis convincitur, non ſolum in rebus ſuis, ſed in propria perſona ſoli Regiæ miſericordiæ ſubjacebit. Sunt tamen qui credant ad omnem ſummam ſolam pœnam pecuniariam ſufficere; ut ſcilicet prima die in C ſolidis; ſecunda ſimiliter in C ſol. (p); & ita deinceps per ſingulos dies in ſingulis centenis puniantur abſentes. His ego non diſſentio; ſi tamen his cui delinquitur, & in (q) hoc ipſum conſenſerint (r); hunc autem pœnæ modum velle Regem admittere ſatis probabile eſt, cum ejus gratia ſingularis ad pœnam pigra ſit, & hæc ad præmia velox.

D. Imprudentis pariter & impudentis eſt auditoris currentem calamum ante proviſum dicendorum finem præoccupare; ideoque ſuſtinui volvens (s) in animo quod ex parte me turbat: dixiſti enim, ſi per Vicecomitem ſteterit quo minus debita ſubſcripta ſolvantur, tunc de firma quam ſoluturus eſt capientur. Si ergo Vicecomes per brevia Regis, vel in operationes vel alias univerſa diſtribuerit, quæ hic fuerat ſoluturus; quid fiet.

M. Cùm ex Regis mandato vel in Camera Curiæ, vel in operationibus, vel in quibuſlibet alijs, firmam Comitatus expenderit, ſi in debitis ſolvendis minus egiſſe deprehenditur (t), per fidem ſuam ubi Majores decreverint detinebitur, donec de hijs ſatisfaciat ſicut de firma ſatisfacturus fuerat.

D. Cum citatum Vicecomitem & non venientem vel excuſantem, tum rerum mobilium tum immobilium cum & (u) proprij (w) corporis gravis jactura ſequatur, niſi ſuam non voluntariam ſed neceſſariam abſentiam excuſaverit. Rogo te, ſi placet, ut quas (x) citatus prætendere poſſit abſentiæ ſuæ ſufficientes cauſas aperire non differas.

IV. Quibus de cauſis abſentia Vicecomitum ſervatur indempnis.

M. Plures ſunt excuſationum modi, quibus Vicecomitis abſentia ſervatur indemnis, ſic tamen ut occaſione vel excuſatione poſtpoſita die nominata per legitimos viros pecuniam Regis ante collectam præmittat; qui porrigentes Præſidenti literas excuſationis, & abſentiæ Domini ſui cauſas neceſſarias allegantes, etiam ſacramento corporaliter præſtito, ſi Præſidenti placuerit, eaſdem confirment. Quod ſi Vicecomes, vel alius ſerviens citatus, infirmitate detentus adeſſe non poterit; addat in literis excuſationis, quæ ad Scaccarium diriguntur: Et quia venire non poſſum; mitto vobis hos ſervientes meos N. & N, ut loco meo ſint, & quod ad me pertinet faciant, ratum habiturus quod ipſi fecerint.

Provideat autem qui excuſat, ut alter vel uterque miſſorum Miles ſit, vel laicus alius ratione ſanguinis vel aliter ſibi conjunctus, hoc eſt cujus fidei vel diſcretioni ſe & ſua committere non diffidat: ſolos enim Clericos ad hoc ſuſcipi non oportet; quia ſi ſecus egerint, non decet eos pro pecunia vel ratiocinijs comprehendi. Si vero citatum Vicecomitem abeſſe contigerit, non infirmitate quidem ſed qualibet alia cauſa præpeditum, ſic forſitan a pœna conſtituta poterit liberari: Verum ad explendum compotum ſuum nullus pro eo ſuſcipietur, niſi primogenitus filius; nec generalis ejus procurator, etiamſi breve ſuum direxerit, ſe ratum habiturum, quod ille vel ille pro ſe fecerit; ſolius vero mandati Regij vel etiam Præſidentis auctoritate, ſi Rex abſens fuerit, ad compotum ſuum explendum alium (y) poterit ſubſtituere: ſi tamen aliud a Domino Rege negotium ſibi gerat aſſignatum ipſe ad Scaccarium (z) in propria perſona præſentem nominet, qui juxta quod ſupra dictum eſt, poſſit & debeat Vicecomitis abſentis negotia procurare. Illud autem Breve Regis vel Præſidentis, vel Vicecomitis excuſantis in forulo Mareſcalli, cujus ſupra meminimus, in teſtimonium hujus rei reſervabitur. Quod ſi Vicecomes alias Regi neceſſarius ab ipſo vocatus fuerit extra regnum, vel accepta licentia pro familiaribus negotijs exire diſpoſuerit, prius Præſidentem adeat (a), & viva voce vices ſuas ad Scaccarium deleget cui voluerit viro legitimo; quo facto, cum abſens fuerit, nec breve mittere, nec abſentiam ſuam excuſare cogetur. Excuſante vero ſe Vicecomite cauſa infirmitatis, cum neceſſe (b) fuerit ad ſcribendum ejus compotum in Annali Rotulo, dicetur, Willelmus Vicecomes de Lundonijs, Robertus filius ejus pro eo, reddit compotum de firma de Lundonijs (c). At ſi per Regis mandatum alius ſibi ſubſtitultur, vel ipſe viva voce, ſicut prædictum eſt, aliquem pro ſe deſignaverit Præſidenti, ſic per omnia dicendum eſt ac ſi ipſe in propria perſona ad compotum reſideret.

D. Nunquid infirmitas ſola ſufficiens eſt excuſatio, per quam citatus abſens ſervetur indempnis?

M. Abſit: ſunt enim plures ad Scaccarium; ſed hæc tam in litibus quam in alijs negotijs Eccleſiaſticis & Forenſibus eſt uſitatior. Porro decet te memorem eſſe prædictorum, ut intelligas (d) nullam excuſationem hoc efficere, ut Regis pecunia de Comitatu collecta penes eum detineatur impune, vel ad Scaccarium die nominata non mittatur. Præmiſſa ergo pecunia, poterit excuſari per infirmitatem, ſicut dictum eſt. Item ſi filius ejus primogenitus, quem declaravit hæredem poſt ſe futurum,

D. Ex hoc etiam cerno verum eſſe quod dicitur,

An neſcis longas Regibus eſſe manus?

Sed jam nunc, ſi placet, ad agenda Vicecomitis manum mittere non differas; ad hæc (n) enim, te monente, totam attentionis (o) induſtriam jam collegi; ſciens ex his (p) excellentem Scaccarij ſcientiam, ſicut prædictum eſt, debere requiri.

M. Gratulor te memorem præmiſſorum; unde fateor languenti pene calamo te ſtimulos addidiſſe. Noveris autem quod Vicecomes, niſi facto prius examine debitiſque de quibus ſummonitus eſt ſolutis, reſidere non debet ad compotum: cum autem acceſſerit & jam reſederit, alij Vicecomites excludantur; & reſideat ſolus cum ſuis, ad interrogata reſponſurus. Provideat autem ut ipſa die vel præcedente, debitoribus ſui Comitatus innotuerit qua die ſit ad compotum ſeſſurus; vel etiam circa domum Scaccarij vel vicum vel villam voce præconia ipſis denunciet ſe tunc vel tunc ſeſſurum. Tunc ſedentibus & audientibus omnibus, Theſaurarius, qui ſicut (q) dictum eſt, ratione officij ſui ſibi videtur adverſari, quærat, ſi paratus eſt reddere compotum; quo reſpondente præſto ſum, inferat Theſaurarius, Dic igitur imprimis ſi Elemoſinæ, ſi decimæ, ſi liberationes conſtitutæ, ſi Terræ datæ ſic ſe habent hoc anno ſicut in præterito. Cum ergo Rex fundum aliquem alicui contulerit ſimul cum Hundredo vel placitis (y) quæ ex hoc proveniunt, dicunt fundum illum illi Bl. collatum : ac (z) cum retento ſibi Hundredo per quod firma dealbari dicitur, ſimpliciter fundum dederit, non determinans cum Hundredo vel Bl., numero datus dicitur. Oportet autem ut de fundo collato Breve Regis, vel cartam ejus in termino S^{ti} Michaelis cui collatus eſt ad Scaccarium deferat (a) ut Vicecomiti computetur ; alioquin in Magno Annali Rotulo non ſcribetur, nec Vicecomiti computabitur ; ſcribetur autem ſic : Poſt Elemoſinas & decimas & liberationes utriuſque generis conſtitutas, in capite lineæ, In terris datis illi N. xx l Bl. ibi, & illi N. xx l numero ibi. Adverte etiam, quod ſi forte inter Terras datas inveneris, illi vel illi x l Bl. vel numero ibi de præſtito Regis ; cum is qui commodati vel præſtiti beneficio gaviſus eſt fati debita ſolverit, niſi per gratiam Regis non uxori non liberis non alicui nomine ejus propter præſtitum reclamandi locus relinquitur ; ſimiliter ſi dictum fuerit, illi X quamdiu Regi placuerit.

VI. Quæ ſint conſtituta Vicecomiti computanda, Elemoſinæ ſcilicet & decimæ liberationes utriuſque generis & terræ datæ.

D. Quid eſt, quod dixiſti liberationes utriuſque generis?

M. Liberationum quædam ſunt indigentium ; cum ex ſolo charitatis intuitu ad victum & veſtitum alicui a Rege denarius diurnus vel duo vel plures conſtituuntur. Quædam vero ſunt ſervientium, ut has pro ſtipendijs ſuſcipiant ; quales ſunt (b) cuſtodes domorum æditui Regij Tibicines luporum comprehenſores (bb) & hujuſmodi. Heæ ſunt igitur diverſi generis liberationes quæ diverſis ex cauſis ſolvuntur, inter conſtituta tamen computantur. Et nota quod licet liberum ſit Regi quibuſlibet indigentibus has liberationes conferre ; ex antiqua tamen inſtitutione ſolent his aſſignari, qui in Curia miniſtrantes, cum redditus non habeant, in corporum ſuorum invaletudinem decidant, & laboribus inutiles fiunt. His omnibus per ordinem annotatis, quærit Theſaurarius a Vicecomite, ſi quid expenderit de firma Comitatus per Brevia Regis præter conſtituta ; tunc ſeriatim miſſa ſibi Regis Brevia tradit clerico Cancellarij, qui lecta in publicum eadem liberat Theſaurario, ut ipſe ſecundum formam in brevibus conceptam in ſcripturam Rotuli ſui opportuna verba miniſtret. Ipſe namque ſicut dictum eſt præſcribit, & alij conſcribentes ab eodem accipiunt ; hoc facto oſtendit Vicecomes ſi quid expenderit, non per brevia ſed per conſtitutam Scaccarij legem ſibi computandum ; qualia ſunt liberationes probatorum Regis, & item ea quæ mittuntur in Juſticijs & Judicijs explendis.

VII. Qua ſint per ſolam conſuetudinem Scaccarij computanda, hoc eſt ſine brevi.

Adverte autem, Juſticias hic uſualiter nuncupari prolati in aliquos viros juris (c) executiones : Judicia vero, leges Candentis ferri vel aquæ. Liberationes igitur probatorum hac ratione fiunt. Propter innumeras regni hujus divitias, & item propter innatam Indigenis crapulam, quam ſemper comes libido ſequitur, contingit in ipſo frequenter (d) furta fieri manifeſta vel occulta, nec non & homicidia & diverſorum generum ſcelera, addentibus ſtimulos mœchis, ut nichil (e) non audeant vel non attentent (f) qui ſuis ſe conſilijs ſubjecerunt. Cum autem a Regijs miniſtris regni pacem excubantibus, reus horum famoſus aliquis conprehenditur (g), propter numeroſam ſceleratorum multitudinem, ut vel ſic (h) perverſis terra purgetur, conſentiunt & in (i) hoc interdum Judices, quod ſi quis hujuſmodi de ſe crimen confitens, ſceleris ejuſdem conſortes provocare voluerit, & objectum alij vel alijs crimen commiſſo duello (k) probare valuerit, mortem, quam meruit effugiat, & cum impunitate ſui corporis, exiens tamen totius Regni fines demereatur (l) & abjuret ingreſſum.

ſum. Quidam autem conventione cum Judicibus prius facta, licet objecta probaverint, non tamen immunes abſcedunt, ſed effugientes ſuſpendium vel aliud turpe genus mortis quam de ſe confeſſi meruerint, mutilatione tamen membrorum puniti miſerabile ſpectaculum fiunt in populo, & temerarios auſus conſimilium terribilibus compeſcunt exemplis. Quod (m) igitur objecto & probato ejuſdem criminis (n) reatu vitam ſibi ſalvare poteſt, & item quia ad Regis utilitatem proculdubio ſit quicquid ad regni pacem videtur accedere, Regis Probator dicitur. A die vero qua ad probationem ſuſcipitur, uſque ad expletum promiſſum, vel uſque quo defecerit, ad victualia de fiſco percipit quaque die denarium unum, qui Vicecomiti per ſolam conſuetudinem Scaccarij computatur. Quod ſi probator ille juſſus (o) fuerit ad alia loca transferri, ut convenientibus illic Judicibus opportunius promiſſum expleat, vel forte deficiens ſcelerum ſuorum pœnam condignam excipiat, ſolum id quod in vehiculis illuc conducendis, & Victualibus illi miniſtrandis (p) invenit, Vicecomiti computabitur per conſuetudinem; cætera vero non niſi per breve Regis. Sunt præterea in quibuſdam Comitatibus plures, qui ratione fundorum ſuorum in condempnatos ultrices manus mittunt; ut alios ſuſpendio, alios membrorum detruncatione, vel alijs modis juxta quantitatem perpetrati ſceleris puniant. Sunt & quidam Comitatus, in quibus ſic condempnandi, non niſi numerata de fiſco pecunia, puniuntur. Quicquid igitur ad hæc Judicia vel Juſtitias effectui mancipandas deteſtabilis avaritiæ hominibus, qui hæc pro ſanguinis effuſione ſuſcipiunt, a Vicecomite numeratur, per conſuetudinem Scaccarij ſibi computatur; hoc eſt, non per Breve Regis. Eſt & aliud quod per conſuetudinem ſolum Vicecomiti debeat computari: cum Regis theſaurus de loco in locum Majorum conſideratione deferendus, vehiculis & hujuſmodi minoribus indiguerit: præcipiente (q) Theſaurario vel Camerarijs, vel ſervientibus eorum ad hæc (r) miſſis, Vicecomes de firma ſua quod oportuerit invenit, & hoc ipſum Vicecomiti ſine brevi computatur; perhibente tamen ſuper hoc teſtimonium coram Majoribus ipſo Theſaurario vel quolibet prædictorum qui hæc fieri mandaverit; & tunc dicetur in Rotulo, In hijs vel illis neceſſarijs Theſauri, hoc vel illud, per hunc vel illum. Item ſi piſcis Regius, Rumbus vel Cetus vel alius hujuſmodi comprehenditur, quod in his ſaliendis & alijs neceſſarijs miniſtrandis a Vicecomite mittitur, ſine Brevi computatur. Item quod in excolendis Dominicis vineis Regis, & hijs vindemiandis, vel vaſis & alijs neceſſarijs miniſtrandis expenditur, ſine brevi per fidem Vicecomitis computatur; de qua fide ſi ſemel aut ſæpius, qualiter fiat, infra dicetur. Hæc ſunt igitur quæ ad præſens nobis occurrunt, Vicecomiti, per ſolam conſuetudinem computanda. Nunc de cæteris quæ ad compotum de Corpore Comitatus pertinent proſequamur.

VIII. Quo ordine computanda ſunt Vicecomiti quæ in operibus miſſa ſunt per breve Regis numero non determinans.

Cum igitur ventum fuerit ad compotum Vicecomitis, veniunt ſimul qui electi ſunt Cuſtodes operum, & fide in publica ab ipſis præſtita, quod ſecundum conſcientiam ſuam ad Regis utilitatem in ipſo opere nominata ſumma pervenerit (t), fiat inde breve Regis ad Scaccarium ſub teſtimonio Præſidentis & (u) alterius quem præceperit, in quo (w) ſumma illa de qua teſtati ſunt, & item nomina Cuſtodum exprimantur; & tunc demum Vicecomiti (x) computabitur. Quod ſi per hæc miſſa (y) conſummatum Regis opus fuerit, primum illud breve de neceſſarijs miniſtrandis quod Vicecomiti directum eſt, & hoc ultimum quod ad Scaccarium fit, in forulo Mareſcalli de compotis factis recluduntur. Si quid autem reſtat de ipſo opere faciendum, Vicecomes quod ſibi directum eſt Breve uſque ad idem opus completum penes ſe reſervabit; ut hinc ſit ei auctoritas operi perficiendo neceſſaria miniſtrare; reliquum vero in forulo de quo dictum eſt recludetur. & nomina cuſtodum continens, falſa videri poſſet ſcriptura Rotuli dicentis per Breve Regis.

D. In hoc verbo ſic mihi (a) ſatisfactum eſt, ut hijs ad quæ requirenda jam ora laxaveram, ſponte ſuperſedeam. Cum enim Vicecomiti delatum ſit Breve Regis de neceſſarijs ad hoc vel illud opus inveniendis, & ſit adjectum; & computabitur tibi ad Scaccarium; vel hoc, Inveni de firma tua; quod ejuſdem pene eſt auctoritatis, ſuperfluum videbatur, ut ſuper alio Brevi ſollicitus eſſet; nec enim intelligebam, quod in ipſo brevi numerus eſſet exprimendus, ut ſic eodem verborum tenore auctentico (b) reſpondeat Annali.

IX. Quod non abſolvitur quis a debito per breve Regis numerum non exprimens, etiamſi cauſam determinet.

M. Intellige (c) ſimiliter quod in Scaccarij negotijs ſecus eſt quam in alijs: dicitur enim in pleriſque, quod expreſſa nocent, non expreſſa non nocent (d): verum hic expreſſa juvant & non expreſſa fatigant: verbi gratia; ſi tenetur quis Regi in centum; & breve ejus deferat ad Scaccarium, ut quietus ſit de debito quod ei debet, addat etiam toto, & cauſam ſimul exprimat ſet (e) non numerum; non propter hoc abſolvetur, ſed magis per hoc (f) dilationem uſque ad aliam ſummonitionem promerebitur. Oporteret enim ſcribi in Rotulo, In perdonis per breve Regis illi N, C; ſed quia non videtur omnino dimiſſum quod (g) nondum eſt in brevi expreſſum, cogetur is multo labore quærere per quod mereatur abſolvi: ergo in hijs non expreſſa fatigant.

D. Salva ſit reverentia Præſidentis & aſſidentium, hic non videtur per omnia Regis mandato ſatisfactum; nec enim quietus eſt quem quietum eſſe mandavit, addens etiam cauſam pro qua ſibi tenebatur.

M. Immo ſalva ſit in hijs Scrupuloſæ mentis tuæ ſubtilitas. Noſſe quidem debueras, quod ei qui lege plurimum indiget, ejus ignorantia non ſubvenit. Is ergo qui Regi tenetur qualiter ab hoc abſolvi plene poſſit, hoc eſt ſecundum legem de hijs (h) conſtitutam diligenter inquirat; quod ſi non fecerit, non Præſidenti ſed ſibi imputet; nec enim licet Præſidenti ab eo quod detulit in Brevi iota mutare: cum ergo per hoc quietus non ſit, feſtinet quod expedit impetrare.

D. Cerno quod hæc maxime propter hoc obſervantur, ut Scripturæ Rotuli non obloquantur. Sed jam nunc proſequere de cæteris.

M. Cum igitur omnia fuerint annotata, quæ vel conſtituta ſunt, vel per brevia Regis, vel per conſuetudinem Scaccarij computanda, ſic compotus velut infectus relinquitur, & ad alia convertuntur; nec enim & quietus eſt vel & debet in Annali ſcribetur, per quæ ſcilicet compotus conſummatus dicitur, donec de omnibus quæ in Summonitione continentur ſatisfecerit; cujus rei cauſa ſatis ex conſequentibus liquere poterit; poſt compotum de Corpore Comitatus hoc eſt de principali firma, qui ſicut prædictum eſt uſque in finem infectus relinquitur; poſt modum interſtitium ponitur compotus de Veteri firma Comitatus, hoc eſt quæ caſu aliquo de anno præterito remanſerat; ita tamen ſi Vicecomes qui tunc miniſtravit mutatus fuerit; quod ſi idem perſeverat etiam hoc anno (i), de veteri firma ante inchoatum compotum de nova ſatisfaciet; & diligenter & diſtincte ſcribetur de veteri in principio, & conſequenter de nova. Ad hæc noveris mutatum Vicecomitem de firma veteri ſummonendum, ſicut quemlibet aliorum debitorum; non de parte ejus ſed de univerſo; quia firma eſt cujus ſolutio differri non debet; ſed debitum firmæ veteris, quo tenetur is qui ad huc miniſtrat, ſufficit ſub hoc prætextu verborum ſummonuiſſe, Quicquid debes de veteri firma & nova. De quo ſatis ſupra dictum eſt in titulo de Summonitionibus.

X. De excidentibus & occupatis quæ uſitatius dicimus de Purpreſturis & Eſcaetis.

Poſt hæc autem, facto intervallo quaſi ſex linearum, ſequitur compotus de excidentibus & occupatis quæ (k) nos uſitatius dicimus de purpreſturis & eſcaetis. In medio quidem lineæ ſit prænotatio literis capitalibus, De Purpreſturis & Eſcaetis; in capite vero inferioris ſic ſcribitur; Idem Vicecomes reddit compotum de firma Purpreſturarum & Eſcaetarum, ſcilicet de x l de hoc & de xx l de illo, & ita deinceps, ſicut ex Rotulo perluſtrantium Judicum ante conceptum eſt in annali ſumma C l.

D. Quæ ſint hæc excidentia, vel occupata, & qua ratione fiſco proveniunt, niſi plenius aperueris, non video.

M. Fit interdum per negligentiam Vicecomitis vel ejus miniſtrorum, vel etiam per continuatam in longa tempora bellicam tempeſtatem, ut habitantes prope fundos qui Coronæ annominantur, aliquam (l) eorum portionem ſibi uſurpent & ſuis poſſeſſionibus aſcribant. Cum autem perluſtrantes Judices per ſacramentum legitimorum virorum hæc deprehenderint, ſeorſum a firma Comitatus appreciantur (m) & Vicecomitibus traduntur ut de eiſdem ſeorſum reſpondeant; & hæc dicimus purpreſturas vel occupata; quæ quidem cum deprehenduntur, a poſſeſſoribus ſicut prædictum eſt tolluntur & ab hinc fiſco cedunt. Verum ſi is a quo tollitur occupatum auctor eſt facti, ſimul etiam niſi Rex ei pepercit pecuniariter graviſſime punietur; quod ſi non auctor ſed hæres auctoris fuerit, ad pœnam ſufficit fundi ejuſdem ſola revocatio. Ex quo ſane, ſicut ex alijs pluribus, Regis miſericordia comprobatur; dum patris tam enormis exceſſus non punitur in filio, qui uſque ad factam inquiſitionem publicæ poteſtatis jactura ditabatur. Porro Eſcaetæ vulgo dicuntur (mm) quæ decedentibus his (n) qui de Rege tenent in Capite, cum non extet ratione ſanguinis hæres, ad fiſcum relabuntur. De his autem ſimul cum purpreſturis (o) compoti fiunt ſub una ſcripturæ ſerie (p); ſic tamen ut ſingulorum nomina per ordinem exprimantur. At cum paterfamilias Miles vel ſerviens de Rege tenens in Capite fati debita ſolverit, relictis tamen liberis, quorum primogenitus minor eſt annis, redditus quidem ejus ad fiſcum redeant; ſed hujuſmodi non ſimpliciter Eſcaeta dicitur, ſed Eſcaeta cum hærede; unde nec hæres ab (q) hæreditate, nec ab ipſo hæreditas tollitur; ſet (r) ſimul cum hæreditate ſub Regis cuſtodia conſtitutus tempore pupillaris ætatis de ipſa hæreditate per Regis officiales, tam ipſe quam cæteri liberi neceſſaria percipiunt. Cætera vero quæ de ipſa proveniunt, Regijs uſibus cedunt. De his autem ſeorſum compoti fiunt; quia non perpetuo, ſed quodam temporali jure fiſco debentur. Cum enim hæres nunc minor legitimæ ætatis adeptus beneficia, ſibi (s) ſuiſque diſponere noverit, quod jure ſibi paterno debetur, a Regia munificentia ſuſcipiet, quidam gratis per ſolam ſcilicet gratiam Principis, quidam promiſſa ſumma aliqua; de qua cum compotus fiet, dicetur in Annali; Ille vel ille reddit compotum de C l de Relevio terræ patris ſui; in Theſauro hoc, & debet hoc: de hoc autem ultra in Annali compotus non fiet; cum ad fiſcum poſt hoc (t) non redeat. Verum dum in manu Regis eſt, de hoc ſic ſcribetur in Annali; Ille Vicecomes reddit compotum de firma illius Honoris, ſi Baronia (u) eſt; In Theſauro hoc; & in procuratione liberorum illius hoc, per Breve Regis; quod ibi ad Scaccarium per conſuetudinem fiet; & debet hoc, vel & quietus eſt. Quod ſi minor eſt poſſeſſio hæc, ut ſit fundus unus vel duo vel tres, ſic dicetur; Ille Vicecomes vel ille N cui forte Rex ejuſdem rei cuſtodiam deputavit reddit compotum de firma terræ illius N. quæ fuit illius N, quam rex habet in manu ſua, vel quæ eſt in manu Regis cum hærede; In Theſauro hoc; & debet hoc; vel & quietus eſt. Attende præterea, quod Honor ille vel fundus dum in manu Regis cum hærede fuerit, omnes Elemoſinæ & liberationes indigentium a prioribus Dominis ſolo charitatis intuitu conſtitutæ, his quibus debentur cum integritate ſolvuntur, & (w) ad Scaccarium Cuſtodi computantur: liberationes vero Servientum, qui Dominis ſuis ad explenda quælibet obſequia neceſſarij niſi ſint, & ob hoc conſtituuntur, dum Rex poſſidet, voluntariam habent ſolutionem. Cum autem in manu hæredis devoluta fuerit hæreditas, oportet eum patris inhærere veſtigijs; ut ſcilicet quoad uſque vixerint hij quibus hæc a patre ſuo conſtituta ſunt vita comite percipienda illis ſatisfaciat, & poſt hæc (x) ſi voluerit, eorum utatur vel non utatur (y) obſequijs.

quidam gratis quidam promiſſa pecunia, quod ſibi debetur a Rege ſuſcipit. Quod autem ſic ſolvitur, Relevium dicis. Dic ergo ſi cujuſlibet fundi qui de Rege eſt in Capite, Relevium ſub conſimili ſumma debeat exigi ; vel ſi ſub diſſimili, quare ſic ?

M. In propriam te videor armaſſe perniciem. Ex prædictis enim alia conjiciens armatis me vexas quæſtionibus. Noveris autem quod Releviorum quæ Regi debentur, ſecundum diſſimiles poſſidentium ſtatus diſſimilis ſumma conſurgit : quidam enim de Rege tenent in Capite quæ ad Coronam pertinent ; Baronias ſcilicet majores ſeu minores ; ſi ergo pater poſſeſſor hujuſmodi mortuus fuerit, relicto hærede, qui jam adultus ſit, non ſecundum conſtitutam de his ſummam Regi ſatisfaciet, ſed ſecundum quod a Rege poterit obtinere. Quod ſi minor ætate fuerit hæres, in cuſtodia conſtitutus legitimam ætatem præſtolabitur ; tunc autem vel gratis ſicut dictum eſt vel ſecundum beneplacitum Regis ſicut adultus hæreditatem paternam nanciſcetur : Si vero deceſſerit quis tenens tunc de Rege feodum Militis, non quidem ratione Coronæ Regiæ, ſed potius ratione Baroniæ cujuſlibet quæ quovis caſu in Manum Regis delapſa eſt (z) ; ſicut eſt Epiſcopatus vacante ſede ; hæres jam defuncti ſi adultus eſt pro feodo Militis C. ſol. numerabit, pro duobus x l, & ita deinceps juxta numerum Militum quos Domino debuerat antequam ad fiſcum devoluta foret (a) hæreditas. Quod ſi minor annis hæres relictus fuerit, quæ de hæreditate ejus perveniunt ratione Cuſtodiæ tempore pupillaris ætatis fiſco provenient ſicut dictum eſt : relictus (b) a patre jam adultus pro ſingulis feodis militum C ſolvet, vel etiam infra, hoc eſt L ſol. ſi (c) dimidium Militis feodum poſſederit, & ſic deinceps. Nec te lateat quod ejus quem in cuſtodia per aliquot annos habueris & poſſeſſionis ejus fructum, cum ad ætatem legitimam pervenerit Relevium repetere non valebis.

D. In hac parte pro pupillis lex judicat, quod pijs mentibus bene ſedet decernit.

M. Sic eſt ; ſed de propoſitis proſequamur. Item eſt & tertium (d) genus Excidentium vel Eſcaetarum, quod fiſco provenit jure perpetuo. Cum aliquis de Rege tenens in Capite perpetrati ſceleris ſibi conſcius ſive ſit ei objectum ſive non (e) relictis tamen omnibus per fugam vitæ conſuluit : vel ſi ſuper eodem objecto convictus vel confeſſus, terra ſimul & vita judicatur indignus ; omnia quæ ſui juris fuerant mox infiſcantur, & redditus omnes annuo immo & perpetuo jure ad Scaccarium a Vicecomite perſolvuntur, & quod ex mobilibus eorum venditis provenit Regi cedit (f). Similiter ſi cujuſcunque conditionis vir vel cujuſcunque (g) Domini ſervus aut liber, metu arctioris Aſſiſæ quam Rex propter ſceleratos conſtituit, a ſede ſua fugerit, & per conſtitutos ac lege definitos terminos (b) juri ſe non obtulerit vel excuſaverit, vel etiam ſi acclamante in ipſum vicinia ſuſpectus & poſtmodum comprehenſus, per legem Aſſiſæ conſtitutam reus ſceleris convictus fuerit ; omnia ejus mobilia fiſco cedunt, immobilia vero Dominis ſuis. D. Ex præmiſſis, quæ de Fœneratoribus dicta ſunt quæſtio gravis animum pulſat, quam vellem, ſi placet, plenius expediri; dixiſti enim, cum quis Laicum fundum habens, vel etiam civis publicis inſervit uſuris &c; ex quibus verbis perſonarum quædam diſtinctio (o) inter ſic delinquentes fieri poſſe videtur; & alia ſit Clericorum, alia Laicorum conditio, cum pares ſint in delicto. Item ex eo quod additur, publicis (p) inſervit uſuris, credi poteſt eſſe quaſdam non publicas (q), quibus ſi quis adhæſerit, an legi publicarum ſubjaceat prorſus ignoro.

D. Fruſtra credidi brevibus & communibus tibi ſatisfaciendum; cum ex hujuſmodi quæſtionem elicias cujus abſolutio peritorum quoſdam huc uſque latuit. Verum quod dicis, ex verbis tuis, Clericorum & Laicorum ſic delinquentium videtur eſſe diſpar (r) conditio, cum pares ſint in delicto, non approbro (s): ſicut enim in (t) gradibus ſic & in culpis diſſident; juxta verbum illud; quanto gradus altior, tanto caſus gravior; in bonis etiam & meritorijs operibus ut quibuſdam viſum eſt diſpares ſunt: Laici enim, qui voti neceſſitati minus tenentur, ampliorem gratiam promereri videntur; ſicut in perverſis actibus, hij qui voto religionis inſerviunt, gravius offendunt. Sed de his actenus. Habes autem ex præcedentibus unde tuæ quæſtionis pars prima valeat abſolvi. Ex eo enim quod Clericus uſuris inſerviens dignitatis ſuæ privilegium demeretur, parem Laico ſic delinquenti pœnam ſibi mereatur, ut ipſo videlicet de medio ſublato omnia ejus mobilia fiſco debeantur. Cæterum ſic a prudentibus accepimus. In (u) ſic delinquentem Clericum vel Laicum Chriſtianum Regia poteſtas actionem non habet, dum vita comes fuerit: ſupereſt enim pœnitentiæ tempus; ſed magis Eccleſiaſtico judicio reſervatur, pro ſui ſtatus qualitate condempnandus: cum autem fati munus expleverit, ſua omnia, Eccleſia non reclamante, Regi cedunt: niſi, ſicut dictum eſt, vita comite digne pœnituerit, & teſtamento condito quæ legare decreverit, a ſe prorſus alienaverit. Reſtat itaque, ut quas puplicas (w) dicamus uſuras & quas non publicas (x) expediamus; deinde ſi pari lege teneantur, qui in utriſque delinquunt. Puplicas (y) igitur & (z) uſitatas uſuras dicimus, quando more Judæorum in eadem ſpecie ex conventione quis amplius percepturus eſt quam commodavit; ſicut libram pro marca, vel pro libra argenti duos denarios in ſeptimana de lucro præter ſortem: non (a) puplicas autem ſed tamen damnabiles, cum quis fundum aliquem vel Eccleſiam pro commodato ſuſcipit, & manente ſortis integritate, fructus ejus, donec ſors ipſa ſoluta fuerit, ſibi percipit. Hoc genus propter laborem & ſumptum qui in agriculturis ſolent impendi, licentius viſum eſt; ſed proculdubio Sordidum eſt & inter uſuras computandum merito (b). Quod ſi creditor avarus & in ruinam animæ ſuæ pronus in ſcripto ſic exprimi dignum duxerit, ut dicatur; Notum ſit omnibus, quod ego N debeo N centum marcas argenti; & pro his centum marcis invadiavi ei terram illam pro x l; quouſque ego vel hæres meus ſolvam ipſi vel hæredi ſuo prædictas centum marcas. Cum poſt mortem creditoris ad Regis vel Principalis Juſticiarij notitiam hujus famoſæ cartæ tenor pervenerit: imprimis fœdus fœnoris quæſtus condemnabitur, & creditor ſcripto ſuo deprehenſus fœnerator, mobilibus ſuis indignus judicabitur (c). Quod ſi is cujus fundus eſt a Rege quomodolibet obtinuerit, ut ſic diſtractus ſibi reſtituatur, in ſorte (d) tota Domino Regi tenebitur, etiamſi creditor per biennium vel amplius poſſederit, Regis tamen munificentia de ſumma ſortis illius taxare conſuevit, maxime propter (e) ſingularis gratiæ munus, in quo fidelibus ſuis debito prælationis tenetur, & tunc (f) quia creditoris ſed fœneratoris qui ſui fidelis (g) enormi jactura ditatus fuerat, ratione publicæ poteſtatis bona omnia percepturus eſt. Sunt & pleraque alia quæ ſingulariter ad fiſcum pertinent, quæ non facile ſub una Scripturæ ſerie redigi poſſunt; quia non conſtituta ſed caſualia ſunt. De hijs (h) tamen excidentibus hujus tertij generis, non ſupra poſt firmas, ſed infra poſt omnia placita compoti fiant ante catalla fugitivorum; ut ipſa quoque locorum poſitione videantur pro enormibus culpis delinquentium ad fiſcum pertinentia.

etiam quibuſcunque modis diſtrahere, ſicut ſupra dictum eſt; & non tantum Catallorum ſed & corporum merito Domini reputentur (k); mirandum eſt cum Dominus rerum & hominis rei nil delinquat in legem, quare poſſeſſione ſua privetur: videri enim juſtum poſſet, ut Regis conſtitutio in perſonam delinquentis puniret exceſſum, mobilia vero cum ipſis fundis in uſus Dominorum cederent.

M. Movet te quod me movet; verum in his longam fieri moram ſuperfluum credo, cum ab inceptis negotijs aliena ſint. Ut tibi ſatisfiat; propter ſolam Regis Aſſiſam ſic eſſe cognoſcas; nec enim eſt qui Regiæ conſtitutioni, quæ pro bono pacis fit, obviare præſumat. Quod ſi Dominis Catalla ſuorum per Aſſiſam condempnatorum provenirent, forte quia cupiditatis humanæ fervida ſitis in medio poſita eſt, propter modicum quæſtum quidam in necem ſuorum etiam innocentium graſſarentur: ea propter Rex ipſe, cui generalis eſt & a Deo credita cura ſubditorum hoc ita decrevit ut ſic rei legi ſatisfacientes corpore puniantur, & retentis ſibi ipſi mobilibus, domeſticis hoſtibus hoc eſt Dominis ſuis non exponantur (l): verum ſicut jam diximus, ſola Regis inſtitutio urgente neceſſitate pro bono pacis facta, hujus quæſtionis principalis ſolutio eſt.

D. Video quod non ſine cauſa fit. Nunc, ſi placet, proſequere. Verum reſtat in præcedentibus quiddam, quod vellem altius (m) ſi placet, expediri. Dixiſti enim, quod fugitivorum & mutilatorum per Aſſiſam mobilia ſummonita ad Scaccarium deferuntur, & in Annali ſuo loco ſcribuntur: Quid autem de prædonum vel furum Catallis fieri debet non dixiſti; ſi ſcilicet ad Regem pertineant, vel cui de jure cedere debeant.

M. Prædonum, qui & fures manifeſti dicuntur, & latenter furantium conditio (n) diſſimilis eſt; Porro tam horum quam illorum duo ſunt genera, ex quorum ſingulis Catalla diverſis diverſo modo proveniunt. Prædonum quidem ſicut & (o) furum quidam exleges ſunt, quos uſitatius Utlagatos (p) dicimus, quidam non: Utlagati (q) vero vel exleges fiunt (r) quando legitime citati non comparent, & per legitimos & conſtitutos terminos expectantur & etiam requiruntur, nec juri ſe offerunt. Horum itaque catalla ſicut & vita in manibus comprehendentium ipſos eſſe noſcuntur, nec ad Regem pertinere qualibet ratione poſſunt: Prædonum autem bona qui nondum in hanc miſeriæ ſummam delapſi ſunt, ſi comprehendantur ad fiſcum proveniunt: furum autem ad Vicecomitem ſub quo deprehenſi & puniti ſunt. Quod ſi Vicecomes furis cauſam ad Curiam (s) deduci dignam duxerit, ut ibi judicetur (t), nihil ipſis ſed totum Regi debetur, quod fur ille poſſedit (u). Si vero furem proprium quis inſecutus fuerit, & in Curia prima Domini Regis, vel etiam in Comitatu ipſum comprehenderit (w), & reum furti adjudicata lege probaverit; de catallis furis ſi ad id ſuffecerit ablata vero (x) primum læſo reſtituantur (y), præſidente ſi placet Domini Regis Juſticiario de ſumma ablatorum fide ejus qui petit vel Sacramento: poſt modum autem ex provida ſtudioſorum pacis inſtitutione, idem de bonis furis tantundem accepturus & (z) in laboris & ſumptus ſui ſolacium, quantum prius dolo furis amiſerat. Hæc autem duplex & prudenter procurata ſolutio ab antiquis Solta (zz) & Perſolta vel Proſolta non immerito dicta eſt: primo enim quod ablatum fuerat & ſolvitur, & ob hoc Solta dicitur: deinceps pro laboris & ſumptus impendio quod adicitur Pro vel Perſolta nuncupatur. His in hunc modum expletis, quod fuerat in bonis Rei reſiduum fiſco proveniet.

firmam quam ſoluturus eſt coercendus eſt. Quiſquis enim in onus ejuſdem officij mutato ſuccedit Vicecomite, ab ipſo ſuſcipit reſcripta debitorum Regis in ipſo Comitatu; ut per hoc noſſe valeat a quibus quæ debeant requiri, cum Summonitionem ad ſe delatam ſuſceperit. Ad Vicecomitem ergo ſpectat compotus Communium, ad quem ſolum pertinet coercio ſingulorum; & qui Vicecomes fuerit, dum compotus fit, vel quietus vel in debito hac ratione ſcribetur.

D. Teneo memoriter quod fieri debeat cum quis ſuper aliquo debito ſummonitus Breve Regis detulerit, quod numerum qui requiritur exprimat. Quod ſi Regis cartam de quietancia rerum ejuſdem generis ad Scaccarium deferat; ut ſic dicatur; Volo igitur ut hæc omnia teneat libere & quiete de placitis & murdris, & his & his, & hujuſmodi; nunquid in perdonis erit?

M. Erit revera; ſed non dicetur, In perdonis per cartam Regis, vel per libertatem cartæ, hoc vel illud; immo per breve Regis (qq): Quod ſi carta quidem non ſpecificans ſic contineat, libere & quiete ab omni exactione & ſeculari ſervitio prædicta poſſideat; non tamen ab his quæ (r) requiruntur, per hoc quietus eſt vel in perdonis ſcribetur: nolunt enim qui aſſident, ſpeciali debito per generalem abſolutionem derogari.

D. Pernitioſa ſatis eſt iſta ſubtilitas: qui enim a generibus ſingulorum liber eſt, & a ſingulis generum meretur abſolvi.

M. Verum eſt quod dicis; neque nos diſſentimus; ſed tamen quid fiat dicimus, non quid forte fieri debeat. Igitur cum de omnibus hijs (s) quæ in Summonitione continentur, vel per numeratam pecuniam vel per Brevia Regis ſatisfactum fuerit, hac lege ſcripturæ quæ ſupra dicta eſt ſemper utendum eſt: verum cum non ſolverit aliquis univerſum quod ab ipſo requiritur, ſed partem ejus vel forte nihil, cauſa ſtatim a Vicecomite requirenda eſt cur is ſolvendo non fuerit. Quod ſi reſponderit Vicecomes, quæſiſſe ſe diligenter ejus de quo agitur nec catalla invenire potuiſſe; Inferet Theſaurarius, Cave tibi; nam hujus rei fidem, ſcilicet quæſiſſe te nec invenire potuiſſe per quod ſatisfieri poſſet, fide corporaliter præſtita confirmabis; Quo reſpondente, præſto ſum; in conſummatum compotum fidei ſuſceptio differetur; ubi (t) ſuper multis conſimilibus ſemel data ſufficiat. De hac tamen fide jam circa initia plura dicta ſunt, & reſtant aliqua ſuo loco dicenda.

XIII. De diſtinctione perſonarum quæ ſolvendo non ſunt; de quibus a Vicecomite fides offertur, & ſub quo tenore verborum fides detur.

Porro hic primum diſtinguendum eſt circa debitores & debita; ut in quibus fides oblata locum habeat, & quibus non, tibi conſtet: ſi enim Miles, vel Liber alius, vel aſcriptitius, vel quælibet hujuſmodi cujuſcunque conditionis aut Sexus perſona, Regi tenetur in quovis debito, quod quidem pœna ſit pro exceſſu, non oblatum ſpontaneum, fide illa Vicecomitis oblata & in fine ſuſcipienda contentus erit Theſaurarius; & iterato ſcribetur debitor in hoc Annali, ſicut in præterito, vir vel mulier cujus actio per inopiam inanis facta eſt; verum ſecus eſt ſi debitor ille de quo quæritur Civis eſt vel Burgenſis, ſi ſcilicet genere civis ſit, vel facta ſibi neceſſitate commorantium civium legibus ſponte ſe ſubjecerit; non enim ſufficit Vicecomiti, quod horum ſi qui de requiſita ſumma non ſatisfaciunt mobilia tamen ſolvat, vel quæſiſſe ſe nec inveniſſe fidem offerat, ut ſic ad Scaccarium liberetur, niſi eorum & domos & fundos & quoſlibet urbium redditus infiſcet, & penes alios collocet, ut vel ſic debita Regi pecunia proveniat; quod ſi non inveniantur qui ſuſcipiant, parcentibus ſibi invicem ejuſdem conditionis hominibus, domos eorum ſeris obſtruat, & fundos diligenter excoli faciat. Si vero interim hij ſolverint quæ requiruntur, ad proprietarios ipſos per manum Vicecomitis ſine moleſtia quæ ſui juris ſunt reddent.

D. Mirari ſatis non poſſum, ubi culpa diſpar non eſt, cur genus hoc hominum gravius lex noſtra coercet.

M. Maxima pars poſſeſſionis eorum qui fundos habent & per agriculturam ſuſtentantur, in pecudibus in animalibus & in frugibus eſt, & item in hijs quæ non facile cohabitantium notitiam poſſunt effugere: at hijs (u) qui mercimonijs inſerviunt, &

Per hæc enim, commercia facilius exercentur; & poſſunt hæc in locis tutis & ignotis facile reponi: unde fit ut ſæpe qui dives eſt, non patentibus his quæ latent, pauper reputetur: propter hæc (w) igitur in hos gravius lex illa decernit; quia ſuperabundans (x) pecuniarum puteus non de facile videtur exhauſtus.

At ſi dictum eſt (b) a Civibus, dabimus Regi mille; & hæc ſumma digna ſuſcipi judicetur; ut ſtatutis terminis eadem exurgat ipſi provideant. Quod ſi forte excuſare cœperint, allegantes quorundam inopiam (c) qui in aliqua parte ſummæ hujuſmodi tenebantur; tunc diligenter hoc eſt per fidem Vicecomitis inquirendum eſt, ſi a tempore conſtituti per eoſdem Cives Doni vel Auxilij hij tales extiterint ut ſolvere non valerent; quod ſi inventum fuerit, provideant (d) alios ex quibus ſumma prior exurgat, vel per Commune (e) diſtribuatur quod reſtat; verum ſi tempore conſtitutionis habundabant, ſed lege fortunæ natura mobilis nunc egeant (f), ſuſtinendum eſt de hijs (g) quouſque per Dei gratiam ditentur.

D. Cerno quod in omnibus modum ſervantes ſemper Regijs commodis inhæretis.

M. Memoriter tenes quid de Civibus vel Burgenſibus non ſolventibus ſit agendum. Quod ſi forte Miles aliquis vel Liber alius (h) a ſui ſtatus dignitate quod abſit degenerans, multiplicandis denarijs per publica mercimonia, vel per turpiſſimum genus quæſtus hoc (i) eſt per fœnus inſtiterit, & exacta ſponte non ſolverit, non per fidem tantum de (k) non inventis Vicecomes abſolvetur, verum cum hæc (l) Præſidenti ſuggeſſerit, diſtrictum ab ipſo mandatum ſuſcipiet ut de ſumma quæ ab illo requiritur ſtatutis terminis ſolvenda fidejuſſores inveniat; quod ſi noluerit, omnes ejus redditus infiſcentur; ut in hac parte merito fiat hijs (m) ſimilis qui multiplicant quocunque modo rem.

D. Dignum revera eſt, ut a ſtatu ſuo pro turpi quæſtu recedens degener Miles vel Liber alius, præter communem Liberorum legem puniatur. Sed jam nunc ſi placet ediſſere, quæ ſunt quæ pro catallis ejus qui Regi tenetur debeat imputari, & utrum ab omnibus omnia tollenda ſunt a Vicecomite, quouſque ſumma quæ requiritur exurgat, quando ſcilicet principalis debitor exacta ſponte non ſolvit.

XIV. Quæ catalla debitorum vendenda non ſunt, cum ipſi ſponte non ſolvunt, & quis in vendendis ordo ſit obſervandus.

M. In pelagus me quæſtionum impellis, neſcio, Deus ſcit, qua emerſurum. Noveris itaque, quod ſic iterum perſonarum diſtinctio neceſſaria eſt, ſicut ex conſequentibus liquebit; vellem tamen in hac parte mihi parceres, ne pluribus diſplicitura proferre compellas.

D. Dum a legis conſtitutæ tramite non exorbitaveris, juſtam prudentis offenſam non mereberis: quod ſi cui grave videbitur quod lex ſtatuit, ei qui condidit iraſcatur non tibi.

Catalla quæ licite venduntur, ſunt eorum mobilia ac ſeſe moventia; qualia ſunt aurum, argentum & ex hijs (p) vaſa compoſita, lapides quoque precioſi, & mutatoria veſtimentorum, & hijs ſimilia; item equorum utrumque genus, uſuales ſcilicet & indomiti, armenta quoque boum & greges ovium, & cætera hujuſmodi; frugum etiam & quorundam victualium mobilis eſt natura; ut ſcilicet libere vendi poſſint, deductis neceſſarijs ſumptibus debitoris ad ſola victualia, hoc eſt ut neceſſitati non ſuperfluitati, & item ut naturæ ſatisfiat non crapulæ; nec ſoli debitori, ſed uxori ejus ac filijs ac familiæ quam prius exhibuerat dum ſibi viveret, huic neceſſaria miniſtrantur.

D. Quare dicis quorundam?

M. Victualia quæ ab eis cotidianis uſibus præparantur & quæ ſine ſui mutatione eſibus (q) accommodantur, qualia ſunt panis & potus, nulla ratione vendi poſſunt; victualium igitur ea duntaxat, quæ præter uſus neceſſarios ab ipſis dominis reſervanda fuerant ut venalia fierent, licite venduntur, qualia ſunt carnes ſale conditæ, caſei, mella, vina, & his ſimilia. Et nota, quod ſi debitor ille qui ſolvendo non eſt, Militiæ cingulum ſemel obtinuerit, venditis cæteris, equus tamen ei, non quilibet ſed unus (r) uſualium reſervabitur; ne qui dignitate factus eſt eques, pedes cogatur incedere. Quod ſi Miles ejuſmodi fuerit, quem juvat armorum decor & juvat uſus eorum, & qui meritis exigentibus debeat inter ſtrenuos computari, tota ſui corporis armatura cum equis ad id neceſſarijs a venditoribus erit liberrima; ut, cum oportuerit, ad Regis & regni negotia armis & equis inſtructus poſſit aſſumi. Si tamen hic idem cui lex in parte pepercit, audita neceſſitate Regis vel Regni, deliteſcens ſe abſentaverit, vel ad hoc vocatus non venerit, ſic tamen ut (s) non proprijs, ſed Regijs ſtipendijs militet, & evidenter abſentiam ſuam non excuſaverit, nec ab his venditores temperabunt; ſed ſolo contentus equo propter dignitatem Militiæ ſibi relicto juri communi vivat obnoxius. Caveat autem Vicecomes & venditores ſuos præmonuerit in vendendis hunc ordinem obſervare; mobilia cujuſque primo vendantur, bobus autem arantibus per quos agricultura ſolet exerceri quantum poterint parcant; ne ipſa deficiente debitor amplius in futurum egere cogatur. Quod ſi nec ſic quidem ſumma quæ requiritur exurgit; nec arantibus parcendum eſt. Cum igitur omnia, quæ ad ipſum ſpecialiter pertinent venalia venundata ſunt; ſi nondum ſatisfactum eſt, aſcriptitiorum ejus fundos adeant, & eorum catalla licite vendant, ordinem ſimul & legem prædictam obſervantes; hæc enim ad Dominum pertinere noſcuntur, ſicut ſupra dictum eſt: quo facto, ſive ſic de requiſita ſumma ſatisfactum ſit ſive non, venditores jubet Lex noſtra quieſcere (t); niſi forte Scutagium ſit quod a Domino requiritur; pro Scutagio namque ſi non ſolverit qui Regi tenetur Dominus principalis, non tantum propria ſed & Militum ſuorum & aſcriptitiorum catalla paſſim venduntur; ratio namque Scutagiorum Milites ſuos magna pro parte reſpicit; quia non niſi de Militibus & ratione Militiæ regi debentur. Vidi tamen ego ipſe cui nondum cana memoria eſt (u), pro ſingulis debitis eorum qui non ſatisfaciebant, non ſolum propria ſed etiam Militum (w) ſuorum & aſcriptitiorum Catalla licite vendi. Sed illuſtris Regis conſtitutio in Scutagijs tantum hoc obſervari decrevit, ordine ſervato ut prius propria dehinc aliena vendantur. Quod ſi Milites ea quæ de feodis ſuis proveniunt Domino ſolverint, & hoc oblata cautione probare voluerint, pro hijs quæ a Dominis requiruntur catalla ſua venundari lex prohibet.

XV. Quod Vicecomes a debitoribus debitoris illius qui Regi non ſolvit debitam Regis ſummam ſuſcipiat.

Item admonendus eſt Vicecomes ut diligenter & ſollicite quantum poterit inveſtiget (x) ſi quis in Comitatu ſuo debitori illi in ſolutionem ſibi præſtitæ vel penes eum depoſitæ pecuniæ teneatur: quod ſi inventum fuerit, a debitore illo ſumma illa quæ ab ejus creditore qui Regi tenetur requiritur, exigatur, & ne ei ſuper eodem reſpondeat auctoritate publicæ poteſtatis inhibeatur.

nactus fuerit, nihilominus ex eodem (y) quod ad Regem pertinet accipietur; ſalva proprietate domino (z) qui juſto eam titulo cœperit poſſidere; niſi forte debitor ille fundi venditi pretium ab initio ſponte Regi ſolverit; tunc enim tuta erit penes emptorem poſſeſſio. Hujus autem rei cauſam, licet diſtorta modicum & Regiæ nimis utilitati ſerviens videtur, evidentem tamen & ſatis juſtam ſecundum patrias leges comprobabis. Quiſquis enim in Regiam Majeſtatem deliquiſſe (a) deprehenditur, uno (b) trium modorum juxta qualitatem delicti ſui Regi condempnatur: aut enim in univerſo mobili ſuo reus judicatur, pro minoribus culpis; aut in omnibus immobilibus, fundis ſcilicet & redditibus, ut eis exhæredetur, quod ſi pro majoribus culpis, aut pro (c) maximis quibuſcunque vel enormibus delictis, in vitam ſuam vel membra. Cum igitur aliquis de mobilibus in (d) beneplacito Regis judicatur, lata in eum a Judicibus ſententia per hæc verba, Iſte eſt in miſericordia Regis de pecunia ſua; Idem eſt ac ſi de tota dixiſſent. Laicorum enim (dd) indefinitæ, non his pro quibus tutius eſt eas accipi, hoc eſt particularibus, ſed ſemper univerſalibus æquipollent. Cum igitur fundi illius catalla quæ (e) debitor prius diſtraxit (ee) in beneplacito Principis adjudicata fuiſſent, & ipſe de requiſita ſumma non ſatisfecerit, videri poteſt injuſtum ut rem non ſuam in fiſci jacturam alienaverit.

XVII. Quod non licet Vicecomiti debitam ſibi pecuniam a non ſolventibus ſuſcipere; & quid ſit agendum ſi forte ſuſceperit.

Item admonendus eſt Vicecomes propter fidei Religionem quæ ab ipſo de non ſolventibus exigitur, immo quam ipſe ſponte viſus eſt obtuliſſe, ut ſic a Summonitione ſibi facta liberari valeat, ne a debitore quolibet qui Regi non ſolvit, interim aliqua quæ ſibi juſte debebantur ſuſcipiat. Non enim veriſimile eſt, non poſſe Vicecomitem de Catallis ejus inveniſſe, per quæ Regi debita ſumma ſolvatur, qui (f) ipſi Vicecomiti ſponte vel invitus quod requiritur exſolvit. Si tamen ante datam fidem per ſe vel per alium recordatus fuerit Vicecomes de his aliqua ſe ſuſcepiſſe, vel etiam poſt datam, nondum tamen ſoluto Scaccario diei illius, hoc eſt dum compotus ejus recens eſt, & veniens in publicum querula voce ſe ſuſcepti tunc immemorem (g) eſtitiſſe fide de his oblata (h) confirmare voluerit, ſuſceptam ſummam nomine debitoris perſolvens liberabitur. Si vero quod abſit poſt fidem datam, poſt ſolutum Scaccarium per alium hoc innotuerit, non jam ſuſcepta tantum ſolvens abſolvetur: Sed pro exceſſu ſuo in Regis beneplacito judicandus pecuniariter punietur. Poſtremo Vicecomitem commonuiſſe ſufficiat, ut poſt ſuſceptam Summonitionem diligenter inquirat per viciniam, ſi vir qui ſolvendo non eſt, uxorem ducens vel mulier ditiori nubens, vel quovis alio modo diteſcat, quatenus de requiſitis ſatisfacere valeat: quod ſi inventum fuerit, propter fidem Vicecom. ſolvere compellatur: quod ſi nihil horum inventum fuerit; poterit tunc purgata conſcientia de hijs rebus fidem dare, & imminentem rerum ſuarum jacturam declinare.

XVIII. Qualiter vir pro uxore, vel uxor pro viro convenienda eſt, cum ille vel illa ſolvendo non eſt.

D. Nunquid vir pro uxore, quæ Regi tenebatur, & fati debita jam ſolvit, vel pro viro ſuo mulier ei ſuperſtes conveniri debet?

M. Satis audiſti, quod qui adhæret mulieri unum corpus efficitur; ſic tamen ut Caput ejus ſit. Merito ergo pro ea conveniendus eſt; quia mulier ſui poteſtatem non habet ſet vir (i). Quod ſi vir ex ea prolem ſuſceperit, cui ratione uxoris debeatur hæreditas, & mortua jam uxore nondum ſoluta Regi debita pecunia fuerit; vir ille nomine hæredis conveniendus & coercendus eſt; alias autem non. Porro mulier viro ſuo ſuperſtes prolem habens, & in viduitate cum ipſa permanens; ratione prolis, cui debetur hæreditas, convenienda & coercenda (k) eſt; ſic tamen ut doti ejus parcatur, quia præmium pudoris eſt. Quod ſi relictis liberis alij viro mulier adhæſerit; legitimus hæres pro debito patris conveniendus eſt: verum ſi mulier quæ deliquit & regi tenetur, priore viro ſine liberis mortuo, ad alium ſe cum ſua hæreditate tranſtulerit, debitum ejus a viro (l) requirendum eſt. Hoc eſt igitur quod petiſti. Et ſic vir cauſa uxoris, & uxor cauſa viri convenienda eſt. Certum autem habeas, quod quod ſemper legitimus hæres qui debitori ſuccedit, pro illo conveniendus eſt : ut ſicut in emolumentum ſic in onus ſubeat. Solus autem aſcriptitius & is, qui ſine hæreditate decedit, venditis Catallis per extremam mortis aleam a debito liberantur; non tamen ab Annali in quo debita hæc annotantur niſi per Breve Regis auferentur, (m) cum ſcilicet de hijs (n) a Theſaurario Regi ſuggeſtum fuerit quod inutiliter in Rotulo ſcribantur, cum nullo pacto fieri (o) poſſit ut ab hijs (p) debita pecunia proveniat.

XIX. Quod non ſit idem modus cohercionis Baronum Regis, & aliorum, in pœnis pecuniarijs.

Ad hæc noſſe te convenit, quod in debitis Regijs requirendis & debitoribus cohercendis, Baronum Regis (pp) & cæterorum qui paſſim pro ſuis exceſſibus pecuniariter Regi puniuntur, par conditio non eſt. Porro de hijs qui de Rege nihil (q) habent in Capite, lex prædicta ſervatur. At ſi de Rege tenens Baroniam, audita Summonitione fidem in propria perſona, vel manu generalis Oeconomi (r) quem vulgo Seneſcallum dicunt, in manum Vicecomitis dederit ſub hac tenore verborum; quod de hac ſumma & de hac Summonitione grantum (s) Baronum Scaccarij die compoti ſui faciet (t); ſic Vicecomes contentus ſit.

XX. Quid faciendum cum Oeconomus qui fidem dedit de ſatisfaciendo, non comparet.

Si vero die compoti voce præconia requiſitus non venerit, nec per ſe nec per alium ſatisfecerit Vicecomes quod ad ipſum pertinuit feciſſe judicabitur, cauſa vero hæc ſeorſum in Memorandis Scaccarij præcepto Theſaurarij diligenter annotata in finem Scaccarij reſervabitur; ut tunc communicato conſilio, gravius qui ſic deliquit (u) puniatur. Quod ſi poſt conſummatum compotum Vicecomitis ſui venerit & ſatisfecerit; de aſſidentium gratia, & de legis indulgentia poterit abſolvi; verum neceſſe eſt ut Vicecomes fidem ejus in Comitatu ſub omnium oculis ſuſcipiat: quia ſi forte qui dederit volens malignari, datam inficiari voluerit, adverſus eum ad omnem probationis ſummam recordatio Comitatus ſufficiet. Quod ſi alias ſibi datam Vicecomes confeſſus fuerit, nihil egiſſe judicabitur; unde mox de firma ſua requiſita ſumma capietur, ut Summonitioni ſatisfaciat in hac parte dicenti, vel capientur de firma tua.

XXI. Quid cum veniens non ſatisfaciat, ſi Miles eſt? quid ſi non Miles?

Si vero qui fidem ſe dediſſe non diffitetur die nominata venerit nec ſatisfecerit, ſi Dominus eſt, ad Scaccarium quamdiu ſederit detinebitur, fide data in manu Mareſcalli, ſicut ſupra diximus, quod a leugata villæ niſi Baronum licentia non recedet : ſoluto vero Scaccario illius termini, ſi nondum ſatisfecerit, in loco tuto ſub libera cuſtodia collocabitur (w), quouſque Rex ipſe ſi præſens fuerit, vel Præſidens cum alijs alijs aſſidentibus, quid de ipſo agendum fuerit decernat, qui fidem ſe dediſſe de ſatiſfaciendo confeſſus, nullo modo ſatisfecit; quod ſi miles vel alius ejus Oeconomus (x) venerit, nec ſatisfecerit, pro fide læſa (y) comprehendetur, & Mareſcallo cuſtodiendus tradetur, poſt (z) ſolutum Scaccarium licite vinculandus, & in carcerem mittendus, ſive Miles fuerit ſive non. Miles vero ſuper debito proprio non ſatisfaciens, cum tamen de ſatisfaciendo fidem dederit, poſt ſolutum Scaccarium non in carcere ſed infra ſepta domus carceralis libere cuſtodietur, fide corporaliter præſtita quod inde ſine (a) Regis vel Præſidentis licentia non recedet. Decrevit enim memorandæ nobilitatis Rex illuſtris, ut quiſquis Militiæ dignitate præfulget, pro debito proprio, cum pauper a Vicecomite ſimul & a vicinia reputetur, in carcerem non mittatur (b), ſed ſeorſum infra ſepta domus carceralis libere cuſtodiatur: verum quiſquis mandato Domini fidem dederit ſicut prædictum eſt Vicecomiti, & veniens non ſolvit; hunc comprehendi, & in carcerem ſoluto Scaccario mitti, ſive Miles ſit ſive non, lex ſtatuit: & quoniam liberum eſt cuilibet Baroni, pro debito, quod ab ipſo requiritur fidem officialis opponere, ut ſic (c) interim Vicecomes (d) importunitate careat, & de rebus ſuis opportunius ipſe diſponat; ne ſic [in] immenſum Regij mandati videatur auctoritas eludi, decretum eſt, ut comprehenſo illo qui læſæ fidei reum ſe non ſatiſfaciens judicavit (e), ſtatim a Vicecomite ſervientes dirigantur, qui fundos principalis Domini perluſtrantes, venditis quocunque modo Catallis ſummam requiſitam ad Scaccarium ejuſdem termini deferant; & tandem ille comprehenſus pro læſa fide juxta poſſibilitatem ſuam pecuniariam pœnam luat, & amplius ſuper eodem debito, etiamſi Dominus præceperit, ad fidem dandam non admittatur.

XXII. Qualiter Dominus puniendus eſt, qui ſponte Militem expoſuit, ut poſſit interim liberari.

Principalis etiam Dominus ne hæc inpune præſumpſiſſe videatur, non per fidem ſuppoſitæ perſonæ ſed ſolum per propriam (f) dilationis beneficium promerebitur, ſi forte ſuper eodem debito (g) ipſum iterato ſummonitioni (h) contigerit. Sunt tamen qui credant ut de cætero ſuper eodem debito nec etiam per fidem propriam uſque ad Scaccarium a Vicecomite dilationem (i) obtineat; quod quidem beneficium dilationis magnum dicunt qui fiſco tenentur; poſſunt enim interim de rebus ſuis mitius diſponere & dilatæ per aliquot tempus ſolutioni neceſſaria præparare; quin potius dicunt quod ſuſcepta Summonitione liceat Vicecomiti juxta communem aliorum legem ſtatim in catalla ipſius manum mittere. Hijs ego, fateor, prorſus non diſſentio; ſed tamen multis judicijs (k) & teſtimonijs veriſimile videatur procuraſſe Dominum, ut Miles ſuus his (l) caſibus exponeretur, quatenus poſſet ipſe vel ſic interim liberari; hujus autem rei validiſſimum eſt contra Dominum argumentum, ſi copioſus, ſi rebus habundus, ſi ſolutioni ſufficiens a Vicecomite ſimul & a vicinia judicetur.

D. Dignum (m) revera eſt ut is (n) indultam ſibi gratiam demereatur, qui in datoris ejus perniciem eadem abuſus eſt.

M. cum Principe facta poſſidere jam cœperint lex noſtra decernit, ut quam diu ſolvendo fuerint indultis ſibi beneficijs gaudeant & utantur. Quod ſi de Regis debito ſummoniti ſolvere deſierint, ſtatim careant impetratis; ſic tamen ut ſi manente Scaccario ſuper eodem ſatisfecerint, ablata (r) omnia ſine moleſtia ſibi reſtituantur. In ſpem vero dicuntur offerri, cum quis exhibendæ ſibi juſtitiæ cauſa, ſuper fundo vel redditu aliquo Regi ſummam aliquam offert; non tamen ut fiat, ne in nos excàndeſcas, & venalem penes eum juſtitiam dicas, immo ut ſine dilatione fiat. Noveris tamen non quæcunque ſic offeruntur a Principe ſuſcipi, etiamſi modum videatur excedere: gratis enim quibuſdam juſticiæ plenitudinem exhibet, obſequij præſtiti vel ſolo charitatis intuitu. Quibus (t) autem lege conditionis humanæ nec prece nec pretio vult acquieſcere, obſtantibus interdum eorum meritis qui poſſidere noſcuntur; vel forte proprijs poſtulantium meritis nequaquam hoc exigentibus qui vel in Regnum vel in Regem ipſum aliquid deliquiſſe culpantur: de hijs (u) autem ſic conſtituit Rex inſignis, ut antequam Rectum habuerint, hoc eſt (w) antequam per ſententiam obtinuerint, vel re ſibi penitus abjudicata (x) ab omni ſpe ceciderint, de oblatis nichil (y) ſolvant, ſed ſufficiat de hujuſmodi Vicecomiti reſpondere, Rectum nondum habuerunt. Provideat tamen (z) Vicecomes ne per ipſum debitorem ſtet, quo minus cauſa ejus executioni mandetur, ſi ſcilicet juri ſe nolit offerre, ut hac artè promiſſa ſibi pecunia Rex fraudetur. Cum enim hoc compertum fuerit, dolus ei non ſubveniet, ſed per omnia ſic coercebitur (a) ac ſi per ſententiam obtinuiſſet. Hujus autem ſpontaneæ dilationis eſt ſignum (b) cum Breve Regis penes ſe detinens, eo non utitur. Solet tamen cum his miſerente Principe mitius agi, qui poſt promiſſam pecuniam a cauſa cadunt, ne ſpe ſua fruſtrati, rebus etiam ſine emolumento ſpoliati, duplici contritione conterantur.

XXIV. Quid de Relevijs ſponte non ſolutis.

Sunt item (c) tertij generis Obventiones, quæ non videntur prorſus inter oblata computandæ, ſed magis Fines ad Scaccarium dicuntur; cum ſcilicet de Rege tenens in Capite Baroniam relicto hærede deceſſerit, & idem hæres cum Rege in quam poteſt ſummam componit, ut paterni juris mereatur ingreſſum; quem finem Relevium vulgo dicimus. Quod ſi Baronia eſt, in Regis eſt beneplacito quæ debeat eſſe ſumma Relevij; ſi vero de Eſcaeta fuerit, quæ in manu Regis deficiente hærede vel aliter inciderit, pro feodo Militis unius hoc tantum Regi nomine Relevij ſolvet, quod eſſet ſuo Domino ſoluturus, hoc eſt centum ſolidos. Sunt autem qui credant eos qui in Relevijs Regi tenentur nec ſummoniti ſolvunt, ſpontaneorum oblatorum legibus obnoxios; ut cum ſolvendo non fuerint, careant impetratis: at verius dici poteſt, ut ſicut de pecuniarijs pœnis fit ſic fiat (d) de Relevijs; debita namque filijs ratione ſucceſſionis hæreditas a lege ſponte oblatorum videtur excludere.

XXV. Quid de avibus oblatis faciendum, & quo tempore ſummonendæ.

Item fit interdum ut Aves Regiæ Regi qualibet ex cauſa promittantur; Accipitres ſcilicet vel Falcones. Quod ſi promittens determinans dixerit, Accipitrem inſtantis anni vel Mutatum; vel locum etiam exprimat, dicens Hibernenſem (e) Hiſpanenſem, Norrenſem dabo; ſic ſatisfaciat. Si vero nec qui promittit nec cui promittitur determinaverit; in arbitrio promittentis erit, ſi Mutatum vel non ſit ſoluturus. Sed ſi integer & ſanus a Regis Aſturcarijs judicetur, quacunque excluſus fuerit, ſuſcipitur. Porro ſi ſummonitus dignum ſuſcipi ad Scaccarium detulerit, nec ſic (f) tum qui ſuſcipiat; etiamſi poſt hoc in annum vel biennium vel amplius differatur ſummonitio, niſi quem maluerit, Mutatum ſcilicet vel ornum ſolvere non cogetur. Quod ſi ſummonitus ſolutionem quomodolibet differri (g) procuraverit, juxta numerum annorum quibus indulta ſibi eſt dilatio, biennium ſcilicet (h) vel triennium triennium vel deinceps, mutatum ſolvet. De hijs (i) autem contra terminum Paſchæ Summonitio non fit; quia earum æſtivo tempore rarus eſt uſus; tunc enim Cavearum antris incluſæ diligenter cuſtodiuntur, ut redeat depoſita vetuſtate pennarum decor, & eorum ut Aquilæ juventus renovetur: verum contra terminum S^{ti} Michaelis quæ Regi debentur ſummonentur; ut inſtante tunc hyeme Regijs aptentur obſequijs. In cohercendis autem his qui ſic ſe ſponte obligant nec ſolvunt, lex prædicta de ſponte oblatis ſervatur.

XXVI. De auro Reginæ.

Ad hæc noverint hij qui in pecunia numerata Regi ſponte ſe (k) obligant, quod Reginæ ſimiliter tenentur, licet expreſſum non fuerit. Quamvis autem non ſit expreſſum, eſt tamen promiſſo compromiſſum; ut cum Regi C vel ducentas marcas promiſerit, Reginæ pariter teneatur pro centum marcis argenti Regi promiſſis, in una Marca auri; pro ducentis in duabus marcis auri; & ſic deinceps. In his (l) autem perquirendis eadem lege Vicecomes per omnia utetur, qua in Regijs uſus eſt, non tamen (m) ante ſed poſt. Cum ergo de Regijs debitis Summonitiones fiunt, adeſt Clericus Reginæ ad hoc conſtitutus, & addit in Summonitione, De illo habeas (n) centum Marcas pro cauſa illa, & ad opus Reginæ unam marcam auri. Summonita autem ad Scaccarium ab ejus Officialibus ad hoc (o) conſtitutis ſeorſum ſuſcipiuntur. Noveris etiam quod licet Rex de promiſſa ſibi pecunia (p) mediam partem dimiſerit vel univerſam, vel etiam ſummonere diſtulerit, de hijs tamen (q) quæ ad Reginam pertinent, ſecundum quod ſibi viſum fuerit per omnia fiet; ut ea nolente neque dimittantur neque differantur quæ ſibi debentur (r); ſed ſummonita ſolvantur, & non ſolventes prædicto modo coerceantur (s).

D. Nunquid de Promiſſis Regi citra centum marcas aliquid Reginæ debetur?

M. Quibuſdam ſic videtur, ut uſque ad x marcas teneatur; ut ſcilicet is qui x Regi promiſerit (t), in una uncia auri Reginæ teneatur; alijs non niſi de C & ſupra ab initio promiſſis. De his (u) igitur ad præſens cum modeſtia ſuſtine: quia re nondum terminata, ſuſpenſa reſolutio eſt. Litigat ſane de his (w) Pars Reginæ cum debitoribus; & adhuc ſub Judice lis eſt. De Miſericordia autem Judæorum & de Redemptione Monetariorum, ſicut de ſponte oblatis dictum eſt, ſua portio ſecundum formam prædictam Reginæ debetur.

D. Nunquid in pecuniarijs & ſponte oblatis, Clericos & Laicos ſine differentia Lex una cohercet (x)?

M. In ſponte oblatis apud omnes lex una ſervatur; ut ſive Clericus ſit ſive Laicus qui ſolvendo non fuerit, donec ſatisfecerit careat impetrato. Obſervatur etiam idem in omnibus alijs quæ quovis pacto Regi debentur (y) a Clericis; cum ſcilicet ſuæ dignitatis & liberæ poſſeſſionis privilegium allegare neglexerint: de allegantibus autem quid fieri debeat, a diſcretis & Deum timentibus Laicis, ſi placet, reſcito; hijs enim ad præſens ex induſtria ſuperſedeo, ne dicar meæ conditionis hominibus ultroneas leges & mitiora jura dictaſſe.

D. Dixiſti, ſi bene memini, frequenter in manum Regis Baronias vel fundos incidere; vellem igitur ſi placet explicares quo ordine redditus Eſcaetarum ad fiſcum proveniant; ſi uno modo vel diſſimiliter.

XXVII. Quod aliter de firmis atque aliter de Cuſtodijs reſpondendum, & ſub alio tenore fides danda.

M. Cum in manum Regis Baronia vel magnum aliquid excidit, mandato ejus vel Præſidentis ad hoc diſcreti utriuſque Ordinis viri diriguntur, qui (z) ſingula perluſtrantes redditus eorundem in ſummam redigunt, & de hac (a) in Scaccario teneri Vicecomitem vel quemlibet alium conſtituunt: ſatisfaciens igitur de hac ſumma is qui ad hoc conſtitutus eſt, in denarijs vel brevibus vel taleis, ſubſequente fide de legitimo compoto, meretur abſolvi; & de ea (b) ſic ſcribetur in Annali: Ille vel ille reddit reddit compotum de firma Honoris illius ; in Theſauro hoc ; & (c) quietus eſt ; vel & debet. Verum cum Rex Eſcaetæ ſuæ cuſtodiam fidei alicujus commiſerit, ut videlicet quod inde provenerit, ad Scaccarium ſolvat poſt factum compotum fides illa ſub prædicto verborum tenore non dabitur : immo quod quantum inde vel in denarijs vel alijs quibuſcunque rebus ſuſceptis (d) tantum ſecundum conſcientiam ſuam ad Scaccarium ſolvit ; exceptis his (e) duntaxat victualibus, quæ ipſo nomine xeniorum non procurante, ſibi collata ſunt.

D. Nunquid cuſtos ille de his redditibus victui neceſſaria percipit ?

M. Licet ſcriptum ſit non alligabis os bovi trituranti ; tamen niſi expreſſo Regis mandato de his nihil (f) percipiet ; proprijs enim ſtipendijs, quiſquis ille fuerit, in his Regi militabit : de hujuſmodi autem ſic in Annali ſcribetur : Ille vel ille reddit compotum de exitu illius Honoris per veredictum ſuum. Cum igitur de omnibus prædictis conſtitutis vel caſualibus ſatisfactum fuerit, & fuerint ſingula per ordinem autentice Rotuli ſcripturæ deputata, convocatis omnibus aſſidentibus ad principalis firmæ compotum conſummandum, qui in ſummo Rotuli annotatus eſt redditur, & hoc ordine perficitur ; ſoluta hoc Termino a Vicecomite firma de qua examen factum eſt, In primis a Calculatore per numerales acervos in diſtantium virgarum ſpatijs diſtribuetur ; deinde facta detractione per combuſtionem, ſicut ſupra dictum eſt, eadem dealbatur, & appenſa ſibi taleola combuſtionis, quæ tamen Vicecomiti non computatur, ſumma quæ relinquitur in taleam redigitur. Similiter & quod ſolutum fuerat in Termino Paſchæ, & dealbatum in eadem talea ſic (g). Et combuſtio de eodem termino cum combuſtione finalis termini mittitur ; ut una ſit utriuſque ſolutionis talea, & ſimiliter una combuſtionis : quo facto Theſaurarius Rotulum exactorium cujus ſupra meminimus proferens, ſummam quæ de Comitatu illo per acervos ſupra & ſeriatim (h) diſponi facit ; ab hac igitur imprimis quod ſolutum eſt in Theſauro & dealbatum detrahitur ; deinde quod Rex de firma Comitatus contulit aliquibus Bl[ancum]; Poſt hæc iterum, quæ alias ſoluta ſunt per brevia Regis vel aliter, per acervos diſponuntur, & hæc per ſubtractionem xij denariorum (i) e ſingulis libris dealbantur, ſicut quæ in Theſauro ſolvuntur dealbata per combuſtionem. Tunc ergo fit inferioris expenſæ a ſuperiore ſumma detractio ; & ſi penitus abſolvi meruerit, in fine compoti ejuſdem literis patentibus ſcribitur, & quietus eſt ; vel infra in capite lineæ inferioris, & debet ; & tunc demum conſummato compoto numerus ſolutorum in Theſauro apponitur ei quod jamdudum diximus ſcriptum in Theſauro, & quod fuerat huc uſque ſic ex (k) induſtria relactum (l), ne forte cogatur abradere qui ſcribit ; quod maxime circa numeros & nomina & cauſas jamdudum vitandum diximus (ll).

XXVIII. Quod fides de legitimo compoto ſemel data ſufficiat per univerſum.

Conſummato vero ſicut dictum eſt de Corpore Comitatus compoto, a Mareſcallo fides Vicecomitis ſub forma prædicta ſemel ſuſcipitur, & ſic abſolutus dimittitur. Fuerunt tamen qui crederent, de ſingulis per fidem firmandis ſigillatim fidem a Vicecomite dandam ; ut (m) quotiens diceret ſic eſſe aliquid quod ſola poſſet fide confirmari, totiens fidem daret : Sed a prudentibus & legis Divinæ peritis pernicioſa ſatis viſa eſt ſubtilitas ; cum ſemel fidem dederit ſe legitimum per omnia compotum ſalva Conſcientia feciſſe. Ea propter hæc ſententia poſt modicum meruit cum ſuo auctore (n) contempni ; & una fide, hoc eſt ſemel data, contenti ſunt ; quia in unius fidei confeſſione unum ſunt (nn).

D. Sentio, jam languente ſtylo, quod dicendorum finis adeſſe feſtinat ; verum licet inſtantis noctis crepuſculum & productioris operis labor prolixior ad alia (o) nos evocent, & paululum reſpirare compellant ; vellem tamen, ſi fieri poſſet, ut ſuſpenſam & hactenus fluctuantem in verbo tuo diſcipuli tui mentem (p) confirmares, oſtendens

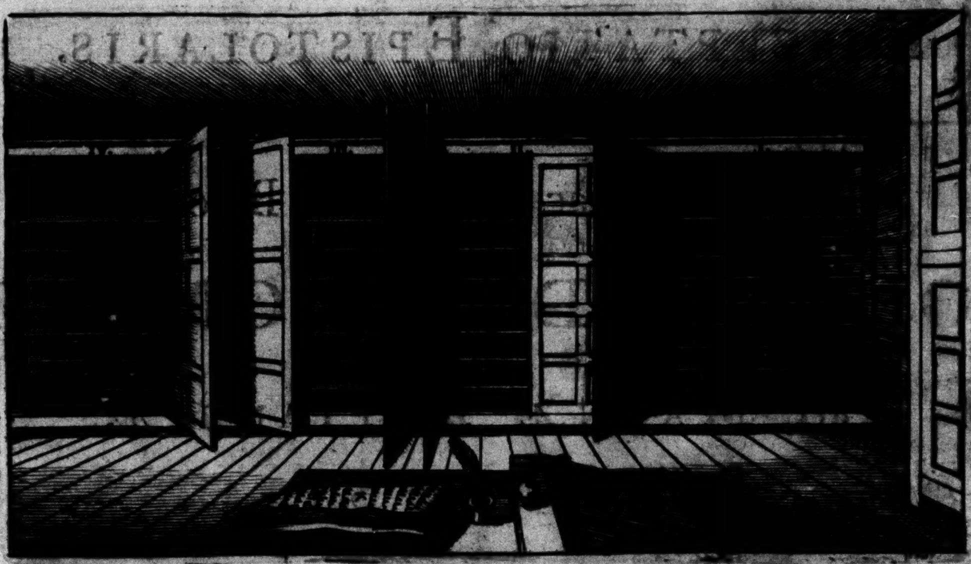
BONI hiſtorici eſt, Ampliſſime Baro, id agere imprimis, ut lectori conſtet eorum quæ tradit veritas ac certitudo. Ideo maximi momenti eſt, ut notitijs & monumentis indubiæ fidei ubique ſi fieri poſſit utatur. Illa autem indubiæ fidei monumenta dicantur; quæ nempe ſcripta erant, Primo, quo tempore geſtæ ſunt res in ijs contentæ; Secundo, publica auctoritate; Tertio, ab his qui norunt proprie exprimere (pro more ſeculi) ea quæ deſcripturi erant; Quarto, bona fide, ſive nullo fucandi aut fallendi ſtudio. Hæc quatuor optime quadrant Recordis publicis. Siquando forte incertum ſit, cui demum ſeculo aut Regis imperio Recordum aliquod quod data careat, rectiſſime aſſignari debeat; tunc neceſſe erit, ſumma ope niti ad illam incertitudinem tollendam, & rei veritatem in aprico ponendam; præſertim ſi Recordum illud ſæpe citandum veniat, & magnæ ſit fidei ac dignitatis. Sane ineſt in Recordo de quo ſum locuturus hujuſmodi dignitas; ineſt etiam hujuſmodi temporis incertitudo in ea inſtantia quam Tibi, Nobiliſſime Baro, jam ſubmiſſe propoſiturus ſum. Submiſſe, inquam: immo diffidenter. Ut enim es judicio acutiſſimo, vereor ne, qui claritati & certitudini es adſuetus, diſceptationem hanc meam, umbratilem, imbecillem, & conjecturis repletam, dedigneris. Eſt tamen quod mihi animos addit. In Te agnoſco ſingularem benignitatem atque candorem. Facile igitur perſpicies id quod res eſt; nec in ſubjecto quod ſua natura eſt obſcurum diſcutiendo, certitudinem a me exſpectabis.

Quocirca Tuo candore fretus ad quæſtionem progrediar. Sciendum quod in Scaccario, jam inde a tempore quo illud primo apud Anglos inſtitutum fuit, ſolenne erat quolibet anno Magnum Rotulum componere; qui Regiorum redituum ac proventuum compotos ſive rationes, per ſingulos Angliæ Comitatus diſtinctus, complectebatur; antiquitus vel abſolute Rotulus, vel Rotulus Annalis, poſtea eſt uſque hodie Magnus Rotulus Scaccarij ſeu Pipæ, appellatus. Quamplures hujuſmodi Magni Rotuli, annis pleriſque Regum Henrici II, Ricardi I, & Johannis ſcripti, in Theſauraria ſive Officio Pipæ Weſtmonaſterij conſervantur; Recorda, omnium quæ in archivis Regijs uſquam vidiſſe me memini, ſplendidiſſima; poſt Rotulum Cenſualem quem Librum Domeſday vocant; quin ei æquiparanda. Inter illos reconditur etiam ibidem Magnus quidam Rotulus reliquorum vetuſtiſſimus, Quintus R. Stephani vulgo dictus. Præclarum & magnificum antiquitatis monumentum; ſive ſcripturam ſpectemus ſive res contentas. Hic Magnus Rotulus (ſeu ut vocamus Bundellum) conſiſtit Rotulis peramplis ſedecim; ex utraque parte conſcriptis; & filo pergamenaceo in capite ſive ſummo conſutis. Singuli Rotuli totius faſciculi non ſunt vel longitudine vel latitudine ad amuſſim æquales. Sed permiſtim longi ſunt ſive alti (nempe a ſummo ad imum) quatuor pedes circiter, & lati pedem plus minus unum. Quilibet Rotulus duabus prælargis membranis conſtat; niſi ſi qua forte avulſa perijt; ſicut in bundelli Rotulo Quarto fit; cujus una membrana (id eſt, Rotuli pars dimidia) perijt, altera ſupereſt. Facies loci in quo Magni Rotuli antedicti aſſervantur, æri inciſa in fronte hujus Diſſertationis & in hac pagina viſitur. Ob oculos hominum poſui venerabundus. Sane delineatu dignam cenſuit monuitque me V C Johannes Talman Junior, architecturæ & graphices peritiſſimus, ſummaque mihi neceſſitudine conjunctus.



Illius monitis facile obtemperans, delineari atque æri incidi curavi: ut poſteris aliquatenus innoteſcant ſacrorum Rotulorum forma ac ſitus. Hæc autem eſt figuræ illius æneæ mens: Capſa inſcripta numero I continet ordines ſive abacos decem; in quibus conduntur Magni Rotuli qui hodie extant vetuſtiſſimi: hac nimirum ſerie: abacus primus, ſive a ſolo altiſſimus, continet Magnum Rotulum illum de anno Quinto R. Stephani vulgo dictum, alioſque ſeptendecim; nam fingo Quintum Stephani eum eſſe qui in menſa expanſus jacet: abacus ejuſdem capſæ ſecundus continet Magnos Rotulos quindecim, ſcilicet reliquos quotquot hodie ſuperſunt R. Henrici II; nam Magnus Rotulus illius Regis Primus itemque Octavus deſiderantur: abacus tertius habet Magnos Rotulos decem R. Ricardi I, duoſque primos R. Johannis: quartus reliquos R. Johannis: quintus priores Magnos Rotulos R. Henrici III: ſextus alijque habent alios ejuſdem Regis ac R. Edwardi I. In ſumma, capſa II, III, & IV, complectuntur Magnos Rotulos Regum ordine ſuccedentium. Redeo ad rem. Hic de quo loquimur Magnus Rotulus omnium vetuſtiſſimus (quæ eſt infelicitas) data caret; imo nullum quantum reperio temporis veſtigium præ ſe fert. Incertum ergo eſt, non ſolum ad quem annum, ſed etiam ad cujus Regis imperium, an ad Henrici I, aut Stephani, aut Henrici II, referendus ſit. Hinc ab auctorum alijs (a) citatus fuit ut Rotulus anni primi R. Henrici II; ab alijs (b) ut Rotulus anni quinti R. Stephani; ab alijs (c) ad annum aliquem R. Henrici I. relatus. Ego, tametſi illum plus ſemel nec indiligenter evolvi, cui anno aut tempori aſſignarem dubius hæſi. Quare ad præſens operæpretium pretium duxi nonnulla in unum cogere & æqua lance librare, quæ huic quæſtioni lumen aliquod immiſſura arbitrarer.

Imprimis quæratur, utrum ſit Magnus Rotulus anni primi R. Henrici II. Si qui eſſe crediderunt, his rationibus ſuffulti videntur. Magni Rotuli tam anni Secundi quam aliorum ferme omnium annorum R. Henrici II, continua ſerie extant; ſimul videlicet in armario Pipæ eodemque pluteo aſſervati. Sed nullus reperitur Magnus Rotulus anni Primi illius Regis; niſi hic is ſit. Hunc autem eum eſſe ideo conjectabantur, quod juxta & proximo ante Magnum Rotulum anni Secundi reponi conſuevit. Accedit etiam cujuſdam antiqui Clerici de Scaccario in eandem ſententiam opinio. Verbi gratia. In dorſo Rotuli Sexti hujus Bundelli, membrana ſecunda, duæ notæ viſuntur. Una charactere minuſculo hujus tenoris, De tempore Regis Henrici ſecundi: altera charactere majuſculo ita, Annus primus Regis H. ſecundi. Has notas non uno tempore nec ab uno ſcriptas conjecerim. Utrarumque autem ſcriptura ſimilis eſt illi, quæ temporibus R. R. Henrici III, aut Edwardi I, circiter uſurpata fuit. Hæc ſi Tuæ Amplitudini placet perpendantur. Si quidem Magnus Rotulus anni Primi R. Henrici II, revera interijt, fruſtra ejus jacturam figmentis ſupplere conabimur; vel Bundellum impar in archivo Pipæ juxta poſitum, vel conſuetum plutei ordinem in opem vocando. Atqui forſan momentoſior habebitur antiqui illius Clerici annotatio quam ſuperius memoravi, annum primum Henrici II deſignans. Libere dicam. Adeo non ſemper accuratæ ſunt veterum Clericorum notæ ejuſcemodi, ut interdum falſæ deprehendantur, ſpeciatim de rebus diu ante tempora quibus vixerunt geſtis. Inſtantiæ cauſa. Bundellum ſive Magnus Rotulus anni trigeſimi quarti R. Henrici II, in Rotulo de Berrochſcira membrana ſecunda in dorſo, inſcribitur charactere qualis in uſu erat circa tempora R. Edwardi, vel Primi, vel Secundi, vel Tertij ineuntis, his verbis, Annus Secundus Regis H. Secundi; & juxta ſcriptura recentiori qualis tempore Henrici VI, aut Edwardi IV, uſitata fuit, Annus ſecundus Hen. Secundi. Quæ quidem notæ tam futiles ſunt, ut etiam omni probabilitatis ſpecie careant; ſicut cuiquam inſpicienti facile patebit.

Potiora ego ſi poſſum Tuæ Amplitudini proferam. Satis, opinor, certi ſumus, quis ſit Magnus Rotulus anni Secundi R. Henrici II. Illum vir præſtantiſſimus Alexander de Swereford, primus auctor ſive poſſeſſor Libri Rubri qui in Scaccario eſt, nobis digito commonſtravit, & ex illo compluſcula in Libro Rubro citavit de primo Scutagio R. Henrici II, & de Danegeldo (d); id quod etiam in Hiſtoria mea ſuperius oſtenſum eſt (e). Sic autem quoad veteres Magnos Rotulos ſe res habet. Sequens Magnus Rotulus præcedenti in compluribus correſpondere ſolet. Adeo ut cognito Rotulo cujuſvis anni, diligens lector facile perviderit alterum alterius ſequacem eſſe; nimirum comparando nomina Computantium, ſuorumque debitorum ſummas, ſicut in Rotulo unius atque alterius anni ſcripta cernuntur. Nam Rotulus anni ſequentis ita compotum excipere ſolet, prout in Rotulo præeunte deſinebat. Hoc modo. Ille Vicecomes ſe ad Scaccarium ſiſtens, anno puta R. Henrici II primo, reddit compotum (vocibus utar Scaccarialibus) de CCCC l firma Comitatus illius: ſolvit ad Receptam ſive ut vocant in Theſauro, C l. Et factis ſibi legitimis allocationibus, id eſt, ſubtractis pecunijs a Vicecomite erogatis juſſu Regio, alijſque jure ſubtrahendis, ad CC l: Debet [Regi] C l. In Magno Rotulo proximi nempe ſecundi anni Henrici II, inveniemus regeſtum ad hunc modum. Ille Vicecomes reddit compotum de C l de Veteri firma Comitatus illius, ſive de firma anni præteriti; ſi ſolvat partem, puta dimidiam, dicetur, In Theſauro L l, Et debet L l: Si totum perſolvat, Ille Vicecomes reddit compotum de C l de Veteri firma, ſive de firma anni præteriti; In Theſauro liberavit, Et quietus eſt: Si nullam partem ſolvat, Ille Vicecomes debet C l de Veteri firma. Et ſic de alijs Computantibus perinde ac de Vicecomite, mutatis ſcilicet mutandis. Pariliter, ex Magno Rotulo anni ſequentis invenerit quis Magnum Rotulum præcedentis, comparatione reflexa. Præcedens ſequentis index, ſequens præcedentis. Quandoquidem igitur, Baro eruditiſſime, compertum habemus Rotulum anni Secundi R. Henrici II; reſtat, ut illum cum hoc vetuſtiſſimo Rotulo conferendo, videamus an hic ſit Rotulus anni Primi Regis Henrici II, ſicut ille eſt anni Secundi. Contuli ego jamdiu eſt. Sed fruſtra tentavi concordantiam inter duos iſtos Rotulos invenire. Nihil diſpexi quod fidem faciat conjunctorum annorum Rotulos eſſe. Quinimo alter ab altero toto cœlo differt. Longe diverſa ſunt nomina Computantium & Debitorum quæ in horum duorum Rotulorum uno ac quæ in alio continentur, diverſæque itidem ſummæ. Præterea, Libri Rubri auctor nomina eorum ſigillatim deſcripſit qui anno Primo R. Henrici II, Comitatuum Angliæ Vicecomites fuerant.

Ea autem Vicecomitum nomina quæ in Vetuſtiſſimo hoc Rotulo memorantur, non eadem ſunt ac quæ auctor Libri Rubri ex Rotulo anni Primi Henrici II, excerpſit; imo ſunt prorſus aliena. Iſtud comparatio facta indicabit. Hic annotabo quoſdam e Vicecomitibus Comitatuum prout in Veteri illo Rotulo habentur; deinde Vicecomites eorundem Comitatuum de anno Primo R. Henrici II, ex fide Libri Rubei: Ejuſmodi collatio nominum Vicecomitum monſtrabit diſcordantiam quæ eſt eatenus inter Veterem illum Rotulum, & Vicecomites anni illius Primi in Libro Rubro recenſitos. Subjiciam, ſi placet, in margine nonnullos etiam Vicecomites anni Secundi R. Henrici II, prout in Magno Rotulo anni illius Secundi memorantur: Et collatio anni Secundi cum anno Primo oſtendet congruentiam quæ eſt inter duum annorum illorum Vicecomites: ſed hoc obiter. Exempli gratia. Vetus hic Magnus Rotulus habet Vicecomites Eſſexæ, Ricardum Baſſet & Albericum de Ver; Liber Ruber, Ricardum de Luci; Magnus Rotulus anni ſecundi R. Henrici II, Ricardum de Luci (f). Vetus Rotulus ponit Vicecomites Huntedoneſciræ Ricardum Baſſet & Albericum de Ver; Liber Ruber Paganum cognomento Vicecomitem; Rotulus anni Secundi Henrici II, eundem Paganum (g). In Veteri Rotulo comperimus Vicecomitem Kanciæ Rualonum; In Libro Rubro Radulfum Pichot; In Magno Rotulo prædicti Anni Secundi Radulfum Picot (h). In Veteri Rotulo legitur Vicecomes Staffordſciræ Milo de Gloeceſtra; In Libro Rubro Robertus de Stafford; In Magno Rotulo anni illius Secundi Robertus de Stafford (i). Vetus Rotulus memorat Gaufridum de Furnell. Vicecomitem Deveneſciræ; Liber Rubeus Ricardum de Riveris; Magnus Rotulus anni illius Secundi Comitem Ricardum [de Redvers] (k). Vetus Rotulus exhibet Vicecomitem Gloeceſtreſciræ Milonem de Gloeceſtra; Liber Ruber Osbertum de Weſtbery; Rotulus anni ſecundi Walterum de Hereford (l). Quid multa? Ex jam adductis exemplis elucet, multum inter ſe diſſidere Veterem hunc Rotulum, & Librum Rubrum qui continet excerpta e Magno Rotulo anni Primi R. Henrici II; elucet etiam, concordiam eſſe inter Librum Rubrum & Magnum Rotulum anni Secundi ejuſdem Regis. Quid hinc ſequitur? Plane hoc; nempe Veterem hunc Rotulum non eſſe anni Primi R. Henrici II: tum quia Vicecomites in Veteri hoc Rotulo memorati, non ſunt ijdem ac quos Liber Ruber dicit Comitatus tenuiſſe anno illo Primo; tum etiam quia nomina Vicecomitum de anno hujus Veteris Rotuli, non concordant cum ijs quæ Magnus Rotulus indubius anni Secundi illius Regis poſuit pro Vicecomitibus ejuſdem anni Secundi. Quod ad Veterem illum Rotulum; unicum aliud addam. Nonnihil ſane differentiæ mihi videre videor inter characterem ſive ſcripturam illius Rotuli, & Rotulorum tam anni Secundi quam aliorum ſequentium annorum R. Henrici II. Rotulus ille comparatus cum ſingulis Rotulis priorum annorum R. Henrici II, ſcripturæ forma magis ab iſtis, ni fallor, differt, quam Rotuli iſti inter ſe comparati differunt alij ab alijs.

alijs. Adeo ut, quantum ex ſcripturæ facie conjectari licet, illum his antiquiorem cenſerem. Penſatis igitur quæ ſuperius dixi, veriſimile videatur, Veterem illum non eſſe Rotulum de anno Primo R. Henrici II. Neque profecto comperire poſſum, quod ad ullum alium annum ejuſdem Regis jure referri debeat.

Proximo, conſiderandum eſt, Domine Illuſtriſſime, utrum Rotulus ille de quo diſquirimus (Veterem voco), rite attribui poſſit anno Quinto R. Stephani. Neſcio quî factum eſt ut a modernis Quinto illi anno attribueretur; niſi forte anſam præbuit adnotamentum quoddam parvula pergamena ſcriptum & hujus Bundelli ſive Veteris Rotuli tegumento annexum. Probare conatur hoc modo. Dicit, evidenter liquere poſſe, ſi quis Rotulum 14um, 5um, & 12um (particulares Rotulos hujus Faſciculi ſive Bundelli) invicem conferre & librare velit. Sed quia inſtantias quas in mente habuit, ſpeciatim non propoſuit, difficile eſt diſcernere rectene judicaverit an ſecus. Circumſpexi igitur quam potui oculatiſſime, ut ipſe invenirem, vel inſtantias quas innuit, vel forſan valentiores in eam quam poſuit ſententiam. Sequentes acu tetigi. In Rotulo 14°, Brientius filius Comitis computat de veteri Auxilio Burgi de Warengeford pro Tertio anno, deinde de Auxilio præteriti anni, & poſtremo de Novo Auxilio, id eſt de Auxilio anni hujus Magni Rotuli (n). Ecce annus Regis Tertius expreſſe deſignatus, & annus Quartus ſub nomine anni præteriti; deinde ſequitur annus noviſſimus qui eſt Quintus. Hinc (ex mente Deweſij) conſtat, Veterem hunc eſſe Magnum Rotulum anni Quinti alicujus Regis: Cujuſnam vero? Hæc dixi ad mentem Cl. Dirbeſij. Sed fieri poteſt ut is a ſcopo erraverit. Si ita; certe in errorem incidit, quem Magnos Rotulos paulo attentius legendo, notandoque uſitatum computandi modum, facile caviſſet. Nam plane, in ſupra adductis inſtantijs, annus Tertius non denotat annum Regis Tertium, ſed annum illum præteritum qui eſt Tertius a præſenti. In hoc caſu tunc temporis numerabant retrorſum. Ad hunc modum. Si forte in compoto reddendo deſcendebant, dixerunt, Ille reddit compotum de firma Tertij anni; Idem reddit compotum de firma anni præteriti; Et idem reddit compotum de firma hujus anni; ſeu mutatis mutandis. Sin compotum formando aſcendebant, dixerunt, Ille reddit compotum de firma [ſeu de Nova firma]; Idem de firma anni præteriti; Idem de firma anni Tertij; & ſic mutatis mutandis, ſi caſu exigente procederetur ad annum Quartum aut Quintum. Ita enim ſe res habuit. Deſcribenda erant firmarum ac debitorum arreragia, perinde ac firmæ anni præſentis. Idque fere factum eſt modo ſuperius memorato. Adeoque verba reddit compotum de firma [ſeu de firma hujus anni] deſignant annum præſentem ſive annum Magni Rotuli; de firma anni præteriti, annum proximo præcedentem; de firma anni Tertij, annum præteritum qui eſt Tertius incluſive a præſenti; & ſic de anno Quarto ac deinceps. Recte ergo judicemus, has & iſtiuſmodi phraſes pure a modo computandi, ſeu compotos in Magnis Rotulis diſcribendi, illis temporibus uſitato, reſilire. Harum ſimiliumque formularum ſeu phraſium exempla in Magnis Rotulis vetuſtiſſimis abundant. Recapitulemus, ſi placet. In ſupra poſita inſtantia Brientij filij Comitis, is revera reddit rationem de Auxilio Burgi Warengefordæ hoc modo: Deſcendendo computatur; Incipitur ab anno præterito remotiore; Computat de Auxilio anni Tertij, Secundi, ac Noviſſimi qui eſt annus hujus Magni Rotuli. In inſtantia Hamonis de Sancto Claro firmarij Colecestræ, is compotum reddit de Auxilio Colecestræ trium annorum, incipiendo ab anno Tertio præterito, & dein progrediendo ad annum Secundum, ac Noviſſimum. Quin & in inſtantia Vicecomitis Hamteſciræ, is rationem reddit de Auxilio Wintoniæ eodem prorſus modo. His exemplis addam quædam alia. Anno ſecundo R. Henrici II, Comes Patricius computavit de Lxxij s iij d Blancis, firma Wilteſciræ pro anno Tertio: Solvit in Theſauraria Regis, Lxxvj s pro illis Lxxij s iij d blancis; & abſolutus receſſit (r). Heic tercij anni denotat, non annum imperij illius Regis Tertium, is enim nondum advenerat; ſed annum præteritum, Tertium a præſenti, nempe ultimum R. Stephani. Anno quarto ejuſdem Regis compotus redditur de firma Lundoniæ. Incipitur ab anno Tertio, dein pergitur ad Secundum, & Noviſſimum. Gervaſius & Johannes filius Radulfi computant de anno Tertio ac Secundo; Quinque allij, infra in margine memorati, Vicecomitum officio functi, de anno Noviſſimo, nempe anno iſtius Magni Rotuli (s). Incipitur, inquiebam, ab anno Tertio. Quiſnam autem fuit iſte annus Tertius? Non annus hujuſce Regis Tertius regnandi; ſed annus præteritus Tertius a præſenti; qui annus Tertius a præſenti erat annus Regis Secundus regnandi. Quodque revera ita ſit, hinc apparet. Anno illo Secundo, Gervaſius & Johannes ſupra memorati fuerant Vicecomites Lundoniæ (t). Nec id ſolum. Enoteſcit ex ſumma. Anno ſecundo in fine compoti debebant Regi Lxxj l & xxij d Blancos: Et in hoc Magno Rotulo anni quarti (nam in Rotulo anni Tertij, quem conſului, nullus redditur compotus de illis areragijs) reſpondent de eiſdem Lxxj l & xxij d Blancis de Veteri firma. Anno Sexto ejuſdem Regis, Vicecomitiſſa Rothomagi ſcribitur computatura de firma villæ Hantonæ Tertij anni, & de Veteri firma, & de Nova (u): Manifeſte, de firma anni Quarti imperij hujus Regis, ac Quinti,

(u) Vicecomitiſſa Roth[omagi] debet CC &

Quinti, & Sexti. In Magno Rotulo anni viceſimi primi R. Henrici II, Gervaſius de Cornhill reddidit compotum de Veteri firma Kantij pro Tertio anno; Idemque de firma ejuſdem Comitatus pro anno præterito; Ac Robertus filius Bernardi de firma ejus Comitatus pro anno præſenti, ſive anno hujus Magni Rotuli (w). Hic per verba anni tercij intelligendus eſt, non annus Henrici II tertius regnandi, ſed annus ejus decimus nonus, videlicet tertius retrorſum numerando ab anno iſtius Rotuli; per verba anni præteriti, annus dicti Regis viceſimus; per verba hoc anno, viceſimus primus. Porro, Anno primo R. Ricardi I, Galfridus filius Petri computavit ad Scaccarium de Veteri firma tertij anni de Norhanteſcira; & idem de firma anni præteriti (x). Hic certe, Tertij anni non denotat annum Tertium imperij R. Ricardi I; is nondum advenerat; ſed annum Tertium a præſenti, nempe triceſimumtertium ſive penultimum R. Henrici II, parique modo anni præteriti deſignat triceſimumquartum ſive ultimum R. Henrici II. Neque vero ex conjectura tantum hoc dico. Res ipſa loquitur. Nam Galfridus filius Petri anno illo penultimo ac ultimo Vicecomes fuerat Norhanteſciræ (y). Et quidem anno penultimo, in fine compoti ſui debebat Regi xiiij l v s Blancos, itemque anno ultimo alios xiiij l v s Blancos: de quibus duabus ſummis in Magno Rotulo anni primi R. Ricardi I, ſub nomine Veteris firmæ Regi plenarie reſpondit, & abſolutus receſſit; ſicut infra in margine videre eſt. Eodem anno primo R. Ricardi I, Burgenſes Cantabrigiæ ſcribuntur Regiæ Majeſtati obærati pro firma Burgi ſui his verbis, viz. de hoc anno, de quatuor annis præteritis, & de dimidio quinti (z). Hic verba, de hoc anno, haud dubie ſignificant annum primum R. Ricardi I, & verba, de quatuor annis præteritis & de dimidio quinti, ultimos quinque annos (ſemianno dempto) R. Henrici II. Hactenus de modo, in compotis deſcribendis, annos retrorſum numerandi. Quin regnante Ricardo I, ac poſtea, modus iſte paulatim deſuevit. Et exinde per ſeriem annorum imperij cujuſvis Regis fere numerabant. Ex his quæ dixi, ſatis ni fallor liquet, Cl. Deweſij opinionem cujus ſuperius memini, nullo fundamento innixam. Id aliunde etiam evincitur. Exempli gratia. In hoc Magno Rotulo nuncupato Quinto R. Stephani, Paganus Trencardus ſcribitur computaturus de præteritis Danegeldis Inſulæ de Wicht, pro quinque annis, de tempore Hugonis Gern[un]: Sic fiunt Quinque anni. Idem Paganus computat de Novo Danegeldo Inſulæ: Sicque fit annus Sextus (a). Juxta Deweſij opinionem conſequeretur, hunc eſſe Magnum Rotulum anni Sexti R. Stephani. At juxta interpretationem quam ſupra poſui, nihil difficile ſuboritur. Hæc enim eſt rei ſumma, quod ſcilicet hic deſcribitur compotus ſeu potius notamentum de Danegeldo ſex præteritorum annorum. Præterea, Robertus de Stanlega in hoc Rotulo memoratur Comitatum Gloeceſtriæ tenuiſſe annis quinque elapſis. Pro eorum uno, nempe quarto, debebat Regi Liij l xix s Blancos, ac pro alio nempe tertio Lxxviij l xij s ij d Blancos: Quas duas ſummas Milo de Gloeceſtria vice Roberti (ſcilicet ut plegius ejus) ſolvit Regi ad Scaccarium. Milo ut Vicecomes, ſuo ipſius nomine Regi reſpondet pro duobus alijs annis, per verba, de Veteri firma, & de Nova (b). Sicque reſponſum eſt in toto pro annis Septem. Inde autem certe non conſequetur, hunc eſſe Magnum Rotulum anni Septimi alicujus Regis. Quin hic utique non alio modo quam regula quam ſuperius poſui, res explicanda eſt. Super hac quæſtione hæc dicta ſunto.

Reſtat ut inquiram, Utrum Vetus hic Rotulus ſit de aliquo anno R. Henrici I. Ad præſens, Amplitudinis Tuæ venia, negativam quæſtionis partem tentaminis cauſa tueri libet. Propono, non eſſe Rotulum alicujus anni R. Henrici I. Primo, quia in eo nomen R. Henrici I, ne quidem ſemel occurrit. Secundo, quia hic Rotulus commodiſſime referendus videtur ad annum aliquem paulo poſt Matildæ Imperatricis adventum in Angliam; eaque in Angliam venit ſub initium regni R. Stephani (c), Coronæ Regiæ quam ille occupaverat adipiſcendæ cauſa; & in hoc Veteri Rotulo de Imperatricis in Angliam adventu ut de re non ita pridem geſta mentio fit (d). Jam ex altera quæſtionis parte proponam. Priori iſti argumento ad hunc modum ſatisfit. In hoc Rotulo non ſolum R. Henrici I nomen non occurrit, ſed neque Stephani, Henrici II, aut alterius Regis. Sunt etiam Rotuli complurium annorum Henrici II, in quibus nulla de ipſius Regis nomine fit mentio; de quorum tamen Rotulorum tempore lis nulla eſt; quoniam id aliunde enoteſcit. Iſtud ergo ſilentium, ſi quid cerno, in hoc negotio nec prodeſt nec obeſt. Secundo argumento obviam itur in hunc modum. Fatendum Imperatricem in Angliam veniſſe, ad jus ſuum contra R. Stephanum adſtruendum. Sed illa in Angliam venit etiam ante illud tempus; nempe poſt Imperatoris mariti ſui obitum, regnante R. Henrico I: ſicut H. Huntendonienſis, Chronicon Saxonicum, alijque (ut memini) teſtantur (e). Et quidem Imperatricis in Angliam adventum cujus in Veteri noſtro Rotulo mentio fit, de primo illo adventu potius intelligendum putem. Eruditi Lectores dijudicent.

Jam vero, Nobiliſſime Baro, Tua pace pro affirmativa quæſtionis parte experiri velim. Propono igitur, hunc eſſe Rotulum alicujus anni R. Henrici I. Idque probare conabor quibuſdam argumentis ac indicijs ex ipſo Rotuli gremio petitis. Dubitandum non eſt quin Magni Rotuli tempore R. Henrici I, & antiquius componi conſueverint. Ricardus Theſaurarius Regis meminit (f) Rotulorum Annalium R. Henrici I; eorumque paucos ſe vidiſſe teſtatur Alexander de Swereford (g); quinetiam is pro admiſſo ſumit, Rotulos Annales ſub Rege Willelmo I fuiſſe compoſitos, etſi neminem ſuo ſeculo novit qui eos viderat (h). Quod autem ad Rotulos Annales R.R.R. Willelmi I, Willelmi II, & Henrici I; minime mirum eſt, ſi poſt rabiem bellorum quæ regnante Stephano miſerrimam hanc gentem lacerabant, eorum plerique, ſeu tantum non omnes, vel perierint, vel Alexandri, qui multis poſt annis vixit, conſpectum effugerint; mirandum potius, ullum aliquem ad ſuum uſque ſeculum ſuperfuiſſe. Ad probationem ſupra propoſitam feſtino.

In hoc Rotulo, Turſtinus Eboracenſis Archiepiſcopus ſolvit Regi debitum decem librarum, quas Rex ei in Normannia accommodavit (i). Dubitatur, utrum Turſtinus habuit in Normannia alloquium R. Henrici I, an vero Stephani. Super ea re diſquirendum. Turſtinus ad ſedem Eboracenſem promotus A. D. 1114, [R. Henrici I anno 15°] (k), ancipitemque fortunam expertus, poſtquam ſederat annis plus minus viginti quinque aut ſex (expulſionis ſuæ tempore incluſo), tandem vita deceſſit menſe Februarij A. D. 1140, [R. Stephani ſexto]; ut Cl. Godwinus alijque retulerunt (l). Quanquam autem Turſtini vita imperium utriuſque illorum Principum ingrediebatur; attamen multum ut opinor intereſt, utram in partem de hac quæſtione ſtatuamus. Præponderant enim, ni fallor, argumenta quæ ex una parte ſunt. Turſtinus ſub R. Stephano vixit annis quinque duntaxat & quod excurrit, idque prope vitæ ſuæ finem: ſub R. Henrico I, multo pluribus; nempe in præſulatus ſui priori parte, antequam ætas ingraveſceret. Conſtat etiam Turſtinum in Normannia fuiſſe (id quod mox oſtendam) tempore R. Henrici I; ſed ibi fuiſſe tempore R. Stephani, nulla quantum ſcio memoria eſt. Sane Regem Stephanum ſemel omnino Normanniam adeuntem comperi. Chronicon Saxonicum refert illuc transfretaſſe A. D. 1137 (m). Atqui Turſtinum ibi etiam tunc fuiſſe aut colloquium cum illo habuiſſe, mihi nondum compertum eſt. Quin reipſa parum credibile arbitror, Thurſtinum Normanniam adijſſe vel ibi moratum fuiſſe anno illo 1137°, qui tribus tantum annis diſtat a 1140°; quo tempore is ſenio ærumniſque fractus in Anglia morti occubuit. Forſitan hic objicietur, Thurſtinum etiam anno proximo ſcilicet 1138° adeo corpore valuiſſe, ut de facili in Normanniam iter capeſſere potuit; nam anno illo exercitum coegit duxitque, ad repellendum Davidem Regem Scotorum, Angliæ fines hoſtiliter invadentem; de quo, ut aiunt, victoriam reportavit. Reſpondeo. inter Hiſtoricos non convenit, Turſtinum iſtius exercitus profectioni præliove commiſſo perſonaliter interfuiſſe. Etenim Rogerus de Houedene, homo Eboracenſis, rerumque borealium tum ſui temporis tum etiam antecedentis præ alijs ſciens, tradit Turſtinum tunc morbo detentum (n). Præterea, R. Henricus I, ſæpe diuque in Normannia agere conſuevit. Immo Turſtinus alloquium ejus ibidem habuit plus ſemel. A. D. 1116, Turſtinus R. Henricum I, ad Normanniam mari iter facientem comitabatur (o). Eum etiam ſub idem tempus, in Normannia Regis præſentiam adijſſe, memorat Eadmerus; ſi mentem ejus aſſequor (p). Et anno decimo octavo R. Henrici I, Turſtinus iterum Normanniam petijt, Regemque invenit Rothomagi (q). Ex his autem quæ de Turſtino Archiepiſcopo ſuperius dixi, probabile videtur, Regem Henricum I, non Stephanum, decem illas libras in Veteri noſtro Rotulo memoratas ei in Normannia mutuo præſtitiſſe.

(k) Turſtinus

Hic Magnus Rotulus meminit Stephani Comitis Britanniæ. Perdonavit ei Rex ſex marcas argenti (r). Comes Stephanus videtur gratia Regis potitus. Prece Comitis Rex remiſit Godrico di Belesbi xx s (s). Quidni Comes ille Stephanus fuerit Tertius ejus nominis, qui deceſſit A. D. 1138, ſi fides Auguſtino du Paz (t). Comes Stephanus vitam egit tam R. Stephano quam R. Henrico I regnante. Annus mortis Comitis Stephani incidit in annum tertium R. Stephani. Fateor. Sed quoniam Comes Stephanus vixit multo pluribus annis regnante R. Henrico I, quam regnante R. Stephano; tanto probabilius videtur, ea quæ citavi eſſe potius intelligenda de R. Henrico I, quam de R. Stephano, quanto Comes diutius tempore illius Regis quam hujus vixit.

Pridem antequam hic Magnus Rotulus vetuſtiſſimus conficeretur, Epiſcopatus Dunelmi vacavit, fuitque in manu Regis. Quin & ipſo anno hujus Rotuli, epiſcopatu nondum cuiquam collato, cenſus ſeu reditus præſentis anni, atque annorum præeuntium arreragia Regi penduntur. Gaufridus Eſcollandus reſpondet ad Scaccarium Regium de Veteri firma Epiſcopatus & de Nova, ac de alijs proventibus, forma qua inferius in margine videre eſt (u). Eodem tempore Anſchetillus de Wireceſtria reddidit Regi compotum de Veteri firma & de Nova Maneriorum Epiſcopatus, in alijs (ut conjicio) extra Dunelmenſem Comitatibus jacentium (w). Notatu autem dignum eſt, quod vacatio epiſcopatus Dunelmenſis, qua durante reditus ejuſdem annui Regi in hoc Magno Rotulo penduntur, eſt eadem vacatio quæ accidebat antequam Gaufridus Cancellarius ad Sedem Dunelmenſem promoveretur. Id elucet ex hoc Magno Rotulo ac Hiſtoria Dunelmenſi una comparatis. Quid Magnus hic Rotulus declarat, jam modo recenſui. Hiſtoria Dunelmenſis teſtatur Epiſcopatum eo tempore aliquantiſper commiſſum Gaufrido illi quem Eſcorlandum vocat & cuidam Hugoni de Annundavilla (x). Et ſane Hiſtoria Dunelmenſis refert Gaufridum Cancellarium electum in Epiſcopum dictæ ſedis A. D. 1133, R. Henrici I 33 (z). Anno igitur quo hic Magnus Rotulus ſcriptus erat, nondum donabatur Gaufrido Cancellario Epiſcopatus Dunelmi; necdum annus R. Henrici I trigeſimuſtertius advenerat. Anno hujus Rotuli computatæ ſunt Vicecomitibus Londoniæ quædam nummorum ſummæ, quas ipſi eodem anno eregarant in pannis alijſque neceſſarijs providendis ad opus [Roberti] Comitis Normanniæ (a). Hic æquum eſt quædam in anteceſſum notare. Nemo ignorat principes Normannorum antiquos, Comites perinde ac Duces ſive Marchiſos aut Marchiones paſſim appellatos; ipſumque adeo, de quo hic res eſt, Robertum fratrem R. Henrici a coævis hiſtoricis Comitem fere vocatum (b). Non eſt autem celandum, verba quæ poſui producte [Comitis Normanniæ], in rotulo a me juxta ante citato breviate ſcribi [Com. Norman.]; quæ forſan nunnullis videbuntur aliquouſque dubia ſive incerta. Verum tamen, non eſt, me judice, quod in hac re hæreamus. Ego ſaltem nullam aliam ea quam poſui aptiorem lectionem invenire poſſum. Præterhac meminiſſe oportet, apud veteres moris fuiſſe, quas Vicecomes anno officij ſui in obſequio Regis pecunias expenderat, eas ipſi in ratiocinio ſuo pro anno illo ad Scaccarium reddito computari. Id quod factum eſt a Vicecomitibus Londoniæ in inſtantia ſupra allata. His præmiſſis, revocanda eſt in memoriam ſors luctuoſa Roberti Comitis Normanniæ in hoc Veteri Rotulo memorati. Is filius erat Willelmi Victoris natu maximus. Ab R. Henrico I fratre ejus juniore in prælio victus in Normannia, ductus erat in Angliam captivus. Ibi quum libertate ipſiſque (ut aiunt) oculis privatus, annis compluribus degiſſet, tandem menſe Februarij A. D. 1134, imperij R. Henrici I penultimo, caſtro Carduili incluſus fato conceſſit (c.)

In Magno Rotulo anni noni R. Ricardi I memoriæ proditum eſt, Manerium de Danecaſtria in agro Eboracenſi ſitum, invadiatum fuiſſe R. Henrico I pro marcis monetæ quingentis (d). Iſtius autem Manerij invadiatio in hoc Veteri noſtro Rotulo memoratur diſertis verbis, ſicut hic in margine patet (e). Manerium illud Regi traditum erat in vadio ad debitum prædictum ſecurum præſtandum. Et quidem tempore procedente, debitum ipſum ſive Finis in Magnis Rotulis annuatim ſcribi deſijt; poſtmodumque Regi continuo reſponſum eſt in Magnis Rotulis R. Henrici II de exitibus ſive fructibus Danecaſtriæ, tanquamſi Rex tenuiſſet in dominio (f). Sic ergo ſe res habuit. Robertus Foſſard finem fecit (uti vocarunt) cum R. Henrico I, in quingentis marcis argenteis, pro ſaiſina terrarum ſuarum habenda. Et ſummæ illius cavendæ gratia, tradidit Regi Manerium Danecaſtriam; redimendum ſcilicet, ſimulatque Robertus pecuniam illam una integraque ſumma ſolverit. Penſatis autem Recordi citati verbis, fas eſt credere, conventionem hanc inter Regem & Robertum Foſſard tunc recenter Eudo Præpoſitus reddit compotum de Lxvj l & xiij s & iiij d numero recenter fuiſſe initam. Robertus finem fecit pro nova & recenti ſaiſina terræ ſuæ [pro recuperanda terra ſua primitus]. Deinde, conceſſit Danecaſtriam Regi: id eſt, Regi jamtum regnanti. Si enim iſta conventio continuaretur aduſque tempora R. Stephani, & in ejus Magnis Rotulis inventa eſſet, probabiliter dictum fuiſſet, non Regi ſimpliciter, ſed Regi Henrico I; ut fit in Magno Rotulo ſupra laudato R. Ricardi I. Quocirca, rebus collatis, minime dubitemus, quin Rex in hac conventione memoratus, fuerit Henricus I.

In hoc Rotulo deſcribitur primus Elienſis Epiſcopus Herveius, varia cum Rege negotia peragens. Computat Regi de ſeptem marcis aureis & dimidia, pro officio Willelmi nepotis ſui: partem ſummæ ſolvit, de reſiduo ſcribitur obæratus. Paciſcitur cum Rege pro immunitate Militum Epiſcopatus ſui atque Abbatiæ de Cateriz. Denique, rationem init cum Rege de ſumma Mille librarum, ut Rex jubeat Milites Epiſcopatus Elienſis excubias agere in inſula de Ely, quemadmodum conſuetum eſt in Caſtro Norwici: illius ſummæ partem, nempe treſcentas ſexaginta quatuor libras ſolvit in Theſauraria Regia, & de reliqua ſumma Regi obſtrictus ſcribitur (g). Certe anno hujus Rotuli Herveius in vivis fuit: nam memoratur hic ut compotum reddens & pecuniam in Scaccario ſolvens; quæ ſunt acta viventis. Obijtque, ſecundum quoſdam, anno Domini 1131, [R. Henrici I anno circiter 32], ſecundum alios A. D. 1133 [ejuſdem Regis anno 34 ineunte] (h).

Præterea, in Veteri noſtro Rotulo, Vicecomitibus Londoniæ rationem officij ſui in Scaccario Regio reddentibus, computati erant (inter plurima alia) ſumptus quos poſuerunt, in parandis tam oleo lampadum juxta ſepulcrum Reginæ ardentium, quam pannis eidem ſepulcro imponendis (i). Hinc inferendum eſt, Reginam nuperrime, atque adeo intra limites Comitatuum (Ballivam vocamus) Vicecomitum Londoniæ, quin & ipſo circiter anno de quo Vicecomites rationem hic reddunt, obijſſe. Per Reginam intelligo Reginam Conſortem, ſive quæ hora mortis Conſors fuit. Sciſcitamur autem, ecquænam Regina. Regiſne Henrici I una vel altera, an vero Regis Stephani. Non Matilda R. Stephani; ſi recte judico. Illa enim mortem obijt tertio die Maij A. Wilhelmus Prynn Antiquarius diligentiſſimus, intuitu eorum quæ de Regina tunc nuper demortua, necnon de Herveio Præſule Elienſi, in Veteri noſtro Rotulo continentur, non dubitavit pronunciare, illum eſſe Rotulum de tempore R. Henrici I, immo de anno decimo octavo ejuſdem Regis (n). Ego in hoc negotio vereor adſeverare ſeu fidenter ſententiam ferre.

Hactenus, Ampliſſime Baro, tanquam in lance libravi ſubjectam materiam in tres quæſtiones diviſam; Primam, Utrum Vetus hic Rotulus ſit Regis Henrici II; Secundam, An R. Stephani; Tertiam, An R. Henrici I. Libramenti iſtius hic eſt effectus: Majus rationis pondus in Tertiam quæſtionem recidit: nempe Rotulum illum ad R. Henrici I tempora oportere referri: Utrum autem ad annum decimumoctavum, an alium quempiam annum dominationis illius Regis, periti judicent. Utcunque; ego adeo caute ac diffidenter egi, ut in tota præeunte Hiſtoria, quoties Veterem hunc Rotulum citare opus fuit, eum, pro more hucuſque ſueto, Magnum Rotulum anni Quinti R. Stephani appellare malui, quam mea privata opinione fretus, a communi uſu diſcedere, novamque Rotulo illi denominationem indere. Idque profecto conſultiſſimum duxi. Non enim meum eſſe puto, & cauſam dicere & ſimul judicium ferre. Nihilominus, penes Antiquarios erit (nec repugnabo), ſi quidem ex ijs quæ ſuperius dixi, aut quæ ipſi melius norunt, cauſam eſſe viderint, ſtylum in hoc caſu in poſterum mutare, ac Rotulum iſtum a R. Henrici I imperio denominare.

Jamque huic Diſceptationi finem imponere cupio: Maximas Tibi gratias habiturus, quod meis ſtudijs favere dignaris. Sed quid dico? Tua etiam ſunt. Amplitudinem Tuam in partes noſtras trahere molior. Neque id temere. Nam artem hiſtoricam amas ut qui maxime. Ejus excolendæ, ornandæ, & illuſtrandæ cauſa, variam ſupellectilem antiquariam collegiſti. Nec intra Patriæ fines cohibetur illud Tuum diſciplinæ ſtudium. Hiſtoriæ & Antiquitatum Græciæ, Italiæ, aliarumque politarum Europæ nationum ſcientiſſimus es. Quocirca, non eſt quod dubitem, rogata prius venia, Te Antiquarium ſalutare. Immo ut Talem Te hucuſque adlocutus ſum. Poſtpoſui enim aliquoties Romanam puritatem; vocibus ſub medio ſeculo introductis utens. Idque feci ex induſtria, ut tulit occaſio; malens barbarice loqui, quam obſcure aut incerte. Equidem vir Cl. Henricus Meibomius antiquitatis monumentum a viris doctis in pretio habendum cenſuit, propterea ſolum quod pervetuſtum erat: propter antiquitatem (inquit), quæ apud litteratos omnes in pretio eſt (o). Nec ſane immerito. Sed mihi non licet eſſe tam animoſo: nam e noſtratibus pauci in Meibomij ſententiam eunt. Quid autem? Hic conjungitur cum antiquitate utilitas. Diſcepto jam nunc de Magno Rotulo non ſolum antiquo, ſed etiam utili & momentoſo. Utcunque autem hæc ſint, Baro eruditiſſime, floreat doctrina Antiquaria Hiſtorica & Philologica, virorum præſtantiſſimorum ac præſertim Regiæ Majeſtatis auſpicijs. Floreat, inquam, in alma noſtra patria, Antiquitatum ſcientia, juſta, candida, fidelis, ingenua. Floreat Hiſtoria Britannica. Recordis authenticiſque expromatur. Scribatur lente, mature, ordinate, ſincere, dilucide; ſine partium ſtudio, ſine pravo conſilio, ſine omni vili affectu viris literatis indigno. Ad ſummam; tota diſciplina encyclia, quæ dudum (ut aiunt) marceſcere viſa eſt, refloreſcat: Omneſque laudandæ Artes vigeant & augeantur quandiu terrarum orbis conſiſtet. Faxit autem Deus Ter Optimus Maximuſque ut quæ hic ſupplex voveo, felicem aliquando ſortiantur effectum. Quod reliquum eſt, Perilluſtris Baro, ad Tuam benignitatem recurro. Speroque hanc meam qualemqualem Diſquiſitionem Tibi non inacceptam fore, propterea ſaltem quod procedat a viro Tuarum virtutum cultore humillimo atque obſervantiſſimo.
